Some Plainfielders Who Met Death in the Westfield Disaster.

OTHER WRECK VICTIMS LAID AT REST WITH SOLEMN SERVICES

Funerals Held From Churches and Homes Were Attended by Throngs of Sorrowing Friends.

THREE SERVICES HELD IN CHURCHES

IN MANY CASES THERE WAS NOT ROOM TO ACCOMMODATE ALL THOSE WHO DESIRED TO ATTEND.

Two Prominent Young Men Were Laid at Rest Saturday Afternoon—Company K Formed a Guard for the Remains of Elias Giles, Although It Was Not a Military Funeral—Pythian Knights at H. L. Patterson's Funeral.

Of the obsequies held for those who met death in the Westfield disaster on the Jersey Central Railroad, Tuesday night, three services have been held in churches. St. Mary's R. C. church was packed Friday morning with those who wanted to honor the memory of Edward Flynn. The next of the church funerals was that of Thomas A. Cuming, one of the most widely known of the victims. His obsequies were held from the Park Avenue Baptist church, where he had labored with so much earnestness and zeal, and the sanctuary was far inadequate to hold all those who desired to attend. Trinity Reformed church was the scene of an immense gathering yesterday afternoon when the last sad rites were said over the remains of Elias Giles. While the members of Company K, of which he had been a member, attended in a body escorting the casket, it was not made a regular military funeral at the request of the family.

Other funerals were held Saturday afternoon and yesterday and like the others, the profound sadness which had been felt throughout the community, was apparent among the throngs that attended. Of the services to come, the largest will be those over the remains of J. Everitt Reighton, a young man with a very large circle of acquaintances. He will be buried from Trinity Reformed church Tuesday afternoon with military honors. He was a member of Company K.

Thomas A. Cuming.

The first public funeral of the many held during the past few days of victims of the railroad wreck, was that of Thomas Adams Cuming on Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock. A short service held at the late home in Putnam avenue, preceded one at the Park Avenue Baptist church a half hour later. Before the cortege arrived at the church every seat, except those reserved for the near relatives, was occupied and the Sunday-school room had to be opened to accommodate all who wished to attend. Those present were personal friends or acquaintances of the deceased and it was, indeed, a sorrowing assemblage. The members of the Sunday-school, in which Mr. Cuming was such an active spirit, attended in a body, while every family of the church was represented.

Placed about the pulpit platform were beautiful floral tributes from the church, Sunday-school, business associates, personal warm friends and relatives, while resting upon the casket were other tributes all of which added solemn testimony to the esteem in which Mr. Cuming was held by all. As the casket was taken into the church, a funeral dirge was played very softly on the organ by Daniel E. Davis, organist. Preceding the remains walked the pall-bearers, the first four of whom were ushers at Mr. Cuming's wedding a little over a year ago. They were Dr. Norman H. Probasco, Charles B. Morse, Herbert L. Richardson, Benjamin W. Letson, S. Arthur Krom and Joseph M. Hawkins.

The services began with the reading of Scripture by Rev. Irwin Dennett, of Brooklyn, at whose church the father of the deceased was at one time an attendant. Then followed an eloquent eulogy by Rev. Dr. Robert Bruce Hull, also of Brooklyn. Dr. Hull baptized Mr. Cuming in 1885 into the membership of his church and from early youth he attended Dr. Hull's church, being in the primary department of the Sunday-school.

For these reasons Dr. Hull was especially able to speak of Mr. Cuming's early church life. His words were filled with tenderness and admiration for the departed, referring affectionately to his manly Christian character and how from a boy he had followed closely the good teaching of godly parents and had profited thereby. He said that what appeared to be a separation now was only for a time, that there would be a grand long reunion later on when for all eternity the broken family would live together in supreme happiness. Dr. Hull brought a touching testimony from Mr. Cuming's Sunday-school teacher in Brooklyn, who had said "You can say for me that Mr. Cuming was a good boy." The speaker's words to the bereaved family were filled with sympathy and while Dr. Hull was talking, as well as during the entire service there was scarcely a dry eye.

Rev. W. T. Dorwood, pastor of the Baptist church at Stelton, followed with a few earnest words. He spoke of the "Ecclesiastical Relations" he had with Mr. Cuming and at the close read an impressive letter written by Rev. Dr. Searls, formerly of Stelton but now of Philadelphia.

At this time Charles L. Lewis sang tenderly, "It Is Well With My Soul," after which the pastor of the church, Rev. J. W. Richardson, spoke of Mr. Cuming's town life. These remarks will be published tomorrow in full.

At the close of the above remarks, Mr. Lewis sang "Sometime We'll Understand." An opportunity was then given all present to take a last look upon the face of the departed one. Immediately after the service the remains were taken to Stelton for burial. Dr. Hull made the closing prayer at the church service.

Harold W. Tomlinson.

The late home of Harold W. Tomlinson, of Verdon street, was entirely inadequate to hold the host of sorrowing relatives and friends who sought to attend the services held over his remains, Saturday afternoon. It was crowded in every part and many people were turned away.

Rev. O. L. Goodrich was in charge and after a Scripture reading spoke on the text, "Living or dying, we are the Lord's." Continuing on these lines he spoke of the fine character and Christian life of the young man so suddenly taken away; of God's care for His own even when, through the agency of men and the forces of nature, things He does not wish, come to pass; of the Heavenly home from which no one would ever recall a loved one and that five minutes of Heaven compensate for a violent death.

Two of the departed one's favorite hymns, "Count Your Blessings" and "Now the Day is Over" were sung by a quartette composed of Miss Etta Raybert, Mrs. Charlotte M. Ross, Fred Tallamy and R. Wilson Derby. The service closed with prayer by Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis and benediction by Rev Mr. Goodrich.

Late in the afternoon the remains were laid to rest in Hillside cemetery, the bearers being Morris C. VanArsdale, James D. Macnab, Gilbert T. Rhodes, Asa F. Randolph, Philip S. Suffern and Dr. Marc L. Clawson.

Included in the large number of floral tributes presented by friends were a wreath from the Congregational church Men's Club and a pillow from the trustees of the same church.

Elias Giles.

The tramp of soldiers' feet and a long line of slowly moving carriages along the streets of the business section of the town yesterday afternoon marked the funeral of another of the victims of the recent wreck. The funeral was that of Elias Giles, a member of Company K, who lost his life with others in the frightful disaster of last week.

Short services were held at the late residence, 417 East Sixth street, at 1 o'clock by Rev. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of the Trinity Reformed church, of which the young man was a member.

At Trinity Reformed church, where the remains were borne after the services at the house, rites of the Reformed church were read by the pastor. The church was crowded, long before the time for the service, with sorrowing friends.

The march from the house to the church was a solemn one. The members of Company K attended in a body in uniform. They formed a cordon in front of the house and when the procession started they took their places in front of the hearse and led the way to the church where they drew up opposite the edifice while the remains were being borne into the church. After the casket had been carried up the steps the soldiers passed in behind and took their places near the front.

The services were simple but very impressive. Rev. Dr. Schenck made a short prayer and read passages of Scripture. He delivered no eulogy over the remains but referred to Mr. Giles as a pupil of that Sunday-school and read his favorite hymn "Jesus for Me Always."

The floral display at the church was very handsome. A triangle of roses was contributed by members of the Y. M. C. A., of which he was a member, and a broken column made of flowers was the gift of the members of Company K. A handsome wreath was sent by his Sunday-school teacher, Miss Mabel Wilson and class and a floral piece was the gift of H. B. Claflin & Co., of New York, where the deceased was employed.

The interment was in Bound Brook and the funeral cortege was escorted to the outskirts of the city by the members of Company K. At the cemetery the interment was witnessed only by the family and intimate friends.

The pall bearers were: Clarence Rittenhouse, Elmer Wheeler, Frank Platts, Robert Pruden, Archibald Derby and William Trembath. The honorary bearers were a squad of eight members of Company K under command of Corporal Harold G. Whitney. They were: Frank Wyckoff, Howard Woolston, C. D. Pope, C. S. Wilson, Roy DeCamp, John Turner and William Hayes.

At the session of the Sunday-school, immediately following the funeral, a solemn and impressive prayer service was held, bearing on the death of young Giles, one of the members of the school.

Miss Lera Linbarger.

The funeral of Miss Lera Linbarger, who was the only woman who lost her life in the wreck, was held yesterday afternoon from the residence of Mrs. DuBois, of 515 Park avenue, where Miss Linbarger formerly lived. There was a large number of people present from New York, Brooklyn and New Brunswick. The floral display was very attractive.

The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, pastor of the First M. E. church, who was the pastor of the unfortunate young woman since she has resided in this city. The services were very impressive. A Difference of Opinion Regarding the Responsibility For the Wreck—Some Suggestions Made.

LOCAL PASTORS DRAW LESSONS FROM THE WESTFIELD DISASTER

ITS HORROR MENTIONED IN PRAYER

NEARLY EVERY CHURCH HAD A SERVICE WHICH TOOK THE FORM OF A MEMORIAL SERVICE.

The Responsibility for the Accident, Remedies to Prevent a Repetition, and Lessons to Be Drawn From It Were the Chief Topics Discussed by the Pastors From the Pulpits of the Local Churches Yesday Morning and Evening.

With the horrors of the Westfield disaster fresh in their minds, the local pastors could not fail to refer to the great calamity which had fallen upon the city. At least one service at nearly every church took on the nature of a memorial service. The responsibility for the catastrophe, the remedies to prevent a repetition and the lessons to be drawn, bitter perhaps, but none the less true, were the chief topics touched upon in the several sermons that took the disaster as their subject.

While the subject was uppermost in the hearts of every congregation, in some cases only passing reference to the disaster was made in sermon and prayer. Some of the special sermons on topics relating directly to it are given in brief.

Rev. J. W. Richardson.

Rev. John Wilbur Richardson, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church preached a sermon last evening on the recent disaster at Westfield. His sermon follows in part:

"Perhaps the terrible accident of Tuesday night was caused by a careless engineer, or a slow train dispatcher. The thing to do now, is not so much to find where the responsibility lies, but to raise an investigation for the purpose of learning the conditions on which the railroad is being run, and to endeavor to bring about better facilities for providing for the safety of the passengers who may ride on that road.

"Every railroad should be compelled to employ intelligent men and not those who are irresponsible on account of the cheapness of their wage. A radical reform is needed and it is for that reason I preach this sermon this evening. Public sentiment should be aroused and those who have lost their lives shall not have died in vain if the lives of other passengers may be made more safe. Let the courts say that $25,000 be the penalty for killing a man and the railroads will soon adopt better appliances for the safety of the patrons of the road. $5,000 for a husband, father, brother? It is a farce.

"Those who have died in the railroad carnage are martyrs and have not died in vain if railroad improvement can be obtained. Steel passenger coaches should be used on all passenger roads. They will not burn in case of a collision and will not telescope.

"I do not say that the Central Railroad of New Jersey is responsible for the accident. The responsibility is traced to the train dispatcher, the stockholder, and down as far as the builders of the engine. Hereafter it should be made compulsory for all railroads operating camelback engines to employ two engineers where the fireman is isolated from the engineer. Two engineers is the cry from now on."

Rev. A. C. Nickerson.

"The Shadow Over Us," was the subject of the discourse by Rev. A. C. Nickerson, of All Souls' church, Park avenue. Of course it referred to the recent calamity which has cast such gloom over the city. Mr. Nickerson began his sermon by saying that the shadows of life are full of meaning for mortal men.

"The shadow of common danger," the speaker said, "impresses us very much at this time. We feel that it might have been any one of us who was called away so suddenly. Those who were taken away were all valuable people whose task increased their self-respect and filled the palm of love with the power to bless. They were our neighbors and friends who were taken away and this calamity unites us all as one man.

"This calamity shows us more plainly our dependence on individuals. It was a needless sacrifice of lives. It is not a railroad with the best ballast that counts so much as a level head, not the brightest electric lantern, but the clear eyes of the engineer and fireman in which we trust, not the automatic alarm signals, but the fidelity of the switch-tender which is our dependence. Corporations must learn that no economy is permissable which puts into machinery or adornments that which it takes out of the salaries of reliable men. The railroad does not seem to blame for the collision and what explanation can be given of an utter disregard of signals we do not know.

"The question of the use of stoves should be looked into. They should be barred absolutely. No explanation of other heating apparatus can lessen the offence resulting in unmentioned agonies. Human blood still seems necessary to purchase protection at grade crossings and from the deadly train stove."

In conclusion Mr. Nickerson spoke of a number of shadows and from each he drew helpful lessons. He said that the life of Jesus was passed in the darkness of the world and he was acquainted with grief. Where he found the heart of God human mortals can find it. Mr. Nickerson urged all to trust in the Spirit of Jesus and the love of God.

Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck.

Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, was to have preached a special sermon, last evening on the subject of "The Lessons of the Catastrophe," but just before the sermon he announced that owing to many duties during the day and the past week he was suffering with a nervous headache and was physically unable to proceed with his sermon, and stated that A. P. Tulp, the supply at Marconnier chapel, had very kindly consented to preach in his place.

Mr. Tulp delivered an interesting and helpful sermon on the subject of "Sacrifice," using the illustration of

The Aetna Life Pays $5,000 to Mrs. Harold W. Tomlinson.

Dr. Henry M. Archer, chief surgeon and adjustor of the Aetna Life Insurance Company Accident Department, of Hartford, Conn., called today on the widow of Harold W. Tomlinson, one of the unfortunate victims of the Jersey Central wreck, and handed her a check for $5,000

Mr. Tomlinson had a $2,500 policy, which doubles up for railroad accident, and the insurance company paid the double benefit before the family sent in any notice of the accident.

The Aetna is one of the largest companies in the insurance business, and this act is certainly commendable.

SERVICE IN HIS MEMORY

HAD BEEN ARRANGED BY H. W. TOMLINSON PRIOR TO HIS DEATH.

Conducted by Endeavor Society of Congregational Church Last Evening.

A service in the nature of a memorial to Harold W. Tomlinson, who was killed in the wreck at Westfield Tuesday night, was held last evening at the Congregational church under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society. Rev. Charles L. Goodrich was in charge. It was first arranged to hold the meeting in the Sunday school room, but the attendance was so large that the main church had to be used.

During the service there were vocal solos by Miss Cornelia Miller and Willard Wadsworth. The address was made by Frederick H. Andrews. About a week ago Mr. Tomlinson had arranged a special service for last evening and he spoke to Mr. Andrews in reference to addressing the meeting. He told him he could take the Endeavor topic or select his own. Mr. Andrews agreed to be present and received a cordial letter from Mr. Tomlinson by the way of thanks.

Mr. Andrews related the details of the arrangements and read a portion of the letter received from Mr. Tomlinson. He said that he would not call the meeting a memorial service, but one of triumph, for Mr. Tomlinson had passed to that country where there is no more crying, grief or sorrow. He spoke beautiful words concerning the character of the departed and said that two years ago he, too, sustained a severe personal loss. He rejoiced that in death there was a triumph and that the dear departed ones had passed into a greater heritage.

Although the accident had occurred less than twelve hours before, the publication had a complete and comparatively accurate account.

THEATRICAL.

The termination of Mrs. Fiske's successful engagement in "Mary of Magdala" at the Manhattan Theatre, New York, has been set for Saturday, February 23, when the Heyse drama will have been presented for fifteen weeks in New York City. The success of Mrs. Fiske, the play, the supporting company and the production have been so great that the engagement might well continue until the end of the theatrical season, and indeed, endeavors to this end have been made. It was found impossible, however, to cancel bookings in Boston, Cincinnati and other cities, made last season, and Mrs. Fiske must leave to fulfill these contracts. The attendance at the Manhattan Theatre continues uniformly large and there is practically no decrease in the number of those who desire to see Mrs. Fiske's superb interpretation of Heyse's masterly play. The performance appeals to every class of theatre-goer and as well to those who do not habitually visit the theatre. The announcement of the close of the engagement has caused a still greater demand for seats and the final performances of "Mary of Magdala" will undoubtedly be witnessed by the largest audiences of the engagement. In addition to the regular Saturday matinees, there will be an extra Wednesday matinee on February 4, and holiday matinees on Lincoln's Birthday and Washington's Birthday.

Jerome Sykes, in his character of "John Doe" in Klaw & Erlanger's magnificent production of "The Billionaire," is in his second month at Daly's Theatre, New York, where he is playing to capacity audiences and turning people away at every performance. "The Billionaire" is the best satire ever presented on the American stage. It treats an original subject in a most entertainingly interesting way, and in its comic pictures of the foibles of theatre-goers eclipses even the work of the cleverest cartoonists. The comic theatre scene has created a genuine sensation. Mr. Sykes is surrounded by the ablest company of comedians seen on Broadway in years. Harry Macdonough as Baptiste, the broken-down tenor; May Robson, as Mrs. Peppercorn; Thomas C. Leary, as Mr. Peppercorn; Nellie Follis, as Pansy Good and Marie Dore, as Rosalba Peppercorn have all made personal hits. As an entertainment intended for laughing purposes only "The Billionaire" more than fulfills its purpose.

Clerking for the Standard Oil Company at Port Kote.

For the first time since he sailed from Philadelphia, on July 10 last, word has been received from William Sweeney, a former well-known law student of this city. He embarked upon the Standard Oil tank steamer, "Juteopolis" which arrived at Port Kote, Japan, on December 28, after one of the stormiest voyages the crew ever experienced. Several times the sailors prepared to take to the boats and several were washed overboard. Sweeney is clerking at Port Kote for the oil company but states that he may be moved into the interior at any time.

FOR INTERNAL IMPROVEMENTS.

Latest Phase of Scheme to Bond New York For $132,000,000.

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 2.—In connection with the plan suggested at a conference of leading Republicans the past week that $50,000,000 be added to the $82,000,000 canal bill for good roads it is learned that an entirely new proposition has been evolved. It is to draw a bill providing, in order to overcome constitutional objections, for the bonding of the state for $132,000,000 for "internal improvement," with the understanding that $82,000,000 is to be spent for the canals, $25,000,000 for good roads and $25,000,000 for improvements to water supply and for water storage. In this way the good roads people hope to obtain the support of various counties like Albany, Oneida, Onondaga and counties in the Adirondacks, where the state flood commission is working. The proposal would not relieve the counties from their one-half share of expense under the Higbie-Armstrong act, but would contribute practically $25,000,000 more, making the total expenditure for good roads $50,000,000, as at first proposed.

The matter is explained by Senator Armstrong of Monroe, who says: "The rural communities would pay only about $12,000,000 toward the improvement of the canals, and in return the cities of the state would contribute about $20,000,000 of the $25,000,000 for the improvement of the roads. If in addition the state should issue another $25,000,000 for the development of the water power of the rivers and for the construction of storage dams, a scheme of improvement would be entered upon that would benefit every locality in the state."

Enormous Movement of Freight.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 2.—Fully 20,000 freight cars were moved on the Pittsburg division of the several railroads during Saturday and Sunday. The weather was favorable, and each line put forth special efforts to relieve the congested condition of the yards. Every engine that could be pressed into service was in use, and all of the trainmen made at least one day, while large numbers were credited with two days before stopping work. The yards are not entirely cleared, but are in much better shape than for a long time past. The movement by each road follows: Pennsylvania, in Union station yards, 4,000 cars; Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago, 3,000; Panhandle, 2,000; Pittsburg and Lake Erie, 6,000, and the Baltimore and Ohio, 5,000.

Fast Train to Be Discontinued.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 2.—Discontinuance of the Pennsylvania special, the twenty hour train between New York and Chicago, over the Pennsylvania railroad and the Fort Wayne will be ordered within a few days. Freight congestion is the cause for this action. For several months it has been found impossible to maintain on this train the fast schedule assigned to it without a great sacrifice to freight traffic. S. M. Prevost, third vice president of the road, said when asked about the reported withdrawal of the train, "We have been doing everything in our power to facilitate the movement of coal, but find we cannot meet the demands on our system without sacrificing some of our fast trains."

Shorter Hours For Employees.

CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—The Pullman Palace Car company has posted a notice announcing that on April 1 ten hours' wages will be paid for nine hours' work to every man employed in the works. Nearly 8,000 men are affected, and more than $70,000 will be added to the company's pay roll each month. One thousand extra men will be employed to do the work performed in the tenth hour by the old force. Under the old schedule the men worked sixty hours a week. Under the new system they will work fifty-four hours a week and will have their Saturday afternoons off.

Memorial Services In the House.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The house met at noon yesterday for the purpose of pronouncing eulogies in memory of the late Senator McMillan of Michigan. The speakers were Messrs. Corliss, W. A. Smith, Hamilton, S. W. Smith, Gardner and Henry C. Smith of Michigan, Babcock of Wisconsin and Burton of Ohio. At 1:35 o'clock, as a further mark of respect, the house adjourned.

Canadian Parliament Summoned.

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 2.—A proclamation issued today summons parliament for the dispatch of business on March 12. The coming session promises to be both long and lively. Two of the most important bills will be the redistribution of constituences and the Grand Trunk Pacific Transcontinental line subsidy.

General Miles the King's Guest.

TROOPS CALLED OUT

The Situation at Waterbury Seems Dangerous.

STRIKERS IN A VERY UGLY MOOD.

Rumors of a Plan to Burn the Company's Car Barns Frighten Officials—No Car Service During the Night.

WATERBURY, Conn., Feb. 2.—Fourteen companies of the First and Second regiments, C. N. G., have arrived in this city and together with the two local companies, A and G, are under command of Brigadier General Russell Frost of South Norwalk.

All the visiting companies, which average fifty men each, and with the local companies total 800, arrived in the city on trains from New Haven and Hartford and marched to the armory under police escort amid the hooting and hissing of the crowds that quickly gathered.

There was no repetition yesterday of the violence, but crowds congregated about the streets and had to be dispersed by the police, while there were rumors of an attack to be made at night on the car barn, where the nonunion motormen and conductors brought here by the Connecticut Railway and Lighting company are quartered.

Mayor Kilduff and the members of the board of public safety held a meeting at noon and after reviewing the condition notified Colonel Burpee, attorney for the railway company, and General Manager Sewall of the railway company of their fears that the police might not be able to handle the crowds. After a conference with the mayor and the railway officials the sheriff notified Governor Chamberlain of the alarming situation. The governor then issued orders to Adjutant General Cole, who called out the five New Haven companies of the Second regiment and eight companies of the First regiment from Hartford, New Britain, Manchester and Rockville. Special trains were got in readiness to convey these companies fully equipped to this city.

No cars were run last evening, the company deeming it best after the experience of the previous night, when stone throwers smashed nearly all the glass in the cars, not to send them over the lines after dark. The cars were therefore taken off at sunset.

During the day all the lines were operated as usual with the nonunion trolley men but, though there was some hooting and jeering from the crowds, the cars were not molested. Several times the police had to disperse the crowds, but found little difficulty in doing so. All day a mob surrounded the car barns, and the police are said to have heard of a plan on foot to attack the buildings and destroy them.

In all the churches yesterday sermons were delivered condemning the riotous proceedings.

Paper Manufacturer Dead.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Feb. 2.—Elisha Morgan, head of the Morgan Envelope company, president of the American Fine Writing Paper company, vice president and director of the United States Envelope company and a director in many other paper manufacturing industries, is dead here after a brief attack of angina pectoris brought on by several years' illness with Bright's disease. Mr. Morgan was an active Republican, serving as presidential elector in 1888 and 1892 and as a member of Governor William E. Russell's council in 1892 and 1893. He was one of the judges of paper manufacture at the world's fair in Chicago. He came of Puritan ancestry and was born in 1833.

The entries close March 1.

The Mexican Earthquakes.

CHIHUAHUA, Mexico, Feb. 2.—Reports from Urique regarding the earthquakes in that district state that there were four severe shocks throughout that section, one occurring on the 22d, one on the 25th, one on the 26th and one on the 27th ult. All were followed by loud explosions, but only slight damage resulted. Eighteen houses were destroyed at Guazaparez, state of Chihuahua. The people of the district are panic stricken and fear a volcano. Clouds of dust hung in the atmosphere after each shock.

The Plague at Mazatlan.

MAZATLAN, Mexico, Feb. 2.—There were two deaths from the plague yesterday. The people in the refuge shed number nineteen. There were 165 deaths in January from the plague. According to the best information obtainable, at least 3,000 persons have left Mazatlan since the appearance of the plague. This number represents about one-sixth of the population of the city.

Norwegian Steamer and Crew Lost.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—The Norwegian steamer Avona, Captain Dreyer, New Orleans for Aarhuus, which called at Dartmouth Jan. 28, has gone ashore at Lemvig, Denmark. Three boats and six corpses have been washed ashore. It is feared that the remainder of the crew were also drowned.

PRETENDER ROUTED

Decisive Victory by Sultan of Morocco.

REBEL CAMP SURPRISED AT DAWN

Entire Army Either Slain or Captured—Leader of Revolt Reported a Prisoner—Special Courier Brings News From Fez.

TANGIER, Morocco, Feb. 2.—The sultan's troops have utterly routed the forces of the Moorish pretender and captured Bu Hamara himself.

A special courier who arrived after making a record journey from Fez brought this news. He reports that at daylight last Thursday the army of the sultan, commanded by the war minister, El Menebbi, attacked the pretender's position and inflicted a complete defeat on his following, at the same time capturing Bu Hamara.

Another runner who has reached here from Fez confirms the news of the defeat of the rebels, but says that the report of the capture of the pretender is incorrect. He adds that it is uncertain whether Bu Hamara's body was among the great number slain. The sultan's victory was absolute, almost the entire following of the pretender being either slain or captured. His camp, provisions and ammunition were taken, and the artillery which was lost by the sultan's army in the battle of Dec. 23 was recaptured. Even if Bu Hamara escaped it is hopeless for him to seek to retrieve his defeat, as his claim to be a saint is exploded. The details regarding the battle are meager, but it is known that the pretender's camp was surprised and rushed at dawn.

There are great rejoicings here at the sultan's victory.

Philippine Trade.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Official returns of Philippine commerce for October, 1902, just received at the bureau of insular affairs of the war department show the value of merchandise imported to have been considerably larger than in any single month since American occupation, aggregating $3,279,692. Two-fifths of this amount is credited to the purchase of food articles and is due to crop failures in the archipelago. The exports for October, 1902, were valued at $2,847,577, somewhat above the monthly average based on shipments during the ten months of the last calendar year and an increase over the same month in 1901.

Miner Murdered Because He Worked

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Feb. 2.—Constanta Sobrilefski, a Russian and a well known local miner, who had worked during the strike, was yesterday kicked and stabbed to death by twenty-one of his infuriated countrymen, who are all either miners or laborers working in and about the mines at Plymouth and Larksville, three miles from this city. The deed was committed on the public highway near the Boston mine breaker at Larksville. One of the men named Powell Ladofski confessed to being implicated in the killing, and he and twenty others were arrested and committed to the Luzerne county prison.

Wild West Tactics In School.

PASSAIC, N. J., Feb. 2.—Miss Jennie Bickers, a substitute teacher in No. 4 school, was told to hold up her hands or be shot when she was punishing thirteen-year-old Nicholas Wasdyke. The regular teacher, Miss Jewett, was absent. Wasdyke was unruly, and the teacher ordered him to leave the room. He refused, and Miss Bicker attempted to compel him to do so. Wasdyke drew a revolver, placed it at the teacher's head and shouted, "Touch me and I'll shoot you." Miss Bickers picked up a ruler and whipped the lad until he dropped the pistol, which contained three cartridges.

Dowie to Convert New York.

KENOSHA, Wis., Feb. 2.—John Alexander Dowie, the religious zealot who by his personal magnetism has built up a city of 10,000 people just south of this city, announces that he has decided to take the Restoration Host to New York and make an effort to secure 100,000 converts to Dowieism in Greater New York. For his great work he has taken options on Madison Square Garden and Carnegie hall, and he is to have a lease on them early in the summer.

Boers to Trek to America.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—Reynolds' Newspaper positively asserts that the Boers are contemplating a great trek to New Mexico and Texas, where their agents have purchased nearly 1,000,000 acres of land. This land is to be paid for with an issue of £10,000,000 of bonds which are to be secured by the land, stock and buildings. It is estimated that 900 families will start the exodus from South Africa within two months' time.

A Midocean Message Probable.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Signor Marconi, who sailed for Europe by the Cunarder Etruria, has decided to make an effort with the liner's wireless outfit to send a message from midocean to the station at Nantucket. It is probable that Marconi will, when he is midway between the Nantucket and Cornwall stations, act as the "central" for messages between them.

USE PRESS WANT ALS

TO TREAT ALL ALIKE

No Preferences For Venezuela's Creditors.

CASTRO ANSWERS BOWEN'S INQUIRY

France Taking Active Measures to Enforce Her Rights—A Compromise Proposition Submitted to the Allies.

CARACAS, Venezuela, Feb. 2.—In reply to Minister Bowen's inquiry as to what Venezuela intends to do regarding the demand for preferential treatment made by the allies President Castro has telegraphed: "The Venezuelan government desires equal treatment for all the creditor nations in Europe and America, keeping in mind in addition its diplomatic conventions and anterior stipulations."

The French legation has notified the Venezuelan government that in virtue of the convention of 1867 France was allowed to collect directly a part of the revenue of several custom houses in Venezuela as a guarantee for her diplomatic claims arising out of the previous revolutions. France, it is said, renounced forever by the convention of 1885 the exercise of this right on condition that the interest on this debt should always be regularly paid. As this payment has not been made, France, without asking the authorization of Germany, England and Italy, intends to revive her right of direct collection.

The French charge d'affaires, M. Quievreux, has paid visits to the foreign ministry and has twice called on President Castro during the past forty-eight hours. This activity on the part of France is evidently in connection with her intention to revive her rights and is considered as an answer to the attitude adopted by the allied powers.

COMPROMISE OFFERED.

Preferential Rights For Limited Period Suggested to Allies.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Propositions involving a compromise of the allied powers' contention for preferential treatment in the settlement of their claims against Venezuela have been submitted to the governments of Great Britain, Germany and Italy by their representatives at Washington, and while no answers have been received as yet there is reason for the belief that the allies will see a way to accept the latest proposition. This compromise has been suggested by one of the representatives of the allies here, and while it has not formally received the indorsement of Minister Bowen it is felt that he will not enter serious objection to its adoption, provided the United States and the other claimant nations outside the alliance can be convinced that their own interests in Venezuela will not be substantially injured by yielding to a plan which seems to offer a solution of the present serious hitch in the Washington negotiations.

The plan suggested provides that for a short period, perhaps six months or a year, Great Britain, Germany and Italy shall receive exclusively 30 per cent of the customs receipts of the ports of Porto Cabello and La Guayra and that at the end of this period, the exact length of which is yet open to decision, all the claimant nations be placed on the same footing and at the expiration of that time the 30 per cent of the receipts of these two ports be divided among all the claimant nations in ratio based on the amount of each nation's claim.

The plan is regarded as a compromise which will enable the allies to withdraw their ships from Venezuelan waters without serious loss of prestige.

Whether the claimant nations outside the tripartite agreement will assent to this scheme is not yet known.

France has it in her power to continue the present deadlock in the Washington negotiations, for while the other unallied claimants have outstanding against Venezuela certain unadjusted claims all of the French claims are in a very forward state.

Chinese Importing Arms.

HONOLULU, Feb. 2.—The Pacific Mail steamship China has arrived here from Hongkong and Yokohama on her way to San Francisco. She brings the news that large importations of arms and ammunition are being made by the Chinese in violation of the agreement of the powers. Vessels disguised as trading boats are going into the interior laden with war material. It is thought that these unusual importations of firearms and ammunition are being made by the reform element which is plotting to overthrow the Manchurian dynasty.

Dutch Railway Workers Victorious.

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 2.—Work has been resumed on the Dutch railways in pursuance of the decision arrived at by the strikers. The men are jubilant at their victory. The railway companies were compelled to yield on account of the danger of famine through the stoppage of the meat supplies. The labor dispute which involves the dock and riverside workers is still unsettled, and there is a possibility of further trouble in other trades.

A Thousand Idle For One Man.

DEADWOOD, S. D., Feb. 2.—Three hundred employees of the Golden Reward smelter have gone on strike because one man was laid off. About 700 other men will be thrown out of employment as a result, the company having decided to close down two of its large mines. It is claimed that the question of wages does not enter into the trouble. The cyanide plant and smelter have been treating about 1,000 tons of ore daily.

NO NEED TO FEAR.

Almost a week has passed since the disaster on the Jersey Central Railroad at Westfield and still the community rests under the pall which fell upon it when the first news of the fateful accident reached here. Most of the dead have been laid to rest although a few more funerals will take place tomorrow. It has been, however, a shock to the city that cannot be overcome for many a day. Even to those who happened to have no personal friends killed or injured, it came home with stunning horror. The gaiety, which is usually to be found at this season of the year, has been given up. Social events have been postponed and no one has the heart to enter into anything aside from the regular duties. Truly has Plainfield been face to face with the greatest calamity it has ever been the fate of this city to encounter.

From every side come words of condolence. Relatives and friends from all parts of the country have watched the latest news from this city with the greatest of anxiety and interest. Although the wreck occurred near Westfield, all but one of the dead came from Plainfield and vicinity. The chief interest is therefore centred here.

From all evidence that has so far been made public, it cannot be said that the railroad company did not exercise every precaution to prevent such an occurrence. The greatest railroad systems in the land occasionally suffer in similar manner. Under the circumstances, therefore, there is no more need for fear of future accidents than there has ever been. Plainfield is a beautiful city and has an excellent train service and no one need fear to visit or reside here on the ground that there are exceptional risks to be encountered going and coming. While all are horror struck at this awful disaster and deeply deplore it, it is no reason for making the city a plague spot to be avoided.

The Daily Press prints today a number of likenesses of victims of the Westfield disaster. These pictures were obtained through the courtesy of The Newark Evening News, which has been giving very full and accurate accounts of the wreck, written by its local correspondent, Ralph L. Morrow.

It is expected that the coroner's jury will start tomorrow afternoon in its task to unravel the mystery, if it may be called one, of the disaster. The Daily Press will publish complete accounts of its sessions.

OTHER VICTIMS LAID AT REST

few remarks were made by the officiating clergymen in which he eulogized the young woman. Charles L. Lewis rendered a solo during the service.

The interment was in Hillside cemetery. The pall bearers were: Gill. Bender, Rea Bender, Kimball Bender and Robert Davis.

Harvey L. Patterson.

Of all the many funeral services which have taken place in this vicinity within the past few days, none were of a more impressive character than those over the remains of Harvey L. Patterson, which were held at the residence of his parents in West Dunellen, last evening. Members of three fraternal orders and one organization to which he belonged were in attendance. They were Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., Crescent Company, No. 13, U. R. K. of P., both of this city; Friendship Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., of New Market, and Atlas Lodge, F. and A. M., of New York. In addition, included among the friends, were a delegation from the offices of Sutphen & Meyer, of New York, where he was employed as bookkeeper.

Rev. L. R. Howard was in charge of the service and spoke at some length upon the lovable, almost childlike disposition of the young man. He referred to his pure Christian life and drew a lesson from his untiring devotion to the friends and the orders he loved.

Following Mr. Howard, while a guard from the Uniform Rank stood about the casket with drawn swords, Prelate Robert L. Lee, of Perseverance Lodge, conducted the beautiful Pythian service. At its close each member was permitted to gaze upon the lifeless form and deposit the Pythian sprig of myrtle beside it.

This morning the remains were taken to Rye, Westchester county, N. Y., where they were interred with honors by the Uniform Rank. An escort of ten members in charge of Captain John Hall was in charge and Thomas Muir acted as prelate. The pall bearers were Charles McGinley, J. E. Flannery, Jacob Blimm, Jr., William N. Runyon, Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., and William Feiring.

George E. Reed.

The funeral of the late George E. Reed was held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late residence on Clinton avenue. There was a large number of people present at the services and the display of flowers was very handsome. The services at the house and at Hillside cemetery, where the interment was held, were conducted by Rev. J. A. Sproul, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Dunellen.

Horace Hand.

The funeral of Horace Hand, who was one of the victims of the recent wreck, was held Saturday afternoon from his late residence at 1:30. There was a large number of people present at the services at the house and the display of flowers was very handsome.

Rev. J. H. Parks, pastor emeritus of the Baptist church of Scotch Plains, conducted the services and delivered a short eulogy over the remains. Large delegations from the local lodges of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics were present. Twilight Council, No. 7, of Scotch Plains, had charge of the ritualistic service. Past Councilor, H. R. Thorn had charge of the services both at the house and at the grave.

The pallbearers were:

George Johnson, Charles Wade, Wilson Clark and Samuel Mathew.

SUBURBAN NEWS

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

At latest reports all the wreck victims from this place were in favorable condition. Raymond Apgar was removed to his home at his own request Saturday, as it was thought he was well enough. His injuries consist of cuts and it is not believed they will give him any trouble. While Wilson Fredericks was reported close to death his condition now is very favorable and points to a speedy recovery. He is very badly burned, however. P. M. Ising continues in about the same condition and it is thought he will come out all right.

At the quarterly conference held in the Methodist church on last Monday night, the trustees presented Rev. Daniel Halleron, the Presiding Elder, with engrossed resolutions, expressing their appreciation of his work in aiding the church in its struggle with the debt, and also assured him of a hearty welcome by the church in the discharge of his duties. These resolutions were signed by the pastor and by each individual trustee.

The wreck was the topic of all the sermons by the local pastors, yesterday. Rev. S. K. Doolittle spoke to a large congregation on "Lessons to be Derived from the Wreck." Rev. N. J. Sproul also spoke on the horrible catastrophe.

The will of the late Helen Kuldoshes, of Dunellen, was offered for probate at New Brunswick, Saturday. It was proven by Joseph Kuldoshes and John W. Moynihan, who were named as executors.

Quite a number from here attended the funeral of Frederick Hardingham, at his late home Friday evening. The deceased formerly resided here, where he had a large number of friends.

As usual the Ladies' Aid Society, of the Presbyterian church, disposed of all the large stock of home cookery at the sale held in the W. C. T. U. rooms, Saturday.

The monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society will be held tomorrow evening at the home of Mrs. Kenny.

The Borough Council will hold their last meeting this evening before the accounts of last year are settled up.

A valuable horse, belonging to Garretson & Gray, is sick with lockjaw and it is thought will die.

Assistant Superintendent Betts, of the United States Express Company, was in town Saturday.

The regular business meeting of the trustees of the Methodist church will be held this evening.

Tuesday evening the Epworth League will hold its regular monthly business meeting.

William Giddes who was injured in the wreck is recovering from a slight injury to his leg.

Mrs. Wilson Fredericks is entertaining her mother-in-law, Mrs. Fredericks.

NEW MARKET.

There was a large attendance at services in the First Baptist church, yesterday. Rev. Frank Fletcher took his text from the wreck and preached a very impressive sermon.

Mrs. Jane Randolph, whose death occurred at Dunellen, Friday, was an old resident of Piscataway and had only recently moved to Dunellen.

Skating was possible in places on the lake, Saturday afternoon, although it was rather dangerous.

W. J. Davis and family, who are on their way west, are enjoying a pleasant trip, from reports.

The regular monthly meeting of the Township Committee will be held this week.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

A meeting of the Board of Health was held Saturday night. Business relating to the epidemic of diphtheria, which has been prevalent in the village for several weeks past, was transacted. Several ordinances, among toward regulating the health of the village, were talked over. The board is satisfied that the visit of the diphtheria has been brought to an end. No new cases have been reported for over a week. All who have had the disease were fortunate in having it very light and are now convalescent, quarantine having been removed from several of the homes. The public school reopened this morning and all fear of the epidemic is now past.

Sympathy for grief-stricken Plainfield was extended from the pulpit of all the churches at the Sunday morning services either by prayer or remarks. Rev. G. M. Shott, of the Baptist church, during prayer, said that Scotch Plains had been doubly blessed by Divine power during the past few days. The village had not been called upon to mourn as a town for any local victims of the wreck of Tuesday night, neither had death darkened any of the homes of those who have been victims of diphtheria.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., of which Horace Hand, one of Plainfield dead of Tuesday night's wreck, was a charter member and for several years past secretary, attended in a body the funeral services at the bereaved home Saturday afternoon. Out of a membership of thirty-five, twenty-eight were in line. Rev. J. H. Parks, a friend of the deceased since boyhood, had charge of the sad service.

The Township Committee met in the township rooms, Saturday evening. Work on the annual report was transacted. The committee will meet again tonight for the same purpose.

No weekly shoot of The Brooksides was held Saturday afternoon, many of the members attending the funeral services of the late Horace Hand held Saturday afternoon at Plainfield.

Miss Sadie Reger entertained her sister, Miss Minnie Reger and her friend, Miss Cumingham, both of Westfield, at her home Sunday.

Prof. Howard D. White, of the public school, who has been spending his enforced vacation visiting at his home at Carlisle, Pa., has returned.

The regular monthly observance of the Lord's Supper was held at the close of the morning service at the Baptist church Sunday.

"Decide Today" was the topic of an interesting weekly meeting of the B. Y. P. U., held in the parlors of the church last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grant, of Plainfield, were the guests Sunday of Mrs. Grant's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. M. Paff, Sr.

A number from town attended the closing night of the Red Men's fair at Saengerbund Hall, Plainfield.

The members of the Epworth League held their weekly meeting in the church Sunday night.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The funeral services of Ephraim D. Boice, held at the Baptist church Friday afternoon, were attended by a large circle of relatives and friends. Mr. Boice was born in this village seventy years ago, and had resided in the neighborhood during his entire life. He was senior deacon of the church, which office he had held many years. He had been superintendent of the Sunday-school, connected with this church about fifteen years, and for about the same number of years was church clerk. He carried on a farming business most of his life time, but for the last year had lived in Plainfield with his son-in law, B. W. Hand. Of his immediate family he leaves a widow and three children, Mrs. Benjamin Hand, of Plainfield, William E. Boice, of Newark, and Mrs. O. Bittle, of Newark. The funeral rites were conducted by his pastor, Rev. J. A. Cubberley, assisted by Rev. J. W. Richardson, and the burial was at the South Plainfield cemetery.

Mr. Delafield's foreman on his farm recently heard a commotion in his poultry department at night, and thinking that probably a dog might be among them he went out with his gun, when he saw two men run from the duck yard. The foreman fired at the thieves who quickened their pace, leaving oaths and curses behind them.

A. A. Brousse, of New York, who recently bought the Orben farm at Samptown, is arranging plans for a new house to take the place of the one which recently burned down.

Harry Manning, who is a member of Company K, attended the funeral of Mr. Giles at Plainfield yesterday afternoon. Co. K was present.

Rev. William Burlew, of Perth Amboy, was in town yesterday, and was present at the funeral service of Ephraim D. Boice.

CONDITION OF THE INJURED

Wilson Fredericks is Most Dangerous, But Others Are Serious—Some Improving.

The persons who were injured in the railroad wreck last week are all reported as doing quite well. Of those at the hospital, Wilson Fredericks seems to be in the worst condition, although his physician has much hope of bringing him through. Fireman McCarty is feeling better today, and Howard George is also improved. The condition of the others remain practically unchanged.

Of those at their homes, Miss Lizzie Cutter was slightly improved this morning. Yesterday she was not so well.

Howard J. Runyon is also reported as slowly improving. He will be kept at home for some time.

Miss Fanny Casenove, who is at the home of a relative in Pearl street, is still quite ill, but her recovery is confidently expected.

Miss Carrie Pangborn, of Linden avenue, is no worse, although her condition is still uncertain as to an early recovery.

RECEPTION AND TEA.

Given by Mrs. James W. DeGraff, of Central Avenue, Saturday.

A large reception and tea was given Saturday afternoon by Mrs. James W. DeGraff, of Central avenue, when two hundred guests from this city and elsewhere were present. Mrs. De Graff and her motherv, Mrs. Milliken, received and they were assisted by Mrs. Isaac N. Miller, Mrs. Frank Raymond, Miss Waldo, Mrs. E. H. Ladd, Mrs. E. R. Ackerman, Miss Munger, Mrs. Townsend Rushmore, Mrs. Joseph Sandford, Mrs. F. C. Harder, Mrs. L. G. Timpson, of Plainfield; Mrs. Allen Worth, of Westfield; Mrs. Rapplier and Miss Stokes, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Milliken, of New York.

The decorations consisted of roses, carnations and greens. Refreshments were furnished and served by a Newark caterer.

Met Informally.

While the members of the In and Out Club assembled Saturday evening at the home of the Misses Randolph, of East Front street, the brilliant affair planned by the committee was not held.

The Easy Pill.

DeWitt's Little Early Risers do not gripe nor weaken the system. They cure biliousness, jaundice, constipation and inactive livers, by arousing the secretions, moving the bowels gently, yet effectually, and giving such tone and strength to the glands of the stomach, liver and bowels that the cause of the trouble is removed entirely. These famous little pills exert a decided tonic effect upon the organs involved, and if their use is continued for a few days there will be no return of the trouble. L. W. Randolph.

ENDEAVOR ANNIVERSARY.

Marked by a Special Sermon to the Young People of Trinity Church.

At Trinity Reformed church yesterday morning, Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, the pastor, preached a special sermon to young people in recognition of the twenty-second anniversary of the Christian Endeavor Society.

Pastor Schenck took for his subject, "Remember God Now, etc.," Ecclesiastes xii:1. He made an earnest appeal to the young people to give their hearts to Christ and unite with His church. He made a touching reference to the period of deep mourning in this city, the funeral processions and the display of flags at half-mast.

RED MEN'S FAIR.

Week's Fair Came to a Close on Saturday Evening.

While the terrible blow which has fallen upon the city has its effects on the attendance, the fair of Wetumpkah and Miantonomo Tribes and Iona Council, which closed in Saengerbund Hall, Saturday night, enjoyed considerable success. The contest for the diamond ring was won by Miss Lizzie Willoughby, of Westfield, who collected $47 against her opponent, Miss Mary Burke, who collected $40.

GIBBONS SOUNDS ALARM.

The Cardinal Says Divorce Mills Are More Dangerous Than Mormonism.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 2.—Preaching at the cathedral on "Christ the Only Enduring Name in History and the Only True Reformer of Society," Cardinal Gibbons sounded a note of warning in a discussion of the growing number of divorce mills.

"Two thousand years ago," said his eminence, "pagan Rome had all of the temporal blessings this country now enjoys. The wealth of the nations poured into her lap. Her empire extended over three continents. She far excelled us in the arts, in oratory, poetry, philosophy and literature and in all of the refinements of cultivated society. Her paintings and sculpture, her literary productions, are still our models. And yet while she was in the zenith of her material splendor she was in a state of moral and political decay.

"There is a barbarism more dense than the barbarism of the savage tribes of the forest. For the children of the forest, taught by the God of nature, adore the Great Spirit. I speak of a barbarism which eliminates God and an overruling Providence from the moral government of the world, which takes no account of a life to come and of the responsibilities attached to it.

"There is a social scourge more blighting and more destructive of family life than Mormonism. It is the fearfully increasing number of divorce mills throughout the United States. These mills, like the mills of God, are slowly but surely grinding the domestic altars of the nation. Husband and wife are separated on the most flimsy pretexts. And as if the different states of the Union were not sufficiently accommodating in this respect South Dakota has the enviable distinction of granting a divorce for the mere asking of it on the sole condition of a brief sojourn in her borders."

Hobson Resigns.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Naval Constructor Richmond Pearson Hobson, the hero of the Merrimac episode, has tendered his resignation to President Roosevelt through the secretary of the navy. Rear Admiral H. C. Taylor, chief of the bureau of navigation, has recommended that the resignation be accepted, and Rear Admiral Bowles, the chief naval constructor, is credited with having taken the same action. The action of Mr. Hobson was the result of the failure of congress to pass the bill providing for his retirement and a recent order assigning him to duty on the Pacific coast.

Mr. Long's Condition Hopeful.

BOSTON, Feb. 2.—The reports from the bedside of ex-Governor Long, who lies dangerously ill at St. Margaret's hospital, were of a character to give renewed hope of his ultimate recovery. The attending physician and the few others in a position to know positively of the progress of the malady have heretofore been discreetly reticent, but the impression reflected from the bulletins of the past twenty-four hours is one of encouragement, and those in attendance make no attempt to conceal the fact that conditions are satisfactory from a medical standpoint.

Died In Her Lonely Sod House.

CESTOS, Okla., Feb. 2.—Miss Mary Hostetler, a homesteader, was found dead in her sod house on the plains west of Cestos in western Oklahoma this week by cowboys from a ranch, her nearest neighbors five miles away. The girl had been living alone on her homestead. She was adventurous and daring, and the terrors of loneliness had no effect on her. She came here from Indiana.

Syracuse Hotel Burned.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Feb. 2.—A fire which broke out in the Hotel Mowry caused a damage of about $20,000, of which about $12,000 was in the grocery store of Andrews, Loomis & Andrews and the balance on building and furnishings in the hotel. There were 150 people asleep in the hotel. All escaped safely. The origin of the fire is not definitely known.

Fire In Cairo, Ill.

CAIRO, Ill., Feb. 2.—Fire has destroyed the coopers shop of the Halliday Bros. company and the warehouse of the Three States' Buggy and Implement company, containing hundreds of buggies. Five Illinois Central cars were burned. Loss over $50,000.

Phipps' Gift to India.

CALCUTTA, Feb. 2.—Henry Phipps, director of the Carnegie Steel company, who is traveling in India, has handed to Lord Curzon the sum of $10,000 to be devoted to some practical object or in scientific research promising to be of enduring benefit to India.

THE KIDNAPPED MILLIONAIRES

A TALE OF WALL STREET AND THE TROPICS

By FREDERICK U. ADAMS.

Copyright, 1902, by Lothrop Publishing Company. All rights reserved.

A year or more before Hestor had been injured in China. While conducting an expedition into the interior of that country his party had been ambuscaded, and in the melee which followed Hestor was knocked senseless by a blow on the forehead, delivered with great force by some blunt instrument. The attacking Tartars were driven off. The immediate effects of the blow were slight, but several months later Hestor had a severe attack of acute traumatic meningitis, from which he apparently fully recovered after a long illness. Later he complained to Mr. Van Horne that his head troubled him. He explained some strange symptoms and was much worried. Acting on Mr. Van Horne's advice, Hestor consulted a specialist in brain diseases. He was informed that in all probability a clot of blood from a ruptured blood vessel had formed and was pressing against the brain tissue. Hestor agreed to submit to an operation, but postponed it and went on another cruise. He suffered no further attack, and the incident was forgotten by Mr. Van Horne. It was vividly recalled when Chalmers wired his suspicions.

An examination at the hospital disclosed the fact that the Seymour bullet had plowed its course past the point where Hestor had sustained the blow some 14 months before. Without going into details of surgery, it is sufficient to say that the gun shot wound exposed and partially relieved the blood clot; the existence of which had been suspected. It was successfully removed. For a month Hestor hovered on the border line, and then slowly moved away from the danger point. Sidney Hammond and Mr. Van Horne alternated in remaining in New Orleans until he was on the road to recovery.

Hestor had no recollection of events subsequent to the Chinese expedition. In his delirium he imagined himself at the head of his men in that faraway Celestial empire. When he awoke from this fantasy, clothed in his right mind, he recognized Sidney Hammond and greeted him with a pleased but mystified smile.

"How came you here, dear old fellow?" he asked as he reached out a wasted hand. "What are you doing in China? What is the matter with me? Ah, I remember now! That pig-tailed beggar hit me on the head. But where did you come from, Sidney?"

Sidney made a non-committal answer and warned Hestor that he must not talk or disturb himself in any way until he regained his strength. During the period of convalescence Hestor's curiosity was too great to be denied, and Sidney evolved a wonderful fabrication, which gave a rational explanation of how Hestor happened to be in New Orleans, rather than in some city of the flowery kingdom. It was apparent Hestor did not believe or understand this statement; but like all invalids, he was compelled to accept with the best possible grace what was offered him.

The physicians in charge of the case prepared a statement in which it was set forth that Mr. Hestor had been suffering from a clearly-defined attack of amnesia, preceded by a period of mild dementia. It possessed many remarkable features, but was by no means unprecedented.

"Do you believe his recovery a permanent one, doctor?" asked Sidney, anxiously.

"Quien sabe?" replied Dr. Brown. "There is no reason why it should not be a permanent one. The cause is removed, and Hestor is now apparently in full possession of his faculties. He is a strong, healthy man, and there is no taint of insanity in his family. The truth must be kept from him until he has entirely regained his physical strength. He should take a long ocean cruise, in company with some one in whom he has complete confidence. That means you."

When these facts were explained to Mr. Morton and his associates, they were unanimous in a decision to take no legal steps against Mr. Hestor, or against Capt. Waters They were satisfied to await Hestor's complete recovery, and were confident that he would make honorable amends when acquainted with the facts.

One afternoon Sidney informed Hestor that the physicians had advised an ocean cruise, and that he would be permitted to go on board the "Shark" in about two weeks. Hestor urged that he should go to New York and attend to certain business affairs. This was not listened to, and it was finally arranged that Hestor give Mr. Hammond power of attorney to look after such matters as required attention. Mr. Van Horne took Sidney's place while the latter was in New York.

All of Mr. Hestor's property was in interest-bearing securities, and these required little or no attention. Mr. Chalmers had not made public his suspicions concerning Hestor's Wall street operations, neither had any statement been made by Mr. Morton or others. Sidney found a record of the various transactions in a safety deposit vault. He then called on Street & Rogers and presented his credentials. Their books showed that Walter B. Hestor had a credit of $32,000,000. He had originally purchased 700,000 shares of stock, and had issued instructions which had been strictly carried out. The money was due from various banks, trust companies, commission and brokerage houses. Street & Rogers had decided not to force payments, fearing to disturb the money market. Mr. Hammond indorsed this course and instructed them to gradually convert the credits into interest-bearing securities.

Thus it happened, one fine September afternoon, that the steam yacht "Shark" sailed down the river from New Orleans, destined for the waters of the South Pacific. On board were Walter B. Hestor, Sidney Hammond, L. Sylvester Vincent and Bernard Seymour. Mr. Vincent and Mr. Seymour were present at Mr. Hammond's invitation, and Hestor was delighted with his new acquaintances. Vincent had a wonderful venture on hand which demanded his presence in southern waters, and Mr. Seymour proposed to gather the materials for a book, which, he asserted, "would make them all sit up nights." And on the deck of the "Shark," with Capt. Waters once more in command, this narrative will leave them.

The later events in the lives of these characters must be relegated to some future chapters. It may be said in closing that the doors of the Carmody mansion were not closed to Mr. William Chalmers, managing editor of the New York Record.

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $300 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. HEAVY EXPORTS.

Report Shows Large Increase In Foreign Trade.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Exports of manufactures show a marked increase in the calendar year 1902 as compared with 1901. The total value of the 1902 exports of manufactures, as shown by the figures of the treasury bureau of statistics, is $410,650,967 against $395,144,030 in 1901, an increase of $15,500,000.

Nearly all the important manufactures entering into our export trade show an increase, the chief exceptions being iron and steel and refined mineral oil. Iron and steel manufactures show a decrease of over $4,500,000 and mineral oils a reduction of $4,000,000. Copper manufactures showed a gain of $12,000,000. The next largest gain is in cotton manufactures, which show an increase of over $7,000,000. This increase in cotton goods is chiefly in cloths sent to China, the total exports of cotton cloths to China in 1902 having been 326,000,000 yards against 201,000,000 yards in 1901, the value in 1902 being $16,048,455 against $10,224,215 in 1901. Agricultural implements show an increase of over $1,000,000; books, maps, etc., nearly $1,000,000.

The chief reduction in exports during the year is in agricultural products, which show a decrease of $120,000,000, of which $80,000,000 is in breadstuffs, $24,000,000 in provisions, $19,000,000 in animals and $10,000,000 in cotton, while tobacco shows an increase of about $8,000,000 and fruits and nuts an increase of about $7,000,000.

MEMORIAL TO JEFFERSON.

An Appeal Issued For Funds by President Dewey.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The Thomas Jefferson Memorial association organized for the purpose of erecting at the national capital an appropriate and truly national memorial to the "author of the Declaration of Independence," through its president, Admiral George Dewey, has issued an appeal to the American people for funds to carry out the object of the association.

The association is now complete in its list of officers, every state being represented by a vice president and in some cases by a representative on the board of governors, the controlling body. No great movement of a similar character in this country, it is claimed, had as its officers more men of national character and influence than this organization. Prominent men from all sections of the country have become interested in the movement and have written to the officers of the association expressions of approval. The association, it is stated, is thoroughly nonpartisan, the design being merely to raise a memorial to Mr. Jefferson as writer of the Declaration of Independence.

Electrical Possibilities.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Feb. 2.—Charles P. Steinmetz, the expert electrician, addressing a public meeting here on "Future Possibilities of Electricity," said that the success of wireless telegraphy would in the future prevent any one from being completely isolated and that by its means arctic explorers would be able to communicate with civilization and thus prevent any more expeditions being lost and perishing. He said that it would also be generally used in war, so that an opposing force could not cut wires and thus cut off communication. He added that the telephone is yet in its infancy and that within half a generation it will be possible for Americans to talk with friends in Europe, as a transatlantic telephone is a question of only a few years.

Marquand Sale a Record Breaker.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—For the sale of Henry G. Marquand's collection to reach a total of nearly $750,000 is a distinction which will make this sale memorable in art annals not only here but abroad. According to the revised figures, the entire sale brought the total proceeds to the handsome aggregate of $706,019 75. This sum makes the Marquand sale the most successful sale of the class of objects represented in Mr. Marquand's collection which has been held in New York. The sensational incident of the closing afternoon was the sale of the royal Persian rug, No. 1,305 of the catalogue, for $38,000. There are, it is declared, only six such rugs known in the world. A Gobelin tapestry sold for $15,000.

The Standard After Galicia Oil Wells

VIENNA, Feb. 2.—It is reported that the Standard Oil company is making an investigation into the conditions prevailing at the oilfields of Galicia with a view to purchasing the entire properties. American experts are now at Boryslav, an important petroleum center in Galicia, conferring with the owners. The price named is $10,000,000, but this is exclusive of some of the largest oil wells. The Standard Oil company's trade in Germany has recently suffered by the competition of Galician oil, the enormous production in Galicia causing prices to fall to the lowest point.

Ice Gorge at Meadville, Pa.

MEADVILLE, Pa., Feb. 2.—The gorge in French creek still continues. It extends for a distance of probably four and a half or five miles below, above and adjacent to this city. The lower part of town is flooded, and many people have moved out of their houses temporarily. Railroad trains are still running through a foot or two of water. The water flow is falling slowly.

Kansas Bank Robbed.

WHAT THE ENGINEER SAID

"I Told Him I Could Not See" Were His Words When Assisted From the Wreck.

As coming from the first man to reach Engineer Davis, of the Philadelphia flyer, after the wreck, S. Arthur Krom's story of his experiences that night has special interest. Mr. Krom was in the fourth car and was one of the first to get out.

He ran forward and saw a man crawling out of the wreck on his hands and knees. Krom assisted him to the bank. At the time, he supposed the man was the fireman but the description tallies exactly with that of Davis. The man kept saying: "I told him I could not see." He did not explain who he was talking about. He appeared perfectly rational and not badly injured so Mr. Krom left him to go to the asssitance of others.

When he looked at the wreck again, Mr. Krom says he saw two men and a woman standing on top of the cab to the express locomotive, apparently looking for some way to descend. Thinking they were uninjured, he did not assist them but went to help Thomas A. Cuming who was close by.

A Weak Stomach

causes a weak body and invites disease. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cures and strengthens the stomach, and wards off and overcomes disease. J. B. Taylor, a prominent merchant of Ohriesman, Tex., says: "I could not eat because of a weak stomach. I lost all strength and run down in weight. All that money could do was done, but all hope of recovery vanished. Hearing of some wonderful cures effected by use of Kodol, I concluded to try it. The first bottle benefitted me, and after taking four bottles I am fully restored to my usual strength, weight and health."

LOCAL PASTORS DRAW LESSONS

Christ giving His life for the redemption of the world.

Rev. C. L. Goodrich.

"Teachings of the Tragedy," was the subject of the special sermon by Rev. C. L. Goodrich at the Congregational church, yesterday morning. In the course of his remarks Mr. Goodrich said that he did not know enough facts concerning the recent railroad disaster to blame the railroad company or the engineer. However, he said, that so long as God continued to give one control of himself and allowed him to do this and that according to his own will, these accidents would happen. Mr. Goodrich said that if people were machines such accidents would not occur, but he did not believe that would be wise.

The pastor drew lessons from the disaster. He said that all should be ready at any minute when called. By way of comparison, he said that there were other powers for disaster besides that of steam, and one of these was the power of the saloon. He stated that while the accident was but for a brief time, the saloon was for all time and the results of the saloon he considered far worse than those of the wreck.

Rev. John McMurray.

Taking as his theme "Be ye ready; at such an hour as ye think not the Son of man cometh," Rev. John MacMurray, of the Monroe Avenue church, expressed himself, last evening, in connection with the Westfield disaster. While offering sympathy for the bereaved and signifying extreme sorrow for the results of the terrible crash, he declared with emphasis that measures should be taken to fix the responsibility.

"The first impulse," he said, "is to blame it upon the engineer, but knowing railroad men as I do I am loathe to believe he was guilty of criminal negligence. Davis' schedule called for ninety miles in 109 minutes and the railroad officials and general public expect him to maintain it. That calls for a clear right of way, a good engine and no delays. He had a right to expect this and work upon it until warned to the contrary.

"Some blame ought to go to the railroad company. Stoves in cars are a violation of the law, and if the engine was out of order so much more neglect on the part of the officials. I may be called unsympathetic for it, but the accident can be declared one of the penalties the traveling public has for demanding fast time and winking at violations of the law."

In conclusion the preacher said one beautiful thought is gained from the parting scene of Engineer Davis and his wife, Tuesday morning, when she murmured a prayer for his safety during the day, and that is, that friends should never leave each other except with feelings of love, for the end may come at any time.

SHOCK OF DISASTER HASTENED HIS DEATH

Thomas U. Smith Passed Away Last Evening After a Long Illness.

HE WAS VERY POPULAR

FEW HAD THE LARGE CIRCLE OF FRIENDS THAT HE POSSESSED.

Had Been in Business in Plainfield for Many Years, and Was Prominently Identified With Local Athletics—Family at Bedside.

One of Plainfield's best known young men, Thomas U. Smith, passed away last evening at 7:50 o'clock after a long illness. Tuberculosis was the cause of death but the end was hastened by the shock on hearing of the Westfield disaster. He was conscious almost to the last and bade farewell to the members of his family who were gathered about his bedside, at the home of his mother, Mrs. Ella B. Smith, 65 Westervelt avenue.

T. U. Smith was born at Locust Valley, L. I., twenty-seven years ago. At the age of eleven, he came to Plainfield with his parents and resided here ever since. He attended the Plainfield public schools until he went in the employ of Doane & VanArsdale, shoe merchants. When the partnership dissolved, he remained with John H. Doane. On the return of Morris C. VanArsdale to resume business in this city, Mr. Smith went with him as salesman. He afterwards was employed in the freight department of the Lehigh Valley Railroad. A year ago, he joined the ambulance corps of the Walton Oxygen works and was so successful in his work that, at the time of his illness, it had been planned to take him into the office and make him junior partner of the firm.

While working on the ambulance corps at the Park avenue fire in New York, he caught a severe cold which he neglected. It settled in his lungs. In a paroxysm of coughing, he burst a blood vessel in the lung and bled for two days. He was taken to the Presbyterian Hospital where his life was despaired of. That was in May. He gradually improved and was brought home. He was sent to Sullivan county, N. Y., but the trip did him no good and he returned to Plainfield where he remained up to the time of his death.

There were few young men in Plainfield who had a larger circle of friends than he. He was of a pleasant, obliging disposition and was greatly liked by all who knew him. He was prominent in local athletic circles. He played with the original Y. M. C. A. football team and then was one of the managing committee of the Plainfield A. A., another member of which was Thomas A. Cuming, who was killed in the Westfield wreck. He made a great reputation for himself as full back on the P. A. A. eleven. Of late years, he took much interest in lawn tennis and was conceded one of the best players in Union county, having repeatedly won the open tournaments at the Westfield Club. He was a member of Grace Episcopal church and sang in the choir of that church for many years.

He leaves a mother, two sisters, Mrs. Lester R. Walton, of New York, and Miss Elsie T. Smith, and one brother, H. Clifford Smith.

The funeral will be held from the home Wednesday at noon. Carriages will meet the 11 o'clock train from New York. The interement will be in Hillside cemetery.

SUDDENLY STRICKEN.

Mrs. Sarah VanNest Died Very Suddenly at Her Home at Alton Saturday Evening.

Mrs. Sarah VanNest, aged fifty-six years, wife of William VanNest, of Alton, died suddenly of heart trouble Saturday evening at her home. Without any warning she was staken ill and passed away within fifteen minutes afterward. A few years ago Mrs. VanNest suffered a stroke of apoplexy, but she had entively recovered from it.

Mrs. VanNest's daughters had gone calling and did not return until their mother had passed away. Mr. Van Nest was at home. This is the third death in that family within six weeks.

Mrs. VanNest is survived by a husband and four children. The latter are Mrs. Dayton Melick, Miss Grace VanNest, Miss Harriett VanNest and Harry VanNest. The funeral services will be held from the home Wednesday afternoon at 2:03 o'clock and the interment will be in Hillside cemetery, Plainfield.

BURNED TO DEATH.

Retired Clergyman Met Death in Accident at His Home at Roselle Park.

Rev. Robert E. Street, a retired minister, was burned to death yesterday morning in his home in Roselle Park, and his daughter Mary, in her efforts to rescue her father, who was ninety-seven years old, received injuries that may prove fatal.

Mr. Street fell over a bedroom lamp and his clothing caught fire.

WINTER GOLF.

Winter Championship of Park Golf Club Was Started Saturday.

The scratch contest for the winter championship of the Park Golf Club began Saturday, the winner being Senator Chas. A. Reed. This contest will take place every Saturday afternoon and continue through February and March. Any member may challenge for possession of the trophy, holding it until beaten by some other player. At the close of the season the player scoring the most wins to his credit will have permanent possession of the trophy. The rules will be match play but with slight modifications to fit the weather conditions. Challenges should be sent to Chas. B. Morse, secretary of the club. In the game Saturday, Senator Reed made a score of eighty-two for the eighteen holes.

Help for Wornout Preachers.

Nearly $300 was raised for the wornout preachers in five minutes yesterday morning at Grace M. E. church after an eloquent and stirring appeal made by James W. Pearsall, of Ridgewood, president of the Laymen's Association of the Newark Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Promotion Day.

The semi-annual promotions of the North Plainfield school are taking place today. The new arrangement of High School studies will go into effect permanently. The arrangement has been described in these columns several times.

Wondreful Scales.

The grand balance or scale used in the Bank of England is probably the most wonderful piece of mechanism to be seen anywhere. It stands about seven feet high and weighs probably two tons. This scale is so perfectly adjusted that it can weigh a grain of dust or 400 pounds of gold. A postage stamp placed on one of the two weighing portions will move the index six inches. If the weight placed upon the scale is beyond its capacity an electric bell is set ringing, the machine declining to execute a task of which it is incapable.—N. Y. Sun.

OTHER SALARY CHANGES

Common Council Expresses Itself as Against Passage of Repealers of Annexation and Consolidation Acts — License Applications Made—Two New Ones.

Much business of importance was considered at the regular February meeting of the Common Council last evening, and some was left over for an adjourned meeting to be held Tuesday evening, February 23. The presentation of applications for liquor licenses was the first business. There are two additional applications this year, that of E. P. Turner for a saloon on West Third street, and one from Morris Snyder for a wholesale license on North avenue. The other old applicants are A. B. Rosell, J. H. Staats, Michael F. Watson, Bernard Clark, Jacob Blimm, Henry Windham, Henry Haurand, A. D. Findley, John Rafferty, Charles J. Shanz, Daniel Galbraith, Chris. Gloeker, the Eastern Bottling Association and Frank Linke. In all there are three applications for wholesale licenses, Morris Snyder, Eastern Bottling Association and Frank Linke. The applications were referred to the license committee and will be reported upon later.

The Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital, as predicted in The Daily Press, petitioned the Council for an annual appropriation of $1,500 which is allowed by law. The matter was referred to the finance committee.

Mrs. Elizabeth Parse, as president of the W. C. T. U., entered a protest agains the granting of liquor licenses. The communication was received and referred to the license committee. C. W. Ellis asked for a rebate in a tax assessment on the ground that he had been assessed for too many feet of property on Netherwood avenue. The matter was referred to the finance committee for adjustment.

Manager John H. Akarman, of the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway Company, reported to the Council that the petition recently received, asking for a readjustment of running schedule, was being considered by the officials of the company.

The call men in the fire department petitioned the Council for an increase in pay from $25 to $75 a year, believing that their services are worth that much in view of the fact that they are obliged to purchase their own uniforms. The matter was referred to the fire and building committee.

Building Inspector T. O. Doane reported that twenty-five permits were granted during January. Mr. Murphy reported that Constable John Manley's bond was all right and he moved that it be recorded. Mr. Murphy also moved that an assessment of $30 against property on West Sixth street, owned by the Plainfield Library be marked "assessed in error" on the grounds that the library is exempt from such assessment. The motion was adopted.

Mr. Tolles offered a resolution authorizing the street and sewer committee to make test borings along the line proposed for the south-side sanitary sewer, at an expense not to exceed $200. This was adopted. Later in the evening the Council took a recess for over an hour to confer with G. Herbert Taylor regarding the proposed sewer.

Mr. Lee offered a resolution which was adopted granting a petition for two fire hydrants, one on East Second street and Johnston avenue, and the other at Netherwood avenue and East Second street. Mr. Murphy reported back the petition of C. J. Fisk for a light on Rock avenue and moved that it be granted. This was so ordered, as was also a petition of H. G. Adams for two electric lights on Farragut avenue and Midway avenue.

After the recess, the Council took important action in several matters. The first was on a resolution offered by Mr. Lee fixing the salaries of the men in the fire department. The list is made up as follows: Chief Doane, $800 to $900 a year; First Assistant J. W. Murray, Jr., $100; Second Assistant Andrew Jennings, $800 to $900; veterinary, $150 a year; engineer, $75 a year; hose and laddermen, $25 to $50

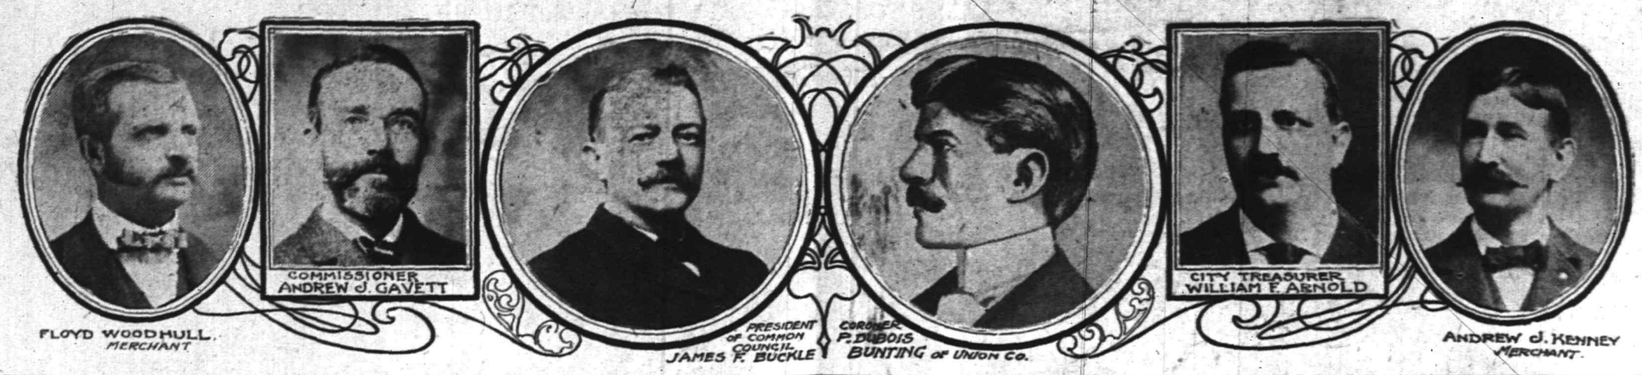
Those Who Will Place Responsibility for the Westfield Disaster.



BODY STILL UNIDENTIFIED

COUNTY PHYSICIAN WESTCOTT SAYS IT SHALL HAVE PROPER BURIAL.

If Not Identified, the County Will See That It is Placed in Local Cemetery.

The one remaining body at the morgue is still unidentified, although there seems to be some means of arriving at a conclusion as to whom the body is. There is a shoe which was found on the remains which bears the name of a Front street shoe dealer.

Dr. F. W. Westcott, the county physician, when seen yesterday by a Daily Press reporter, said that the remains would not be interred in the Potters' Field, if still unidentified, but that it would be buried with proper services by an officiating clergyman and a stone would be erected over the grave in one of the local cemeteries. Dr. Westcott said:

"There shall not be a victim of this wreck who will not receive a decent burial. If the body is not identified I will not allow it to be interred in the Potter's Field, but a decent burial will be given by the county."

YEARS OF ENDEAVOR WORK

TWENTY-SECOND ANNIVERSARY OBSERVED AT TRINITY CHURCH.

Rev. N. J. Sproul, of Dunellen, Was the Speaker of the Evening—H. F. Crawford Led.

The twenty-second anniversary of the Christian Endeavor movement was appropriately celebrated last evening by the society at Trinity Reformed church. There was a good attendance and the meeting was a spiritual and helpful one. H. F. Crawford was in charge of the service and there was an earnest prayer by Robert Love.

The address of the evening was made by Rev. N. J. Sproul, of Dunellen, who took for his subject, "Soul-Winning." The speaker said that Christian Endeavorers are to be soul-winners, and he wanted to know if the members of this society are striving to win souls. He said that Christ has put a priceless worth on souls and if Endeavorers are not soul-winners they are not carrying out their pledge.

Another point touched upon was one's personal responsibility in soul-winning; and Mr. Sproul urged all to study God's word. At the close of Mr. Sproul's remarks, Dr. Schenck spoke a few helpful words and there was a solo by H. J. Martin. The collection received was for the Christian Endeavor church fund.

DEATH OF C. H. HERRING.

Former Plainfielder and Father of a Local Pastor Passed Away.

Charles H. Herring, father of Rev. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of this city, died in St. Luke's Hospital, New York, last night, at the age of sixty-eight years. He was first taken ill with heart trouble while on a visit here ten months ago. Since November he had been confined to the home of his daughter in New York and Saturday he was removed to the hospital.

Mr. Herring was born in New York City and during the greater part of his life was a banker. He came to Plainfield in 1893 and remained five years when he went to live in New York with his daughter, Mrs. Francis H. Flannery. He was a member of the First Presbyterian church.

The funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon and will probably be from the home of his son at 905 Watchung avenue.

INVESTIGATION AS TO CAUSES OF WESTFIELD DISASTER COMMENCED THIS AFTERNOON

Coroner's Jury is Now in Session in Council Chambers Listening to Testimony As Why Crash on Jersey Central Occurred.

OUTLINE OF THE EVIDENCE THAT WILL BE BROUGHT UP AT THE INQUEST.

Where does the responsibility for the Westfield disaster rest? That is the question about which there has been so much conjecture and so much discussion. Opinions seem to differ regarding it. The truth, so far as it can be discovered by human agencies, will be brought out at the coroner's inquest, which convened this afternoon, shortly after 2 o'clock and is now in session. Six of Plainfield's foremost citizens have been selected to listen to the testimony and sift out the truth if it be posible. For their benefit, everyone who knows aught of importance will be sworn and will tell what they know. From this mass of evidence, these six citizens will be expected to reach a logical conclusion and announce to the public where the responsibility for the accident should rest.

Interest in the results of the coroner's inquest is not confined to Plainfield alone. All the country is desirous of hearing the verdict. Here is a railroad, which has the reputation of being one of the best and most careful of any in the land, and one of the most frightful of railroad disasters occurs on its lines. Everything intended to safeguard the operation of the road works as it should and yet an engine runs by the danger signals and plunges into the rear of another train. Under the circumstances, it seems as if there were only two conclusions to draw. Either the engineer failed to attend to his duty and passed the signals without seeing them or else his failure to see them was due to something beyond his control and for which the railroad company or some of its officials were responsible.

There has been no attempt from the first on the part of the railroad company to conceal anything from the county authorities. County Physician Westcott had the fullest co-operation from the railroad men. Now the coroner and County Prosecutor English have had the most complete assistance on the part of the railroad in bringing to light the true facts.

Prosecutor English has been carefully looking into the condition of the engine previous to the wreck, the orders sent out and the attempts made to stop the train. According to the investigation he has made of the records of the railroad company, he found out that Engineer Davis complained of the engine he had on leaving Philadelphia and was given another one at Trenton Junction. He arrived at Jersey City on time and the record book of the company shows no complaint against the locomotive.

When, on account of a slight accident to a freight train which temporarily blocked the freight track, it was decided to run the Easton local through to Dunellen on the main track, the train despatcher sent instructions to that effect to the Easton local at Elizabeth. On account of the sharp turn just before reaching the Elizabeth station, which makes it impossible to see a signal to stop until almost at the station, and the fact that the Philadelphia express is not scheduled to stop there, the orders for that train were sent to Cranford where there is no difficulty in seeing any signals at the station. It is expected that the railroad company will endeavor to show at the inquest that the Cranford operator received the orders in plenty of time and went out on the platform with his red lantern to signal the express to stop. No attention was paid to his signal. The train despatcher was notified at once and wired Westfield where, it is expected to be shown, the signal again was not heeded. The evidence of Flagman Verson, at the Broad street crossing, as already given in The Daily Press, will be brought before the jury to show that another danger signal was unheeded.

In all this evidence there is nothing that really conflicts with the statements of Engineer Davis, which have already been made public. His sworn statement, made before Justice Huff and now in possession of Prosecutor English, will finally be made public and his story will be heard. The general belief is that it will conform with the other statements.

Coroner Bunting will be in charge of the inquest. The foreman of the jury is Charles J. Fisk, former mayor of Plainfield and president of the City Board of Health. The other members are William F. Arnold, city treasurer and cashier of the City National Bank; Floyd T. Woodhull, member of the City Board of Education and senior member of the firm of Woodhull & Martin; Andrew W. Gavett, street commissioner and city engineer; James F. Buckle, president of the Common Council and member of the firm of Woolston & Buckle, painters and paperhangers; and John J. Kenney, local shoe merchant.

Fifty subpoenas have been issued by County Prosecutor English, of which twenty are for Plainfielders. The officials of the railroad will appear. General Manager Besler, the train despatcher at Jersey City, the operators at Cranford and Westfield and the flagman at Westfield will all be called on to testify. The records of the railroad company, showing the reports on the locomotives, will also be offered in evidence. There are a number of statements, including that of Engineer Davis, to be presented.

It is expected that the inquest will continue all this afternoon and be continued tomorrow and perhaps Thursday. It is said that there is a great mass of evidence to be heard and that it will take more time than most people think.

TOOK TESTIMONY.

In Suit Between the American Sewage Disposal Company and the City of Plainfield.

Testimony was taken yesterday in the case between the city of Plainfield and the American Sewage Disposal Company at Boston on behalf of the complainant, from eighteen witnesses. Emerson Glover, the patentee of the system used by the Boston concern. The hearing was adjourned until the latter part of the month in order to allow Mr. Marsh and Mr. Gavett to be in this city pending the Coroner's inquest over the recent Westfield disaster.

ANOTHER FUNERAL YESTERDAY

SERVICES FOR THE LATE WILLIAM M. CLARK HELD FROM THE HOME.

Impressive Episcopal Service Conducted by Rector of Grace Episcopal Church.

One of the most impressive funeral services, held over the remains of the victims of the recent disaster, was that of the Episcopal church for the late William M. V. Clark, at the home, 214 East Ninth street, yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

There was a large number of people present at the services which were conducted by Rev. William Vicars Stevenson, rector of the Grace Episcopal church, assisted by Rev. E. M. Rodman, rector emeritus of the same church. It was a beautifully impressive service.

The floral contributions were very handsome and were gifts from his late business associates and social acquaintances. Elmer E. Runyon, during the services, rendered in a feeling manner a hymn, "Peace, Peace, Sweet Peace," which was one of the favorites hymns of Mr. Clark. The interment will be made in Woodlawn, N. Y., today. There were no pall bearers.

GOOD STANDING FOR ATHLETES

City School Board Decides to Require Good School Work of All Who Participate.

IN SCHOOL ATHLETICS

This Will Also Apply to the Social Events of the Classes—Too Many Poor Reports Was Cause for Action—Getting Time to Start the New High School.

Laggard pupils in the city schools who care more for the social and athletic side of student life than lesson learning will have a damper placed upon their aspirations through the action of the City Board of Education at its meeting, last evening. The following resolution passed by the members, explains the matter fully:

"Resolved, that the Board of Education does not approve of participation in the athletic and allied interests (literary and social) of the High School, by students whose work is unsatisfactory, and that the principal be directed to require satisfactory school work of students as a condition for participation in such interests."

The attention of the school officials has been directed to the condition of affairs for the past year through a great number of reports being below the standard. A careful study disclosed too much devotion to outdoor sports and evening parties under school auspices to be greatly to blame and Superintendent Maxson decided to place a ban upon those dilatory in studies. It was he who brought the matter before the board with the above result. The rule will go into effect at once.

Another matter of importance was an informal report of the new High School project presented by Secretary L. N. Lovell. He declared matters were now getting down to the point where estimates would be made for the letting of contracts and that once actual work was started the building would be completed in one year. In addition it was made known that the Common Council had appointed Jan vanHerwerden and William Tyler, as members of the Board of School Estimate. The appointment of an additional two from the educational board was deferred until the next meeting.

In the way of routine reports, Tax Collector Smith's showed a collection of $3,204.84 for the month; Superintendent Maxson announced receiving $948.50 tution fees for the past two terms; the medical inspectors examined sixty-three pupils during the past month and the custodian of school moneys showed a balance on hand of $18,204.43.

The board decided at its own expense to send Superintendent Maxson to the annual convention of the National Superintendents, which is to be held February 20 at Cincinnati, O. Mr. Maxson has attended them for twenty years and the discussions have facilitated his work in many ways.

The committee on teachers reported the resignation of Miss Sarah L. Chase, of the Bryant School, and the appointment in her place of Miss Jessie Brighton, of Oneonta, N. Y. The concluding item of business was the election of L. N. Lovell as vice president of the board. This is demanded by the new school law but was overlooked in the regular election.

To Practically Rebuild.

The first permit to be granted in the office of Building Inspector T. O. Doane for the month of February was to Frank H. Hand and Frank H. Smith, who will demolish the house at the corner of East Seventh street and Crescent avenue. Extensive alterations will be made and the house will be almost entirely rebuilt.

Drum Corps to Turn Out.

The Independent Fife and Drum Corps will turn out in a body for the funeral of the late J. Everett Reighton, who was one of those who were victims of the recent wreck. The funeral will be held this afternoon and the fife and drum corps will escort the funeral cortege to the cemetery.

AS HIS PASTOR KNEW HIM

REV. J. W. RICHARDSON'S REMARKS AT FUNERAL OF THOMAS A. CUMING.

Deserving Tribute Paid to a Young Life Cut Short in the Westfield Disaster.

The eulogy given by Rev. J. W Richardson, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, at the funeral services of the late Thomas A. Cuming, last Saturday, found a response in the hearts of everyone present. Coming from one who knew Mr. Cuming so well the words could not help but be true to the subject. Mr. Richardson spoke as follows:

"Today, a shadow rests over our city, and over all our hearts. A peculiar pathos presses upon our souls and creates profound thoughtfulness. There is an absence which is keenly felt, a silence that is eloquent. A good man has been translated and we are left to cherish his memory, and apply the lesson of the hour to our own consciences.

"It was my privilege to enter into the closest social and Christian relationships with Thomas Cuming. At the beginning of my ministry here, I gave him the hand of fellowship, welcoming him to this church, when his membership was transferred from Dr. Hull's church, to Park avenue. Being fond of athletics I frequently accompanied him to meets; patted him on the back, and encouraged him in those tests of physical endurance, in which he used to engage.

"Through all the years of my pastorate, loving, helpful encouragement came to me from his dear lips. I married him to the true faithful wife, who made his home so extremely bright and attractive. And now, as one of the closing acts of ministry here, I am called to pronounce the last words of human commendation over a life, which from the earthly standpoint, was too suddenly cut off.

"It is an act of virtue to bestow honors upon those who have deserved well of their neighbors and city.

"What we say, or do here, can be but a meagre return for the care and labor, which they have bestowed upon the interests of the community. It is no disgrace to any man to have his honorable, just, unselfish actions recorded; no disadvantage to have them read. Let life be spent as it should be, and that is the richest legacy the dead can leave the living. The record of such a life, is its noblest eulogy. Such a life were well worth noting, and meditating over. So we come today, not to eulogize, but simply to place on record, the result of a manly life.

"In the business world, Thomas Cuming endeavored to be an honest faithful man. I know that once he retired from a certain line of business, because he would not resort to the mean dishonest practices used by his competitors in that vocation. Even in politics, this trait of character was emphasized. You who were associated with him in the affairs of the ward, know that he kept aloof from corrupt politics. He kept himself clean, and offered no man bribes for his vote.

"Then, too, he was generous towards his associates. It would not be strange, if, where the standards are so many, and so different in character, that opinions should clash; but such misunderstandings must have been slight with him. I have known him, when convinced that his opinion was wrong, to go to his neighbor, and commend the judgment of the other as superior to his own. Only manly men ever do that.

"From every side are heard expressions of sorrow for his pain; professions of respect for his cheerful neighborliness, and the emphatic assertion, that 'Tom' was a whole-hearted fellow. Even a man in one of the humblest vocations, calling at my home to deliver goods, said: 'Mr. Cuming had a smile and pleasant word for everyone, even for me.'

"These are indexes. These universal expressions heard on street and in store, reveal that the community knew him. That the people believed him to be a man of virtue, of integrity, and sterling honesty. Plainfield is not slow in taking the measure of a man.

"But above all else Thomas Cuming had dedicated his manhood to God's service. His pastor does not pretend to portray Tom as a perfect man; I must say 'Tom.' Thomas Cuming is a term too distant. He was bighearted 'Tom,' to us all. I do not pretend to picture him as a man who never made mistakes. But he was the kind of a man to remedy a mistake if it lay in his power. As a Christian he endeavored to do his full duty toward God and his neighbors. He was so sincerely Christian, that he could not carry grudges against anyone.

"Without a particle of fulsomeness, it may be affirmed, that in his religious life, he was ready to discharge any duty made plain to him. He never seemed to have any selfish ends to promote. He never sought prominent places; prominence was thrust upon him. And he never attempted to dictate to his brethren. He did entertain his own opinions concerning all those matters which necessarily come up in church life, and he expressed himself freely and without sophistry. But I never knew him to purposely wound anyone's feelings. He never sought to force his opinions upon those ecclesiastically connected with him.

"If his opinions were not adopted, he gracefully and cheerfully acquiesced, and thus kept in perfect step and unison with the majority. That is the reason we loved him so, in our church, and Sunday-school. And today, I but voice the unanimous sentiment of his church, when I declare, that Thomas, dear 'Tom,' had not an enemy in this large body of church members. Ever since Wednesday morning, we all have felt, that each had one dead in his own home.

"Thomas has clearly shown, that a man can shrewdly transact business, yet preserve the friendship of all. That he can enter politics, yet keep himself unstained. That he can indulge in all the legitimate sports of the day, yet maintain his Christian dignity, and the respect of his associates.

"Let us now turn to his faith. It had the grip of a strong man. With all his soul, he believed in God the Father, and Jesus Christ His Son. It is the storm which tests the staunchness of a ship's timbers. It is the overwhelming adversity which proves the quality of a man's religious hope.

"So on that night, when the dear ones were called to the hospital ward, as his darling wife stepped across the threshold, Thomas greeted her with these mighty words from Nahum: 'The Lord is good, a stronghold in the day of trouble, and He knoweth them that trust in Him.' Only one who knows how, can reach up and take hold of God's hands, in such an hour. Thomas did receive the spiritual support his soul needed. Aye, it was upon Jesus that he confidently leaned in the hour of that awful emergency. I shall never forget the horrid scene in that baggage car at the depot; where surrounded by the grimest tokens of tremendous suffering, death and eternity, Thomas calmly renewed his confidence in the Lord. The pain was intense, yet sweetly Thomas gave his all into the Lord's keeping for the night. He whispered, 'Jesus, blessed Jesus,' and in the early morn Jesus enfolded him, and took him away from all further pain.

"So we thank God for the bright hope which His word places before us. We thank Him for the unearthly light which shines upon the darkness, turning our night into full noon. We rejoice in the triumph of those who are now permitted to walk without weariness think without fatigue, and live without sin.

"All this is comprehended in the bright destiny of the Christian. The beautiful vision of 'Heaven' is placed before us, while the shades of death falls upon our hearts.

"God's own hand fringes our cloud with peace. The present, and the future, are filled with the living forms of glory, and our hearts are satisfied.

"'The Lord is good, a stronghold in the day of trouble; and He knows them that trust in Him.'"

The New York Herald of April 20, 1902, says:

"Today science affirms—

"Not only that the banana is twenty-five times as nutritious as the given weight of wheat, but, also; that it is 144 times as prolific. Thus fruit conquers over the cereal, Honduras over South Dakota, and famine promises to be forever banished from the face of the earth.

"Bananas have forty four times the nutriment of potatoes, the staple food of many northern countries of Europe, and thirty times that of rice, the main item on the daily board of more than a billion people on the globe."

BOARD OF TRADE PASSED STRONG RESOLUTIONS ON SUBJECT.

Despite the Gloom Cast Over the Meeting, the Members Showed Themselves of One Mind.

But for the Westfield disaster of Tuesday of last week, the meeting of the Board of Trade would have been a rousing one. There was no question as to how the members stood regarding this attempt to repeal the annexation and consolidation laws. Resolutions of the strongest character were passed and will be forwarded to the Legislature. The resolutions passed were as follows:

Whereas, The State Legislature in the year 1902 passed two bills known as the Plainfield North Plainfield annexation and consolidation acts, and

Whereas, These laws contain referendum clauses by which the people whose interests are chiefly affected have been authorized to vote and determine the questions involved, and

Whereas, There has been but one election held and that under one of the acts only, and by the people of North Plainfield only, and

Whereas, Consolidation under these acts has not been submitted to the voters of either Plainfield or North Plainfield and

Whereas, No claim is made that these laws are irregular, but it is a matter of record that they were introduced after years of public discussion and after resolutions by this Board of Trade, and were properly passed and signed after prolonged public hearings and debate, and

Whereas, We feel confident of the ability and desire of our citizens to solve this question, of such vital importance to them and of so small moment to outsiders, with a view solely to the ultimate welfare and advancement of our community and without regard to politics.

We, the Board of Trade of the City of Plainfield and Borough of North Plainfield, composed of citizens of both city and borough, do declare and resolve;

First.—That under the circumstances, we regard with surprise and regret the action of the Senator from Mercer county in introducing measures which seek to deprive our citizens of their right to decide for themselves, in their own way and at their own convenience, this important question of home government, and we believe that he must have been misinformed as to the feeling of our people.

Second.—That we earnestly and strongly protest against the passage of said bills, or either of them, and do hereby petition the Legislature and the Governor to prevent their enactment into laws.

Third.—That copies of these resolutions be sent to the Legislature and to the Governor, and that a committee be appointed by the president to demand a fair hearing before such legislative committees as may have said measures in charge and to assist in opposing their passage.

They cure sick kidneys.

Here is Plainfield proof that this is so:

Mr. O. E. Hepburn, of 123 Duer street, formerly of Canada, where he first heard of Doan's Kidney Pills, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have my endorsement for they cured me of a long standing case of backache which annoyed me very much especially if I took cold for at such times I was in pretty bad shape. I heard different people speak very highly of Doan's Kidney Pills, concluded to try them, got a box from my druggist, Mr. L. W. Randolph, and used them according to directions with the above results. I do not hesitate to give my endorsement of a preparation like Doan's Kidney Pills."

BOWEN'S ULTIMATUM

Latest Proposition of Allied Powers Rejected.

NO PREFERENCES TO BE GIVEN.

Allies Asked For a Twenty and Ten Per Cent Division of Customs Receipts—May Be Left to Hague Tribunal.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Herbert W. Bowen, Venezuela's representative in the negotiations at Washington for a settlement of the claims against that country, has sent through the British ambassador here what amounts practically to an ultimatum to the allied powers of Great Britain, Germany and Italy regarding their insistence for preferential treatment in the settlement of their claims against Venezuela. This note, which the British ambassador received shortly before 9 o'clock last night, was cabled at once to London, copies of it being transmitted to the Italian and German embassies for transmission to Rome and Berlin.

It is in reply to the proposition submitted at a joint conference of the negotiators by the British ambassador that the allied powers be allowed two-thirds of 30 per cent of the customs receipts of the ports of La Guayra and Porto Cabello and that the United States and the other claimant nations, France, Belgium, Holland, Denmark, Spain and Norway and Sweden, content themselves with the remaining one-third of this percentage—that is, 10 per cent of the receipts of these two ports.

In the note received by the British ambassador from Mr. Bowen the latter refuses point blank the proposition for a 20 and 10 per cent division on the ground that to recognize the principle it embodies would be absolutely offensive to modern civilization. In view of the fact that the negotiators are agreed on all save the question of preferential treatment the ambassador is informed that Venezuela has decided to submit that question to The Hague arbitration tribunal. Acceptance of this proposition, Venezuela contends, carries with it a raising of the blockade, the general understanding being that the blockade would end when the negotiators at Washington had reached an agreement.

It is understood that in refusing this last proposition submitted by the British ambassador in behalf of the allies Mr. Bowen takes the ground that he cannot accept in principle the contention that blockades and bombardments of forts and the consequent killing of helpless men, women and children entitle any power or alliance of powers to preferential treatment at the hands of a civilized nation.

Revolutionary Manifesto.

CARACAS, Venezuela, Feb. 3.—A revolutionary circular has been distributed here, dated Curacao, Dec. 27. It runs: "General Matos' committee has received a notification from Europe that the Venezuelan blockade will not be raised, if it ever is raised, for several weeks longer. The revolutionists should join the army before Feb. 5 to march on Caracas."

School Building Burned.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., Feb. 3.—The Union free school at Rensselaer Falls has been totally destroyed by fire, and seven of the pupils in jumping from a second story window to a woodpile fifteen feet below were more or less injured, but none fatally. Shortly after the school session opened flames were noticed issuing from the radiators in the floors. The teachers marched all but seven of the pupils out in order. The seven remained behind to get their wraps and, finding themselves cut off by the flames, jumped from a second story window. The pupils and teachers lost all their books and wraps. The furnace had just been installed and had not yet been taken over by the school board. The loss is $4,000 and the insurance $3,000.

Army Officer Caught In Canada.

MONTREAL, Feb. 3.—A former United States army officer, who gave his name as Alexander W. Waters, but who is believed to be William A. Wilson, has been arrested here, charged with the embezzlement of $8,000, the property of the United States government. When arraigned, Waters said that he had no desire to fight extradition proceedings, but was prepared to leave at once for Washington. Waters was disbursing officer of the bureau of coast guard and transportation at Manila.

Two Tough Ten-year-olds.

OGDEN, Utah, Feb. 3.—Two ten-year-old girls named Reeves and Curtis, serving sentences for general incorrigibility, have confessed to Superintendent Allison that they set fire to the dormitories in the state industrial school here. They said that the fire was part of a plot for a general escape by the girls in the institution, nearly all of whom, they allege, had knowledge of the contemplated break. The two have been placed in solitary confinement pending further investigation.

Electrical Discovery Announced.

ITHACA, N. Y., Feb. 3.—At a meeting of the Cornell Electric society Professor Frederick Bedell of the physics department of Cornell university announced a new discovery in electrical power transmission whereby an alternating and a direct current may be sent at the same time. Experiments show great economy, the amount of copper being reduced one-half.

OPERATORS FINISH.

Testimony Before Strike Commission All In.

SOME INTERESTING STATISTICS GIVEN

Rebuttal Evidence Offered by Miners to Show That There Was No Reign of Terror During the Strike.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 3.—The operators yesterday finished the presentation of evidence to the anthracite coal strike commission, and the afternoon session was devoted to testimony in rebuttal on the part of the miners. Much statistical evidence was offered during the morning by the Reading company showing in figures the conditions existing in the mine regions and comparing the prosperity of the mine workers and their children with that of persons engaged in other occupations in various cities. W. W. Stuley, head of a statistical bureau conducted by the coal carrying roads, was called to testify regarding the coal production, the amount of the commodity shipped and the prices received. The data, he said, was furnished by the coal companies.

A. C. Wilson of Pottsville, land agent for the Reading company, presented statements showing the property valuations and the taxes paid by the company on its property. H. L. Newcomb, statistician for the interstate commerce commission, introduced tables showing the average annual earnings during 1901 of workmen employed in several manufacturing towns of the state. The statistics affected 478,780 wage earners, and the total wages amounted to $221,138,149, or an average of $462 a man. The average in New York, the witness said, was about $5 higher, but in the New England states the difference is immaterial. The average daily earnings of anthracite miners, witness said, are about $2.05, making the yearly average $620.

J. J. Michner, in charge of the Reading company's telegraph office here, said that from investigation he learned that breaker boys worked shorter hours and received better pay than telegraph messengers and boys in department stores.

The presentation of these statistics ended the testimony for the operators.

The afternoon session was devoted entirely to rebuttal testimony. R. J. Beamish, a newspaper man, was called to refute the statements that a reign of terror existed in the coal regions during the strike. A dozen men who had been hired in this city to serve as coal and iron policemen during the strike said the disturbances were few and of a minor character. Daniel T. McKelvy, a justice of the peace of Hazleton, testified that the striking miners had offered to assist him in maintaining order.

New Gold Strike In the Klondike.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb. 3.—A special from Dawson says a shaft sunk on the Eldorado struck second bedrock sixty-five feet below the first bedrock, with six feet of pay gravel running as high as $25 to the bucket. The strike was not far from the famous gusher, which is now under control. The new strike upsets all mining theories and opens up remarkable possibilities. Other shafts are now being sunk. If lower bedrock actually exists, the Klondike district repeats itself, judging by the pay ore found. It is said there are still other strikes below those found. The gusher when struck ran a stream 3 feet wide 7 inches deep at the rate of fourteen miles an hour.

Wesleyans Celebrate.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—A mass meeting of Wesleyans was held last night to celebrate the acquisition of the Royal aquarium, which is to be the future headquarters of the Wesleyan denomination. Eight thousand persons were gathered within the great hall which was for so long one of the foremost amusement centers in the United Kingdom. R. W. Perks, M. P., chairman of the Nonconformist political council, presided over the assembly and in his inaugural speech said he hoped soon to see the several sections of the Methodists federated in one united church.

Gunboat Model Accepted.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—The naval board on construction has accepted the model of the two gunboats Paducah and Dubuque authorized at the last session of congress. The boats are to be of 1,080 tons displacement, of about ten knots speed and will carry six four inch guns of the new type. The battery will be much more formidable than that on vessels of the Wheeling class, which is of about the same size hull. Advertisements calling for proposals for building these ships will be issued very soon.

Heavy Failure In Newark.

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 3.—Stephen J. Meeker, successor to D. M. Meeker & Son, iron founders and one of the oldest concerns in the trade, has made a personal assignment for the benefit of his creditors. Henry A. Potter, a brother-in-law of Mr. Meeker, was named as assignee. At the same time the Smillie Coupler and Manufacturing company of New York also made an assignment with Potter as assignee. The liabilities of Meeker are placed at $250,000.

Government Balance Sheet.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—The monthly comparative statement of the government receipts and expenditures shows that for the month of January, 1903, the total receipts were $45,966,337 and the expenditures $42,632,243, leaving a surplus for the month of $3,364,094. The expenditures on account of the war department show a decrease of $2,500,000 and an increase of about $1,900,000 on account of the navy.

NO INTERFERENCE!

Citizens of Plainfield and North Plainfield, without regard to political creed, united together Tuesday night in voicing their sentiments that there should be no outside interference with the settlement of the Greater Plainfield question. At the meeting of the Board of Trade, it was clearly evidenced that the substantial men of the community were strong in their opposition to the repealers to the annexation and consolidation acts which State Senator Hutchinson, of Mercer, has introduced. It is a question for the people of city and borough to settle. Let there be no interference from the outside.

Why did the opponents of the original bills argue for the insertion of a referendum clause and confine their opposition before the Senate committee to that one feature? Because they knew that the question must be finally settled by the people interested and by them only.

Why did Senator Charles A. Reed insist that the referendum clause should be added to the original bills? Because he knew that it was a question that must be finally settled by the people interested and by them only.

Why did both houses of the Legislature pass the bills last winter and Governor Murphy sign them? Because they all realized that the question should be settled by the people interested and by them only.

Why has Senator Hutchinson introduced bills that aim to deprive the people of Plainfield and North Plainfield of the right to settle a question, the justice of which has been admitted by both houses of the Legislature and the Governor? That is something which the Senator from Mercer will have trouble in explaining satisfactorily.

Are the other members of the Legislature going to support the Senator from Mercer in his attempt to interfere with the internal affairs of this community, the right to settle which without interference has already been admitted? Not if they have the slightest consideration for the rights and desires of the people of Plainfield and North Plainfield. Let them bury these bills so deep that Senator Hutchinson will begin to realize that it is not always wise to interfere with other people's business.

THE CORONER'S JURY.

Six of Plainfield's well-known citizens, headed by Former Mayor Chas. J. Fisk, will begin the work this afternoon of fixing the responsibility for the death of the victims of the Westfield disaster. As a matter of fact, the investigation is really concerning the death of only one of the twenty-three victims but the same cause applies to all and the result of the single case will have the effect of determining them all.

As members of the coroner's jury they will hear all the evidence regarding the wreck and the causes which led up to it that can be procured. County Prosecutor English will look after the interests of the people while the railroad company will be represented by legal talent. How long the inquest will last, no one can say at present. The jury is going to investigate the subject fully no matter how long it takes.

The findings of the coroner's jury will be awaited with much interest, not by the people of Plainfield, alone, but by those all over the country. Here is a railroad which has the reputation, and deservedly so, of being one of the best and most carefully operated in the country. Despite the fact that all the plans for the safe-guarding of the system worked perfectly, one fast train plunged into the rear of another and twenty-three lives were lost besides scores being injured. Somebody blundered. Who was it? Does all the responsibility rest on one man? That is what the coroner's jury will attempt to ascertain. And on the results of its findings will the Grand Jury act.

Thanks to the courtesy of the Newark Evening News, The Daily Press was able yesterday to publish pictures of a number of the best known Plainfielders who met death in the Westfield disaster. There were many who were anxious to see the pictures, not from any morbid curiosity but in order to connect the names with faces often very familiar. The likenesses were excellent and there were many words of commendation for the enterprise of The Daily Press in securing them. Pictures of the members of the coroner's jury, which meets this afternoon, will be found in this issue. Like the others, they were obtained through the courtesy of the Newark News.

Even with the horror of the Westfield disaster fresh in the mind, the citizens of Plainfield and North Plainfield should not forget that the hearing on the repealers for the annexation and consolidation acts will be held at the State House, Trenton, next Tuesday afternoon. It will behoove every good citizen who can be on hand at that time in order to impress the members of the Legislature with the need of allowing the city and borough to work out their own salvation without any interference.

It will be just a week this evening that the terrible disaster on the Jersey Central Railroad, near Westfield, occurred. While the city is slowly recovering from the more poignant grief which followed immediately after the news of the catastrophe reached this city, it will be months before Plainfield will regain its old-time life. In many homes the month of January, 1903, will remain as a period of horror and trouble, never to be forgotten.

Wallace M. Scudder, editor and proprietor of the Newark Evening News, has the deepest sympathy of the newspaper men from one end of the State to the other in his present great loss. The Newark News is Jersey's greatest newspaper and a share in its success may be traced to the influence of the good woman who occupied the place of honor at the home of its editor but who has now been stricken low by death.

The active fight against pigeon shooting in Jersey was begun at Trenton yesterday afternoon.

IN MEMORY OF J. EVERITT REIGHTON.

While friends were hovering 'round,
The spirit took its flight,
To dwell with God and angels,
To roam in realms of light.

To those who loved him dearly,
The memory of his life
Will be a guardian angel,
To lead them through the strife.

And then the meeting yonder
On the bank of the crystal stream,
They will clasp each other fondly,
And know life was but a dream.

A dream with a happy ending,
To awake in the Heavenly dawn,
And angels at the golden gate
To welcome the loved ones home.

MANY CANAL SCHEMES.

Six Propositions for Improvement Up at Albany.

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 3.—Six propositions affecting the canals are now under discussion in the legislature:

First.—The Bostwick bill, which will be the subject of a hearing before the joint canals committees of the two houses in the senate chamber this afternoon. This bill provides for the submission to the people at the next general election of a proposition to bond the state for not exceeding $82,000,000 for the enlargement into a twelve foot barge canal of the Erie, Oswego and Champlain canals, with changes in the course of the Erie so as to avoid the Montezuma marshes, etc., and follow the course of the Seneca river, on Onondaga and Oneida lakes and Mohawk river. This bill has been reported, ordered reprinted and placed on second reading.

Second.—Senator Lewis' plan providing for a continuance by the United States government of surveys for a ship canal between Lake Erie and the Hudson.

Third—Senator Ambler's proposition favoring the amendment of the state constitution so that the canals can be sold or leased to the United States government.

Fourth.—A proposition not yet fully formulated to issue bonds for $132,000,000, the whole to be expended under the general head of "internal improvement" at the discretion of the state engineer and surveyor, but with the understanding that $82,000,000 is to go to the canal enlargement, $25,000,000 to water storage and $25,000,000 for half of the expense of road improvement, the counties paying half.

Fifth.—To fill in the canal and use it as the roadbed of a six track railroad to be leased by the state to the corporation bidding the lowest rate for transportation.

Sixth.—A proposition to lease the canals to the company or corporation which is building the Georgian bay canal, Canada, so that they may come directly down through the Champlain canal, thence by the Hudson river to New York.

A hearing on the Bostwick bill is being held today. The canal advocates contend that this is the first measure upon which they are agreed as to minutest detail and that attempts to draw the attention of the legislature to any other plan is inimical to the canal enlargement proposition and will be so interpreted by the people of the state. They claim that propositions to improve the roads should come after the improvement of the waterways.

ON ACCOUNT OF THE STEAM

Homer Smith's Story As to What Engineer Davis Told Him After the Wreck.

Another Plainfielder, who was on board the Easton local and was one of the first to reach the side of Engineer Davis after the wreck, tells of what the engineer had to say at that time. Homer Smith, of Prospect avenue, says that when he reached the side of the engine, he saw a man trying to climb out of the cab. He tried to reach the top of the driving wheels with his feet. He failed and let go, dropping on his hands and knees on the track.

Smith was one of those who helped him up the bank and attended as much as possible to his injuries. Smith says that he is willing to swear that the engineer said "I could not see on account of the steam." The statement was strongly impressed on his memory.

Resolutions of Condolence.

The following preamble and resolutions were unanimously passed by the Board of Trustees of the Plainfield Congregational church at a meeting held Sunday, February 1, 1903:

Whereas, A great calamity has come upon our city, and many loved ones have been suddenly taken away; and

Whereas, It has pleased our Heavenly Father that our loved brother and fellow-trustee, Harold W. Tomlinson, should be one of those who have been thus called;

Resolved, That bowing in resignation to the Divine will, we desire to testify to the high character and virtues of our late associate, as a man, a Christian, and a worker for the church And further

Resolved, That we tender to the wife and children of him who has gone our heartfelt and sincere sympathy in their irreparable loss, and pray that He who watches over us all, especially in time of peril, will give them His divine comfort and strength And further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the sorrowing family, and that they be also published in the daily papers.

(Signed)
Alexandar Millar, Secretary.

TROOPS GUARD RAILWAY PROPERTY

But In Spite of Their Presence Much Damage Is Done Under Cover of Fog and Darkness.

WATERBURY, Conn., Feb. 3.—Scarcely had the darkness of early evening settled down upon this trolley strike ridden city before Brigadier General Russell Frost, commanding the troops of the Connecticut national guard, began to prepare for any untoward doings that the cover of night would render possible. The day had been characterized by comparative calm, and there had not developed the slightest indication of riot.

During the afternoon, however, the officers of the militia had been advised that the Connecticut Railway and Lighting company contemplated the complete resumption of regular traffic on all lines and under the normal schedule. This meant that for the first time cars would be run through to the Brooklyn district, a quarter looked upon as dangerous for traffic under nonunion auspices. Half an hour before the closing time of the great factories, 6 o'clock, the emergency details were started from the bivouacking centers.

Shortly before 7:30 last night Brigadier General Frost received a telephone message saying there was trouble at the car barns. The general left headquarters immediately after giving an order to Colonel Sucher of the Second regiment.

The report from the car barns was sent in by a nonunion motorman, who said he had been struck in the face by a stone and that his car was blocked a short distance beyond the barns by obstructions placed on the track. A company of guardsmen under command of Major Bailey of the First regiment was hurried in a car to the scene, but the soldiers were unable to find any obstructions on the rails or any indication of disorder.

The first real disturbance of the evening occurred at the railway power house in the Brooklyn district, where the Blues, a New Haven company, were stationed on patrol. The rain of the early evening was succeeded after 9 o'clock by a thick fog which rendered it difficult to distinguish objects half a block away. Taking advantage of the fog, a gang of hoodlums supposed to be Polanders living in that neighborhood gathered on the sidewalk across the street from the power house and aimed a volley of stones at two empty cars which were standing there. The windows on one side of the cars were smashed from one end to the other. Lieutenant Beebe and the whole company of Blues made a dash for the stone throwers, but in the fog and darkness all escaped after a long chase through back yards and alleys.

About this time reports of violence in other parts of the city began to come in, the fog evidently suiting the purposes of the rioters and hindering the efforts of the guardsmen. Every car that came in to the center of the city between 9 and 10 o'clock had evidently been attacked by stone throwers. From the East Main street line, the West Main street line and the Naugatuck, Oakville and Brooklyn lines there came the same reports of occasional showers of brickbats. The cars were hit in many places, and some of the motormen and guardsmen had narrow escapes from injury. It was extremely difficult for the men on the cars to locate the source of the stone throwing, and escape for the rioters was easy in the fog.

One arrest was made near the High school building, where some of the militiamen are quartered. A man was found tampering with a switch and apparently attempting to throw it. He was taken into custody and locked up.

No Right to Sell Salary.

KANSAS CITY, Kan., Feb. 3.—Judge Ellison in the court of appeals here held that city employees have no right to sell their salaries until they have received the warrants and the cash has been paid on them. The decision was in the case of a local loan agency which had bought at a big discount the unearned salary of an employee of the water department. The city auditor refused to honor the claim, and the company sued and was upheld by the lower court, which is now reversed.

To Colonize Venezuela.

JOPLIN, Mo., Feb. 3.—"The Venezuela company," which organized here several days ago to enlist men for colonization in Venezuela, has, it is stated, enlisted over a thousand man, all with military training. Some of them are stated to have held commissions in the United States army and navy. Applications for membership are pouring in from all parts of the United States and Canada. The company expects to secure large land grants from the Venezuelan government.

A Gift to Columbia.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Announcement of a gift of $100,000 from the Duke de Loubat for the endowment of a chair of archaeology in Columbia university was made at the meeting of the board of trustees. The trustees appointed Marshall H. Saville of the Museum of Natural History as the first incumbent of the chair.

SELF CONSCIOUSNESS.

A Fault Which May Spoil Your Child's Success In Life.

"Won't your little daughter play for me?" The visitor's voice was full of graceful expectation. Little Bessie smiled back at her and arose from her seat.

"Oh, I'm afraid you wouldn't care to hear her! She doesn't play very well. I never can get her to practice," said the mother.

Over Bessie's face a change came. She suddenly became conscious of herself, of her own weaknesses. She hung her head awkwardly, squirmed and finally put her finger in her mouth.

THE AWKWARD AGE.

"Come, Bessie; play since Mrs. Jones wants you to."

"Oh, I—I can't!" This in a low, muffled tone. More twistings, more awkward turnings, and suddenly Bessie grew very red in the face and rushed from the room.

"She is the most awkward child!" groaned the mother. "I'm sure I spend enough money teaching her accomplishments, too, but she never will do anything or act naturally before people. I'm sure I don't know what I shall do with her if she keeps on this way! And I don't know either where she gets it. I never was awkward before strangers when I was her age."

"No," thought the visitor, "perhaps your mother was a better diplomat."

Mothers, if you have self conscious children, in nine cases out of ten it is your fault. Teach the child to forget itself, to consider others first, itself last. If the child is asked to do something, let it do it the best it can. Don't scold little ones because they cannot do things perfectly. With practice perfection will come, but ridicule or criticism, unless of the gentlest sort, will sow seeds of self distrust in the child which will be a serious hindrance in after life, because, after all, half the people in the world today fail because they have no confidence in themselves.

of white marble. Palms artistically placed here and there add to the green effect.

The furniture is mahogany, covered with empire silks combining green and old rose. The arched doorways open upon a long, narrow gallery which is used as an antechamber.

Bowls of flowers and a tea table complete the artistic effect.

R. DE LA BAUME.

Fashion Notes.

Some of the foulard silks are almost if not quite transparent, and there are many fine etamines in navy, also in black, and no end of printed india silks in all colors, but it seems that black and white and the blues and white are to be the best choice of all. There are many light taffetas in plain colors and black and white, some of it striped, and quantities of habutais and shanghais. These will be mostly used to make waists. The Japan corded silk is also for that purpose.

Pongees are shown as among the very best of the season's output, and almost all of them are embroidered in self color. They make up into elegant and ladylike dresses. Some of them have only the waist part embroidered, while others have elaborate edges intended for flounces. Very deep flounces and double skirt effects are seen on many of the new stuffs.

CHAPTER I.

THE NE'ER-DO-WELL.

The powerful locomotive which drew the long freight-train came to a sudden stop. Something in the nature of a spasm, so human was it, communicated itself from car to car, and each in turn ceased to move. The jar wakened Rossiter, outstretched upon the top of some boxes and bales, from a heavy sleep, and on opening his eyes and finding himself encompassed by a breathless tropical blackness he did not for an instant realize where he was. He put out his hand and encountered the boards of the car-roof just above his head. Then he recalled his whereabouts. He was reeking with sweat, for the atmosphere of the confined space was stifling.

All day the pitiless September sun had blazed in a coppery heaven; all day the parched earth had given back to the sky the fumes of heat; and yet Rossiter had clung to his oven-like retreat, in the first place because with every revolution of the wheels he was carried nearer to his destination, and in the second place because he could not easily descend from the train while it was in motion. Half a loaf of bread and a few dry cookies had served to quiet the gnawings of hunger, while two wizened lemons had in a measure allayed the pangs of thirst. But now he sought in vain for the last precious bit of fruit which he had intended to keep against this time of need. The jolting of the car had evidently caused his treasure to roll from the spot where he had placed it with such care. Uttering an exclamation of disappointment, he dragged himself a few feet and placed his lips to a crack in the side of the car, through which he drank eagerly great draughts of the partially cooled night air. As he was about to resume his former position he inhaled a heavy waft of engine smoke.

"The devil!" he ejaculated. "This is more than I can stand!"

He seized his little bundle of clothes and worked his way over the bales and boxes to the door. For a time he feared that he was hopelessly a prisoner, as the obstinate barrier to his escape would not budge. The perspiration streamed from his forehead into his eyes, and his hair was as wet as though he had soused his head in water. He had taken stock of the fastenings when he had stowed himself away at Clevalo, but he was discovering that an easy entrance into a freight car packed with merchandise that has space enough to shift slightly does not necessarily mean an easy exit.

At length, after several sharp creaks of remonstrance, the door gaped sufficiently to allow him to squeeze his body through. He cast a glance up and down the adjoining track and then leaped down. As his feet crunched upon the cinders someone sprang from the next car to the top of the one he had just quitted. It was a brakeman.

"You damn tramp!" he shouted, and raised his hand as though about to hurl a missile.

Rossiter ran, dodging as he went, but nothing save a harsh guffaw followed from the car-top.

"Sold, Johnny!" bellowed the brakeman; "but I can tell ye if I'd had a hunk of coal, ye'd have got it blim in the back!"

Just then, with a long series of jerks, the train started. An electric light beyond the tracks threw the gesticulating figure on the car top into strong outline for a moment and his pose held Rossiter's attention, but the effect was quickly spoiled by the onward movement of the train. Rossiter now turned to survey his surroundings. The sputtering electrics told him that he was in a town of considerable size. Above the rumbling cars several large buildings loomed blackly. Behind him the ground sloped sharply to a stream, which he could not see on account of a white vapor which hung over it. At his left was a bridge, and as he examined this, and the ugly frame structures which lined the street towards which it led, a sense of familiarity gave him a swift thrill of surprise.

"The deuce!" he exclaimed. "I wonder if it is?"

He wheeled to the right and regarded a long freight house and a tall pile capped by a huge sign, the letters upon which he vainly strove to distinguish. A puzzled expression crossed his face, and he waited impatiently for the caboose of the freight train to pass. At length the tracks were clear. A few rods away, on one side of a small square, the lights of a hotel twinkled through the branches of a row of elm trees. Directly opposite was a railway station, a short distance from which a freight and accommodation train was about pulling out.

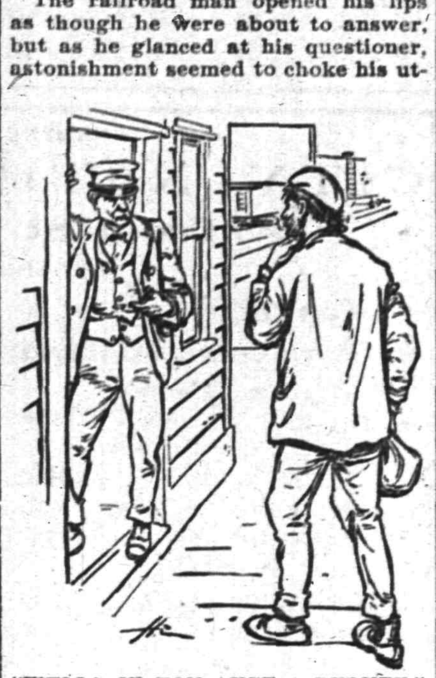
"Illica, by Jove!" cried Rossiter. "Well, if this isn't curious!" and his mind went back a dozen years to the same day when he had last set foot in the quiet city on the banks of the Mohondaga. Then he was a thoughtless youth fresh from college, full of a youth's dreams, not without ambition—and now—well, his present status was not one to be contemplated with pride, nor did the vista down which he looked in retrospect afford him many gleams of satisfaction. He was wont to tell himself at times that he had had hard luck, but when he faced the cold truth he knew in his innermost soul that luck had played no part whatever in his descent of the ladder of respectability. Never more clearly than at this moment, amid surroundings long ago familiar, did he realize what an utter wreck he had made of his life. But he put on the devil-may-care air he was at intervals accustomed to assume and slouched across the tracks in the direction of the station.

"What hour can it be?" he muttered. "Rather late, I judge, by the fact that there are so few people about."

There was a man standing in the open station door-way whom Rossiter took, from his dress, to be either a ticket agent or conductor. He had his watch in his hand.

"Will you be kind enough to tell me the time?" Rossiter asked.

The railroad man opened his lips as though he were about to answer, but as he glanced at his questioner, astonishment seemed to choke his utterance.



"WELL! IF YOU AIN'T A BEAUTY."

He looked Rossiter up and down, and finally let his eyes rest upon the vagrant's countenance, covered with a ten days' growth of beard, the forehead grimy and streaked with perspiration, the hair hanging in greasy elf-locks from beneath a torn cap.

"Well, if you ain't a beauty!" he exclaimed, with an amused chuckle.

Rossiter's hand went up to his face as he moved on. He searched his pockets for what served him as a handkerchief, pulled it out, and mopped his forehead, cheeks, and neck. Then he paused an instant and endeavored to smooth his hair a trifle, but without much success. The man's words had affected him more than such a speech would usually have done. He had received too many kicks and cuffs and oaths to heed them much, as a rule, but somehow the rebuff with which he had just met stung like a sharp blow upon an open wound. Heretofore he had associated with Illica nothing but pleasant things. Whenever he had visited it formerly from the small town less than a dozen miles distant where he had passed his college days, he had always been treated with very marked favor. To Illica the students frequently sojourned for their half holidays. It was there they attended the theater, had their dinners, and sometimes joined in social functions. Among the young men of his time at Monroe college, as the adjoining institution was called, no one visited Illica more frequently than Rossiter. With plenty of money at his command, possessed of a bright manner and a ready wit, and being withal quite prominent as an athlete, he had once had a number of friends and many acquaintances in the staid but pleasant inland city.

GRADUATION AT ANNAPOLIS.

Secretary Moody Presents Diplomas to Fifty Midshipmen.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 3.—The fifty midshipmen of the class of 1903 yesterday received their diplomas from the hands of Secretary of the Navy Moody and became fullfledged officers of the American navy. The ceremonies took place in the new armory. The midshipmen assembled in front of the barracks and marched to the armory, where a large crowd had assembled to witness the ceremonies. On the stage were Superintendent Brownson, Commander Colahan, commandant of cadets; Commander Benson, Chaplain Clark, Rear Admiral Taylor, Secretary Moody, Assistant Secretary Darling, the members of the academic board and Vice Admiral Lord Charles Beresford of the English navy.

Chaplain Clark opened the ceremonies with prayer and was followed by Superintendent Brownson, who made a few remarks to the midshipmen, in which he gave the boys much wholesome advice, especially about the handling of the men under them. He said to them to be kind and considerate but firm to the enlisted men, as no man could be a great leader unless there was a bond of sympathy with the men he commanded. He then introduced Secretary Moody, who made the graduation address. Mr. Moody spoke in part as follows:

"I regret the enforced absence of your commander in chief, President Roosevelt, but he charged me to deliver to you his best wishes and his hope and confidence in your stern devotion to duty. You are now entering upon another stage as officers of the navy in the most interesting stage of its development. At this time there is no war, no war is in sight, and let us pray God that there will be no war. But our people have at last learned the truth of the immortal Washington's advice, 'The way to preserve peace is to prepare for war.' In the future you belong entirely to your country. You have the traditions of those gone before, and herein you have a great advantage over your forefathers who served in your country's service."

Secretary Moody then presented the diplomas to the graduates. The exercises culminated in the annual grand ball, which was a brilliant social success.

NEW JERSEY LEGISLATURE.

Investigation of Westfield Horror Proposed—To Stop Pigeon Shooting.

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 3.—In the house last night Assemblyman Newcorn of Union introduced a resolution reciting the railroad wreck near Westfield last week and authorizing the speaker to appoint a committee of five to make a thorough investigation as to the cause of the wreck. The resolution gives the committee power to subpœna witnesses. It was referred to the committee on railroads and canals.

Mr. Treacy introduced a bill to prohibit the use of stoves in railroad cars. This bill also rose out of the Westfield wreck.

Mr. Newcorn introduced two bills, one to compel trust companies to make reports to the banking and insurance commissioners four times a year, and a bill to compel building and loan associations to make semiannual reports.

The house committee on game and fisheries gave a hearing this evening on Assemblyman Williams' bill to prohibit the shooting of pigeons in matches. Among the advocates of the bill were Captain Samuel Phillip of Dundee and G. Wizner Thorne and Colonel Ed Edwards of Newark, who characterized the present method of shooting pigeons as cruel. Among those who opposed the bill was George S. McAlpin, champion amateur shot of the United States. The committee took no action.

a year, this includes call men; first-class men, drivers, tillermen and hosemen, first year, $60 to $65 a month; second class men, $55 to $60 a month; third class men, $50 to 55 a month; fourth class men, $40 to 50 a month. In this latter class the rule has been to give the men $40 the first six months and $50 for the next two and half years. For the extra $25 which is given the call men they will still be obliged to do 90 per cent. duty, buy their own uniforms and sign a paper agreeing to do these things.

Mr. Randolph offered a similar resolution fixing the salaries of the men in the police department. This list was adopted: Chief Kiely, $1,200 to $1,400 a year; Sergeant Frederickson, $800 to $1,000 a year; roundsmen and patrolmen, first year men, $50 to $60 a month; second year men, $65 a month; third, fourth and fifth year men, $70 a month; sixth year men and longer, $75 a month. With the adoption of this, which goes into effect from February 1, the regular men are obliged to buy their own uniforms, get paid only for the time they work, unless incapaciated by some work over which they have no control, which will be decided by the Police Board.

Mr. Randolph also offered two amendments to the rules governing the fire department which makes them agree with the new order in salaries.

Mr. Murphy moved that the salary for the corporation counsel for the coming year be $1,250, that of the city treasurer $1,450, the city clerk $1,200, the city physician $1 a day and that of the overseer of the poor $400 a year instead of $250 as formerly. This list was adopted.

Mr. Murphy also moved that $1,800 be transferred from the general fund to the fire fund. He offered a resolution, which was adopted, to the effect that the clerk communicate with the Legislators informing them that it is not the wish of the Council that the "repealers" offered for the purpose of killing the proposition of annexation of Plainfield and North Plainfield, be passed. The resolution was voted for unanimously.

Mr. Tolles called up the ordinance providing for a surface sewer in West End avenue and it was adopted on its third reading. After Mr. Lee's motion that the rules of the Council for 1902 be made the rules for 1903 was adopted, the Council on Mr. Murphy's motion adjourned to meet Tuesday evening, February 24. At that time it is expected that there will be a report made on the adoption of a police patrol system.

WRECK VICTIM BURIED WITH MILITARY HONORS

Funeral of J. Everitt Reighton Held From Trinity Reformed Church This Afternoon.

SERVICES AT HILLSIDE

COMPANY K ACTED AS ESCORT FOR REMAINS OF FORMER MEMBER.

Impressive Service at Trinity Reformed Church Conducted by the Pastor, Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck—The Pallbearers.

Marching with measured tread and the sound of muffled drums accompanying the funeral dirge played on fifes, the remains of J. Everitt Reighton were borne this afternoon to the quiet spot in Hillside cemetery where all that remained mortal of the young soldier was consigned back to the dust. It was the only military funeral held over the remains of any of the victims and it marked the last of the funerals of those who succumbed to the injuries of the disaster.

The funeral services over the remains of young Reighton were attended with great ceremony. Shortly before 2 o'clock the members of Company K, and the Independent Fife and Drum Corps assembled at the house, 1245 Park avenue, and escorted the hearse bearing the remains to the Trinity Reformed church where the services were held. The passage of a long line of carriages and the uniformed ranks of soldiers was an impressive sight.

The casket was placed on biers in front of the pulpit. The flowers displayed at the services were very handsome. Among the pieces was a wreath of lilies of the valley sent by the employes of the local telephone exchange, where the young man was employed until he accepted the position in New York, which he held until his death. There was also a cluster of flowers from the members of the Crescent Club, of this city and Elizabeth, of which club he was a member, and a tribute from Company K.

The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of the church. The simple services of the Reformed church were followed. Several of the young man's favorite hymns were rendered on the organ during the services.

After the services the remains were borne from the church by his soldier companions in uniform and then the march was resumed to Hillside cemetery where with military honors the remains were laid at rest.

The pall bearers who were all intimate friends of the departed were: Corporals Hort and Whitney and Privates Stovell, Jennings, Wickoff and Phillips.

At the grave as the casket was being lowered Sergeant Seiders sounded the taps and three volleys were fired by the entire company.

ASBURY PARK GROWS POPULAR IN WINTER

There Are Already Many Guests Who Are Enjoying Its Winter Attractions.

PLANS FOR THE SPRING

WILL START ON NEW BOARD WALK EARLY IN MARCH.

How Hotels Have Prepared to Accommodate the Winter Business—Will be Ready for the Great Throng Next Winter.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Asbury Park, Feb. 3—The favor in which Asbury Park is regarded as a summer resort is now extended to the winter season, and the winter hotels this year have been filled with out-of-town patrons from Newark, New York, Philadelphia, and even from the west. The result of such a marked and rapid increase of patronage is witnessed in the gradual transformation of the winter houses, which have grown from small boarding places to imposing hotels possessing all the modern conveniences.

The Marlborough Hotel, on Grand avenue, which was built for a winter house three years ago, is now being enlarged to 150 rooms, arranged en suite, each suite consisting of a bedroom, sitting-room and bath. When it is remembered that the largest summer hotel in Asbury Park does not exceed this capacity by 100 rooms, some idea of the winter development going on in Asbury Park may be had. Nor is the march of progress restricted to one hotel. Additions and improvements have been made to the Touraine and Grand Avenue, and very recently to the St. James, and all have felt the impulse of Asbury's growing favor among winter tourists.

The range of winter amusements in the park is wide and varied. There are winter ice boat clubs, winter basketball and athletic clubs, automobile clubs, whist clubs and dancing clubs. The Asbury Park Opera House, which was opened successfully with Mrs. Robeson as "Audry," now fills a long-felt want and makes complete the circuit of Asbury's numerous winter attractions.

While the varied amusements of the drawing room and the club help in some measure to fill the time on stormy days, the great and all-prevailing delight of the winter visitors is found on the glassy surface of the pretty lakes which environ the town. Wesley Lake has been crowded every fair afternoon with merry skaters during the present cold spell.

The adaptability of Wesley, the dividing water separating Asbury from Ocean Grove, for winter and summer pageants, has so impressed the City Fathers that Councilman H. S. Kinmouth is openly urging a return of the toll system on the penny bridges, with view to beautify the lake with pedestals and fountains and circle its mile length with myriad electric globes. That the councilman's dream may soon be realized is found in the fact that Mr. Bradley, who owns half of the lake, is quite willing to pass over his rights to the city under certain conditions, and thus supply the city with a title and the right to treat with Ocean Grove for a common improvement for the benefit of the twin cities.

Deal Lake, on the other hand, is the home of the ice boats. Commodore J. E. Wortman is dean of the ice boat fleet, to which several additions have been made this year. The lake is now frozen, and the white sails of the yachts are unfurled for the first time. A series of friendly contests will be arranged in a few days, which will test the speed of the Deal boat contingent, and possibly settle some long-drawn-out controversies.

It is expected that the beach commission will begin work on the new walk proper early in March. It will be replanked and straightened, and made to look as neat and pretty as possible for the summer.

The Methodist conference will be held here in March. The delegates will add another 1,000 or so to the winter contingent, and necessitate the opening of several additional hotels.

Next year Asbury will be ready for a winter throng, and, from present appearances, there will be a general reawakening along the line.

Juniors Will Entertain.

The Juniors of the North Plainfield High School will entertain the Seniors on Friday evening, February 13, at 8 o'clock at the High School. Elaborate arrangements have been made for the coming event and a most enjoyable time is anticipated.

Jones Denied It.

"Conjunction" Jones, who prefers being called "professor," was arraigned before City Judge Runyon, this morning, charged by New Jersey Central detectives with stealing coal. The professor denied all accusations but promised to pay a $2 fine imposed.

CORONER'S JURY BEGINS ITS INVESTIGATION AS TO CAUSES OF THE WESTFIELD DISASTER

First Session of the Coroner's Inquest Was Held Yesterday Afternoon, When Twelve Witnesses Were Sworn and Examined.

TWO WRITTEN STATEMENTS, BY ENGINEER DAVIS, ON HIS DEATH BED, WERE READ.

A beginning was made yesterday afternoon in the effort to fix the responsibility for the Westfield disaster. The coroner's inquest held its initial session in the Council Chamber. Twelve witnesses were examined. They did not bring to light anything startling although they furnished some additional details which had heretofore been unknown. The inquest was conducted with the most utmost publicity and the session was open to all. Two statements, made by Engineer Davis the night before he died, were read. One of them was the famous ante-mortem statement which was made to Chief Kiely. They proved, afterall, to simply confirm the stories of Engineer Davis' final statement as already published.

There was a little uncertainty before the beginning of the inquest as to what line would be pursued. There was some question as to the ability of any witnesses to testify that the body of John Currid was found in the wreck. In case the necessary witnesses could not be secured, it was planned to have the jury view the remains of J. Everitt Reighton and conduct the inquest into the manner of his death and who was responsible. The chain of evidence in the Currid case was complete, however, and it was not necessary to resort to the other plan.

Much interest was taken in the proceedings. While the space inside the rail in the Council Chamber was filled with reporters and witnesses, the public had a chance to hear from the visitors' benches outside. These were filled early in the afternoon and many remained standing throughout the session. Coroner P. Du Bois Bunting occupied the chair of the president of the Council with Herbert W. Knight, court stenographer, of Newark, in front of him. On his left hand sat the members of the jury in the following order: Foreman Charles J. Fisk, City Treasurer Wm. F. Arnold, School Trustee Floyd T. Woodhull, President of the Common Council James F. Buckle and Street Commissioner Andrew J. Gavett. On the right was the host of reporters representing the New York, Philadelphia, Newark and local newspapers. Directly in front sat County Prosecutor N. C. J. English, who conducted the investigation and directed the examination of the witnesses. With him sat his assistant, John K. English, with whom he was in frequent consultation. At this table with the Prosecutor were City Judge William N. Runyon, Counsellor Francis J. Blatz, County Physician F. W. Westcott and Chief Kiely. The witnesses were grouped around the room.

While Prosecutor English was in charge of the examination of the witnesses, Former Mayor Fisk exercised his right to ask questions. There was not a witness on the stand that he did not ply with questions, many of which were very pertinent and which brought out some facts heretofore unknown. There were occasional questions by the other members, chiefly from Mr. Buckle and Mr. Gavett.

It had been expected that the railroad company would have its attorney at hand to assist in the examination. Lawyer C J. Conover, of Jersey City, who is one of the counsel for the Jersey Central, was present but he had nothing to say and kept well in the background.

Yesterday's session only started the investigation. Fifty witnesses have been subpoenaed and there may be more before the inquest is over. The adjournment was taken until Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock and it is expected that the investigation will then proceed without delay. At the close of the session yesterday afternoon, Prosecutor English remarked that he had received a letter from Philadelphia telling him that if he summoned the witnesses, as he afterwards did, they would expose the iniquity of the railroad. On the contrary, Mr. English declared the men had proved good witnesses for the railroad. But now to the inquest itself.

There was a moment's delay to allow the photographers to take a flash light picture of the room and then at 2:15 o'clock Coroner P. Du-Bois Bunting brought the inquest to order. The roll was called by Constable Peter V. Weaver and Coroner Bunting read the charge to the jury.

County Prosecutor N. C. J. English made a short statement in which he declared that he intended to prove whose body it was on which the inquest was held and to learn concerning the accident, the condition of the engine, and the condition of the signals. He asked the jury to remember that the proceedings were not being conducted on an accusation but were an investigation and it was not his intention to favor one party or another but simply to learn the truth.

Dr. Westcott was the first witness called. He said that he believed John Currid met his death near Westfield on the evening of January 27, his body being recognized by a New Jersey Central pass. It would not have been possible to otherwise identify it. The body was found in the ruins of a car. He was satisfied with the identity of the body.

T. J. Royanahe, telegraph operator of Dunellen, was next called as knowing John Currid. He had known the dead man thirteen years. Things found on the body satisfied him that it was Currid.

F. S. Martin, of 950 Hillside avenue, testified that he was a passenger on the wrecked train, known as the Easton local. He was in the rear car. He said:

"When the train stopped I was sitting in an aisle seat. I noticed we were on the main tracks. I went to the rear door and stood on the platform. The rear brakeman was down the track a hundred yards with a lantern. I then noticed the head-light of a locomotive near the Westfield station, coming toward us very fast. I then shouted to the other passengers to get out of danger; at the same time I jumped and climed up the embankment."

Mr. Martin said he did not notice any signals, except those used by the brakeman of the train who went back. He carried two lanterns which he waved. The witness explained the custom of shifting the Easton local at Cranford and said he did not notice any flagman, but kept his eyes on the approaching train.

Former Assemblyman Roger F. Murray, of 901 Madison avenue, was the next witness called. He had been a passenger in the fourth car. He was sitting five or six seats from the door on the north side. The car rose up on one side and then dropped back. He found the rear door too much smashed to escape from and, with the assistance of others passengers, helped some women out of the front door. With others he crawled under the wreck of the next car and assisted in getting some of the imprisoned passengers out. They finally retired as the flames were approaching and they were warned that the top would fall. That was really all they could do. He thought the car he was in was heated by steam. He saw the fire before he left the car but afterward saw no gas tanks in the fire. He did not think the flames started from the fire box of the engine.

It looked to him as if two cars had been crushed together and a third thrown on its side. The rear of the other car had been smashed. He did not know how many were killed. He was present when Mr. Thayer breathed his last and helped get several bodies out. He also saw other bodies lying on the bank.

Charles C. Burnett, of 830 Madison avenue, testified that he was on the 5:45 train and occupied a seat in the second car from the rear. He moved about considerable as he felt rather uneasy. He could not explain this feeling of unrest. When he discovered the Easton train was on the main track he felt constrained to move to a forward car. Mr. Burnett said that three of the wrecked cars were filled with the old-fashioned stoves and the fourth car had a Baker heater. He did not hear any signal blow prior to the crash. After the collision Mr. Burnett said that passengers found axes in the forward part of the train. Mr. Burnett's injuries consisted of bruises.

John R. Day, of Easton, conductor of the Easton local, No. 13, told that his train left Jersey City two minutes late. At his first stop at Elizabeth, he received instructions to proceed ahead of No. 621, the Philadelphia express, from Cranford Junction to Dunellen. He identified a copy of the order, signed E. K., Superintendent, as the one he received. After leaving he heard a squealing which indicated to him a dry hot box. He walked through the train looking for it when a brakeman told him it was on the tender. Then the train began to slow up on that account. He insisted, on Prosecutor English's repeated questions, that the engineer was justified in stopping for that reason. Had he continued, Day said, the disaster might have been greater.

"Not greater," observed the Prosecutor.

Day continued that the engineer had received a copy of the special orders and that he, Day, had given them. Day then told of the stop, sending back the brakeman and the repairs made to the tender. Before he boarded the train again Day looked back and could not see the approaching express. He thought he could see as far back as Garwood. Then the engineer gave the signal, calling in the flagman. Day boarded the train and as nearly as he could judge it started a minute later. He thought the train had gone 300 yards when the crash came. He thought that the train had stopped partially in one block and partially in another. When the collision occurred he first thought the journal on the tender had broken but quickly saw what had happened. After telling of his work at the wreck, he answered some questions of Foreman Fisk regarding the block system. When the red light was shown, the orders were, he said, to stop one minute and then proceed cautiously. There were eight cars in the train, two of the last cars being old ones. They were lighted with Pintsch gas. Some of the old cars had Baker steam heaters in them and he could not remember whether these cars had or not.

In answer to further questioning by Prosecutor English, Conductor Day said his brakeman did his duty when the train stopped and went back. He didn't remember calling to him to hurry. When Day went back to Westfield station to report the accident he noticed the block signals were as they should be, one red and one green. In answer to a question from a juror, Day said that it meant dismissal for an engineer who was known to pass a red signal without making the minute stop.

Dr. Westcott was recalled to testify as to who the engineer of the Philadelphia train was. He saw him in a little house at Westfield. His pelvic bone was broken, and the flesh was torn away. He afterward saw the engineer at the hospital, when he wanted to get a statement from him. The latter was evasive every time, claiming he wanted time to think it over.

Afterward Dr. Westcott and John Morris, of the railroad company, went to see Davis to get a statement, but it was not obtained until the evening of January 28.

Dr. Westcott read the statement which Engineer Davis made to him on the evening of January 28. The statement is as follows:

"I started from Jersey City going west at 6:13 p. m., with a leaking steam chest which had been cracked for a month or so; steam in large quantities was escaping and it was necessary for me to shut down to see the tower signal. I said to the fireman we must go carefully in order to see signals. We arrived at Elizabeth two minutes late. Between Cranford and Westfield the front injector broke and jumping up to put it back I missed my signal after passing Cranford. I saw the Westfield station and the passenger train when within sixty feet of it. I applied the emergency brakes and knew no more until I found myself in the back of the cab with a car seat upon and fire all around me. I am 34 years old and have been an engineer for 12 years."

F. W. Westcott,
Commissioner of Deeds.

Justice Fred J. Huff, of New street, was called.

"Are you a justice of the peace?" asked the Prosecutor. Huff nodded.

"Then I'll take the liberty to call you squire."

Huff told how he had been summoned to Muhlenberg Hospital by Chief Kiely to take a statement from Engineer Davis. He read the statement which was as follows:

New Jersey S. S:

James Davis, being duly sworn, according to law, on his oath deposes and says: That he lives at No. 1555 Seltzer street, Philadelphia, Pa., and that he was the engineer of the express train, engine No. 27, of the P. & R. R. Co., leaving Jersey City at 6:13 o'clock.

"We left Philadelphia with engine No. 323, but cut off at Trenton on account of being hot; that is, a hot box. They gave us engine No. 27 there. I took her to Jersey City. The engine had a crack in the steam chest on the left side; the valve steam packing blowing very bad, which prevented me from seeing signals at every junction or crossing. I had to shut the engine off to see the signals. The signals at Roselle and Cranford were all right. I shut the engine off and let her drift to get a view of signals and they were both white. It became necessary for me to get the injector, and came up to one signal and could not see what it was and passed it. The first I knew of the accident was when I saw the train ahead of me about sixty feet and I put the emergency brake on and then the crash came. I stayed right in my cab I felt something burning my leg and I thought I would burn. I asked the fireman on the way to West Eighth street if he could see anything wrong, and I told him that we would have to lose time at every station to see signals. This engine has been leaking for a month. The local train is ran on track No. 4 but last night they ran it on track No. 2."

Sworn and subscribed to this 28th day of January, 1903.

James Davis.

Frederick J. Huff,
Notary Public of New Jersey.
(Seal.)

Witness: Patrick S. Kiely.

This statement, Huff said, had been read over to Davis and he understood it. The only ones present at the bedside, besides Huff and Chief Kiely, were his two brothers. Davis had also said he had complained against an engine and they had given him a new one from Trenton. He said something about getting a milk train engine but Huff didn't remember exactly what.

Daniel H. Deeter, master mechanic of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad, said that he understood Engineer Davis had a good record. He heard that engine No. 27 was put on at Trenton Junction the morning of the day of the wreck. It was sent to Philadelphia to be run on the New York division of the Reading.

The witness said that engine 27 was sent out on a milk train. He had noticed the steam leaking and had ordered the engine out of service. It was sent to Third and Berks streets for repairs. The repairs were made consisting of new pistons, new cylinder packing and was generally overhauled. This was between January 9 to 17.

The witness said he knew the engine did leak and that it was repaired. He saw nothing that would interfere with the engineer's sight. The leaking was on the left side of the engine. He asked his foreman if the crack was perfectly tight and was assured that it was. He never received a complaint about the engine after it was repaired. It was previously run on the Atlantic City Railroad, being taken off of that run in the winter.

Mr. Deeter said that an engineer is

AN EXTRA MAN IN EVERY CAB

Assemblyman Swackhamer Introduces a Bill in House Providing for a Third Man.

AT SESSION YESTERDAY

His Bill Provides That There Shall be a Pilot or Assistant Engineer in the Cab of Every Passenger Locomotive in the State—The Other Legislative Business.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Feb. 3—Although there was much interest in the Legislature over the proposed legislation relative to the Westfield disaster, there was much of importance done at yesterday's session of Senate and House. The Senate heard the report of the voting machine commission and other matters. Bills were introduced, the most important being one increasing the appropriation for good roads to $350,000 a year.

In the House, too, bills came up for consideration. Assemblyman Newcorn's resolution calling for the appointment of a commission to investigate the wreck has started no end of talk. Assemblyman S. S. Swackhamer added to the bills on the subject by introducing the following:

An act concerning the running of passenger trains in the State of New Jersey.

Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey.

1. It shall be unlawful, from and after the passage of this act for any steam railroad company doing business in the State of New Jersey to run or operate any passenger train on any road or branch of road within this State, unless there shall be provided a pilot or assistant engineer who shall accompany the engineer in charge of any and all passenger trains on said roads, which said pilot or assistant engineer shall be qualified in all respects to run and operate said engine.

2. Any superintendent or assistant superintendent, train master or assistant train master, road foreman of engine, or assistant road foreman of engine, or any other official of any railroad company doing business in the State of New Jersey violating any provision of this act shall upon conviction thereof be fined for the first offense not more than five hndred dollars, or be imprisoned in the County Jail for a period not exceeding six months, and for each additional offense of this act shall, upon conviction, be fined not more than one thousand dollars, or be imprisoned in the County Jail for a period not exceeding two years or both in the discretion of the Court.

3. This act shall take effect immediately.

LOTS OF PRESS.

Was Well Handled at Local Office of Western Union Telegraph Co.

The Western Union Telegraph Company office at the North Avenue station executed a great amount of business yesterday. In the absence of Manager C. H. Schermerhorn, the office was in charge of John A. Gaffney and he personally gave his time and attention to the quick disposition of all business. Over 14,000 words of press matter were sent direct to Trenton, Philadelphia and New York. Mr. Gaffney was ably assisted by Harry Bennett, Victor Peterson and W. C. Randolph, extra operators, and an extra force of messenger boys was ably controlled by the management of the office. This press was in addition to the regular business of the office.

SINGLE FUNERAL FOR FATHER AND DAUGHTER

Samuel Boss Fatally Stricken in House Where His Daughter Lay Dead.

HE DIED LAST EVENING

THEY WILL BE BURIED TOGETHER AT HILLSIDE TOMORROW AFTERNOON.

Mr. Boss Had Just Returned From a Walk Late in the Afternoon, When He Was Stricken—He Passed Away Shortly After.

While his daughter lay dead in the front parlor of his home at the corner of Craig place and Duer street, Samuel Boss returned to the house yesterday afternoon after visiting friends, and suffered a stroke of paralysis and died in a short while. Dr. Hughes, of Somerset street, was called in but life was almost spent and the aged man gradually passed away. It is believed that the stroke was partially brought on by grief over the death of his daughter. Her husband was overcome with faintness after assisting in the care of Mr. Boss and was unconscious for two hours.

Mr. Boss was sixty-three years of age and for the past twelve years has lived in this city. When he first came here he resided at the corner of Central avenue and Fifth street. He was born in Hunterdon county where he followed the agricultural vocation for a time. He accepted a position as traveling buyer for a number of New York commission houses. During the Civil War he was a provost marshal in Hunterdon county.

He is survived by his wife, Emily K. Boss, and two daughters, Miss Sarah Boss and Mrs. L. M. Hummer.

His daughter, Mrs. J. Phillip Kirch, died at the home of her father Monday morning. The double funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3:45. The interment will be in Hillside cemetery. Rev. L. R. Howard, pastor of Hope chapel, will officiate at the services.

TO ACT AS AGENT.

Honduras Syndicate Will Manage Affairs for the Plainfield Banana Growers Company.

The Honduras Syndicate, which operates the Honduras Railroad, has agreed to act as agent for the Plainfield Banana Growers' Company for ten per cent. of the net profits.

The Plainfield company's affairs should certainly be well managed with Mayor Olin L. Jenkins as president, J. Fred MacDonald as treasurer, and Frank H. Smith as secretary, to look out for the Plainfield end and with the management in Honduras in the hands of such a Board of Directors as Hon. Chauncey M. Depew, Col. John Jacob Astor, F. A. Govett, Frederic B. Jennings, Gov. J. G. McCullough, Chas. H. Johnson, Wm. Radcliff, Geo. S. Scott, Henry L. Sprague, Washington S. Valentine and W. Seward Webb.

If the Honduras Syndicate is willing to take charge of all the practical part of the business for ten per cent. of the net profits, the Plainfield subscribers ought certainly to make a handsome profit out of the ninety per cent. balance.

FUNERAL WAS MILITARY ONE

Company K Honored Memory of Its Former Member, J. Everitt Reighton.

IMPRESSIVE SERVICES

Funeral Was Held From Trinity Reformed Church Yesterday Afternoon—Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck Officiated—Reformed Service—Volley at the Grave.

One of the most impressive funeral services seen in this city in years was that of J. Everitt Reighton, yesterday afternoon, in Trinity Reformed church. The services were of a military nature and were very largely attended. The interment was in Hillside cemetery where the remains were placed in their last resting place.

The funeral procession left the house at 1245 Park avenue at 3 o'clock and were escorted to the church by the Independent Fife and Drum Corps and the members of Company K in full uniform. From the house to the church the sound of muffled drums and the mournful notes of the fife drew large numbers of people to the curb to witness the solemn pageant. As the remains were being borne into the church on West Second street the fifers of the Independent corps played "Nearer My God to Thee," unaccompanied by the drums.

As the flag draped casket was being carried to the front of the church a funeral dirge was rendered upon the organ. The entire front of the church was occupied by floral pieces.

A choir, composed of members of Company K, rendered several of the favorite hymns of the deceased. Those who formed the choir were Robert M. Clark, Captain Wm. B. Martin, A. I. Littell and Walter Sampson.

Rev. A. V. Tulp, of the Theological Seminary, New Brunswick, read the Scripture lesson followed by prayer by Rev. Mr. Watts, of the Reformed church, New Dover. Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of the departed, read several comforting selections from the Bible and also delivered an eulogy over the remains. His remarks were full of comfort to the bereaved parents and friends of the deceased. He likened the demise of the young man to the death of David's son, and asked them to take comfort like David in that while his son could not return to the bereaved parents they could go to him.

After the singing of a hymn, "Abide With Me," the congregation remained in the seats until after the remains had been borne out of the church to the waiting hearse.

The march was resumed to the cemetery, led by the uniformed soldiers. The firing of the volley at the grave marked the final repose of one of those who lost their lives in the horrible wreck.

OPENED ITS DOORS.

Martha Washington Council, D. of A., Entertained Its Friends and Lodge Members Last Night.

Martha Washington Council, No. 28, D. of A., threw open its portals last evening, and entertained members and friends in large numbers at a social gathering. The affair proved to be very enjoyable.

During the evening a programme was rendered as follows: Piano solos, the Misses Ethel and Clara Golberg, Theresa Carman, and Dora VanCamp; recitations, Mrs. A. E. Cox, P. H. Latourette, Mabel VanCamp, J. Harold Martin, Maude A. Martin, Ethel VanCamp and Clara Weber. Afterward refreshments were served under the direction of the good and welfare committee.

At the conclusion of the programme, a drawing was held for a set of dishes and a quilt. The former was won by Robert York, of this city, and the other by Mrs. Alvater, of Flemington.

The committee in charge consisted of G. B. Allen, chairman, Mrs. Fred Walsh, Mrs. E. Fritts, Mrs. J. Benjamin, Mrs. G. B. Allen and Mrs H. Thompson.

JURY BEGINS INVESTIGATION

supposed to examine his engine before taking it on a run. He declared a man would not lose his job if he refused to take out an engine that was in poor condition. He could not see how steam would obstruct Engineer Davis' view, the leak being on the left side. When on the road an engineman is supposed to take care of his locomotive and assume no risk.

Engineman Wilkins, who had engine 27, prior to its fatal run, did not make any complaint about it, excepting on January 27, the day of the wreck, when he reported that it needed two brake-lines. This was not a serious defect.

Along the same line was the testimony of Thos. A. Foersch, of Philadelphia, road foreman on the New York division of the P. and R. R. R. On the morning of the day of the wreck he saw engine No. 27 just starting from a station. There was some steam escaping but not more than would naturally come from a compound locomotive. It had been taken to the shops in January for repairs and no complaints had been made against it afterward. It was about five years old and had been used in passenger service on the Atlantic City road. It had been put on the milk train as it would not keep up the steam pressure on a continuous run as well as others. On the run from Trenton Junction to Jersey City that day, it made up seven minutes.

Foreman Fisk again carefully questioned the railroad man regarding the operation of the block system and the rules for violating the danger signals. He received practically the same replies as from the other witness.

Chas. P. Dampman, an engineer on the Reading road, and living in Philadelphia, said that two years ago he ran engine 27 when its old number was 1029. He said he did not know anything about the condition of the engine 27, only when he ran it. Then she was first-class.

The witness had known Engineer Davis fifteen years and said he was a first-class engineman. In reply to a question by Mr. Fisk, the witness said an engineman would have to stand up to repair a leaky injector.

Mr. Dampman said that after passing Cranford, the enginemen consider they have a good straight track. If an engine is discovered out of condition while running, the engineman is supposed to stop. Before taking an engine out, the engineman is expected to go over the engine thoroughly.

Bernard F. Loughery, another engineman on the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad, took the stand. He had run the engine and found it in generally good condition. He had run it last during October. He did not know what had happened since that time. He had known Engineer Davis for twenty years and always considered him a first-class man. He told of the signals and what they meant but said that it was possible that fog or steam might obscure the signals.

The last witness of the afternoon was Hiram Meck, a freight engineer on the Philadelphia and Readig Railroad. He had seen engine No. 27 at Ewing but hadn't noticed whether any steam was escaping. The inquest then adjourned to meet Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

BASEBALL FOR WESTFIELD

WESTFIELD'S TEAM WILL OPEN SEASON SATURDAY, MAY 2.

Grounds Will be Enclosed—Manager Denman's Colts Will be a Strong Combination.

The Westfield Baseball Association is out with its plans for 1903. A five years' lease of its present grounds has been secured and they will be enclosed. The enclosure will be about 400 feet wide and 450 feet deep, allowing no chance for over the fence hits. The grounds will have a drainage system and additional seating capacity. When the arrangements are completed Recreation Park will be the up-to-date ball round of the county with no objectional surroundings.

The team will include Harry Jones at short, McManus in left, Barry at third, and "Johnny-on-the-spot" Burke behind the plate. Tom Cary, who went to Pittsburg in the middle of last season and was the team's surest hitter, has returned permanently to Westfield and will be on the team. Captain Mallen will again hold the reins and a center fielder and second baseman with hitting ability will be secured.

The season will open Saturday, May 2 with an attraction befitting the opening of the virtually new grounds. The New York Athletic Club has been secured for May 16. Other May games will be with the Seventh Regiment team, Crescent Athletic Club and Millburn-Springfield Consolidated. As in past seasons the Westfield team, at all times will be prepared to meet all comers. An innovation is advanced in the ticket arrangements. Books containing twenty coupons will be issued. The book may be used by any person and admits as many persons as represented by coupons removed from the book at the grounds.

The New York Herald of April 20, 1902, says:

"Today science affirms—

"Not only that the banana is twenty-five times as nutritious as the given weight of wheat, but, also; that it is 144 times as prolific. Thus fruit conquers over the cereal, Honduras over South Dakota, and famine promises to be forever banished from the face of the earth.

"Bananas have forty four times the nutriment of potatoes, the staple food of many northern countries of Europe, and thirty times that of rice, the main item on the daily board of more than a billion people on the globe."

FIRST CANAL HEARING.

Bostwick-Davis Bill Discussed—Other Bills at Albany.

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 4.—The first hearing on the canal question before the joint canal committee of both houses was on the Bostwick-Davis bill, providing for the submission to the people at the next general election of a project to issue not exceeding $82,000,000 worth of bonds for the enlargement of the Erie, Oswego and Champlain canals into a twelve foot canal available for 1,000 ton barges, changing the present course of the Erie so as to follow the Seneca river, Onondaga and Oneida lakes and the Mohawk river. A large number were present, and several speeches were made for and against the bill.

The senate finance committee gave a hearing yesterday afternoon to General Daniel E. Sickles of the Gettysburg Monument association. He asked that an appropriation be made for a monument to General Greene, who commanded nine New York regiments during the battle and was killed on the field. General Greene, he said, was seventy-two years old and the oldest general on the Union side. General Sickles said he believed that $8,000 would be sufficient.

Comptroller Grout of New York city urged the committees on cities of the two houses to pass seven bills framed by him and designed to improve the financial system of that city.

More than 100 barbers claiming to represent twenty-six organizations, with a membership of 80,000, urged the assembly committee on laws to pass Assemblyman Finch's bill for a state barber commission and compulsory sanitation of barber shops and barbers' implements.

Many women prominent in the woman suffrage movement were present at the hearing given by the senate cities committee on the bill introduced by Senator Ambler providing that women taxpayers of third class cities shall have the right of voting at special elections on questions of taxation.

REBUTTAL EVIDENCE.

Miners of the Upper Region Before the Strike Court.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 4.—Much of the rebuttal testimony presented yesterday to the anthracite coal strike commission was furnished by mine workers from the upper region. In this section the miners are asking for payment by weight. The witnesses in every case were questioned concerning the advantage of such a change in the wage scale, and all were unanimous in the opinion that the method was the only just one where the veins were flat. Commissioner Watkins asked C. D. Gallagher, a miner employed by the Delaware and Hudson company, if he did not think a daily wage rate would be satisfactory to the men. The witness thought so, but ventured the opinion that the miners would not work to the limit of their ability if that method obtained.

Other witnesses were called to testify concerning the alleged restriction of the coal production, and considerable evidence was introduced regarding conditions in the coal regions during the strike. Rev. P. J. McMahon, rector of the Roman Catholic church at Minersville, said a committee of union mine workers called upon him about four weeks after the strike began and requested him to counsel his parishioners against acts which might bring the strikers and the union into disrepute. Similar advice, Father McMahon said, was offered in other churches, with the result that there was no disorder in that vicinity during the progress of the strike.

Mrs. J. Pierpont Morgan was present for a short time during the morning session.

Snowslides In Colorado.

SILVERTON, Colo., Feb. 4.—Numerous snowslides have occurred in this vicinity during the past forty-eight hours, but no fatality has been reported. At Howardsville, four miles east of Silverton, F. A. Hayes, aged thirty-five years, superintendent of the Big Five Mining company, was caught by a slide and killed. Fully six feet of snow fell above the timber line during the storm, which began on Sunday and continued until yesterday. No train has reached Silverton for three days, and none is expected for a few days more, as many snowslides have occurred along the railroad between Durango and Silverton.

Boats Must Wait For Spring.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Feb. 4.—According to official advices there is no hope for ten American and three colonial fishing vessels with cargoes of herring which are frozen in an ice floe in the Bay of Islands escaping until the spring. The proposal to dispatch a sealing steamer to cut out these vessels has been abandoned because the whole of the gulf of St. Lawrence is full of floe ice which the schooners would be unable to work through even if they were freed from the icefield in the bay.

A Monument to President Monroe.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Representative Creamer of New York has introduced a bill for the erection of a statue to James Monroe, former president of the United States, at the entrance to Central park, New York city. The bill provides that the statue shall cost $150,000, of which half shall be paid by the general government and half by the city of New York.

Crimean War Veteran Dead.

WINSTED, Conn., Feb. 4.—Matthew Higgins, aged seventy-four, who is believed to be the only survivor in Connecticut of the Crimean war, is dead at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John Owens. Higgins was twice rewarded by the late Queen Victoria for bravery. At the age of nineteen he enlisted in the Queen's guards and served for ten years.

CASTRO'S FORCE WON

Venezuelan Rebels Routed and Many Prisoners Taken.

VICTORS LED BY A WEST POINTER

Insurgent Army Was Taken by Surprise About Fifty Miles South of Caracas—Seven Hours of Hard Fighting.

CARACAS, Venezuela, Feb. 4.—The government troops under General Alcantara, a graduate from West Point, have defeated a force of rebels numbering 900 under the revolutionary general Ducharme on the Camatagua river, about fifty miles south of Caracas. The rebels were routed. Their ammunition and 230 prisoners were captured.

On the receipt of the news of the victory prices on the Stock Exchange here jumped four points.

Since the rout of General Matos and his army of 10,000 men by President Castro near La Victoria Oct. 18 the remnants of the rebel forces have been dispersed in all directions. These scattered bodies of rebels, believing, as reported by General Matos' committee, that arms and ammunition had been landed, lately reunited and to the number of about 2,000, under Generals Rolando and Ducharme, assembled at Altagracia, at the entrance to the gulf of Maracaibo, and at Orituco, a village sixty miles south of Caracas.

General Ducharme, with 900 men, advanced up the Camatagua river. President Castro sent a force of 1,000 troops against him under General Alcantara, who took the rebels by surprise and destroyed them after a seven hours' fight. Alcantara captured 30 officers and 200 soldiers, 40,000 rounds and all the rebels' reserve ammunition and 50 animals. The balance of Ducharme's army fled in the direction of Orituco.

SETTLEMENT PREDICTED.

Hopeful Feeling at Washington Regarding Venezuelan Case.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—There are as yet no advices from the allied governments respecting the nature of the next proposal they will submit to Mr. Bowen, Venezuela's representative, for a settlement of their claims, but there is good authority for the statement that the note of Mr. Bowen addressed to the British ambassador will result in an adjustment of the trouble.

At the British embassy an important conference of the representatives of the allies here was held among themselves yesterday. Mr. Bowen of course was not present. The conference was called to consider the recommendations which the Italian and British ambassadors and the German minister should make to their governments as to the next step to be taken.

As a result of this conference the foreign offices at London, Berlin and Rome are in possession of suggestions which if adopted will mean the success of the Washington negotiations and the raising of the blockade. The allied powers have been again requested by their representatives to consent to priority of payment of their claims for a limited period only and equality of all claimant nations thereafter. Mr. Bowen has stated that he is willing that the allies receive preferential treatment for one month if at the end of that time all the claimant nations be placed on an equal basis as to time and proportionate payments.

It is the conviction of one of the negotiators at least that this proposition of Mr. Bowen is eminently fair. It involves a compromise of the powers' original request for six years' preferential treatment, but will enable them to retain a part at least of their prestige. The feeling is growing that persistence in their present position can result only in loss of prestige for the allies and bad feeling against them not only in Venezuela, but elsewhere throughout the Americas.

Confidence that a settlement will be forthcoming at Washington in a short time is based to a considerable extent on the activity of Baron Speck von Sternburg. He has given every evidence that he sincerely wants the dispute adjusted without prolonging the blockade and unnecessarily coercing Venezuela while at the same time preserving the prestige and rights of the allies.

Vermont Votes High License.

WHITE RIVER JUNCTION, Vt., Feb. 4.—Returns in yesterday's vote on the question of accepting the high license local option law passed by the legislature in all but eleven out of 246 cities and towns in the state give: Yes, 30,358; no, 26,869. The indications are that the high license local option law has been accepted by the voters by 2,000 majority. Vermont has had a prohibitory law for over fifty years.

Civil War In Honduras.

PANAMA, Feb. 4.—A cablegram received from Honduras announces that civil war has broken out in that country. According to the dispatch General Sierra, the retiring president, having refused to give up the presidential post to the president elect, Senor Bonilla, the latter has started a civil war. The date of the revolutionary outbreak is not known.

DOBLIN ONLY BLAMED

House Naval Committee Reports on Bribery Case.

ARMY APPROPRIATION BILL PASSED

Measure Adopted by Senate Places Chief of the General Staff Exclusively Under the President's Direction.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The house committee on naval affairs has reported to the house its findings in the matter of the investigation of the Lessler bribery charges. A minority report signed by Representatives Kitchin (Dem., N. C.), Vandiver (Dem., Mo.) and Roberts (Rep., Mass.) also was submitted.

These are the findings: Representative Lessler was offered a bribe by Philip Doblin. Doblin acted on his own initiative and responsibility. Lemuel E. Quigg was not implicated in any way with the matter.

The evidence does not show that the Holland Torpedo Boat company or any of its officers or agents had anything to do with the offering of a bribe to Representative Lessler.

The committee recommends that a transcript of the testimony be referred to the attorney general of the United States for whatever action he may deem necessary. The members of the committee believe by this recommendation that criminal proceedings will at once be brought against Philip Doblin.

After disposing of the bribery report the committee took up the "Of the purchase of ten additional Holland boats." This was what originally caused the charge of bribery against Lessler. The motion to purchase the ten boats was lost by a vote of 9 to 6.

The senate passed without objection or discussion the Elkins bill to further regulate railroad transportation. It is one of a number of measures presented in this congress concerning corporations and has particular reference to railroads. The text of the bill, with the amendments made in committee, have been published heretofore.

The army appropriation bill, which went over Monday at the request of Mr. Pettus, was passed. The provision establishing a general staff was eliminated. Later the independent measure, identical in its provisions with the general staff section of the army bill, was passed after having been reconsidered to permit the incorporation of an amendment by Mr. Berry placing the chief of staff exclusively under the direction of the president. The bill now goes to conference.

The house spent practically the whole day on claims bills coming over from last week. Mr. Payne, the floor leader of the majority, fought them all, but succeeded in defeating only three bills. After the claims measures were disposed of general debate on the postoffice appropriation bill was resumed, and Mr. Robb (Mo.) addressed the house on the trust question. At the conclusion of his remarks the house, at 5:05 p. m., adjourned.

Canal Bill Reported.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The Panama canal treaty was reported to the senate in executive session by Senator Cullom, chairman of the committee on foreign relations. He did not make an effort to secure consideration of the treaty, but stated that the committee had agreed to report it unamended. Senator Morgan offered in the senate the amendments to the treaty which he had offered in committee. They were ordered printed without being read.

Royal Arch Masons.

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 4.—Representatives of 194 constituent chapters are attending the one hundred and sixth annual convention of the Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of this state in this city. M. E. Alfred Guthrie of this city, grand high priest, in his annual address said that the report of the grand secretary would show a gain of 1,600 in membership, the greatest since the years immediately following the civil war. He attributed this to the appreciation of the capitular rite.

Fierce Storm In Chicago.

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—One of the worst storms of recent years is raging in this city and has caused much damage to telephone and telegraph wires. The storm commenced with a fall of rain, which later changed to snow and then changed back to rain. The rain freezing on the trolley wires has caused the street car companies much trouble and a number of the outlying lines in the suburbs have been badly crippled.

Died Aged 115 Years.

STRATFORD, Ont., Feb. 4.—Mary Ann Mills, the oldest woman in Canada, has just died at her home in Woodham. She was in her one hundred and fifteenth year, having been born in the County of Fermanagh, Ireland, on Oct. 18, 1788. With her husband she came to Canada in 1857. Up to within a few months ago she was very bright and active.

Mrs. Miller's Will.

UTICA, N. Y., Feb. 4.—The will of Caroline C. Miller, wife of former United States Senator Warner Miller, just admitted to probate in Herkimer, gives the value of the estate at $75,000 personal and $20,000 real estate. Colonel John W. Vrooman is one of the witnesses. The husband is sole executor.

BUCHAREST, Feb. 4.—M. Macarescu, a former official of the finance ministry and a banker, who was about to be arrested in connection with the lottery scandals last month, threw himself under a passing train and was killed.

BIG FIGHTS PLANNED.

Sharkey and Munroe Matched—Corbett Signs to Meet Jeffries.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Tom Sharkey and Jack Munroe have been matched to fight. They will do battle before the club offering the largest purse. Munroe and his manager, Clark Ball, met Sharkey, and they posted a $2,500 forfeit each after a long discussion.

The bids for the bout will be opened March 3.

The wise ones in pugilistic circles think that it will be at least six months before Munroe and Sharkey fight.

Jim Corbett yesterday signed the articles of agreement for a twenty round fight with Jeffries at Wood's gymnasium. He agreed to let the winner take 75 per cent of the purse and made all conditions favorable to the champion, who he says must fight him. Matchmaker Herman of the International Athletic club signed for the club. Corbett, who already has up $2,500 forfeit, agreed to make the amount $5,000 whenever Jeffries did likewise. Sam Harris also signed the agreement as a witness for Corbett, and the articles will be forwarded to Jeffries at once in an effort to secure his signature.

J. H. Herman of the International Athletic club of Fort Erie also succeeded in making two matches for his club. "Kid" McCoy and Jack Root signed articles to fight before the club for a purse of $5,000 on March 16, and both men and the club posted forfeits; George Gardner signed an agreement to meet McCoy a month later.

The American Henley.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 4.—The committee of the stewards of the American Rowing association announce that the "American Henley" regatta will be held here July 2, as previously stated. It had been suggested that the date of the American regatta be changed because of the fact that the People's regatta will take place here July 4 and the National regatta probably July 10 and 11. A mail vote was taken by the stewards, the decision being unanimous against a change of dates.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—In the annual championship tournament of the National Association of Amateur Billiard Players J. F. Poggenburg of New York defeated Arthur Townsend of Brooklyn by the score of 300 to 299. The winner's highest run was 67 and his average 9 18-32 against Townsend's best run of 47 and average of 9 11-32.

Cold Weather at Oakland.

English Wrestler Beaten.

ITHACA, N. Y., Feb. 4.—Ed Atherton of Buffalo and Tom Riley of England engaged in a wrestling bout here last night for a purse of $200 and the middleweight championship of the world. Atherton won in two falls, the first of which was secured with a half Nelson in 23 minutes and the last in 15 minutes.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 4.—If You Dare and Brush By were the only winning favorites yesterday. The stewards have forbidden Jockey Buchanan to accept mounts outside of the stable of his employer, Sam Hildreth.

AROUND AND THROUGH TOLEDO.

Gould Railroad Interests Plan Great Changes In That City.

TOLEDO, O., Feb. 4.—With the completion of the new $5,000,000 belt around the city the Gould interests controlling the Wabash, Ann Arbor and Wheeling and Lake Erie lines have purchased property through the heart of the city with which they will develop terminals at a cost of $10,000,000. It is the intention of the Gould interests to lay a four track road on this property, connecting their diversified interests in the city by this means with the terminals.

The right of way passes within a square of the courthouse, Central Congregational church and three public school buildings and is without exception the highest priced property in Toledo. The Gould agents have carried on secret negotiations for this property and need but a few pieces to complete their right of way. It is expected that a request will be made soon of the council for permission to cross various streets, which without doubt will result in a determined fight similar to the one in which the company is now engaged in Pittsburg.

The company's agents refuse to say whether the intention is to build a surface or elevated line through the city, although they deny that any open tunnel arrangement will be used for the streets. Negotiations were opened for the purchase of 800 acres of property just outside the city limits, the object being to convert the area into cattle yards. At the same time options were secured on enough property within five blocks of the postoffice to be used for depot purposes.

Schoolmates Fought to the Death.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Feb. 4.—Mark Ward of Fairchance, Pa., is dead, the result, according to the allegation of several witnesses, of an attack upon him by Omar Stewart, an old schoolmate and associate from the same town. Both are prominent. The two met here Saturday and clashed. They started out of the borough to settle an old grudge of their school days. The police interfered and separated the pugilists after each had been severely punished. They renewed the fight Saturday evening and again Monday. Ward's opponent got the best of him, and fatal effects resulted. Stewart has been apprehended, but the seconds and backers of the bloody affair escaped across the border into West Virginia.

Riotous Scenes In Waterbury Go on Unchecked.

STRIKING UNION MEN ATTACKED.

A Soldier Seriously Injured In an Encounter With Rioters—Nonunion Conductor Shot At. Two Arrests Made.

WATERBURY, Conn., Feb. 4.—In spite of the admirable policing in the center of the city that section was not without its sensational incidents. This time, however, it was the strikers and their patrons who were the victims. From a crowd which had gathered near the Waterbury club on North Main street a union bus was attacked with stones. Patrick Flynn, a striker, acting as conductor of the bus, was struck on the head. Of the twelve passengers in the vehicle, nine of whom were women, two were hit. Mrs. James Aubrey was struck on the hand and Miss Susan Coyle received a hard blow on the shoulder. No trolley car was in the locality, and to those who witnessed the affair it seemed apparent that the attack was directed against the striking union men. The incident occasioned much comment.

Late last night the details of an incident of the day leaked out in which a private of company C, Second regiment, Robert Duncan, was more or less seriously injured in an encounter with rioters. While on patrol duty a stone was hurled at Duncan. Later he was set upon by rioters. He undertook to defend himself with his bayonet, when his assailants seized the gun and struck the soldier in the groin with the stock. The blow was a serious one, and the injured man's condition was such that it was deemed advisable to send him to his home in New Haven.

The first gunshot of the strike was fired at 10 o'clock last night, if the story told by a nonunion conductor is true. At that hour a trolley car on its return trip cityward from Brooklyn via Bank street was driven at high speed to the car barns, where the troops are quartered. To the officer in command the white faced conductor reported that he had been shot at, and for the moment there was some excitement. The thoroughly frightened conductor insisted that he was not mistaken and that as his car was leaving the end of the line a gun was discharged in the direction of the car. The troops were unable to trace the thing, and the excitement subsided.

Privates of Company F, Second regiment, arrested two men in Brooklyn and took them before the commanding officer, by whom they are now detained for stone throwing. As the night grew older this quarter, threatening at its best, assumed a more ugly aspect. Various saloons not striking because of their high tone gave to the streets from time to time gangs of men in varying degrees of drunkenness, and on these occasions foul talk and belligerent demeanor characterized their antics. This lent some seriousness to the situation, but the re-enforced detail of guardsmen succeeded in checking the always incipient riot.

To Resist Unionism In Schenectady.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Feb. 4.—The master builders, masons, carpenters, painters and plumbers of this city have decided to organize a builders' exchange. The motive is to cope with the trades unions, which have a strong body known as the building trades section of the Trades assembly and which fix the price of labor for their members without reference to the employers. The wages paid carpenters, plumbers, plasterers, masons, lathers and others are so high that building costs an exorbitant price, and the employers are determined to resist further encroachments. The unions have driven nonunion labor from this city by boycotting any one who employs them, and this is another grievance, as at the present time the bosses are at the mercy of the unions.

Grand Central Station Plans.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—The officials of the New York Central and Hudson River railroad have under consideration a stupendous plan for the reconstruction of the Grand Central railway station, so that it will ultimately grow into a mammoth twenty story building, covering the entire site of the present station and a part of the railroad yard and including a large hotel nearly twice as large as the Waldorf-Astoria, a department store of great dimensions, a theater, an office building, lunch rooms, reading rooms, cab sheds and station proper.

Murderer Out of Jail.

RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 4.—A special from Fayetteville says Ed L. Utley, under a twenty year sentence for killing Hotel Clerk Hollingsworth of this place, escaped from jail during the night. All the cell doors were found unlocked. Several prisoners were on the same floor, and the jailer roomed in the building, but all profess ignorance of any unusual occurrence during the night.

Cold Wave Strikes California.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 4.—Unusually cold weather prevails over California and for the first time in many years the inhabitants of this city have seen snow. While the snow was hardly noticeable downtown, the park and surrounding hills were covered with a white cloak. No damage to fruit has been reported.

Mosquito Theory Rejected.

ROME, Feb. 4.—The report of the Italian commission which has made a study of yellow fever in Brazil is published. It rejects the theory that the disease is transmitted by mosquitoes.

TWO MEN IN THE CABS.

It was to be expected that a disaster of the magnitude of the one at Westfield last week would result in the introduction of a variety of measures at the present session of the State Legislature. These appear to be of two kinds. One provides for an investigation of the causes of the Westfield disaster and the other aims rather to prevent accidents of that kind in the future.

Of most immediate importance is the resolution, introduced by Assemblyman Newcorn, of this city. It provides for the appointment of a committee of five to investigate and empowered to summon witnesses. Such an investigation would differ considerably from the work of the coroner's jury as it would attempt to bring out what the causes were with a view of preventing a repetition, by legislation. This resolution has been referred to the committee on railroads and canals and its fate is likely to be largely determined by the results of the coroner's inquest.

Senator Wakelee and Senator Hudspeth each have introduced a bill providing for one engineer and two firemen on every engine of the "camel-back" type. While it is possible that neither of these bills will be passed, there is a strong sentiment, no only in the Legislature but in the State at large, for legislation of that order and there is reason to believe that the two houses at Trenton will act during the present session in response to the public demand.

It is regarding this same question that public opinion seems almost unanimous. No matter who was responsible in this case, two men in the cab would have undoubtedly prevented this catastrophe. With so many human beings in the care of one man, on whose part a mistake or accident would prove so serious, it appears to be the general belief that there should be some one else close at hand, ready to act in time of emergency. The risk is too great to depend entirely on one man when the chance of accident to him or the machinery directly under his control is so constant. It cannot be claimed, however, that the failure of the railroad company heretofore to place more than one man in the cab was criminal negligence as there was no law on the subject and there was no general sentiment regarding it.

This resolution for a legislative investigation, which has been introduced by Assemblyman Newcorn, is really no reflection upon either the coroner's jury or the county authorities. They are working from a criminal standpoint and aim to place the criminal negligence or liability. This legislative commission would serve to investigate the conditions with a view to see the need of any legislation. Under the present circumstances it will be impossible to view the throng of bills introduced and select which answers the requirements. What is needed is an intelligent understanding of the situation and that is what the resolution aims to secure.

Tossed High by Locomotive.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Feb. 4.—John Oskey, the nine-year-old son of Anton Oskey, was struck and almost killed by an express train here yesterday noon. He was horribly mangled and passed away while being taken to Somerset Hospital.

FULFILLED PLEDGE.

Epworth League of Grace M. E. Church Raised Money for Church by Giving a Musicale.

A very delightful musicale was enjoyed last evening at Grace M. E. church. It was under the auspices of the Epworth League of the church and was conducted by E. Boyd Smack, of Long Branch, who is about to open a class in this city. The musicale was given by the League for the purpose of meeting its yearly pledge of $35 for the remodeling of the church. This was pledged several years ago and each year the League has raised the amount. The proceeds of last night's musicale will cover the amount pledged The pledge expires this year.

The musicale comprised selections on the organ, piano duets, solos and quartette renditions. In spite of the gloom which overcast the city the attendance at the musicale was large. The committee having the affair in charge comprised: Mrs. C. H. Greer, chairman of the social committee; Miss Della Voehl, Miss Carrie Pangborn and Andrew Wilson.

IRWIN TURNED DOWN

Kentucky Congressman Defeated Because He Snored.

His Successor Elected on a Platform That Requires Him to Stay Awake While Representing His Constituents.

To sleep in church has long been considered a perfectly legitimate occasion for physical recreation among some people. The name of the good man or woman who seeks rest from weary sermons in slumber is legion. From time immemorial the practice has been countenanced by our very best people, and although it is in the highest degree reprehensible it has been smiled rather than frowned upon.

Kentuckians are very much like their fellow citizens of less distinguished commonwealths. As a general proposition they don't object to a quiet little snooze in church or in the halls of congress, but they could not forgive one of their illustrious sons who was accused of snoring in the dignified house of representatives at Washington.

"Irwin snored!" So the voters of the Fifth Kentucky congressional district have formally decided, and it has cost him his seat in congress. Representative H. S. Irwin was defeated in the election November 4, and the weightiest charge against him was that he went to sleep during sessions of the august but sometimes tedious body to which Kentucky had elected him.

Swager Sherley, his successful opponent, now faces a fearful fate. He must sit through all manner of long drawn out debates in the house and listen to hour long oratory with wide open eyes. The solace of the tired congressman—a quiet nap in his seat—is denied to Swager. He is elected on a platform that requires him to stay awake.

There are knowing persons in the Fifth Kentucky district who would rather be Irwin the defeated than Sherley the elected under the conditions.

When the campaign became hot in the district the opponents of Irwin circulated a story that he had been accustomed to fall asleep in his seat in the house. Was that the kind of a man

HON. HARVEY S. IRWIN.
(Kentucky Congressman Who Was Defeated by a Hearty Snore.)

the intelligent voters wanted to represent them? they asked the good folks of Kentucky. In vain Irwin tried to quiet the rumor. He made the mistake of taking it seriously, and the people finally decided that it was a serious reflection on the Fifth district to have as representative a man who could not keep awake.

If Mr. Irwin had said that it was a common thing to go to sleep during a dreary debate, and if he had laughed at the story it might not have carried weight against him. It is not unusual for a member to go to sleep during a session. In fact, there are some party leaders who believe that no member is quite so good a member as when he is peacefully asleep in his chair.

But the democratic spellbinders of the Fifth district made a capital crime out of Mr. Irwin's peaceful snores and held him up to ridicule. Every time this method of attack was chosen Irwin denounced his antagonists for indulging in unseeming personalities.

"Any person who says I was asleep lies," declared Mr. Irwin at his political meetings in a vain effort to stem the tide against him. "I want it distinctly understood that I was not asleep. If I had been asleep I would admit it. Mr. Grosvenor, who was presiding, says I was not asleep. He was not disturbed because of my slumbers, as has been reported. I showed him a statement of the charges and he said it was ridiculous. Mr. Hill, who was making a speech on the river and harbor bill at the time, says I was not asleep, and he is a democrat. Mr. Bromwell, who sat next to me, declared the next day that I was not asleep."

But it was no use. The intelligent voter decided that Irwin had been asleep and elected Sherley, who is pledged not to sleep.

The X-Ray in Dentistry.

The X-ray is being used in dentistry with considerable success. It sometimes happens that the permanent, or "second," teeth are not properly cut. The mouth is thus disfigured by the loss of the first set of teeth and the nonappearance of the second teeth. With the X-ray the dentist can determine whether the second tooth is in the gum, and if so, why it has not appeared. The obstruction is removed, a passage opened and the tooth works gradually down to its place. An operation of this kind was recently performed on a girl of 10

Crushing a New Sect.

The sultan of Turkey has ordered the extirpation, by as severe methods as can be devised, so as to teach a lesson, it is reported, of a new religious sect that has made great headway in Damascus. The new religion is not Jewish nor Mohammedan nor Christian, but a sort of medley of all three. It teaches that neither Mohammed nor Christ was a Divine person, though their existence is admitted. They were simply great philosophers who were endowed with powers to perform certain miracles. More interesting, however, is that the members, having admitted some belief in Islam, are allowed a plurality of wives, while as a recognition of Christianity they are not forbidden to be total abstainers from strong drink. It is an enticing religion to those who have no desire to place too great a curb on their passions, and such are common in the land of the Turk; hence, probably, so great a number of recruits that the attention of the sultan and the sublime porte was attracted to it.—London News.

Holiday in Bed.

I was told the other day of a decidedly novel way in which two hospital nurses spent their vacation. Hospital nursing is very arduous, for the hours are long, and the two girls were thoroughly worn out. They went off to a seaside place, they took rooms, and they went to bed. People were surprised when they did not go down stairs, and it was feared they were ill. When the landlady went up she was told very quietly they were quite well, but that they meant to stay there for many days. When they did get up it was only to take a walk, and, practically speaking, they spent their vacation between the sheets, and astonished their friends by the way they looked when they returned to town. They were sensible women, for most people would have gone in for what they called enjoying themselves, and would have returned to work more tired than they left it.—Woman's Home Life.

No Overcrowding Here.

There are more than 20,000,000 acres of the finest arable land in the world in Manitoba, says a Winnipeg dispatch. There are perhaps 20,000,000 acres more of prairie grass, which needs little or no cultivation to feed cattle on. In Assiniboia, Saskatchewan, Alberta, and Athabasca there are immense tracts of agricultural country sufficient to supply the United Kingdom with all the corn and cattle required. Including Manitoba, they are estimated to comprise over 80,000,000 acres of farm lands. Of this vast territory not more than 13,000,000 or 14,000,000 acres are occupied. Manitoba and Assiniboia have already done much to justify Canada's title to be the granary of the empire. —London Express.

Richest Nation in the World.

The Osage Indians of Oklahoma afford the best example of socialism in the world. The tribe is said to have $8,000,000 cash on deposit in Washington and to own 1,500,000 acres of land, worth another $8,000,000. Their realty holdings give a per capita wealth of $4,000 for every brave, squaw and papoose in the tribe. The interest on their money in Washington affords annually a little over $300 to each member, old, middle-aged and young. This makes the Osages the richest people in the world.—St. Louis Star.

"Do You Hear The Cry of The Children?"

MORE than fifty years ago Elizabeth Barrett Browning wrote some verses headed "Have You Heard the Cry of the Children?" It was an arraignment of the child factory labor system then prevalent in Great Britain, an arraignment so terrible that one who read it once never forgot it, and one who wished to keep disturbing pictures out of his mind never read it again. In America those who read the poem shuddered and blessed themselves that here at least in this land there were no hapless, dwarfed child victims of uncivilized industrialism.

While they slept and blessed themselves there grew around them in their own land, under their own eyes, a system of child slavery as body and soul destroying as any that ever blotted the record of civilization in old England.

In New York and in the manufacturing centers of New Jersey official statistics show that, owing to child labor, illiteracy among children under fourteen has increased in a marked degree in the past twenty years—that is, with all the free libraries, with the palatial schoolhouses built in the east in the past ten years, there is now a larger number of ignorant children under fourteen than there was twenty years ago. What are free books to those who have no time to read them? What are palatial schoolhouses to little girls under fourteen who work all night in a factory?

Have you heard the cry of the children in Pennsylvania, where the little ones tend silk looms in the coal regions? Silk is cheap now. The United States coal commission has found that in the anthracite region in two counties alone 1,600 girls under sixteen work in the silk mills. It seems unbelievable that 400 to 500 of these are on the night shift, that they stay out of bed and work twelve night hours week after week.

There was one Slav girl, Helen Sisak, eleven years old, employed on this night shift. Her mother, yet a young woman, had borne eleven children, then was sent to an insane asylum, and no wonder. Deprived of her care, six of the eleven died in one year, which must have been a happy release for them. The father was left with his five young ones, and Helen had to work twelve hours at night in the mill to help support them.

When solid residents of that part of the state found it out they held up their hands and exclaimed:

"Great heavens! We knew nothing of this."

Just so. Nine-tenths of the people of the United States are in ignorance of the awful facts. Would you like to have your eleven-year-old daughter work twelve hours in a factory at night?

Now let us leave Pennsylvania and go to Chicago. A meeting was held there not long since in connection with the child labor problem. What the state of things there is may be known from the object of that meeting. It was to take measures for preparing a legislative bill to prevent the employment of children under the age of fourteen and to stop children's night work in factories. Jane Addams, the sociologist, found a mill in which 3,500 children toiled incessantly, and all but sixty-six of these had fathers. She found hundreds of parents who live on their children's earnings—coin the tender blood drop by drop into money to support their own big, lazy bodies. In some cases the ablebodied fathers came daily at noon to bring the children's lunch—that by way of a little walk for exercise. Facts show it to be largely the fault of unworthy parents that these little creatures are forced to earn their blood pittance. The excuse of the unworthy parents is that children are better off thus cheated out of their childhood than they would be running the streets. To this Miss Addams answers:

"I would rather see children allowed to run in the streets than to have them working in factories at a tender age. They would be stronger physically and mentally, and I don't believe their morals would be injured as they are by confinement and toil in places where they see nothing of the better side of life."

In southern cotton mills the terrible tale is the same. In Georgia women's organizations are striving to have a state law enacted to stop the inhumanity. Mrs. A. H. Granger, president of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, writes a moving appeal to Massachusetts women to help the south in the work, because the owners of the cotton mills are mostly northern men.

Do you hear the cry of the children?

he supposed that he had buried shame; he had told himself that he had worn out regret; but both now rose to torment him. As he moved in the direction of the square, he passed one of the station windows and glanced in. A clock high upon the wall informed him that it was quarter past eleven.

"I must have a beer, if it takes my last nickel," he said, moistening his parched lips with his tongue.

Presently he rounded the corner of the station and stood in the full glare of the electric lights. There were a few men seated upon the hotel steps, and at the upper end of the open space a trolley-car was putting down a passenger, otherwise there was no indication of life. Rossiter plunged a hand into one of his trousers pockets and drew forth four coins, a five-cent piece and three pennies. He knew that it would be folly to attempt to enter the hotel, so he started along the north side of the square in search of a saloon. He did not have to go far. A gayly illumined place, which went by the name of "The Keneseo," soon caught his eye. Two men, whom he had not noted in his first survey of the square, were lounging upon opposite sides of the door.

"It that yer las' chaw o' terbaccer ye've got in yer face, Bill?" demanded one of the other as Rossiter approached.

The expression was not new to him. He had heard it before among men of the class to which these loafers belonged, the class to whose level, or lower, he himself had sunk, but it now carried with it an unwonted reproach. It revealed to him with painful vividness his own position in the world, and he cursed the fate that had caused him to leave the freight train. Ilica was potent in rousing the unwelcome spectre of the past, in stirring memories that he had fancied dead or so somnolent that they would never waken to plague him, in kindling longings that he had for many a day resolutely banished.

As Rossiter drew near, and it became evident that he was seeking the saloon, the two loungers stepped back to allow him to enter, scanning him with leering curiosity as he walked toward the bar. With one hand he tossed his little bundle of clothes upon the polished slab behind which, in trousers and gauze undershirt, a close-cropped, red-faced Irish-American was standing, and with the other cast down his last precious nickel.

"A glass of beer, for Heaven's sake!" said he.

The saloon-keeper shot an amused glance at him, seized a beer mug, turned a spigot, held the mug up, eyeing its contents critically, blew off the foam, put it beneath the tap again, and then placed it before Rossiter with a flourish.

"Still hottern'n 'ell!" he remarked.

Rossiter answered with a little nod of assent, and then gave himself over to the luxury of the beaded draught. No bottle of wine quaffed in his primrose days had ever afforded him quite the satisfaction he experienced from that plebeian beer. He put the mug down with a sigh.

"Have another?" asked the saloon-keeper.

Rossiter smiled regretfully and produced his three remaining pennies, chinking them in his hand.

"Guess not," he answered.

"Oh, well," said the man behind the bar good-naturedly, "I see you're ruther down on yer luck. I'll stan' treat. They's some crackers over there," he added, pointing to a nicked dish that stood upon a table on the opposite side of the room.

Rossiter helped himself to a generous handful, and, returning, took up his brimming mug that was awaiting him.

"Here's looking at you," he said. "My best thanks."

"Goin' hop-pickin', I suppose?" said the saloon-keeper a he tossed off his "pony."

"Hadn't thought of it," replied Rossiter, who now recalled that it was the season of the hop-harvest, when there was a large influx of people into Illica on their way to the hop-fields, a dozen miles or so back among the hills.

"Thought likely ye were. They's a big crowd goin' this year. They say the crop's heavy."

An idea flashed into Rossiter's brain.

"I wonder if I could get a chance to pick?" he queried.

"Gosh, yes!" said the saloon-keeper, "plenty o' chance if ye kept sober."

Rossiter made some additional inquiries in regard to the matter of hop-picking, then, as the saloon-keeper suggested that he guessed he'd shut up, the vagrant took his bundle from the bar and sought the street.

"I might try it," he mused as he strolled aimlessly in the direction of the station. "I'll see how it strikes me in the morning."

Reaching the railway tracks, he halted for a moment in indecision. The station was closed, so it was useless to attempt to get an hour or two of rest upon one of the seats under the plea that he was waiting for a train. Turning to the left, he walked parallel with the tracks for more than thrice a score of paces, crossed a deserted street and debouched directly in front of nim a freight house, along all sides of which a platform extended. On the side towards the railway some freight cars were standing upon a switch. He gained the platform and began trying the doors of these cars. They were all securely fastened, however, so he slipped down between one of them and the platform, beneath which he groped his way till he found where some chips and sweepings had been thrown. Here he arranged his bundle for a pillow, stretched himself out, and was soon calmly slumbering. Night-long near him darkened express trains went rushing by or began to slacken speed with a hiss of steam and a grating of wheels, but they disturbed him not, and when the breezeless dawn began to break he was still sleeping as peacefully as though his bed were one of luxury.

CHAPTER II.

ON THE BANKS OF THE MOHONDAGA.

Rossiter's rest was broken the next morning by the rattle and creak of a hand-truck on the boards above his head. Through the open space between the ground and the floor of the freight car just in front of him he could see the sunlight gleaming upon the rails, and so knew that it was broad day. Commonly, on awakening, he was in no haste to be stirring, but on this occasion he displayed an ususual activity. Almost as soon as he realized that the wonted round of busy men had begun, he sat up, shook the dirt from his bundle and from his clothes, and crept from his shelter. Crawling under the freight car, so that no one about the freight house should see him and suspect him of mischief, he stepped off briskly rubbing the sleep from his eyes.

The air was still fresh with the cool of the dawn, but the sun was peering blear and red through the haze that curtained the heavens, and there was every indication of another sweltering day. On glancing along the street upon which the freight house stood, Rossiter noted, not far distant, a large sign extending over the sidewalk. "Stabling" was the word which, years previous, had been traced upon it. As Rossiter drew near the sign he beheld a wide gate which gave entrance to a yard of considerable extent in the rear of a second or third-class hotel. Upon the yard a long shed opened and likewise a capacious barn. In the center of the barn door-way a hostler was leisurely grooming a horse. Towards this man the vagrant advanced.

"Can I get a job?" asked he, as he came within speaking distance. "I'd be willing to work for a bit of breakfast."

The hostler paused, currycomb in one hand, brush in the other.

"Know anythin' about a hoss?" he demanded, surveying the applicant with considerable doubt.

"Yes," said Rossiter, "something."

"Le's see."

The vagabond dropped his bundle, and the man relinquished currycomb and brush to him.

"You'll do," he said presently. "I giss ye kin earn yer brekfust all right enough." He moved away, and Rossiter heard him cleaning stalls. Then he climbed to the loft and began pitching down hay. After a little he descended and soon appeared leading another horse.

"That'll do fer the bay," he said. "Try yer hand on this 'un."

PHOTOGRAPHING THE ALPS.

Daring Feats of Camera Enthusiasts on the Summit of the Highest Peak.

Among the most daring feats attempted by modern photographers are those performed by the camera experts who carry their apparatus to the summit of the highest peaks of the Alps. The following incident is one of the many thrilling ones related by the writer of an article in Pearson's:

"We were somewhat troubled by the rising wind, which blew strongly acorss the crags, and our route lay up a striking-looking chimney on the exposed side of the ridge. The rest of the party decided to lower the writer over the overhanging wall of rock on our right to gain some ledges where a photograph could be taken of the ascent of the chimney.

"Being lowered over an ordinary cliff in search of birds' nests with proper apparatus is child's play compared with such a lowering as I endured that day. In the first place, an Alpine rope is too thin for such work, for one felt almost cut in half before the full strain came on the rope, and absolutely convinced that those above could not have sufficient hold to manipulate the rope in such a wind. However, the painful dangling was soon over, and a simple scramble up some broken rocks led to a capacious recess which would accommodate the camera."

PARROT AS DETECTIVE.

A Bright Bird That Knew Wines Aided in the Discovery of Some Stolen Bottles.

This is a fact, says a correspondent of the Gentlewoman, though you may be inclined to feel skeptical. Some people I knew in the country had a fine cellar and a parrot of peculiar perspicacity. They taught him to know the different wines.

"Ah!" he would exclaim, as they moistened his beak with claret, "77!" or, if a few drops of champagne, "89," "84," or "93," as the case might be. He never made a mistake as to the vintage.

At last my friends thought that the bird was getting uncanny. They quite longed to catch him napping, and one day to try and put him out they sent for a bottle of cheap port from the village grocer. The parrot sipped the port, and what did he exclaim but: "Best of all! 54!"

My friends tasted the wine. It was peculiarly good. To the village grocer they went, and demanded an explanation. The old man faltered and reddened, and on being pressed for the history of the wine, admitted that a butler recently discharged from the family had sold him a few bottles of 54 port from their cellars, and that the bottle in question was 54 port!

STRENGTH OF AN EGGSHELL.

An Experiment Shows That It Can Sustain Great Pressure Within and Without.

An eggshell can withstand an internal pressure of 65 pounds per square inch and an external pressure of 675 pounds per square inch, according to experiments made by Albert E. Guy, reports the American Machinist.

The eggs were taken at random and the contents emptied by first boring a one-sixteenth-inch hole at each end.

The shells were tested in three ways—by pressure applied on the long axis, by internal pressure on the whole shell and by external pressure. As the eggshell is porous the difficulties met with in trying the last two tests were overcome by using an ordinary toy balloon of thin rubber.

For the internal test a one-sixteenth-inch tube, plugged at one end and with a hole drilled in the side, was inserted in the balloon. The balloon and tube were then put through holes carefully drilled in the ends and the balloon tightly tied outside the shell. The small tube was soldered to a pipe plug for connection with the pump.

For the external pressure test the eggshell was tied up inside the balloon.

THE STERILIZING AGE.

Door-Knobs, Hand-Rails and Other Lurking Places of Infection Must Be Scrubbed.

If the bacteriologists tell us we must scrub the mouthpieces of telephones once a day to get rid of dangerous bacili, of course we must obey orders from such a source, remarks the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. But why once a day only? The last user of the 'phone may have deposited disease germs in the mouthpiece. Is it not necessary to scrub after each user? Why take partial precautions? Why not be entirely safe? Then there are the door-knobs—terrible lurking places of infection. Should we not have these scrubbed as soon as use has, possibly, made them deadly? And the straps and hand-rails of street cars—it is an old story that these are thick with bacterial colonies. If this fear of possible and impossible infection from invisible sources gets strong enough we may get as scared as the Salemites in the days of witchcraft. At any rate, the mania promises to provide plenty of employment for those who are out of work, if not for everybody. If all the articles of daily use that need scrubbing, from the bacteriologist's points of view, are to be scrubbed, the world will get busier than it has ever been.

Affinities Never Sudden.

There is more of ideal love and marriage in the world than it is the fashion to believe. Affinities are not so rare. But they are made, not born. After all, what are affinities? People between whom attraction is developed to a maximum, who think and feel and act in entire sympathy. It is improbable that two people could meet and discover a bond of perfect sympathy. Such a condition would be too good and great to gain without a struggle. No two people have the same training and education, the same environment, the same conditions for the formation of character and inclination. We must make our affinities.—Cosmopolitan.

The whole of this colossal fortune was made within a period of 25 years.—Detroit Free Press.

WHO TOLD OF THE DISASTER

New York Dailies Sent Their Best Writers to the Scene of the Westfield Wreck.

WAS AN ARMY OF THEM

Invaded Westfield That Night and Then Drifted Into Plainfield—Those Who Represented the Big Papers—Busy Times for the Staff of The Daily Press.

Such a calamity as that of last week possessed far more than local interest. Its horrible details were sent from one end of the land to the other and people on every side read of the disaster. While it meant more to Plainfield, perhaps, there was hardly a city of importance that did not have some friend or acquaintance in the long list of dead and injured. With such widespread interest in its awful details, the New York newspapers dispatched their cleverest writers and artists to picture with word and pen the disaster in all its incidents. And so it was that a veritable army of newspapermen swarmed about Westfield and the scene of the wreck that night.

When word of the disaster reached the New York newspaper office, there was a rush to get men to the scene of action at once. While the local correspondents were depended on for the first news, the accident was of such magnitude that it required the best to be had. So men were hurried off other stories and assignments and hustled out to New Jersey.

There seems to be some doubt as to which one of the New York contingent arrived on the scene first. While there is no means of telling, it is generally believed that R. A. Mitchell, one of the New York Sun's best men, won that honor. He was detailed to look after the Elizabeth end of the story, it being supposed that many victims would be taken there. After leaving the others at Elizabeth, he found that the victims were all being carried to Plainfield, so he boarded a trolley car and hastened away. The train with the others on board was stalled near Roselle and there was considerable delay before they caught a trolley car. When they arrived at the scene of the disaster, they found Mitchell there before them.

Mitchell and "Willie" Willis, well-known all through newspaperdom, prepared the account for the Morning Sun. After the first day, Mitchell handled the story alone, and supplied The Sun with one of the most accurate and complete accounts published. For the Evening Sun, Hagard was in charge with Tom Kenney and Arthur Perry as his assistants. The New York World hustled the genial Philip Kearny Mindil to the scene that night. He prepared the powerful story for the morning edition and then kept right on and wrote the account for the afternoon paper. His interview with W. C. Besler, vice president and general manager of the Jersey Central, was declared by that official to be the most accurate of any published in New York. Wednesday afternoon Remsen Crawford came out to relieve poor Mindil who was beginning to feel the strain. The latter returned to Plainfield later in the week and continued his excellent work in behalf of the World. Mot Ely and McDevott were also here for the Evening World.

Leo Redding and Chauncey Miller were the representatives of the New York Herald who came out Tuesday night. The accurate story that appeared in the Herald next day was the result of their combined efforts. After Wednesday, Miller covered the field alone, continuing the excellent work.

The Journal hosts were commanded by Albert Strassman who had nearly a dozen writers and artists with him. Among them was "Hon." Pete Campbell, for whom one day of Plainfield was enough. Donahue and Markowits were here for the Evening Journal. Frederick Crone, a cousin of Arthur Crone, teller of the City National Bank, reached Westfield at midnight and looking after the story for the New York Tribune for the next thirty-six hours. McEntagart was on hand for the New York Times. "Governor Wheatley, of the Daily News staff, was a picturesque figure in the reporters' corps. Brown, of the Mail and Express, an intimate friend of Rhey T. Snodgrass, of Central ave-

VERDICT FOR PLAINTIFF.

Decision in Dahl-Brovinesky Case in Circuit Court.

The contract case of Dahl against Brovinesky was tried Monday in the Circuit Court before Judge Vail, Assemblyman Newcorn appearing for the plaintiff and Codington & Swackhamer for the defendant. The suit was brought to recover the final payment of $316, which the plaintiff claimed as due him from the defendant for the building of a house. The court gave the plaintiff a verdict for $282 with interest and costs. The case will probably be appealed.

NEWCORN'S NEW MEASURES

LOCAL ASSEMBLYMAN INTRODUCED TWO NEW BILLS MONDAY.

One Applies to Trust Companies and the Other to Building and Loan Associations.

Assemblyman William Newcorn introduced two bills at Trenton Monday evening which are amendments to important measures. If they are adopted they will have a tendency to revolutionize the method of doing business by trust companies and building loan associations.

The first bill amends the trust act and requires all trust companies doing business in this State to furnish the department of banking and insurance with four reports a year and publish a summary of the same showing liabilities and resources and the nature of the same in at least one newspaper where the business of the company is located. The intention of this amendment is to furnish people doing business with the company all possible information regarding it and keep them posted.

The second bill amends the building loan act and requires all such loan associations doing business in this State to make two reports a year to the department of banking and insurance, to publish a summary in at least one newspaper showing the standing liabilities and resources and their nature and to mail a printed copy of this summary to each shareholder or stockholder in the association.

Mr. Newcorn gained his idea for introducing the second bill from the methods of the Home Building and Loan Association of this city. It has always been the practice of this association to issue a printed statement to each one of its stockholders, thereby giving each one a clear idea of the investments made and the transactions of the association.

"DIME" AFFAIR.

First of a Series of Socials at the Church of the Heavenly Rest Held Last Evening.

A "dime" social was held last evening at the chapel of the Heavenly Rest under the auspices of the Ladies' Guild of the church. There was a large attendance. The evening was very pleasantly spent in musical and social entertainment. A trombone solo was rendered by Garret Dunham, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. E. E. Bowen. Piano solos were rendered by Miss Edna Phillips who was presented with a bouquet of flowers by Superintendent of the Sunday-school, W. W. Moore.

It is planned to hold socials of this kind every month for the benefit of the Ladies' Guild of the church. The committee in charge of last night's social comprised: Mrs. E. E. Bowen, Mrs. M. D. Thompson, W. W. Moore, and Walter Peck.

FUNERAL OF MRS. VAN NEST.

Services Held at the Late Home at Alton Yesterday Afternoon.

The funeral services of Mrs. William VanNest were held yesterday afternoon from the late home at Alton and were very largely attended by relatives and friends. Rev. J. A. Cubberley, pastor of the Baptist church, at South Plainfield, conducted the services and in the course of his remarks spoke of the lovely Christian character of the deceased. He also had words of deep sympathy for the bereaved family.

During the services Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Campbell, relatives, of New York, sang "Lead, Kindly Light," and "Abide With Me." There were many floral tributes, including a handsome pillow bearing the word "Mother." The interment took place in Hillside cemetery, Plainfield. The pall-bearers, all nephews of Mrs. VanNest, were George VanNest and Charles Conover, of this city; William and Fred Compton, of Metuchen.

LEAL'S WINS AGAIN FROM HIGH SCHOOL

Second Basket Ball Game in Scholastic Series Held in Y. M. C. A. Gymnasium.

NOT AS CLOSE AS FIRST

FIRST HALF WAS VERY EXCITING, THEN HIGH SCHOOL WENT DOWN.

Leal's Victory by Score of 16 to 8 Was Rather a Surprise After the Way the Game Began—The Lineup of the Two Teams.

For the second time this winter, the Leal's School basket ball team has been victorious over the City High School five. The second meeting took place at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium and developed a lively contest. After the first half, however, the High School boys seemed to lose heart and the finish of the game lacked the wildly exciting features which marked the initial contest.

For the first half, it looked as if the first game was to be repeated as far as closeness was concerned. Both sides played a clean, snappy game and the visitors found plenty to enthuse over. A fatal weakness developed, however, in the High School team. There was a tendency to hold the ball too long and back throws were too frequent. It was one of the latter that gave Leal's a goal. The play was even enough, however, to suit anyone, the first half ending with it 5 to 4 in favor of Leal's.

At the start of the second half it looked as if the High School was going to do even better than before. Then the Leal's boys scored twice in rapid succession and the spirits of the High School contingent began to fall Men were left unguarded, the team play grew weaker and Leal's had everything their own way. There was a brace toward the last but it was not able to stand up against the great game that the opposing team was playing. The final score was rather a surprise.

The teams lined up as follows:

LEAL'S SCHOOL.		CITY HIGH SCHOOL.
Doane	right forward	Miner, Monro
R. Abbott	left forward	Collier
G. Abbott, (capt)	centre	Meeker, (capt)
Rogers, Robert.	right guard	Thompson
Biglow	left guard	Monro, Miner

Score—Leal's School, 16; City High School, 8 Goals from the field—Doane, R. Abbott, G. Abbott (3), Biglow (2), Collier (3). Goals on fouls—R. Abbott (2), Meeker (2). Fouls—Leal's School, 9; City High School, 5 Referee—Charles B. Morse. Umpires—C. H. A. Heywood and H. C. Brose. Timekeepers—Mr. Fowler and Kenneth Anderson. Scorer—John H. Doane.

CHAIRMAN SHURTS.

Re-Elected to Head of Democratic County Committee in Somerset Despite His Own Opposition.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Feb. 5—The annual meeting of the Somerset county Democratic executive committee was held at the Somerset Hotel, Saturday afternoon, and was well attended by members and county leaders. Those who thought the affair would be a scrappy one were not a little surprised.

Jacob Shurts, of Bridgewater, chairman of the old committee, sent in his resignation as a member of this year's committee. As soon as this was announced there were murmurs of disapproval. The resignation was laid on the table and Mr. Shurts was again chosen chairman unanimously. Although he protested again such a course all his arguments were overruled. Although Mr. Shurts was maligned by a very few chronic kickers his loyal supporters are legion, and many believe the great victory of the Democratic hosts last fall was partly due to his indefatigable and unremitting labor. It is again Chairman Shurts.

M. Mount Corle, of Nesbanic Station, was unanimously chosen secretary.

Preparing for Minstrels.

Tuesday night after the meeting of the club a rehearsal was held, in which the members of the club showed up in their respective parts in a creditable manner. A new pool table has been purchased by the club and will be installed shortly.

William E. MacClymont conducted a special musical service at Holy Trinity church, New York, last Sunday morning. His choir rendered Rossini's "Stabat Mater" with good effect.

BANQUET MARKS ITS FIFTEENTH BIRTHDAY

Women's Section of the Gesang and Turn Verein Celebrates the Event.

NEW OFFICERS THERE

SEVENTY-FIVE SAT DOWN TO THE FESTIVE BOARD.

Gift for Mrs. Christopher Keller, the Retiring Treasurer, Who Had Been at That Post for Fourteen Years—Guests Present.

The fifteenth anniversary of the women's section of the Gesang and Turn Verein, was held last evening at Saengerbund Hall when there was a full representation of members present. A sumptuous repast was served at which covers were set for seventy-five.

After the banquet, Mrs. Christopher Keller, who has been treasurer for fourteen years, resigned her office and as a token of the appreciation of her services the section presented her with a solid mahogany rocker. It was a touching tribute extended to a faithful officer and she responded suitably to the occasion.

The banquet was taken as the occasion when the old officers step out of their chairs to make way for the new ones which are as follows: President, Mrs. William Beiter; vice president, Mrs. Andrew Schlick; secretary, Mrs. Charles Dresselt; recording secretary, Mrs. August Melcher, and treasurer, Mrs. Mathias Menzenbach.

Every member who brought with him a guest also brought a present for him. These were opened after the officers took their places and much amusement was afforded when some of the boxes were opened.

The committee in charge was, Mrs. Christopher Keller, chairman; Mrs. Herman Klinsman, Mrs. August Melcher, Mrs. Andrew Schlick, Mrs. Matthias Menzenbach, Mrs. Charles Meyer and Mrs. William Beiter.

During the evening, Rudolph Spiegel, on behalf of the men's section of the Gesang and Turn Verein, made a few remarks in which he complimented the organization on arriving at its fifteenth anniversary and said that he hoped that it would survive another fifteen years.

The evening was spent after the dinner in informal bowling contests and other games until a late hour.

WARNED TOO LATE.

So Fighting Newsboys Fell in Hands of a Patrolman.

"Cheese it, the cop," as a warning summons, came too late for William Roy and Ray Hall, two pugnacious newsboys, who were settling an affair of honor with fists on West Front street, yesterday afternoon. Patrolman Flynn swooped down upon them before they could escape and both spent the night in separate cells. During the long hours they had patched up differences and as City Judge Runyon was averse to punishing them further both were allowed to go.

JUST A DECADE.

Surprise Given to Miss May Mattison on Her Birthday.

A surprise party was given to Miss May Mattison at her home on Duer street, Tuesday afternoon, in honor of her tenth birthday. A peanut hunt was a feature in which prizes were given. After music and games refreshments were served. The little hostess was the recipient of many pretty gifts in honor of the occasion.

Was No Dancing.

An error was unintentionally made in Monday's issue of The Daily Press in which it stated that dancing was a feature of the carnival at Saengerbund Hall. There was no dancing, the affair being only a social gathering of the members of the society.

Married at Bound Brook.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Emma B. Scott, of 43 Summit avenue, North Plainfield, and John Crouse, of Church street, which was was performed by Rev. J. B. Cleaver at his home in Bound Brook, Friday, January 16.

Club Recital.

The Ensemble Club gave a very interesting recital Tuesday afternoon at the home of Miss Anna O. Marsh, 915 Madison avenue. Papers were read about Haydn, Beethoven and Wagner, and selections from these composers were rendered.

SPLIT OVER ALLOWING OTHERS TO USE GYM

Troubles Which Have Developed in Young Men's Association of Hope Chapel.

THREATEN TO GET OUT

MEMBERS OBJECT TO GYMNASIUM BEING DEVOTED TO OTHERS.

Nights on Which Members May Use Gymnasium Are Getting Fewer and Fewer—The Young Women Now Given a Night.

Difference of opinion among the members in regard to the admission of other organizations to its gymnasium may eventually lead to the withdrawal of a geater portion of the Hope Y. M. A. from the chapel which has been fostering it.

The trouble has arisen from the passing of a vote by a very close majority, which allows the Boys' Club and the Young Women's Society, both of Hope chapel, the use of the gymnasium floor and apparatus one night a week. Heretofore the members of the Y. M. A. have been allowed all nights exclusively, which was the original intention when the building was erected.

The association is composed of young men who are employed entirely during the day and have no where else to go in the evening for innocent recreation. With the nights removed for meetings in the chapel and that of the two other organizations, the members feel that they are not receiving the benefits they pay for and have commenced action.

From the dues and money received from other sources, the Y. M. A. pays yearly to the trustees of the chapel $150 for the gymnasum's running expenses. In addition, it purchases all new apparatus and bears the cost of repairs and improvements. Through the influence of outsiders, a majority vote has been obtained whereby no tax is placed upon the others entering and many of the members regard it as unfair, even waving aside the loss of time for themselves.

The matter is now in the hands of a special committee which is considering removal to an independent clubhouse and setting up of an organization on entirely individual lines. A building has already been inspected and an option secured tending toward a purchase. Decisive action is to be taken at the next regular meeting which will be in March.

STILL UNIDENTIFIED.

Remaining Body at Morgue Will be Given Proper Funeral at the Railroad's Expense.

No one has yet been able to satisfactorily identify the charred remains of one of the wreck victims still at the morgue. Numerous persons have come to this city for the purpose of viewing the remains, thinking they would be able to identify them but no one has been successful.

The body will remain at the undertaking parlors for a day or two longer and, if still unidentified, it will be interred at the expense of the railroad company. The funeral will be conducted like the rest of the victims and a stone will be placed over the grave at the cemetery.

PAID THEIR RESPECTS.

Local Firemen Visited Bier of One Who Often Worked With Them.

Although virtually not one of their number, the members of the local fire department formally paid their last respects to the memory of Thomas U. Smith, yesterday. The regular and call men were divided into squads by Chief Doane and allowed to go to his late home in turns to view the body. It was impossible for the members to attend the funeral in a body.

Smith was an ardent fire fighter and while not a member of the local department, answered every alarm for several years.

Those Who Received.

Mrs. Irving Howard Brown and her daughter, Miss Helen Brown, of Central avenue, were among those who received with Mrs. Brown's sister, Mrs. Julius Hubbell Seymour, of 304 West Eighty-sixth street, New York, at the first af four days "at home," held yesterday.

Installed Officers-Elect.

Deputy Supreme Archon J. V. E. Vanderhoff, of Protective Conclave, Improved Order Heptasophs, paid a fraternal visit to Orange Conclave last evening and installed the officers-elect.

GROCER HELD UP.

Two Strangers Sandbagged J. D. Giles at South Bound Brook.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, Feb. 4—J. D. Giles, a prosperous grocer of South Bound Brook, while returning home Tuesday night was set upon by two men who struck him a severe blow on the head and were proceeding to rifle his pockets when they were frightened away, without securing any reward for their pains.

The assault occurred just under the railroad bridge at about 8 o'clock. His assailants are unknown.

THE CONDITION OF INJURED

WILSON FREDERICKS IS IN THE MOST SERIOUS CONDITION OF ANY.

General Improvement Shown by Most of Those Who Were Injured.

Among the injured wreck victims at their homes, Miss Fanny Casenove, of 45 Pearl street, is suffering from cuts and bruises about the head and body, while it is feared that her spine is injured. Dr. Zeglio is in attendance.

George D. Patten, of 327 East Seventh street, was cut about the face and he sustained bruises about the body.

Russell E. Burke, of 5 Ravine road, was among those injured. He has since been able to return to business in New York.

Miss Evelyn Simonson, who was injured in the recent wreck, is still in a serious condition although she is recovering slowly under the care of Dr. A. H. Dundon.

Miss Carrie Pangborn, who was one of the wreck victims, was reported resting comfortably this morning although she is still in a serious condition. It was thought that she would be able to sit up yesterday afternoon for a short while but it was found that she was not strong enough for the exertion. It has been reported that she was removed to the hospital but this rumor is without foundation.

Miss Mabel Conover, of Duer street, who was one of those injured in the recent wreck, is gradually improving.

Of the seven wreck patients now at Muhlenberg Hospital, all are doing well and will probably recover with the exception of Wilson Fredericks, of Dunellen. His condition at present is grave and the physicians can give no encouraging reports. He is badly burned over the entire body and it is said, inside inflammation, a dangerous symptom, has commenced.

FINE SHOWING.

Made by Dime Savings Institution As Shown in Its Annual Statement Just Issued.

Some idea of the Dime Savings Institution's sound financial standing is gained by a perusal of its annual statement now being published. It now has to its credit a surplus of $60,569.54, one of the most satisfactory amounts in its history.

The institution has rapidly been gaining the confidence of the people until its depositors include people in every walk of life. Much of its capable management is due the business tact and discretion of its officers which are: President, J. F. Hubbard; vice presidents, Jeremiah Manning and W. F. Arnold and treasurer, James C. Pope. The statement is published in full in the columns of The Daily Press.

BROUGHT HIM HOME.

Ticket Agent, Charged With Embezzlement, Has Returned From New Orleans.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Feb. 5—Detective Geo. D. Totten, who went to New Orleans to arrest Geo. Ringelmann, ticket agent for the Jersey Central here, who is charged with embezzlement, arrived in town Monday night with his prisoner. Ringelmann was taken to the Prosecutor's office, where Justice Kitchen held him in $2,500 bail to await the action of the next Grand Jury. Geo. G. Brokaw, who lives near South Branch, became bondsman for Ringelmann.

Chief Kiely Ill.

Through exposure brought about in connection with his work of clearing up the Westfield wreck aftermath, Chief of Police Kiely has been taken seriously ill. He persisted in remaining on duty yesterday and spent the afternoon with the county prosecutor at Elizabeth while his temperature raged at 102.

JURY WILL GO TO HOSPITAL

To Visit Bedside of Fireman McCarthy Tomorrow to Hear His Testimony.

THEN OTHER TESTIMONY

McCarthy Had Made a Statement to Justice Huff, in Which He Corroborated the Statement of Engineer Davis—Thirty-Five Other Witnesses to Testify.

Another session of the coroner's jury began this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Most of the afternoon will probably be devoted to hearing the testimony of the Jersey Central Railroad men as to the sending of orders to Engineer Davis and the condition of the locomotive. Some time during tomorrow's session the coroner's jury is expected to visit the bedside of Fireman Samuel McCarthy at Muhlenberg Hospital and secure a statement from him.

Chief Kiely and Justice Huff secured a signed statement from Fireman McCarty when it was supposed that he could not recover. He is now, however, on the road to recovery and it has been deemed best to hear the story from his own lips. As he is still in a serious condition, it is probable that he will be allowed only to make a short statement. In the statement which he has already made it is said that he corroborates the assertions of Engineer Davis that the locomotive was not in the best of condition and that one of the steam chests was leaking badly. It is said that he was compelled to work continuously at the fires after leaving Elizabeth in order to keep the steam pressure anywhere near the figure required for an express locomotive.

There still remain thirty-five witnesses to testify and it is expected that it will require several days more to examine all of them. One member of the coroner's jury said that there would be no evening sessions and the testimony would probably all be taken on the afternoons between 2 o'clock and 5:30.

PACKAGE SOCIAL.

Conducted by the Young People of German Reformed Church for Church Fund.

A "package" social was held last evening at the German Reformed church which was conducted by the young people of the church for the church fund. The attendance was very large and the proceeds will amount to something like $60.

A quilt was chanced off the night before and last evening the winner was announced to be Adam Angerbauer. Forty-eight dollars was netted on this quilt. It is an autograph quilt made by one of the members of the church and on it are over 500 names embroidered. A feature of the evening was the selections rendered by the Misses Florence and Lou Windham, the Misses Anna and Etta Bartlow, Miss Katherine Blimm, the Misses Jennie and Annie Martin and others.

The committee which had charge of the two nights' social was composed of Mr. and Mrs. Angerbauer and Mr. and Mrs. Philip Bach.

DEATH OF THOS. LEE.

Old Resident of Willow Grove Died at Homestead Farm Yesterday.

At his late home in Willow Grove, Thomas Lee, a life long resident of that place, passed away yesterday after a lingering illness of rheumatism and complications.

Thomas Lee died on the old homestead farm, where he was born seventy-one years ago. He has always led a very active life. Three children survive him: Samuel Lee, Miss Emma Lee and Miss Georgette Lee.

The funeral services will be held from his late residence in Willow Grove, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The interment will be in Hillside cemetery.

nue, visited Plainfield again, this time in his official capacity.

Most of the New York men spent the greater portion of what was left of Tuesday night at Powers' Hotel, Westfield. It was immediately christened the "Power House." From all accounts the impressions of Westfield were not of the brightest.

It was a sorry looking crowd that wandered into Plainfield early Wednesday morning. None of them had been prepared for such a trip and a night in the slush and mud, combined with the rain that fell heavily toward morning, generally demoralized their appearance and feelings. They found Plainfield a haven of rest and other things. They fell upon the haber dashers' establishments with much joy and equipped themselves anew with sundry collars, cuffs, socks and what else they needed. Then they discovered the Hotel Rosell. There were good meals to be found while comfortable beds awaited those who had a chance to sleep. It was not what they were expecting and impromptu hymns of praise went up. There was nothing too nice they could say of Plainfield and its people for the latter showed the visitors every courtesy and they finally departed, believing that Plainfield was the model suburban city in the neighborhood of the metropolis.

Although not a newspaper man himself, Johnny Ahearn, the special representative of the Postal Telegraph, was on hand as usual and looked after his friends to see that their copy found its way to the proper office.

And while the pick of the staffs of the metropolitan papers were hustling, the reporters of The Daily Press were not idle. It was the largest happening they had ever been called upon to cover but they met the emergency and the complete reports which have appeared in The Daily Press since the wreck show how well they did their work. Although handicapped the day after the wreck by the illness of Walter C. Dobbins, a member of the staff a story of the disaster was prepared by Thomas M. Muir, Allen E. Beals, Alden E. Moore and Charles Burdette Morse, the city editor, that won the general commendation of the New York writers. It was no slight task and several of them labored forty-two hours at a stretch without a wink of sleep. Even after the first day the strain continued there were but few hours each night to be devoted to sleep. Working side by side with them was Ralph L. Morrow, formerly of The Press staff but now local correspondent of the Newark News, who supplied that newspaper with one of the best narratives of the wreck that was published anywhere.

Even though the New York papers were well represented, the local correspondents found plenty to do in assisting the regular staff men and getting additional information. It was from them that the New York dailies received their first information. The Standard News Association and the Publishers Press depended on their local men.

Telegraph and telephone were both utilized to get the news to New York. The trains did not run on the night of the wreck until too late to be of use to the New York men and those who came through to Plainfield had to depend on the wires to get their news in. Others returned from the scene of the wreck to Elizabeth and prepared their copy on the train and at their own offices.

While in Plainfield, the visiting newspapermen paid frequent visits to The Daily Press office where they were given every courtesy possible under the circumstances. They proved, with one exception, to be a very gentlemenly and agreeable crowd and made themselves well liked during their stay here.

Many of the New York dailies have been covering the coroner's inquest with men from their regular staffs. While some of these are new, there are several familar faces to be seen at the reporters' tables in the Council Chamber. Chauncey Miller, of the Herald staff, is critically observing the proceedings and sending in a good story. Philip Kearney Mindil, of the World, is just as pleasant as ever and continues his clever accounts. Alfred Strassman, of the Journal, looms up in the foreground again with his skilful pen. He has made himself well liked here even with those who do not approve of the methods of his paper.

THEATRICAL.

Before "Mr. Blue Beard" was presented at the Knickerbocker Theatre, New York, the prediction was freely made by those who were familiar with it that it would prove a greater success than its predecessor of last season, "The Sleeping Beauty and the Beast." This prophecy has already been fulfilled and "Mr. Blue Beard" is regarded today as the greates success in spectacle this country has ever known. It will run for many months at the utmost capacity of the theatre.

Another big series of substantial entertainments will greet the patrons of Mr. Proctor's many theatres next week. The Stock Company at Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre will present the play that made Chauncey Olcott famous, "Garrett O'Magh," by Augustus Piton. Diversity is a virtue to be prized in a vaudeville programme, and this is the main characteristic of the bill at Proctor's Twenty-third Street next week. The headlines will be Laura Biggar (Mrs. H. M. Bennett) and a strong supporting company in Wilmer and Vincent's one-act playlet, "A Thief in the Night." "His Father's Boy," by Sidney Rosenfield, will be the offering at Proctor's One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street house next week. At Proctor's Fifty-eighth Street a magnificent production will be made of Cecil Raleigh and Arthur Collnis' famous Drury Lance drama, "Hearts Are Trumps." Proctor's beautiful Theatre in military Park, Newark, will have next week one of Newark's favorite actresses, Deryl Hope and a company of favorites in a new vaudeville sketch. F. F. Proctor's $10,000 series of "Living Art Studies." Colibris' Midgets, tiny acrobatic song and dance comedians, the Six Blackbirds, colored comedians, Winona and Banks Winters, in clever impersonations; William Cahill Davis, the Irish monologuist, and fifteen other star acts will complete the programme.

The New York Herald of April 20, 1902, says:

"Today science affirms—

"Not only that the banana is twenty-five times as nutritious as the given weight of wheat, but, also; that it is 144 times as prolific. Thus fruit conquers over the cereal, Honduras over South Dakota, and famine promises to be forever banished from the face of the earth.

"Bananas have forty-four times the nutriment of potatoes, the staple food of many northern countries of Europe, and thirty times that of rice, the main item on the daily board of more than a billion people on the globe."

STATEHOOD DEBATE

Senators Have a Lively Passage of Words.

GALLINGER ACCUSES BEVERIDGE.

General Staff Bill Reconsidered and Passed—House Considers Postoffice Appropriations—Plan to Pension Ex-Slaves.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Toward the end of the session of the senate yesterday there was a lively passage of words between Mr. Gallinger and Mr. Beveridge. The former declared in unmistakable terms that Mr. Beveridge and his followers on the statehood bill were prolonging the debate in pursuance of a "deliberate and premeditated system of obstruction." Mr. Quay injected some humor into the debate after Mr. Kean, who had held the floor for some time in opposition to the bill, announced that he would postpone his remarks on account of a severe cold by saying that the infirmities of the opponents of statehood were increasing to such an extent that he expected soon to see them all in a hospital.

The general staff bill was reconsidered and passed with an amendment putting the chief of staff under the direction of the president "and the secretary of war under the direction of the president."

In the house the general debate on the postoffice appropriation bill was enlivened by an interesting discussion of the tariff question. It was participated in by Mr. Sibley (Rep., Pa.), Mr. Williams (Dem., Miss.) and Mr. Griggs (Dem., Ga.). The consideration of the postoffice bill in committee of the whole was completed, but it was not passed. The annual attempt to strike out the appropriations for special mail facilities between Washington and New Orleans and Kansas City and Newton, Kan., was led this year by Mr. Talbert (S. C.), who followed up his motion after it was defeated in committee of the whole with a motion in the house to recommit the bill, with instructions to eliminate the provisions. The latter motion is designed to place the members on record. His motion was pending when the house adjourned.

Pensions For Ex-Slaves.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Senator Hanna introduced a bill granting pensions and bounties to all ex-slaves who were freed by the proclamation of President Lincoln during the war of the rebellion. It provides that persons over fifty years old and under sixty, whether male or female, shall receive a cash bounty of $100 and monthly pensions of $8 a month, persons between sixty and seventy years old a bounty of $300 and a pension of $12 a month and persons over seventy years old a bounty of $500 and a pension of $15 a month.

Miles at Buffalo Bill's Show.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—General Miles, accompanied by a party which included Henry White, secretary of the United States embassy; the United States naval attache, Captain Clover; Consul General Evans and others, was last night the guest of Colonel Cody at Olympia hall, where the Wild West show is being given. An interesting meeting took place between the general and his old scout. After dinner the healths of King Edward and President Roosevelt were pledged amid great enthusiasm. Colonel Cody then conducted the party to the Indian quarters, where the chiefs greeted the general with the utmost cordiality, many of the Indians not having seen General Miles since they fought against him.

To Aid Liberian Emigration.

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 5.—The republic of Liberia through Bishop H. M. Turner of this city has donated to the Colored National Emigration and Commercial association the sum of $25,000 to assist in purchasing a steamship to ply between the United States and West Africa for commercial purposes, as well as for emigration. It is the bishop's desire that white as well as colored people purchase shares in this enterprise and assist such negroes as wish to remove to Liberia.

Costly Blaze In Oklahoma City.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Feb. 5.—A fire that started in the Lion store, dealers in general merchandise, caused a loss of $250,000; insurance about one-third of loss. The entire stock and buildings of the Lion store were consumed, entailing a loss of more than $175,000. Another fire in a frame building on Broadway at the same time caused additional loss. Fire apparatus was sent in by El Reno and Guthrie.

Presidential Nominations.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—The president has sent the following nominations to the senate: John T. McDonough, New York, associate justice of the supreme court of the Philippine Islands; Willis Van Devanter, Wyoming, United States circuit judge for the Eighth judicial circuit; Clinton F. Irwin, Illinois, associate justice of the supreme court of Oklahoma.

Kansas Insurance Company Fails.

TOPEKA, Kan., Feb. 5.—The Kansas Mutual Insurance company of Topeka, one of the largest insurance companies in the state, has been declared insolvent by Judge Hook in the federal court, and he suggested the appointment of ex-Governor N. Morrill for receiver.

Torpedo Boat Destroyer Foundered.

Rubbing the back won't cure backache.

A liniment may relieve, but can't cure.

Backache comes from the inside, from the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills get inside.

They cure sick kidneys.

Here is Plainfield proof that this is so:

Mr. C. E. Hepburn, of 123 Duer street, formerly of Canada, where he first heard of Doan's Kidney Pills, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have my endorsement for they cured me of a long standing case of backache which annoyed me very much especially if I took cold for at such times I was in pretty bad shape. I heard different people speak very highly of Doan's Kidney Pills, concluded to try them, got a box from my druggist, Mr. L. W. Randolph, and used them according to directions with the above results. I do not hesitate to give my endorsement of a preparation like Doan's Kidney Pills."

WILMINGTON, Del., Feb. 5.—A heavy hail and rain storm, accompanied by wind of terrific velocity, swept over this city last night, and during its progress seven persons were injured and property was damaged to the extent of nearly $50,000. In every section of the city houses were unroofed and trees were uprooted.

At Browntown, a suburb, ten new brick dwellings were demolished and another row of six houses occupied by Poles and Italians was badly damaged. Several of the occupants were injured by falling walls and flying glass.

At the Harlan & Hollingsworth ship building plant a traveling crane weighing eighteen tons was forced from its tracks and crashed through the mold loft.

Newport, a small village near here, also suffered severely from the storm.

Great Damage by Storm In Ohio.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 5.—Reports of damaged telegraph wires, washing out of culverts and the weakening of bridges are being received at the headquarters of the local lines. Traffic on the Hocking Valley and Ohio Central was greatly delayed by the storm. The Zanesville and Western was entirely tied up for five hours on account of washouts near Muskingum. A great deal of damage was done to telegraph service of the local lines.

Gales In Tennessee.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 5.—A heavy rain and wind storm has prevailed here. The velocity of the wind was sixty miles an hour, the highest recorded since the local weather bureau was established. Extensive damage was done to electric wires, and for several hours this city was cut off entirely from telegraph and telephone communication with the outside world. Many local light, power and telephone lines were affected.

Cloudburst In Kentucky.

MIDDLESBORO, Ky., Feb. 5.—A cloudburst in the mountains has precipitated a flood down Yellow Creek valley. Two houses were flooded beyond the railroad track, and some fencing was washed away. Several trestles of the Middlesboro Belt railroad were undermined, and trains were delayed.

The landslide occurred at the dock while the steamers Perang, Butterfield and Sures Hulk were discharging their cargoes. The dead and injured were mostly spectators. News is also brought of the drowning of fifty workmen by the sinking of a launch in a squall in Kobe harbor on Jan. 19. Sixty-four miners were burned to death in a fire that occurred on Jan. 17 in Urushubu colliery, Fukuoka Ken, Japan, caused by a miner accidentally igniting a dynamite fuse.

NAVAL RUSH ORDERS

Mare Island Yard Working Night and Day.

THREE WARSHIPS READY TO SAIL

The Warlike News From Honduras Causes Activity—Several Vessels to Be Made Ready With the Greatest Possible Dispatch.

MARE ISLAND NAVY YARD, Cal., Feb. 5.—Rush orders have been received from Washington ordering that all work now on vessels in the navy yard be completed with the greatest possible dispatch. In view of this order an extra force of men will be employed at once, and a night force has been inaugurated to complete the repairs on the United States cruiser Bennington, which is practically ready for service. Several other vessels can be made ready for sea within a short time.

Large quantities of stores have been shipped to San Francisco to be transferred to the Boston, New York and Ranger, now lying at anchor in the harbor.

It is thought that the trouble brewing in Honduras is the only reason for the animation now being shown at the navy yard.

The warships in commission in San Francisco harbor will be on their way to Amapala, a port on the Pacific coast of Honduras, early next week. The New York, the Boston and the Ranger are now in the bay ready to start on short notice.

In view of the orders, Admiral Glass has relieved Admiral Casey in the command of the Pacific fleet. It had been arranged that the flags of the admirals should be changed on Feb. 10, but the hurry orders to the fleet to get into southern waters prompt the change being made in the commanding officers in advance of the arranged time.

Murder Followed Religious Quarrel.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 5.—For the third time in the history of the Eastern penitentiary that institution has been the scene of a most brutal murder. The victim was James Pratt, a negro, aged thirty-seven years, who was serving a sentence of twenty years for burglary committed last August. The murder was done by Cornelius Bush, twenty-one years old, also colored, sentenced to two years' imprisonment for assault and battery. The murder, which resulted from a religious quarrel, was committed early yesterday morning, but was not discovered until J. D. Smith, an overseer, carried breakfast to the men, who were cellmates. He found only Bush in the cell, and upon investigation discovered the decapitated body of Pratt wrapped in blankets and sheets lying in a corner. On a small table the head of the murdered man was found tied up in an old shirt.

Serious Situation In Northern China.

VICTORIA, B. C., Feb. 5.—The steamer Empress of China brings further news of the crisis in northern China. The writers say that the situation is most serious and that in Kansu a large army is being organized to proceed against the foreigners and only the exposure of this movement and the aid it is receiving at Peking will open the eyes of the statesmen of Great Britain, America and Germany to the danger which threatens foreigners in China. All travelers are being searched and letters opened. Caravans of camels are bringing arms and ammunition and stores of feed and grain to the rebel headquarters.

Mad Mollah's Helper In Custody.

ADEN, Arabia, Feb. 5.—Advices received here from Obbia, on the Somali coast of East Africa, say that the Italian consul there on Jan. 29 invited Yusuf Ali, the sultan of Obbia, and his eldest son on board an Italian gunboat, where they were detained. This, it is pointed out, removes one of the chief difficulties in the British arrangements for an advance against the Mad Mollah of Somaliland, who depended on the co-operation of the sultan of Obbia for information and ammunition.

Blizzard Sweeps Chicago.

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—Chicago has experienced one of the worst blizzards in years. Wires are down in every direction, and all telegraphic lines except those of the Chicago and Milwaukee roads were unworkable, as were the long distance telephone wires, except one line to Omaha. Chicago for hours was cut off from news of the outside world. Nearly a foot of snow fell, followed by a rain and sleet storm. Street car traffic is demoralized, and incoming trains are reported late.

Schenectady Ice Crop Poor.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Feb. 5.—The icemen in this vicinity have about abandoned hope for a good ice crop this season because of the "soft" weather of the last week. In some places along the Mohawk river the water has flooded the ice, making it impossible to work properly. The same conditions obtain on the lakes hereabout.

The Honorables Coming.

COMING EVENTS.

February 8—Hugh R. Monro will speak and Miss M. H. Cromwell, of Cranford, will sing at the Y. M. C. A. meeting at 4 o'clock.

FIND OUT THE TRUTH.

Assemblyman Newcorn's idea that the State Legislature should be fully informed before it begins to consider any remedial legislation regarding the railroads is an excellent one. His idea of accomplishing it is by the appointment of a commission of five men to look into the causes of the Westfield disaster. So far, no other plan has been advanced and it would look as if his scheme would work out to the best interests of all concerned. The findings of such a commission would have great weight and it would require the unmistakable stamp of public disapproval to check any reforms it might suggest.

Just at present the Legislature is being overrun with bills which has been brought out by the wreck on the Jersey Central. Some of them are not worth the paper they are written on. Others possess considerable merit. There must be a sifting process and it must be an intelligent one. As things are now, there is no one in the Legislature qualified to decide. It may be that no legislation will be needed. The railroads may see a way of accomplishing the desired object without any assistance from the Legislature. These are all subjects which should be looked into. What is anybody's business is nobody's business and unless the work of investigation is delegated to certain individuals the Legislature is going to be woefully ignorant on the subject.

Public opinion seems to favor two men in the cab. Practical railroad men, who certainly ought to know what they are talking about, declare that the two engineer plan is not feasible; that the danger would be far greater with two to share the responsibility; that there must always be one to answer for what might happen. Two firemen on engines of the "camelback" type might solve the problem. The danger is as much the railroad's as anyone else's and there is not a road in the country that is going to have an accident if it can prevent it. An investigation and conference with railroad officials may bring to light the proper remedy. By all means let the Legislature provide for an intelligent inquiry and discover the remedy if possible.

It is to be hoped that there will be a large representation of citizens of the city and borough at Trenton Tuesday afternoon to show the members of the upper house of the Legislature that they seriously object to having anybody, Senator Hutchinson included, interfere with their private affairs. The questions of annexation and consolidation are those which must be settled by the people interested and by them only. The way to impress that fact on the Legislature is to attend that hearing Tuesday afternoon.

The coroner's jury is again in session this afternoon. It does not seem likely that any sensational developments will result. The ground has been too thoroughly gone over by the newspapers to allow any important facts to escape. The chief interest will centre, therefore, in the additional details that will be made public. The testimony that has so far been brought out has not changed the material facts concerning the accident as first given in The Daily Press

It is pleasant to note that the New York newspaper men, who have had an opportunity to judge, are unanimous in their opinion that Plainfield is the finest suburban city in the neighborhood of New York. And it might be added that these same young men have made, in most instances, a very favorable impression upon those Plainfielders whom they have met.

The Daily Press is indebted to Assemblyman William Newcorn for a copy of the Legislative Manual for 1903.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

M. Banny, proprietor of the new meat market on West Front street, opposite Grove, is selling meat and vegetables at low prices. See ad.

There is always the one quality of goods sold at Peck's on West Front street and that is the best. An exceptional line of laces, embroideries and linen of all kinds is a strong feature.

John Wirth, the West Front street baker, makes it a point to sell nothing but the freshest of bread, cake and confectionery. Orders may be telephoned and they will be delivered promptly.

Why go to New York to purchase silk waists, suitings, separate skirts, cloaks, etc., when at the Paris Cloak Store on West Front street you can find a complete stock of these goods a much lower prices.

It may be of interest to collectors of Red Star trading stamps to know that they are given away by R. J. Shaw, the West Front street druggist. With all his prescrition work and sales of any nature the presentation of them applies.

If you have had any trouble heretofore in getting the proper style of a hat, one that is becoming to you give Bonn, the West Front street milliner, a chance to please you. He can give you entire satisfaction and you will be well paid for trading at this store.

"Bargains," nothing but bargains, is the rule at VanArsdale's shoe emporium. The February clearance sale of footwear began yesterday and that means a saving of money on every pair. All broken lines of men's, women's and children's styles are being sold at a sacrifice.

G. H. Kenyon, of West Front street, is offering some great bargains in pianos just now. He has a number of instruments of the best makes which are offered at very low prices. If you will call at the store Mr. Kenyon will explain his system of payments, also the quality of the pianos.

While N. K. Barnes, the West Front street grocer, is conducting his great closing out sale, a fine opportunity is offered to lay in a stock of groceries at very low prices. The stock is complete in many respects and there are yet any number of bargains. Everything is being sold out cheap and all goods are first-class.

The A. and P. Tea Company, which has stores in every part of the world, is the grower of all its teas and coffee and manufacture most of its household goods. Through this they guarantee their absolute purity and excellence. That's the reason why A. and P. goods have a world-wide use. Handsome premiums given at the local store on West Front street.

Little early to talk about spring, but Woodhull & Martin are constantly receiving their stock of spring dress goods and a more attractive line has seldom if ever been shown in Plainfield. The stock comprises all the best weaves in the desirable shades and at prices that cannot help but appeal to you. A glance through the advertisement, or better still an examination of the goods will convince you of the bargains offered. The firm is also conducting a great windup sale of all the odds and ends accumulated during the furniture sale.

NOT ENOUGH SUPPORT.

So W. T. Serrell Announces That Philharmonic Concerts Are Off.

For those who have so kindly given their support to my efforts in attempting to give the series of New York Philharmonic Club subscription concerts, I am compelled to announce that through insufficient support on the part of those given the opportunity to subscribe it will be impossible for me to give the same. In making this announcement I wish to thank those who have so heartly responded, evidently thoroughly appreciating the nature of the concerts to have been given. W. T. Serrell.

—Freedom Commandery, Knights of the Golden Eagle, will hold a drill Friday evening at the I. O. T. Hall. This will be a drill at which all members should be present.

NEW SPRING DRESS GOODS.

Our Dress Goods Department has become an important factor in our business. Year by year we have noted a most rapid and healthy growth of both sales and profits. Those who have become acquainted with the department repeatedly express their pleasure at being able to get here at home goods quite as new, reliable and up-to-date as in New York City. Those who have not familiarized themselves with our dress goods have a surprise in store. Gradually we have raised the standard until our showing for this season is one of which any concern might well be proud.

Plain grounds of the richest shades, with a hair line plaid barely discernable, exceedingly stylish, yet modest and refined in appearance. A fabric that appeals at once to cultivated tastes. BLACK AND WHITE CHECK WAIST SILKS.—One of fashions latest demands. Very pretty they are. We have them for 79c to 1.00 per yard in an excellent variety of checks.

You are cordially urged to visit our Dress Goods Showing. You will receive courteous treatment and will surely be edified and interested, but please do not ask for samples. They can do you no good and often work us harm, for no sample fairly represents the piece from which it is cut.

Watchung Council No. 552, Knights of Columbus, announce the death of a most esteemed Brother, Edward A. Flynn, who departed this life January 27, 1903.

We are grieved at his untimely death and the manner in which he was taken from us. He had as yet to come in contact with life's burdens, but, his work, his character and his affectionate nature have impressed us so vividly that we more keenly feel his loss. We recommend his exemplary life to those who have been his companions and brothers.

We desire to officially convey our sympathy to the family and friends of our beloved Brother.

NEED OF DEEPER TRIBUTE.

W. C. G. Writes Concerning the Disaster and Its Lessons.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—I cannot write poetry, neither do I wish to criticise any of the beautiful tributes to our dear unfortunates; but I do wish it could be expressed in a deeper and more pathetic way. It doesn't tell of the deep sorrow and sympathy that is felt in every household, in every heart for those that have lost their loved ones. It doesn't reach the sublime sadness — even nature weeps at its occurrence. All have responded nobly to help relieve the suffering and sorrow. This sad calamity should so arouse us all to a sense of the duty we owe humanity that it may in the end become a lesson to teach us all—"To love our neighbor as ourself." W. C. G.

In Force Three Days.

The Mutual Life Insurance Company paid yesterday through its local agent, O. S. Rogers, to the relatives of Edgar W. Williams $2,000 on a policy taken out by him the Saturday evening before the Westfield fatality in which he lost his life. A second policy of $4,000 has been paid by the same company to the relatives of Harold Tomlinson, another wreck victim.

Change of Location.

J. A. Smith & Brotners, the grocers, will move from their present store to the Cutter building on West Front street, April 1. Notice has been given to the tenants in the Cutter building to vacate in time to have the place improved. It is believed that S. Scheuer & Company, who purchased the property now occupied by Smith Brothers, will themselves occupy the property.

Claims They Worried Her.

The case between Mrs. Mary Frye against Mrs. John Jung, of Somerset street, will be heard this evening before Recorder Doud in the borough court. The case is an interesting one. Mrs. Frye claims that Mr. and Mrs. Jung have molested her and have made life unbearable for her and her family. Counter charges have been made by Mrs. Jung. The case has adjourned from Monday evening.

Then a Feast.

Wetumpkah Tribe, No. 229, Improved Order Red Men, will meet this evening and work the adoption degree on three palefaces, after which there will be a feast.

EDUCATORS AT ODDS

New York Regents and Public Instruction Board Clash.

A HEATED DEBATE AT ALBANY.

Merritt Bill Proposing a Change In the Distribution of School Funds Meets With Strong Opposition.

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 5.—After a truce of two legislative sessions the controversy between the state board of regents and the state department of public instruction was resumed at a hearing before the assembly ways and means committee on a bill introduced by Assemblyman Merritt providing for the distribution of about $135,000 from the state school fund among certain schools admitting non-resident pupils to their academic department.

The regents opposed the bill on the ground that it permits the state department of public instruction to interfere unduly with academic instruction. The state department of public instruction contended that the law gives it ample right to supervise academic instruction, but does not permit it to expend certain sums for that branch of education unless the Merritt act becomes a law.

Bishop William Croswell Doane, chancellor of the state university, declared that he wanted his ecclesiastical title dropped and that he would argue the bill as just William Croswell Doane. He denounced the present laws governing the regents and the department of public instruction as illogical and involving a cumbersome system of double inspection. The proposal to permit the department to pass upon the question whether $135,000 should be distributed among schools, especially under the supervision of the state board of regents, would only complicate matters.

Referring to the friction between the two departments, the bishop likened the position of the regents to that of the stationary stick which primitive peoples used to plant in the ground and rub with another stick to produce fire. The friction was caused, he said, by the stick that did the rubbing. Then, turning to Deputy Superintendent Ainsworth of the department of public instruction, he declared his suspicion that he could justly be made the subject of the words of Elisha to King Ahab of old, "Thou art he that troublest Israel."

At this stage Mr. Ainsworth, who seemed throughout to regard the entire attitude of the bishop and the regents as an attack, with inferences of improper motives, upon the department of public instruction, turned to Bishop Doane and cried, shaking his finger at him:

"Bishop Doane, whose scalp are you after when you use such statements as you have? Are you after Superintendent Skinner's scalp? Is he an improper man for the place and the distribution of school money? Who is he? An assemblyman, a congressman, many years devoted to the problems of public instruction and for nine years past superintendent of public instruction. Are you after my scalp? My resignation has always been in Superintendent Skinner's hands. How can the regents be expected to know what is best to do with school money—regents who like St. Clair McKelway or Chauncey M. Depew or others of the board are in Europe part of the time and the remainder too busy with their private pursuits to give that attention to any kind of education, high or low, which such an important matter demands?"

Superintendent Skinner followed Mr. Ainsworth, defending the proposition. The committee room was crowded.

Not Looking For Coaling Stations.

HAVANA, Feb. 5.—Commander Lucien Young, formerly captain of the port, has arrived here. It was reported that his visit was connected with a choice of certain ports for United States coaling stations. Commander Young, however, denies this report and says the voyage to Cuba was made merely to assist him in recovering from an attack of pleurisy. He will sail on his return to the United States next Saturday. The negotiations regarding the proposed United States coaling stations are expected shortly to be concluded.

Good Roads Men Change Front.

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 5.—Friends of good roads who proposed combining the $50,000,000 good roads bonding plan with the canal improvement bill have become convinced that their project can gain nothing by conflict in slightest degree with the canal interests. Attorney General Cunneen, President Shattuck of the Automobile Association of America, W. Pierpont White of Utica and Senator Armstrong of Rochester, all representing the good roads movement, assured Governor Odell that there must be no such conflict.

New York Hotels Crowded.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Every one of the great hotels of Manhattan is filled to overflowing, and the problem how to accommodate the 150,000 or more visitors who arrive in New York each business day is growing more perplexing, notwithstanding the large increase in the capacity of the city's hostelries. The stranger within the borders of Manhattan is lucky, indeed, if he finds a vacant room at his favorite hotel without previous notice to the clerk to reserve quarters for him.

Firemen Killed by Falling Walls.

HUDSON, Mass., Feb. 5.—During a fire which destroyed the parish hall of St. Michael's church here two firemen were killed by falling walls and four others seriously injured.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Feb. 8—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—Bible lessons from men that failed.—Gen. iv, 8-12; Judg. xvi, 20, 21; I Sam. iii, 11-14; xv, 26-29.

Failures teach their lessons as well as successes. It is as possible to learn salutary lessons from the mistakes and errors of men as from those things in which they have succeeded. The lighthouse as a warning is as necessary to the sailor as the polar star as a guide. Men's successes should inspire us to success; their failures should warn us against failure. For such a purpose Christ recalled the failure of Lot's wife, pointed out to His disciples the weaknesses of the Pharisees and pictured the folly of the prodigal son in leaving his father's house for the far country of sin.

The Bible is true history and biography. It records men's vices as well as their virtues, their failures as well as their successes, their defeats as well as their victories. And what for but that we may be warned as well as inspired by their examples. To this end let us notice the failures suggested by the topical references and their lessons.

1. Cain's failure warns us against anger (Gen. iv, 8-12). Angry and jealous, both without cause, Cain slew Abel, his brother, and thus became the first murderer. A disposition to loss of temper, to anger, seems to be a little thing, and yet how serious it often becomes. Anger in the heart is murder in the germ. A bad temper is not to be condoned as simply a physical disability, but recognized as a sin and by persistent effort and the grace of God overcome. Else it will make life miserable, if it does not lead to a great crime.

2. Samson's failure warns us against many errors (Judg. xvi, 20, 21). His downfall was a sad one, and its various steps are distinctly marked. He began with disobedience to his parents; this led him amid evil associations. This resulted in temptation; he dallied with the temptation, at last yielded to it and in doing so disobeyed God, broke a solemn vow, and his ruin was complete. He who had been strong spiritually and physically lost the spirit of God and was physically degraded by having his eyes put out and by being compelled to grind corn like a beast of the field for his enemies! Could ruin have been greater? And how his fate should warn us against disobedience to parents and evil companions, trifling with temptation, disobedience to God and broken vows!

3. Eli's failure should warn us against neglect of duty (I Sam. iii, 11-14). The calamity that came upon him and his family was not due to what he had done, but to what he had failed to do. Neglect of duty is failure as well as transgression against the law of God. It causes ruin and destruction almost as widespread as those resulting from broken laws. God warns us against many evils. He calls us to many duties, and—

Where duty calls or danger
Be never wanting there.

4. Saul's failure warns us against disobedience to God. Few failures in human history have been sadder than King Saul's. Crowned with every earthly advantage, with limitless possibilities before him, his life became an utter wreck and ruin simply because of his disobedience to God. The career of King Saul should be an awful warning, especially to young men of brilliant attainments and bright prospects. It should say to them and to us all, in thunder tones, "To disobey God is to fail."

The Birth of "In His Steps."

Since the Christian Endeavor society figures very prominently in connection with this famous book the following will have an added interest: "What suggested to you the writing of 'In His Steps?'" was asked Rev. Charles M. Sheldon. He replied: "When I went to my parish, I found myself in a sparsely settled district, and I found, too, that I didn't know enough to preach two sermons on Sunday. Moreover, I found that the young people would come out to hear a story, and I didn't want the business men to come out Sunday evening since I found that their home life needed them there, so I wrote 'In His Steps,' sitting out on the porch with the thermometer for days 104 degrees in the shade, and I read it to my Sunday evening audience a chapter or two at a time."

Nuggets.

No great society can live on a sentiment. We have got to get behind the truth that underlies every great movement.—Rev. S. Parkes Cadman, D. D.

As Christian Endeavorers it ought to be our business to keep the devil on the jump all the time.—Rev. B. Q. Denham, Vice President New York State Union.

O young people, can we prepare ourselves better for the larger work to which we look than by pressing close to the broken heart and bruised form of the Christ?—Rev. Edwin Forrest Hallenbeck, D. D.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning Feb 8, "Truth and Lies"—Text, Eph. iv, 25; Prov. xii, 19; Ps. ii, 6.

For I hate with deepest hatred,
Hate him as the gates of hell,
Who within him one thought harbors
While his lips another tell.

Such was the expression of an ancient heathen who had felt in the depth of his soul the stirring of something of the divine spirit of truth and revolted from the torment of falsity.

How clear the word of God is in its declarations on this subject! Jehovah is a God who will not compromise with evil. As our ideas of the divine nature enlarge so does our appreciation of truth as the unity of His being grows upon us. If God is and all things by Him exist and consist, then truth is the self consistency of all things. Falsity is the rebellion of a free intelligence against this unity and in its nature is the absurd, the monstrous, the self destructive evil. It cannot stand. All things stand linked together for its destruction, as it stands opposed to the existence of all. The very nature of God is a pledge that the false can never be successful. It may be allowed to continue, for how long no one can say. In a moral universe the presence of the untrue and false may serve to emphasize the beauty and harmony, the goodness and indispensable excellence of all which it antagonizes. But no profit can come to any creature from sharing in the false. Only loss can result from it.

Jeremy Taylor says, "A prosperous iniquity is the most unprofitable condition in the world."

The very violence of the liar is not a sign of strength in his cause, but of weakness.

It is ever, as Wendell Phillips observed, "when a man does not believe what he says he does he persecutes the man who contradicts him; when he does believe it, he sits quiet."

Lord Bacon said that "no pleasure is comparable to standing on the vantage ground of truth."

Whatever temptation there may be to yield to falsehood, every real interest dictates that it be resolutely resisted. No permanent good can ever be secured through lies and subterfuges. The heaviest penalty visited upon him who falsifies is the loss of the power to know the truth. His own hand closes and bars every gateway to the right, the good, the beautiful, the true.

Carlyle in his counsel sounds like some Old Testament prophet when he cries: "If thou hadst all the artillery of Woolwich marching at thy back in support of an unjust thing and infinite bonfires visibly awaiting ahead of thee to blaze centuries to come for thy victory in behalf of it, I would advise thee to call 'Halt!' to fling down thy baton and say, 'In God's name, no!' What will thy success amount to? If the thing is unjust, thou hast not succeeded. I tell thee there is nothing else but justice. One strong thing I find here below—the good thing, the true thing."

Nobler Things.

The law of the earth life is fluctuation, change. Men change in their likes and dislikes. Children are interested in trinkets, toys and gewgaws, but when they become men and women no more of these for them. Riches interest for a time, but men either die or leave them, or they fail to give them comfort in old age. The soul demands something nobler, more enduring than these. But to love these temporal, nonsatisfying things is to become so absorbed in them as to fail to consider the interests which are eternal, and to live and die thus loving, thus absorbed in the flesh life, is to pass naked, hopeless, unsaved into the eternal world. "Then who shall those things be which thou hast provided?"—Religious Telescope.

The Reward of Faith.

The reward of faith will be in proportion to the tests which it has successfully endured. The promises of God were enlarged to Abraham after he went from his country and his kindred, not knowing whither he went. They were enlarged again after he had offered Isaac upon the altar. So will it be with every one. As the field of promise enlarges, so will be the blessed reward to the believer when he shall experience in the future the blessed results of his faith in the promises fulfilled to him.—Christian Instructor.

Due to Faith In God.

Every godlike trait communicated to human life is due to faith in God. Thus by this constant communication of divine life and character it saves the soul. While love may be the fruit of character faith is the root. Our chapter in Hebrews makes no mistake when it says that Enoch's life pleased God and adds, "But without faith it is impossible to please Him."—Christian Intelligencer (Baptist).

Living Close to Christ.

The clouds that for us mortals haunt the land of righteousness and truth may long hang so thick and low that living close to Christ the soul may still fail to see Him, but some day certainly the fog shall rise, the cloud shall scatter, and in the perfect enlightenment of the other life the soul shall see its Lord and be thankful for every darkest step that it took toward Him here.—Phillips Brooks.

Beginning of Temptation.

Every temptation begins in the first faint suggestion. Deal with that, and no power of the adversary can prevail against you. Yield to that, and sooner or later you will rue your weakness and find that the innocent looking egg contained a viper, and that the tiny, trickling streamlet has become a raging torrent, which carries all before it in its ungovernable passion.—B. F. Meyer.

For an hour or more the new stableman continued his labors, when the hostler announced that it was time for "grub." After a good wash at the barn pump, Rossiter followed his companion into a small, bare room which was filled with the odor of cooking. It was a plain meal that the two men sat down to, but it was exceedingly palatable. Neither spoke while eating, and the maid who attended to their wants evidently considered herself decidedly above them, for she did not deign to address them with so much as a single word. When they had finished they went out together.

"Say," said the hostler, as they halted in the center of the stable yard, "how'd you like my job fer a couple o' weeks? I want to go hop-pickin'."

"I think some of going myself," replied Rossiter.

"Oh, you do, eh? Well, if you don't conclude to go, I'd be glad to have you come 'ere. You're a pritty tidy hand with a hoss."

"Thanks. What's the job worth?"

"Five a week, with feed an' lodgin'."

"When would you want to know?"

"Any time to-day 'ud do."

"All right. I'll drop around to-night and tell you if I'll come. If you don't see me again, you'll have to find another chap," and Rossiter sought the street.

"Here's luck!" he ejaculated. "May be things are going to take a turn at last." He straightened himself and something of the reckless sullenness left his face.

"I must find a quiet spot and think it out," he mused.

He crossed the railway tracks, and struck into a narrow street which, he recalled, formerly led to the baseball grounds and the broad meadows bordering the river. It was a squalid neighborhood in the old days, he remembered, and it did not appear to have changed materially during the years that had elapsed since he had last viewed it. Ragged children were rolling in the dirt by the roadside, slatternly women even at that hour—nine o'clock had not yet struck—were gossiping from window to window, and two or three men as unkempt as Rossiter himself were squirting tobacco juice over the dilapidated board sidewalk. Both women and men eyed him furtively as he went by, and one of the former flung a coarse jibe after him.

He found an open field where the fenced baseball grounds had been, and beyond this, as in the past, stretched a level meadow, sweeping away beyond the river to the base of haze-wrapt hills. Quarter of a mile distant he noticed a group of elms upon the bank of the stream, and towards these he directed his steps. When he reached them he cast himself upon the sward in the shade and set his back against one of the massive boles. Behind him was the city, slowly beginning to steam with heat under the pitiless sun; before him was the languid river, low from drought, lazing between its irregular and freshet-washed banks. Far overhead in the lofty boughs was the faint twitter of birdsong.

This was what Rossiter loved. The city meant nothing to him but miserable failure, but the free air of the country carried with it a certain peace of spirit, and for the most part a large forgetfulness. During the three years of his wanderings the virus of vagabondage had so permeated his every fiber that he rarely longed for the existence he had once known. When he was candid with himself he admitted that it was an irreparable blot upon his manhood that he did not strive to rise from the slough into which his own weakness had dragged him. At rare intervals, when thoughts of re-entering the struggle came to him, there was always the old weakness to combat, the realization that not twice but thrice he had played fast and loose with his chances in the world, and so he allowed himself to drift. There was nothing inherently bad in Rossiter's nature; there was no dishonor to be laid at his door. If he had assumed something of the uncouth manners and familiarized himself with the low language of the men with whom he frequently associated, these were surface matters, things which, if occasion demanded, would be sloughed as a snake drops its skin. Weak though he was, and reckless though he had been when fortune was his, back of all was a fineness that those who came into anything like intimate contact with him could but notice. The lack of a mother's love and guidance, and a mistaken generosity and a subsequent obtuse insistence on the part of his father, accounted for much in the wreck he had made of everything to which he had put his hand. Born with a keen artistic sense, endowed with considerable real literary talent, his likings had always been made light of at home, and when it came to the choice of a career he had that forced upon him for which he had a positive distaste.

Then his father died; a considerable amount of money fell to him; false friends flattered and cajoled; and very soon he was penniless. His elder brother helped him to a position, but though he did his best, his apparent indifference brought about his dismissal. His sister's husband now tried to give him a lift, but the recipient soon discovered that he was a hindrance rather than an aid, and so one night, returning from his work discouraged and embittered, and being reproached by his sister for his general uselessness, he went to his room, put a few traps together, slung them upon a stout cane over his shoulder, and walked out into the darkness, from that hour a vagabond, wandering whither fancy led, now working at this or that, now begging, suffering sometimes, but not without a certain enjoyment in life, vastly happier than he had been when he felt himself dependent on, and a reproach to, those who were his nearest of kin. Such was the story of this ne'er-do-well, a story of weakness, of folly, of heedlessness, but not one of crime or of dishonor.

Having settled himself to his satisfaction under the lofty elm, Rossiter opened the bundle he had cast by his side—a dilapidated change of underwear, a pair of socks, a vest and an outing shirt—and extracted a briar-wood pipe of cheap make and a small piece of smoking-plug. From the tobacco he cut with miserly care enough to fill half the pipe-bowl, and having lighted it leaned back with a sigh of comfort. It was the first indulgence of the kind he had allowed himself for several days, and the fact that he was permitting himself to enjoy so epicurean a pleasure at this morning hour indicated that something of unusual moment was occupying his mind.

After having blown, to his intense satisfatcion, two or three fragrant clouds into the warm September air, he took from his pocket a square envelope, from which he drew a letter. This he spread out before him upon one knee. It read in this wise:

Dear Philip: I have heard from your former friend, Everson, that you have again been seen in or near Kalamanti, and I am sending this enclosed in a note to him in the hope of reaching you. For the sake of our dead father and mother, for your sake, and for the sake of us all, I want you to come back for another trial. Will you not? On the 1st of October the Evening Star passes into the hands of an acquaintance of mine, George Agnew, who intends making some sweeping changes in the staff. Recalling some sketches and skits you once wrote which received much pleasant comment, and the leanings you formerly had towards literature, which father (very unfortunately and injudiciously, I now believe) so insistently discouraged, I spoke of you to Mr. Agnew, who has very generously offered to give you a chance on the paper. October 1, as I said above, is the date when the change in management takes place, and if, by good fortune, you receive this letter, I beg that you will not allow this (perhaps last) opportunity to retrieve yourself to slip from you. I hope that you will believe me still your affectionate brother,

ARCHIBALD ROSSITER.

Midwinter Carnival at Saranac Lake Opens Auspiciously.

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., Feb. 5.—The opening of the midwinter carnival was attended by 4,550 persons. The parade eclipsed all previous ones, seventy-five floats and decorated sleighs being in line. F. H. Richardson's sleigh, decorated with yellow ribbons and chrysanthemums, filled with ladies wearing costumes of yellow, with parasols to match, and driven by a coachman in green livery, carried off the first prize, the second going to H. B. Moore, Jr.'s, decorated tandem and the third to Miss Myrtle Ayre's Roman chariot. The first prize for floats was awarded to a representation of camp life by Adirondack guides. The hockey match between Saranac Lake and Lake Placid was won by the home team by the score of 10 to 2. The match between Montreal and Huntingdon was won by the former team by the score of 2 to 1 in a hotly contested game of two twenty minute halves.

Nilason, speed and acrobatic skater, gave a ring exhibition, jumping over five barrels in a row, and W. E. Quinn cleared a standing high jump of six feet.

Oakland Racing.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 5.—Selected and Diderot were the only favorites to score at Oakland yesterday, and the bookmakers retrieved some of their losses. Autolight was plunged on to win the mile and a furlong event, but he was beaten handily by Bessie McCarthy.

New Orleans Winners.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 5.—Kilogram, Sheriff Bell and Pyrrho were the winning favorites. The latter was run up to $1,500 after his race and bought in. Weather cloudy and cool; track heavy.

THE VENEZUELA CASE.

Settlement Outside of The Hague Court Seems Probable.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Every effort is making by the representatives of the allies here to secure an early settlement of the Venezuelan dispute without referring it to The Hague. In this effort the Italian and British ambassadors and the German minister, Baron Speck von Sternburg, are receiving the indorsement of Mr. Bowen, as well as the cordial approval of the government of the United States. It is understood that the president, while in no way connected with the negotiations, is personally in favor of a final agreement being reached at Washington. This fact, it is believed, will have an important bearing on the decision of the British and German foreign offices.

The British ambassador and the German minister have both cabled to their governments the fact that Mr. Bowen has expressed his willingness to give the allies preferential treatment for three months in order that they may emerge from the controversy without injury to their honor.

The allies have not yet answered the last representations of their envoys here urging an acceptance of this plan. Advices have reached here from Berlin of an important nature, but assurances are given that they were sent prior to the submission of the last proposition and affected only a detail of the controversy. Their purport was not discouraging. It may be some days yet before a final answer reaches Washington, but all the negotiators feel hopeful of a successful outcome.

Young Murder Trial Begun.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Pleas for postponement on the ground that he was physically unable to stand trial availed William Hooper Young nothing. He was forced to trial yesterday afternoon on the charge of having murdered Anna Pulitzer last September after a number of experts had declared him well enough to stand the strain. The drawing of the jurors began immediately. And he was a miserable spectacle, whether it is considered that he was shamming or whether his misery was real. His hair was long and unkempt. His dirty beard was scraggy and misshapen. His face had the pallor of the prison. His high cheek bones stuck up like points seeking to crack the dirty white skin.

Wool Spinners' Strike Over.

NORTH VASSALBORO, Me., Feb. 5.—The trouble between the spinners and the American Woolen company at the woolen mills here has been compromised as a result of a meeting between the spinners and Manager Jealous, when mutual concessions were made. The men asked for a standard wage of $1.80 a day, but agreed to accept $1.75. They returned to work this morning. The weavers who were locked out have as yet reached no agreement.

Death of Joseph Vail.

The death of Joseph Vail occurred today at the home of his nephew, A. R. Vail, of Duer street, near Craig place. Death was caused by heart disease superinduced by an operation for a cancer of the face which was recently performed at a Newark hospital. Mr. Vail was about seventy-seven years of age and was a bachelor. He was an uncle of Charles E. Vail, the Park avenue jeweler. Death came while Mr. Vail was visiting at the home of his nephew. He was a member of the Religious Society of Friends in this city. The funeral arrangements will be completed later.

Evening at Whist.

Musical selections were also rendered during the evening. Refreshments were served at a late hour. Two new members were received into the society at last night's meeting: Mr. and Mrs. Edgar McCray.

Steel Works Burned.

The large plant of the Uniform Steel Works at Amboy Junction was set fire to last evening by lightning. The fire destroyed the machine, engine and boiler buildings before it was subdued. The damage will amount to about $50,000. Many Plainfielders saw the reflections of the fire and believed it was much nearer to this city.

Another Central Wreck.

A small wreck occurred on the New Jersey Central at Spring street, Elizabeth, yesterday morning, when an eastbound local passenger train from Dunellen ran into a freight. The passenger engine was derailed. J. L. Johnson, of Westfield, was the only man injured. Travel was delayed over an hour.

HAMILTON, N. Y., Feb. 5.—Colgate university has heretofore restricted the elective system to the two upper years in college, but at a meeting of the faculty it has been decided to extend the system through the sophomore years also. The only subjects now required of all men after the freshman year are physiology, public speaking and gymnastics. It was also provided at the same meeting that graduates of Colgate university of three years' standing whose work is specially deserving of recognition may petition the university for a master's degree in absentia, the requirements for this degree being the same as for a master's degree in residence, except taking a year longer to complete it. Work for a degree in absentia must be done under the close supervision of the heads of various departments and all examinations taken as if in the university.

RAILROAD BELIEVES DAVIS WAS AT FAULT; WITNESSES SAY EXCUSE WAS TOO MUCH STEAM

Much Evidence Along Those Lines Brought Out at Second Session of Coroner's Jury Held in City Council Rooms Yesterday Afternoon.

RAILROAD COMPANY WILL GIVE PRACTICAL DEMONSTRATION OF CONDITIONS PREVIOUS TO ACCIDENT.

Engineer Davis was to blame for running by signals. That is the view taken by Vice President and General Manager William G. Besler, of the Jersey Central Railroad, as evidenced by his testimony at the second session of the coroner's inquest held in the Council Chambers, yesterday afternoon. He couldn't see the signals on account of the steam. That is the excuse Davis offered for the wreck as he lay in fearful agony at the scene of the disaster that fateful night as he was brought out by those who heard him and testified at the inquest yesterday. Such were the results of the second day's investigation.

The session produced more important evidence that did the first. Sixteen witnesses were called and all but two, who were detained at home by illness, told their stories. The railroad's story was heard and a full explanation given to show that every precaution was taken and that there was no mistake in orders or signals.

The rest of the witnesses brought out the sayings of the dying engineer as he lay on the bank after the wreck.

As a result of a suggestion of Foreman Fisk's, the Jersey Central is going to give the jury a practical illustration of just how the signals worked on the night of the wreck. Mr. Besler expressed himself as only too glad of the opportunity to reproduce all the conditions that confronted Engineer Davis that night. This demonstration will take place tonight.

An adjournment was taken until this afternoon when Coroner Bunting said that the jury would visit the bedside of Fireman McCarthy at Muhlenberg Hospital and hear his story. The regular session was set to resume at 2 o'clock.

As on the previous occasion, Foreman Fisk played a prominent part in the questioning of the witnesses and even Coroner Bunting had something to say when Mr. Besler went on the stand. A large crowd filled the space allotted to the visitors and listened to the proceedings with much interest.

After the Coroner and Prosecutor English had held a brief conference, the roll of the jurors was called and Mr. English announced that they would proceed with the investigation.

He asked the members of the jury to make arrangements to visit the bedside of Fireman McCarthy and hear his statement. McCarthy's condition was such, he said, that after that day he could be seen without serious results.

The first witness called was Mrs. Emily J. Gluck, of Westfield. She was ill and therefore unable to be present.

Mrs. Emma Harksen, of Westfield, who played the part of a heroine at the wreck, was the second witness called. She said that the wreck occurred at 6:45 o'clock in the evening and she observed that the Easton local stopped near her house about five minutes. She saw the Philadelphia train approach, but had no idea there would be a collision. She declared that she did not hear any torpedo explode. After the accident Mrs. Harksen ran to the scene of the wreck and offered the use of her house as a temporary hospital. Fifteen injured passengers were taken there, and five of them died.

The witness said that the Philadelphia train gave no warning in advance, such as the blowing of a whistle.

John L. Derby was called but the certificate of Dr. Vail was presented stating that Derby was ill at his home and was unable to attend the inquest.

Charles Schultze, employed as station agent at Cranford, testified that when the Philadelphia train passed his depot, he noticed an unusual amount of steam escaping from the engine. He said that he saw a red lantern between track two and four, near the station, and after the train passed the telegraph operator removed it. As he did so he made some remark to him about the order board where signals are displayed and that he would have to catch him (meaning the engineer of the train) somewhere else.

Jonathan P. Glasby, of Elizabeth, a mason and builder had just passed under the arch of the Jersey Central at Elizabeth when the express went by. What attracted his attention was the cloud of steam that enveloped the locomotive and two cars. It so much impressed him that he commented on it when he reached home. In response to Foreman Fisk's questions, he said that the steam covered the engine.

John B. Eick, telegraph operator at Cranford, was the next witness called. He stated that about 6:25 the night of the wreck he received an order from the train despatcher. This order was to the effect that the Easton local was to run on the main west bound track as far as Dunellen ahead of the Philadelphia flyer. At Dunellen the express was to pass the other. He said, that as was his custom, he placed a red lantern, between tracks two and four, about five or six minutes before the Philadelphia train came along. The engineer should have stopped his train but did not and failed to receive orders.

Eick said he noticed an unusual amount of steam coming from the locomotive but not enough to obscure the engineer's vision of signals. He never knew an engineer to run by such signals before. The fact that a freight train was stalled on track four, made it necessary to run the Easton local on track two. He did not receive any orders concerning the freight train. He never had occasion to flag that express before.

Mr. Eick said that as soon as the Philadelphia train passed, he notified the train despatcher at Jersey City, that it had gone by without stopping. In reply to a question the witness said he had no authority to notify Westfield station of the fact that the train had passed him. He believed that the night in question a light could be discerned a mile.

Wm. Varson, flagman at the Broad street crossing at Westfield, told of what he observed on the night of the accident. He saw the Easton local pass by and the Philadelphia express go through a few minutes later. After the local passed he placed his red lantern on track two. He thought it could have been seen a mile. He left it there until he saw the express approaching. He then swung the lantern across the track until the express came very near.

"Why did you get off the track?" asked the Prosecutor.

"I thought it was time to be getting out of the way," the witness replied. Then he told how he stepped one side and continued to lower his light. He did not hear any torpedoes. He thought the signal light at Westfield was all right as the other one was. He had stopped lots of trains with the red light.

"Did you ever have a train fail to stop for your light?" asked the Prosecutor.

"This morning," was the prompt reply, and he told of a west bound freight that had failed to stop. These were the only two instances he could remember.

There was no signals, whistle or bell, from the express. He could not see if there was any extra amount of steam. Wm. Pierson, Leo Ladd and a man named Kline were with him at the time.

Wm. D. Pierson, of Westfield, was summoned, but did not appear. Policeman John F. Knapp, of Westfield, was then called. At the time of the wreck, he was at Broad and Elm street, Westfield. He then went to the wreck where he saw Engineer Davis lying on the ground. "I asked him if he saw the signals and he said that he saw the red light, but expected it to turn white."

The witness said that while he was walking up the tracks toward the wreck, he noticed the signals were red and green.

Homer B. Smith, of No. 6 Prospect avenue, a passenger on the Easton local, who occupied a seat in the third car from the rear, was the next witness. When the train stopped as a result of a hot journal he got off for a few minutes. Regarding the conversation between the witness and engineer, the former said:

"I first saw Engineer Davis hanging out of his cab window. As I helped carry him to the bank he said that he could not see the signals on account of the steam."

S. Arthur Krom, of West Fourth street, a maker of machinery in Newark, was one of the passengers in the fifth car from the rear on the local. He told of the stopping of the train and how it started again. First it seemed as if the brakes were suddenly put on and then the car rocked. He left the car immediately and saw the wreckage afire. Then he saw an engine cab in the rear and a man hanging by his hands from the cab. The man dropped to the ground. When he reached him the latter had started to crawl across the track. Krom helped him and the man said very emphatically and distinctly, "I told him I could not see." He repeated it twice that Krom remembered and thought it was repeated the third time. Krom saw the engineer later when they placed him in the train but he said nothing.

In reply to Mr. Fisk's questions, Mr. Krom said that there was fire directly in front of the locomotive. Mr. Gavett's questions brought that he would not consider the repairs made to the steam chest, as told by the master mechanic, at the session the day before, proper ones and that any piece of machinery repaired in that fashion would in his opinion be dangerous, especially when subjected to such pressure.

Edward McEwen, the conductor of the Philadelphia train, was the next witness. He said that his train was three minutes late leaving Jersey City. The first stop was to be Elkins, nine miles out of Philadelphia. He said that his train had always run on track No. 2. Nothing was said to him the night of the wreck about running in any but the usual way. The emergency brakes on his train were not applied to his knowledge. Regarding his conversation with Engineer Davis, the witness said:

"I said 'Jimmie, how did this occur?' He said 'I didn't see them until I was into them.' 'How was that,' I asked. 'I couldn't see for the steam,' he replied."

The statement about the train leaving Jersey City eighteen minutes late, the witness said was a mistake.

"On the way to New York from Philadelphia early in the afternoon, the engine became hot and at Trenton Junction we took engine 27 from a milk train." The witness said that trainment have the right to take an engine from a slow train if the locomotive of an express becomes disabled.

The witness said the other engineer observed that he "had a bum engine for a first-class train," but after reaching Jersey City Davis remarked that the engine had done pretty good work. No one had said anything about engine 27 being out of order. Davis was a relief engineer the day of the wreck, the conductor said.

Next was called Michael H. Meaney, of East Second street, train despatcher at Jersey City at the time of the wreck. He told of his duties which include the district between Jersey City and Somerville. He did the work alone except in case of doubt when he could call on the chief despatcher. He was on duty from 3:15 to 11:15 o'clock at night. He identified a sheet of orders presented by the Prosecutor, as the ones he issued that night. He telegraphed the order for

LIBRARY INSTITUTE BEING HELD TODAY

First Affair of Its Kind in This City—Two Sessions are Being Held.

IN ALL SOULS CHURCH

INTERESTING PAPERS READ AND ADDRESSES GIVEN.

Visitors Had Luncheon at Park Avenue Hotel and Will Convene Again This Afternoon—The Prominent Guests Present.

Although Plainfield is a favorite place for the holding of State and sectional gatherings of all sorts of organizations, no meeting of a library association has ever been held here in the past. The meeting in the interest of library work which is being held today in All Souls' church, under the auspices of the New Jersey Public Library Commission and New Jersey Library Association, is therefore something new to Plainfield, and the pretty little church has been well filled with book-lovers of this city and visitors from other nearby towns.

In the parlors of the church was an exhibit of supplies for small libraries, and a selection of D. C. Heath's books for children, very attractive little volumes on many subjects. Pamphlets on "The Right Reading for Children," compiled by Charles Welsh, telling of the children's books on exhibition, were distributed.

The morning session opened at 10:30, J. C. Dana, librarian of the Newark Public Library, presiding, and Miss Bertha S. Wildman, of the Madison Library, acting as secretary. The address of welcome was delivered by Dr. Leonard Waldo, one of the directors of the Plainfield Public Library. He not only warmly welcomed the visitors present, but gave a number of very practical hints for library work, such as having attractive editions of standard books, and providing the best possible facilities for giving the readers free access to the books.

"Can a Village Afford to Have a Public Library?" was the subject of a bright and interesting address by Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, of this city. Her answer to the question was an emphatic affirmative. She said that a library appealed to almost every class in a community, even to the woman with no greater interest than dress, who would desire to consult the fashion papers. City people would be more likely to go to a country place if there was a library there. Mrs. Hall also told how several small towns had obtained their libraries.

The general interest in this subject was shown by the open parliament which followed, in which a number of delegates from nearby towns told of the beginning and growth of their libraries.

The next address was on "How to Obtain a Library," by H. C. Buchanan, librarian of the State Library, Trenton, and secretary of the Public Library Commission. As Mr. Buchanan could not be present, his paper was read by Miss Louisa Patten, of the Plainfield Library. The paper was very clear and practical, and told plainly the various steps to be taken in starting and maintaining a free public library under municipal control.

Another address was by Miss Bertha Wildman, librarian of the Madison Public Library, on "The Small Library; How to Select Books for It and How to Make It of the Most Value." Miss Wildman gave many helpful hints on the selecion of books for a library, such as providing books for different classes of readers, buying good and up-to-date editions, and supplying books on the manufacturies carried on in the town, for those who can use them. She also presented suggestions for making the library a homelike place, and for promoting the reading of standard works.

Friends of the Plainfield Public Library gave the out-of-town delegates a luncheon at the Park Avenue Hotel, at the close of the morning session. Another session is being held this afternoon.

Cadi Lenient.

FATHER AND DAUGHTER LAID SIDE BY SIDE

Double Funeral Held From Home of Samuel Boss on Craig Place Yesterday.

BURIED AT HILLSIDE

REV. L. R. HOWARD OFFICIATED AT THE DOUBLE SERVICE.

He Was Assisted by Rev. Mr. Davis, of Lebanon—The Same Pall-Bearers for Both Caskets—Many Floral Tributes.

The funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Phillip Kirch and her father, Samuel Boss, which were held yesterday afternoon at their late residence, Craig place and Duer street, were very impressive and were largely attended by friends and relatives from this city and out of town. Rev. L. R. Howard, pastor of Hope chapel, conducted the services, assisted by Rev. Mr. Davis, pastor of the Reformed church at Lebanon.

The funeral was held at 3 o'clock. In the front parlor of the house lay the caskets of father and daughter. Flowers, a rich profusion of them, filled the room with their sweet odors. Among them were a set piece sent as a tribute from Warren Engine Company and another from the Knights of the Golden Eagle, of which the bereaved husband was a member. There were numerous bouquets of flowers from numerous friends of both the father and the daughter.

After the service the remains of the daughter were tenderly borne down the front steps of the house to the waiting hearse and as that moved on a second one drove up and the casket bearing the remains of the father was tenderly carried out of the house. The pall bearers were the same for each casket and were John C. Hayans, of Anandale; Rowland Randolph, of Newark; J. J. Stahl, George H. Fairchild, C. E. A. Heywood and John P. Powers. During the services Mr. Randolph sang "Lead Kindly Light" and "The Home Land."

It was a long line of carriages which followed the the two hearses to Hillside cemetery where the interment will take place today, where father and daughter will lie side by side.

MEMORIAL MEETING.

Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards Was the Chief Speaker at Service in Memory of Miss Rachel Mair.

Under the auspices of the King's Foreign Mission Society, a service in memory of Miss Rachael G. Mair, who died while engaged in African mission work, was held in Warren chapel, last evening. It was directly in charge of Rev. J. O. McKelvey and the speaker was Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards, former pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church.

Traversing a eulogistic train of thought he referred in many ways to Miss Mair's heroic devotion to her work and her untiring efforts in behalf of Warren chapel. He spoke also of the work being accomplished by the society connected with the chapel and urged that it be continued.

Before and after the service, two piano solos were rendered by Theodore Phillips.

SHERIFF WANTS COUNTY JAIL

Made a Formal Demand of Union County Board of Freeholders at Its Meeting.

LEFT TO THE COMMITTEE

Sheriff Coriell Has Followed Example Set by Essex County's Sheriff, and Demands Control of the County Jail—It May Mean a Hard Fight.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Feb. 5—Following the example of the sheriff of Essex county, Sheriff B. Frank Coriell, of Plainfield, presented a demand at the meeting of the Union county Board of Freeholders yesterday afternoon for the charge of the county jail. It was by far the most important business of the meeting and promises to make considerable excitement before it is settled.

After receiving the demand, the Freeholders referred it jointly to the committee on jail inspection, of which Wm. A. Westphal, of Plainfield, is chairman, and the committee on public buildings, of which Thomas Farrell, of Rahway, is chairman. There was no comment on it.

Sheriff Coriell's demand was as follows:

Sheriff's Office.
Elizabeth, N. J.,
Jan. 31, 1903.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union.

Gentlemen: Your attention is directed to a decision recently rendered by the Supreme Court of this State in the case of George Virtue, sheriff and etc, prosecutor, vs. the Board of Freeholders of the County of Essex, defendants. In the opinion of the court, filed in that case, reference is made to the several acts under which the Board of Freeholders have claimed the right to the custody of the county jail, including the act under which your honorable Board now claims the right to the care of the jail of this county and the prisoners therein.

After reviewing the same and the legality thereof, the court says: "We conclude therefore that the various statutes which have been referred to so far as they deprive the sheriffs of the custody of the common jail of their respective counties, and of the prisoners confined therein, and placed it in the hands of Boards of Freeholders, are inoperative and void." Your attention is especially directed to this opinion which was filed in the office of the Clerk of said court, November 15, 1901. It is apparent upon the reading of this opinion that I, as Sheriff of the county of Union, am not only entitled to the care of the county jail and the custody of the prisoners therein, but to receive the emoluments, fees and rewards appertaining thereto, and also that it is my duty as a public officer to take charge of the jail and the prisoners and to perform such duties with respect thereto as are imposed on me by law.

Your attention is also directed to the provisions of the act entitled, "An act to regulate the custody of the county jails and the prisoners therein," approved March 23, 1900, (See P. L. 1900 page 474). And you are hereby respectfully notified that I shall and do take the custody, rule, keeping and charge of the county jail within the county of Union.

I therefore respectfully request that your honorable Board deliver up to me the care and custody of said jail and the prisoners confined therein in order that I may properly proceed to discharge the duties of my office.

Yours respectfully,
B. Frank Coriell,
Sheriff of Union county, N. J.

There was some other business done at the session. A request came from the Lackawanna Railroad for removal of a bridge at Summit. Rahway wanted a new bridge over the Rahway river. In the absence of Director J. Frank Hubbard, Major Benjamin King, of Clark township, was made director pro tem.

Making Progress.

The progress being made in rebuilding the Babcock building is now beginning to show very well. The contractors are hustling the work along and barring accidents should have it completed before real warm weather arrives.

KNOCKED HER DOWN TO ROB

Mrs. Von Twistern Nearly Brained in Lunch Room at Dunellen by Colored Man.

THEN MADE HIS ESCAPE

After Robbing the Money Drawer of $6—Used Whiffletree of Wagon as a Club—Used it When Her Back Was Turned—Mrs. Von Twistern Seriously Injured.

A bold attempt to rob a woman and her store at the Dunellen terminus of the local trolley line was made last night by a lone colored man. He succeeded in almost brafning the woman and helped himself to the money drawer in which was about $6.

The attempt was made at about 10 o'clock when there were no cars at the place. The fellow stepped into the little lunch room conducted by Mrs. Peter VonTwistern and ordered a cup of coffee. While the store keeper was engaged in getting some milk for her customer he drew from his coat a large club which was part of a whiffle-tree with which he struck Mrs. VonTwistern over the head. The woman was dazed for a minute and in the interval he climbed over the counter and took the money drawer.

A man named Kelly was driving along the road from Dunellen and saw a colored man run past his carriage. Shortly afterwards he heard the woman's screams. He turned his carriage in pursuit but the fellow took to the fields and was soon lost to view.

Kelly made his way to the store and found the woman bleeding profusely from a long gash in the back of her head and screaming hysterically. Dr. Brakeley, of Dunellen, was called in and took a stitch in the wound. The woman, while in a serious condition, is not considered fatally injured. Her husband conducts a small store at Westfield.

CAMERA CLUB WON.

Its Whist Four Defeated Newark Bay Boat Club for the Metropolitan Trophy.

The whist four of the Plainfield Camera Club has again been successful in defending the Metropolitan trophy which was won from the Brooklyn Whist Club a week ago. Last evening the Newark Bay Boat Club team came to Plainfield in an effort to win the trophy. They were unsuccessful, being defeated by the Plainfield team by a score of 18 to 10. The Plainfield team comprised A. F. Freeman, F. H. Freeman, Ralph T. Willis and W. J. R. Hegeman, Jr., while Messrs. Bettes, Christy, Seeman and Ellsworth represented the Newark Bay Boat Club. The Jersey City Club is next on the list of challengers and that team will come to Plainfield next week Thursday. At present the Brooklyn Whist Club has eleven wins and the Cosmopolitan Club, of New York, ten wins for the trophy. Fifteen wins are necessary for permanent ownership.

Notable Meeting.

The men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon promises to be a notable one. Hugh P. Monroe, a well-known speaker, and manager of the Niagra Lithographing Company will address the men of this city on an interesting topic and Miss Cromwell, of Cranford, will sing.

Another Company.

In mentioning policies paid to the relatives of Harold Tomlinson and Edgar Williams, yesterday, The Press was in error in stating that it was the Mutual Life Insurance Company. It should have been the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company, of Newark.

Case Dismissed.

The case between Mrs. Charles Frey, of Somerset street, against Mrs. Jung, a neighbor, was dismissed last night by Recorder Doud in the borough court.

To Initiate Three.

Benevolent Council, No. 256, Jr. O. U. A. M., will meet this evening and initiate three new members into the mysteries of the order.

While making an effort to offer one of the best stocks obtainable, the Rogers' Seafood Company also gives its patrons green trading stamps. This makes it all the more to the advantage of Plainfielders to deal with this popular firm, as it has a reputation for honest methods.

Anticipating a demand for fresh vegetables and fruit at this season, T. L. Walsh, of North avenue, comes to the fore with as large and nice a variety as it is possible to find in the city. He selects his own goods and sells low for cash. Deliveries are made promptly without cost.

Seldom, if ever, has there been a better opportunity of securing bargains than those now being offered by the New York Bargain store on West Front street. Shoes, clothing and rubbers, including a fine assortment of neckwear for men and women, are among the goods marked down.

Powers' Honey of Coltsfoot and Tar, the well-known remedy for coughs and colds is to be had only at the Somerset pharmacy, at the corner of Craig place and Somerset street. Toilet articles are to be found at this drug store and the line of perfumes is the best to be found in the town.

A few moments' consideration now in regard to the condition of residential grounds may repay ten fold by summer. Contracts can be placed at once with the Bellview Nursery for the laying out of walks, drives, etc., with the best of plants, trees and shrubbery. A postal will bring a representative.

Hill & Shupp are making great preparations for a spring trade and already the firm is beginning to receive daily shipments of goods. They will display all the latest weaves in the best quality at the lowest market prices. The suiting department will also be a strong feature, as well as the housefurnishing goods department. The Easy Pill.

DeWitt's Little Early Risers do not gripe nor weaken the system. They cure biliousness, jaundice, constipation and inactive livers, by arousing the secretions, moving the bowels gently, yet effectually, and giving such tone and strength to the glands of the stomach, liver and bowels that the cause of the trouble is removed entirely. These famous little pills exert a decided tonic effect upon the organs involved, and if their use is continued for a few days there will be no return of the trouble. L. W. Randolph.

Cleaned Out Brook.

The heavy downpour of rain Wednesday evening caused Green brook to rise several inches in a very few minutes and for a time it looked as though there would be a deluge. The water rapidly receded, however, and it was at its normal level yesterday morning. The brook was flushed out and the debris which had accumulated on the banks was washed away.

Garments for Children's Home.

The Woman's Association of the Congregational church held an all-day sewing meeting at the church, yesterday, making garments for the Children's Home. At noon the women had luncheon at the church.

The New York Herald of April 20, 1902, says:

"Today science affirms—

"Not only that the banana is twenty-five times as nutritious as the given weight of wheat, but, also; that it is 144 times as prolific. Thus fruit conquers over the cereal, Honduras over South Dakota, and famine promises to be forever banished from the face of the earth.

"Bananas have forty-four times the nutriment of potatoes, the staple food of many northern countries of Europe, and thirty times that of rice, the main item on the daily board of more than a billion people on the globe."

STRIKE WILL GO ON

All Efforts to Settle Waterbury Trouble Fail.

DEMANDS OF TROLLEY MEN REJECTED

Company Offers to Take Back Twenty-five of the Eighty Strikers. Outside Military Companies Sent Home.

WATERBURY, Conn., Feb. 6.—After a session lasting an hour and a half the conferrees who met in an attempt to arrange a settlement of the trolley strike parted with a settlement of the difficulty as far away apparently as ever. The representatives of the strikers and of the Connecticut Railway and Lighting company found themselves entirely at variance, and when the conference ended the executive committee of the trolley men's union announced that they would recommend in their report to the union that the strike be continued.

The conference was held in the aldermanic chamber in the city hall. It was brought about through the efforts of Mayor Kilduff, assisted by City Clerk Ryan and a New Haven citizen, John H. Dillon, who has taken much interest in the strike situation. Besides the gentlemen named there were present Colonel Burpee, attorney for the Connecticut Railway and Lighting company; the executive committee of the striking trolley men's union and the executive committee of the Central Labor union.

During the session Colonel Burpee said that the company would take back about twenty-five of the eighty men on strike if they desired to return to work, but could not promise places for more in fairness to the men who are now running the cars. The strikers flatly declined to return under these conditions.

Mayor Kilduff and the two executive committees of the union men said that the trolley men would agree to drop the demand for the reinstatement of Kelley and Barrett, two of the men discharged by the company, provided that all the other strikers could have their old places at the increased rate of wages and the hours of labor asked for in their original demands.

To this request Colonel Burpee replied that he could not accede. He said he had no authority to make any increase in the pay from the board of directors and that the reinstatement of Barrett and Kelley was entirely out of the question. He could promise that twenty-five men would be returned to work, but the others would have to wait for vacancies.

Long discussion failed to change the position of either side in any respect, and the conference broke up without arriving at the happy result which many citizens had looked for with sanguine confidence. The news of the failure to come to an agreement was hailed with general regret about town.

Reports from all the car lines show that everything is quiet and that there have been no serious disturbances during the past twenty-four hours.

A special train conveyed the Second regiment companies to New Haven this morning. With the five New Haven companies went the second section, brigade signal corps, under Lieutenant Hotchkiss, and the second section, machine gun battery. This leaves only the two Waterbury companies as the military force under Brigadier General Frost's direction. The police force, increased by the addition of a number of special men, and a posse of about seventy-five deputies under Sheriff Dunham will be largely relied on to preserve the peace.

Meeting of Republican Editors.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—The annual national convention of delegates from the Republican State Editorial associations in the United States has been called to meet at the Arlington hotel, in this city, on Thursday and Friday, Feb. 26 and 27, by A. O. Bunnell, editor of the Dansville (N. Y.) Advertiser, secretary of the national association. The convention will be welcomed to Washington in an address by Senator Depew, who will also give the delegates a reception at his residence on the evening of Thursday, Feb. 26. At the business session there will be informal talks by Senator Hanna and Perry S. Heath of the Salt Lake Tribune, secretary of the Republican national committee.

An Important Postal Change.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—The postoffice appropriation bill passed by the house contains an important provision that has not attracted much attention. It provides that hereafter postoffices shall accept for transmission in the mails quantities of not less than 2,000 identical pieces of third or fourth class matter without postage stamps affixed, provided that the postage is fully prepaid. This action was recommended strongly by Third Assistant Postmaster General Madden in the interest of economy to the government and to the business public.

Pretender's Escape Confirmed.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—The correspondent of the Morning Leader at Tangier telegraphs that the escape of the pretender Bu Hamara is confirmed. It is announced, says the correspondent, that the American missionaries will start for Fez today. Some apprehension exists regarding their safety.

A Singular Accident.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., Feb. 6.—Frank Jenks of Buffalo, accompanying the bodies of his wife and baby to their former home at Holley, fell off the platform of a car at Sawyer's creek. He was brought here unconscious and can hardly recover. The bodies were taken on to Holley.

ADDICKS GETS OUT.

Action Causes Sensation at Delaware Capital.

CANDIDATE FOR SENATOR SINCE 1895

One of the Most Remarkable Political Fights on Record—Three Sessions of the Legislature Deadlocked.

DOVER, Del., Feb. 6.—The sudden announcement that J. Edward Addicks had withdrawn from the candidacy for United States senator, which he has urged so persistently since 1895, created an immense sensation.

The belief is general that the refusal of the United States senate to confirm United States District Attorney William M. Byrne had the effect of bringing about Mr. Addicks' withdrawal. The Union Republican choice for senator in place of Addicks will probably be Governor Hunn or Secretary of State Layton. State Senator Allee, the Addicks leader, has repeatedly declared that he would not accept the United States senatorship.

Mr. Addicks arrived here from Wilmington about 1 o'clock yesterday, going direct to the capitol. He was ushered into the parlor of the statehouse, where all of the twenty-one Union Republican members of the legislature were assembled to meet him, together with Secretary of State Layton and Insurance Commissioner Marshall. The assemblymen received Mr. Addicks with cheers, and he appeared deeply moved by the heartiness of the greeting. Immediately after Mr. Addicks arrived Governor John Hunn, who is called the peacemaker in Delaware politics, entered the parlor.

After the door had been closed those outside heard frequent bursts of applause, and the rumor became general around the capitol that Mr. Addicks was about to withdraw from the most remarkable political fight in the history of this country, a fight which has deadlocked three sessions of the legislature and split the Republican party into factions.

This rumor was confirmed soon after 2 o'clock, when the caucus adjourned.

The caucus requested by the Union Republicans did not take place last night. A majority of the regular Republican members of the legislature left for their homes without informing the Addicks adherents as to whether they would participate in a caucus today.

The withdrawal of Addicks leaves the senatorial muddle in a peculiar situation. If the regular Republicans do not accept the proposition of the twenty-one union Republicans for a general Republican caucus, then Addicks again becomes a candidate. If they do accept it, it is believed they will have no chance to name a senator from their own faction for the reason that the Addicks Republicans will force the unit rule, claiming the right of the majority to select the caucus nominees. Meantime the Democrats, eager to defeat Addicks, may induce the regulars to accept the proposition to support two men selected by the regulars. The Democrats voted down this proposition last evening, but if they believe the regulars are going to accept the union offer they may reconsider and offer the regulars their votes for Dupont and Higgins or Richards.

Ex-Senator Dawes Dead.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Jan. 6.—The death has occurred here of Hon. Henry L. Dawes, for many years United States senator from Massachusetts. He was eighty-six years of age. While Mr. Dawes was active in many directions during his term in congress, he gained his most enduring reputation for his work in behalf of the Indians. The entire system of Indian education due to legislation was created by Mr. Dawes. Among the important bills of his authorship passed were the severalty bill, the Sioux bill and the bill making Indians subject to and protected by our criminal laws.

Forty New Fever Cases.

ITHACA, N. Y., Feb. 6.—Forty new cases of typhoid fever and one death were reported to the city health authorities yesterday. The total number of cases is now 340. Dr. C. F. Curtis of the state board of health is here investigating the situation. He agrees with the city authorities that the cause of the epidemic is the city water supply. Water for drinking purposes at present is being brought to Ithaca from wells in surrounding towns. Many of the fever patients are students at Cornell university.

February 8—Hugh R. Monro will speak and Miss M. H. Cromwell, of Cranford, will sing at the Y. M. C. A. meeting at 4 o'clock.

THE CORONER'S JURY.

All interest now centres in the finding of the coroner's jury. With six men of such prominence on it, there is a general feeling that the jury ought to get to the bottom of the subject and fix the responsibility where it belongs. The public has all sorts of ideas as to the cause but until something definite is known, this public sentiment is not apt to have much real force. There seems a general feeling that something ought to be done but the proper remedy is rather shadowy.

Everybody, who has attended any of the sessions of the coroner's jury, feels that Former Mayor Charles J. Fisk, is the right man in the right place. If this investigation is a successful one, as it ought to be, there can be no doubt that Mr. Fisk is entitled to much of the credit for it. He has taken an intelligent interest in the proceedings and his questions have been productive of results fully equal to those of the County Prosecutor. Mr. Fisk seems to see just what is needed and his questions have always gone right at the heart of the matter.

New Jersey's first Library Institute is now in session in this city. It is an honor that Plainfielders should appreciate that this city was chosen as the meeting place for the first one of its kind. It will be an important event to the libraries of the State and should result in a decided advancement of that work.

Tuesday afternoon is the time set for the hearing before the Senate committee on the repealers to the annexation and consolidation acts. It will be held in the State House at Trenton. Every citizen who objects to having his rights legislated away from him should try to be on hand on that occasion.

Brooks, Miss Emily Tracy and Miss Cook.

Preparing Ministers.

An interesting meeting was held Wednesday evening at the Grace M. E. church. A paper was read by Miss Mary Steiner on "The Educational Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church." The paper was a comprehensive one and proved to be very interesting. She explained that the society was organized for the purpose of assisting young men to prepare for the ministry.

SECOND SESSION OF THE JURY

train 13 to Elizabeth at 6:14. He sent the same order for train 621 to Cranford at 6:25. He sent the order to the express at Cranford in preference to Elizabeth as there is a sharp curve just before reaching Elizabeth and another train following might come along not expecting to find the express there, and have trouble in stopping. He received word from Cranford at 6:30, telling of train 621 running by the signal. It might have been delayed a moment. He called Westfield without the loss of a moment but by the time he got Westfield at 6:39½, the express was passing. He made the remark that train 621 had run by Cranford and he had failed to catch it at Westfield. His reason for sending the local on track two was that track four was occupied by a working train which was stalled. He had asked the Westfield operator where 621 was and the reply was "passing." If the reply has been "N. Y." he would have sent word to stop. While the railroad depended on the block signal system the orders were sent out as an extra precaution. These orders are not given out until the last moment so there shall be no opportunity to forget.

"Was there anything you could have done in the despatcher's office that would have prevented this accident?" asked Foreman Fisk.

"No, I did everything in my power," was the reply.

It was a rule of the company, Mr. Meaney explained, not to issue orders for a move at an unnecessary distance from it. No one except himself had a right to tell Engineer Davis that he had a clean track and he did not.

In reply to the Prosecutor's questions, Meaney said his was a busy position but he was not overworked.

The most important witness of the day was Wm. G. Besler, of this city, vice president and general manager of the Jersey Central Railroad. He first told of the electro-pneumatic block signals and how they are operated. Then he explained the location of the block signals in the neighborhood of the wreck. A large tracing of the railroad tracks near Westfield was used to explain the operation of the signals. Mr. Besler said that when he reached the ground, about an hour after the accident, the signals were in proper condition. There was a man on the passing east bound train who was in the signal department and he examined the signals at once. Mr. Besler promised to produce him as soon as possible.

Regarding the duty of an engineer to stop when the signal showed red, Mr. Besler said that he must know the signal was white before passing, and that if he ran by, he would be dismissed. Other railroads, including the Pennsylvania, depended entirely on the block signals, Mr. Besler explained, but the Central used the orders as an extra precaution. Davis had been examined as to color blindness on February 2, 1902, and passed a test in an excellent manner.

"How do you account for it?" asked the Prosecutor.

"I don't account for it," replied the witness.

Foreman Fisk asked Mr. Besler if he would be willing to give the jury a practical demonstration with an engine and a train.

"I will gladly reproduce all the conditions," said Mr. Besler. "Except the crash" urged Juror Woodhull. Mr. Besler also gladly agreed to have engine 26, mate to engine 27, so the jury could look at it if the engine was anywhere so that it could be brought here. Mr. Besler said that he would give the practical demonstration this evening.

Then followed numerous questions from the Prosecutor, Foreman Fisk and Coroner Bunting regarding the rules governing the operation of the road. Mr. Besler declared that he believed the flagman of the Easton local did his duty. He did not think it necessary, under the conditions at the time, for the flagman to have placed torpedoes on the track.

"Who do you believe is to blame for this accident?" asked the Prosecutor.

"I believe that the engineer is the man who caused the accident," responded Mr. Besler. The Prosecutor asked if he thought if torpedoes had been placed on the track and they had exploded, if the wreck would have occurred. "That is simply a matter for conjecture," said Mr. Besler. Regarding the beating of the cars, Mr. Besler said that the two rear cars had stoves and the third car a Baker steam heater. Several names were called to Mr. Besler's attention but he did not remember them as ever having been in the employ of the company as engineers or ever having been discharged.

Wm. S. Armstrong, 564 Monroe avenue, Elizabeth, was the next witness.

He was an engineer on the New Jersey Central for seventeen years. He was crippled and has done nothing since. He said that he had seen steam escape to such extent that an engineer could see nothing. He testified that his vision on various runs had been obscured by escaping steam.

The witness said that if an engineer stopped on the road to repair his engine he would soon get a letter from headquarters. He said that an engineer should stop to repair a leaky injector. Some engines, Mr. Armstrong said, could be run five miles without attention but there are many things that would interfere with the proper working of an injector.

Geo. A. Smeltzer, of Philadelphia, who is roundhouse foreman for the Reading Company, at Third and Berks streets, was called to tell what he knew about engine 27, of the Philadelphia train. He related in detail the necessary repairs reported to him, and said that they were made accordingly. The witness had reported to him on January 7 the defect in the steam chest, and he followed the engine closely. In his opinion the injectors worked all right in the morning of the day she was wrecked.

NEGOTIATIONS OFF.

Representatives of Allies Reject Bowen's Offices.

DESIRE THE PRESIDENT TO ACT.

If He Declines to Arbitrate, the Venezuelan Question Will Go to The Hague Tribunal For Settlement.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Irritated by the note of Minister Bowen, Venezuela's representative, addressed to the British ambassador on Monday last, refusing to accept the allies' proposal for a scheme of preferential payments by which Great Britain, Germany and Italy were to receive 20 per cent and the remaining eight creditor nations 10 per cent of the customs receipts of La Guayra and Porto Cabello, the allied powers have instructed their representatives here to submit the question of preferential treatment for settlement to President Roosevelt and in the event that he declines to act as arbiter to take this and possibly the entire Venezuelan controversy to The Hague for settlement, thereby breaking off negotiations with Mr. Bowen.

Announcement of the decision of the allies to abandon further negotiations with Mr. Bowen has not been received with surprise by the few officials of the Washington government who have been advised of it. "The Hague tribunal," said an official of the administration, "has all along been kept in sight as a port of safety in case the negotiations here were not productive of a final settlement, and as for the suggestion that the president act as arbiter that has been a favorite idea of the allies since the beginning of the trouble."

Whether President Roosevelt will accept this invitation of the allies is not known. An official of the administration expressed his surprise that the allies would be willing to submit this question to the president in view of the fact that their representatives within the last few days have informed them by cable that the president views with disfavor the contention of the allies for preferential treatment.

There is the best authority for the statement that neither Great Britain nor Germany is desirous of submitting its case to The Hague.

The instructions received by the British ambassador are not quite clear as to the alternative to be pursued in the event that the president declines to act as arbiter of the question of priority payments. It is not known whether the protocol which will then be drawn up with Mr. Bowen will provide for a reference of the entire case to The Hague or whether the allies are willing to stick by what they have secured here and will consent to have The Hague arbitrate the one question of preferential treatment. The drafting of a protocol bill, it is expected, will occupy some time, but it is the understanding that upon the submission of the matter either to the president or The Hague the blockade is to be raised at once.

Soft Coal Miners Offered a Raise.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 6.—The soft coal miners of Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and western Pennsylvania have been offered an advance in wages for the ensuing year by the operators that for the most part will be 12 per cent. As a settlement of the wage scale in this district is the basis on which all the other districts make a settlement, the proposition can be said to be to the soft coal miners of the country. The offer has not yet been accepted, as the miners are holding to a flat differential between pick and machine mined coal and are demanding that the price of machine mined coal be advanced the same number of cents as the operators offer on pick mined coal.

Fatal Explosion of Cartridges.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 6.—Peter McCallaghan, an employee of the United States arsenal at Frankford, a suburb, was blown to atoms and Joseph Hunter, another employee, was severely injured by the explosion of detonating cartridges. Ida Hall, a young woman, was cut by flying glass while seated in her home. More than 100 panes of glass were shattered by the explosion. McCallaghan was conveying the cartridges from the arsenal to the railroad station in a wagon, and the man, horse and wagon were torn to fragments. The arsenal was not damaged.

Brazil to Occupy Acre.

RIO JANEIRO, Feb. 6.—The Brazilian government has decided on the military occupation of Acre. Diplomatic relations with Bolivia, however, are not interrupted. Brazil has decided to act in the Acre question because President Pando of Bolivia proposes to continue negotiations while at the same time marching upon Acre. The Brazilian government has ordered General Callabo, with the troops stationed in the northern region, to start immediately for Acre.

Birds Thick In the "North Woods."

PORT HENRY, N. Y., Feb. 6.—From every section of the Adirondacks come reports of large numbers of summer birds and large flocks of robins being seen daily at several different places. Old woodsmen say that they never before saw these birds so numerous at this season of the year.

Big Gold Certificates on Demand.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Secretary Shaw, replying to an inquiry from the subtreasury at New York, has decided that gold certificates of the $10,000 denomination may be issued to individuals and institutions on demand, as well as to national banks upon the deposit of gold coin.

STATEHOOD AND POLYGAMY.

Several Senators Discuss the Problem—Antitrust Bill Debate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Discussion of the statehood bill in the senate yesterday turned on the question of polygamy. A number of senators who heretofore have taken no part in the debate participated in the discussion. Mr. Gallinger (N. H.), replying to some statements made by Mr. McComas (Md.), said that he was in favor of an amendment to the statehood bill covering the question of polygamy as strongly and firmly as possible.

The influence of the Mormon church over politics occupied a large share of the debate. Mr. Hale characterized the debate as interesting, valuable and startling, because it had disclosed a powerful religious organization, "exerting itself as a dominant potential force" over the minds and actions of its followers, which should be taken into account in future legislation. Mr. Kean, who had intended continuing his remarks begun on Wednesday in opposition to the bill, yielded the floor so often during the day that before he resumed the senate went into executive session and adjourned a few minutes afterward.

The antitrust bill debate which opened in the house did not develop much animation, although there was a fairly large attendance in the galleries. The rule under which the house was to operate, however, precipitated a lively discussion. The Democrats protested vigorously against the rule for consideration of the bill because it did not permit them to secure a record vote on a substitute, but the Republicans replied that they were willing to accept the responsibility.

The bill to expedite antitrust prosecutions occasioned no debate. It passed the house, as it did the senate Wednesday, without a word of debate.

The postoffice appropriation bill was passed before the trust bills were taken up. The death of Mr. Moody (N. C.) was announced at the close of the session, and out of respect to his memory the house adjourned.

Famous Singer Killed by a Fall.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 6.—William Paull of London, leading baritone of the Castle Square Opera company, showing at the Century theater here, is dead as the result of a fall from a sixth story window of the Southern hotel. His skull was fractured, and his left arm was broken. When picked up on the pavement, Paull was unconscious. He was taken back to his room in the hotel, where he died soon after. The singer was leaning from the window, when he is supposed to have lost his balance. He plunged out head foremost, striking the telegraph wires opposite the second story window. These broke his fall, but did not save his life. At the time of Mr. Paull's first appearance here with the Castle Square Opera company two years ago he was married to Miss Ethel Gordon of Sydney, Australia. Miss Gordon three years previously was a member of the same company with Mr. Paull in Australia and came 13,000 miles to meet her affianced.

Historic Ground Sold.

DUBLIN, Feb. 6.—The historic Hill of Tara has been sold at auction and realized the sum of $18,500. The purchaser was a lady whose name was not announced. Until the sixth century Tara was the chief seat of the Irish kings, and a pillar six feet high is still pointed out as the coronation stone. Then it was also the Druids' headquarters and the site of King Cormack's splendid court. The last important gathering on the Hill of Tara was in 1843, when a gigantic meeting was held there under the auspices of Daniel O'Connell, who urged the repeal of the union.

Reception to Congressmen.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—President and Mrs. Roosevelt gave their annual reception in honor of congress last night. It was the third of the series of formal receptions of the season, and over 1,900 guests were present. Those invited to the blue room included the members of the cabinet and their ladies, members of the supreme court, the senate, the admiral of the navy, army and navy officers and representatives of official and resident society.

Student Riots at Naples.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—A dispatch from Rome published in the Morning Leader reports that serious rioting has occurred among the students of the Naples university in consequence of an unpopular government regulation. The professors have been maltreated, the windows of the university smashed and a bonfire made of the furniture. On the troops being summoned the students fled. The university is now closed.

Bond Conversion Allowable.

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 6.—The court of errors and appeals has unanimously reversed the decision of Vice Chancellor Emery which enjoined the United States Steel corporation from converting $200,000,000 worth of its 7 per cent preferred stock into 5 per cent second mortgage bonds. There is now no legal impediment to the steel corporation carrying out its plan unless the case should be appealed to the United States supreme court.

Dynamite Thawers Killed.

ROANOKE, Va., Feb. 6.—While several men were engaged in thawing a lot of dynamite at the Grabb mines, fifteen miles from Roanoke, an explosion occurred. P. W. Wellford and Palmer Keller were instantly killed and L. F. Raynee was fatally injured. Wellford leaves a widow and several children. The other men were unmarried.

A GIRL'S LIFE.

And How It May Be Made Easier For Her.

"It seems to me life might be made easier for a girl," sighed Mrs. Brown. Her life had certainly not been an easy one, filled as it was with foolish mistakes from beginning to end, including a most unhappy married existence and a divorce.

"If some one, my mother for instance, had taken the trouble to give me a few practical talks showing me what life really was, I might have been saved a good deal of trouble, but she believed that a girl's mind should be kept a delightful and poetic blank—'sweetly innocent,' she termed it. I was taught accomplishments and how to dress, and, yes, how to smirk and be an ingenuous little hypocrite, and the one aim of my existence was to make a brilliantly wealthy match and justify my mother's careful hothouse training of me. Even the books I was given to read were of the 'then they were married and lived happily after' order, giving one the false idea that life stopped at matrimony and that existence thereafter was a sort of peaceful dream. Oh, sorrow! Why, it only began then. And when in the midst of all my troubles I tried to remember some one maxim, some bit of advice which would help me out, there wasn't a thing that would fit the case, and I had puzzled it all out myself. A nice mess I made of it. Now that I know life it is too late."

"Yes," wearily assented the older woman she was talking to. "Of course there are some things which one can only learn by experience, but there are lots of others—fundamentals and rudiments, as it were—that could just as well be given to us from the start, both in order to spare time and pain."

"If I had a child," Mrs. Brown went on, "which it was just as well I didn't, as things turned out, I am pretty sure I would bring her up on pure, straight logic. I wouldn't so much tell her not to do things because they were wicked as because they were downright foolish and bound to cause her untold pain and inconvenience in the end. The old time doctrine that woman was made to suffer and that she must bow her head with all due meekness is just about exploded. Woman is finding out that if she suffers she has mostly her own sweet self or some parent with antiquated notions to blame for it. The very first thing I should teach my child would be to control her nerves. Nerves pure and simple are the cause of nearly all the troubles, real or imagined, of my tormented sex. Men are encouraged to be stoics. Even their reading helps them to that end from the story of the little Spartan boy with the fox to the tales of adventure or war. Girls who, heaven knows, need stoicism much more than the boys are fed on morbid romances or soul dissecting Sunday school stories. Why should a girl be encouraged to cry more than a boy? The first thing one says to a boy is, 'Brace up and be a man!' The natural thing to a girl is: 'Have a good cry, dear. It will do you good and help you get it over with.' Absurd! In other words, lay the foundation for a senseless habit just because you are a woman and make yourself weak for life. I should try all in my power to make my daughter as brave as any man; then I should teach her the true meaning and beauty of life and the common sense of it. I would impress on her the value of good friends and show her how to distinguish the real from the false. I would illustrate from the lives of the people around us. I would impress her with the necessity of having a doctrine of cheerfulness and of downright pluck. Above all, without making her conceited, I would give her an honest pride in herself, and this would make her so strong it would be next to her very instinct of life, for when a girl has that pride strong enough it is bound to bring her around successfully in the end.

"Then I should impress her with the truth that, while love is a great thing in this world, it is not all; that one is put into this world to cultivate one's talents and make the most of them. I should arouse her interest in something more than the social game; should encourage her to cultivate her strongest gift; if possible, make her financially independent through this.

"Above all, I would teach her to be simple, wholesome and direct, avoiding self consciousness—that bane of woman—neither running after people, men or women, nor, on the other hand, neglecting them. And I think," she concluded, with a sigh, "I should have saved her much heartache and much foolishness."

A Knight of the Highway

"It's mighty good of Archie," commented the wanderer, "a blamed sight too good! I don't deserve it. I'd probably make a mess of it, just as I have of everything else but this," and he glanced down at his worn and dusty shoes, and at his faded and weather-stained garb. "And yet—well, it's what I always used to think I'd like, and here I am more than half way there."

When his brother's missive had been handed to him two weeks previous he had been upon the point of turning south. Instead he set his face eastward, not with a definite idea of falling in with what his brother had proposed, but with that possibility in view. Now, after having had the past so vividly brought before him by his unforeseen tarry in Illica, after having experienced emotions that he had fancied belonged almost totally to a different environment, he was more strongly moved than ever thus to challenge fate.

But the old weakness, the hesitancy, the dislike of responsibility, fostered by his roving life was not lightly to be overcome; so he lay and debated. Against his undoubted desire to redeem himself, a desire which was gradually strengthening, rose the consciousness of former failure, and also the undeniable fascination his present existence had come to have for him. Half an hour slipped away, an hour, and it was mid-morning. The heat increased, and the reclining man grew drowsy.

Vaguely, as in a dream, he marked two figures cross his angle of vision and follow the river bank to a point not many rods from where he was lying. He saw these persons begin to divest themselves of their clothes, commented to himself that they were going for a swim, and here his scarcely aroused curiosity ceased. He closed his eyes and presently lost consciousness. Twenty minutes had elapsed when a scream rent the quiet air, a sharp, boyish cry of terror. At the second outcry, louder and shriller than the first, Rossiter sat up. A naked form was leaping wildly about upon the river bank, with one terrified shriek after another. To Rossiter's ears the shouts now resolved themselves into—

"Help! help!"

The awakened man was on his feet in an instant. In such an emergency as this his habitual indecision did not show itself. Off went his cap, coat and shoes, and away he sprang over the sward towards the distraught figure. He was naturally fleet of foot and his muscles were hard from hundreds of leagues of tramping.

The youth, for such Rossiter saw the shouter to be, grew more frantic as he realized that aid was approaching, turning first towards the stream and then in the direction from which assistance was coming.

"Oh, quick! be quick!" he cried, but now his voice seemed to fail him, and he did little more than utter a series of incoherent sounds.

Once within view of the river, Rossiter was not slow to grasp the situation. In mid-stream was a bather,

ROSSITER WAS NOT SLOW TO GRASP THE SITUATION.

who, by a spasmodic action of one hand, was just contriving to keep his head above the surface. He was swallowing great gulps of water with every movement, and was unquestionably on the verge of sinking.

"Stick to it!" yelled Rossiter, without slackening speed, "I'll be with you in a minute."

One spring took him down upon the caked mud below the overhanging sod, and a second carried him waist deep into the river. Then he struck out with vigorous strokes. He approached the exhausted swimmer cautiously, knowing if he would save him he must not allow himself to be caught in his drowning grip. When just beyond the reach of his arm he paused. The poor fellow made a frantic effort to seize hold upon him, but Rossiter was watchful and easily eluded his grasp. It was like the last flicker of a dying flame. With a gasp and a gurgle the man gave over the struggle. Here was Rossiter's opportunity, and he was alert to improve it. As the sinking bather's head was disappearing he gave a powerful forward plunge. Out went his [illegible] fingers were [illegible] mop of soaking hair. There was but a spark of consciousness left in the body of the man when Rossiter jerked his head above water. He was well-nigh a dead weight, and his rescuer had no difficulty in whirling him about and gripping him beneath the armpits. In this wise he pushed him ashore. He began to revive a little as shallow water was reached, and was able, with Rossiter's arm encircling his waist, to drag himself up to the grass of the bank, where he sank in a limp heap. Presently he began to vomit violently, whereat the boy who had been standing by, mouth agape and speechless, commenced to moan and whimper.

"It's the best thing that could happen," said Rossiter, reassuringly. "He'll come around all right shortly."

Indeed, it was not long before the rescued man sat up, a look of disgust and loathing upon his features.

"Mother of Moses!" he exclaimed, "but I shouldn't want Mohondaga water for a steady diet!"

He caught Rossiter's eye and smiled wanly.

"You were just in time," he said. "Jim, there, ain't worth shucks. He can't swim a stroke. Another minute, an' I'd 'a' croaked."

"It was rather a close shave," observed Rossiter.

"Gee, yes!" This was said with considerable emphasis, and a suspicion of color began to creep into the young man's pallid cheeks.

He was perhaps 26 or 27 years of age, and as Rossiter now glanced from his face to that of the boy, who had edged close to him, he saw at once from the strong resemblance between them that they must be brothers, the younger hardly more than 16. They were not unattractive faces, either of them, and in the elder's Rossiter read lines of determination and self-reliance that made him for the instant envious. Both were slimly fashioned, with a slight stoop to the shoulders, and both had the lifeless complexions of those who spend little time in the open air. They had clear eyes of steel-blue, and the hair of the elder curled slightly. He had, moreover, an insignificant brown mustache.

"Come out in the sun," said Rossiter to the one he had rescued; "it'll brace you up."

He gave the young man a helping hand, and steadied him after he had got upon his feet.

"Cripe, but I'm weak!" the whilom swimmer said. "You wouldn't think it 'ud take it out of a fellow so," and he sat down near where he had laid his clothes.

Rossiter now began to realize the condition of his own garments.

"I believe I'll have to wring my things out," he remarked, "and let them dry in the sun," and he proceeded forthwith to put this scheme into execution.

For a space little was said, the two brothers absently watching the vagrant as he spread his worn articles of apparel upon the grass. Finally the elder spoke up quickly.

"How'd you happen along just as you did?" he inquired.

ICE CARNIVAL SPORTS.

Hockey and Skating the Features at Saranac Lake.

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., Feb. 6.—The feature of yesterday's carnival was the hockey match between the Montreal and the Saranac Lake teams. Two thousand persons witnessed the sport. The Montreal seven won six goals to three, making five goals in the first half to one by the home team.

The three mile skate race was won by Baker in 10m. 18 4-5s. Watson was second and Slater third.

The one mile junior event was won by Ayers in 3m. 42s. Lary was second, Liscomb third.

Baker won the backward half mile in 1m. 58⅓s. Watson was second, Slater third. There was a skating exhibition by Champion Nilsson.

A Sensation at New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 6.—Optional and Optimo were the only beaten favorites. The sensation of the day's racing was furnished by the handicap, in the fourth race on the card. Old Hutch was made favorite and, cleverly ridden by Gannon, landed the money. Buchanan, whose mounts were recently limited by the stewards to the horses owned by his employer, Sam Hildreth, had the mount on Telamon, who ran in the name of Mrs. S. C. Hildreth. The horse's performance was extremely unsatisfactory both to the owner and the officials. Off at the head of the bunch, the horse dropped back to the last place and in the last few strides passed If You Dare, who was used up making the pace, and finished fourth. Hildreth lodged a complaint with the stewards, and an order was issued debarring Buchanan from all privileges of the track.

Montreal Franchise Purchased.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 6.—Edward Hanlon and Moses N. Frank have agreed to pay to Charles L. Dooley $5,000 for the franchise of the Montreal Eastern League Baseball club. With the franchise Messrs. Hanlon and Frank secure all the Montreal players, and the Canadian team will be transferred to Baltimore. President Powers will call a meeting of the Eastern league to meet in New York next month, at which the transfer will be ratified and next year's schedule arranged.

Extra Games For Chicago Players.

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—Arrangements have been made for a series of fifteen games to be played between the Chicago American league and the Chicago National league teams. As soon as the schedule for the National league shall have been announced the dates for the meeting will be arranged. Some of the games will be played before the season opens, and it is likely that the remainder will be played at the close of the season in the fall.

Entries For Hawthorne Stakes.

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—Entries already received for the twelve Hawthorne stakes, which will close Saturday, indicate that the total number of nominations will be in excess of any previous year. Among the entries appear the names of many of the best horses in training. The new $10,000 Hawthorne handicap which is to be run on the opening day of the spring meeting, May 23, appears to have the pick of the all aged division.

Amateur Billiard Record Broken.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Wilson P. Foss of Haverstraw, the amateur billiard champion, broke the record for amateurs at fourteen inch balk line in his game with Ferdinand Poggenburg of New York in the amateur billiard tournament at the Hanover club, in Brooklyn. He defeated Poggenburg by a score of 300 to 103, making an average of 15 15-19 and a high run of 80, the best so far in the tournament.

Three Favorites Won at Oakland.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 6.—Favorites took the first three races at Oakland, and in the others outsiders were successful. The weather was fine, but the track was muddy. Demenio, a youngster that made his first appearance in the two-year-old event, went to the post a 1 to 2 favorite and romped home in front of his field.

"Kid" McCoy Posts Forfeit.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—"Kid" McCoy has posted $2,500 as a forfeit to bind a match with either James J. Corbett, Tommy Ryan or Marvin Hart. He agrees to take on the men in the order named.

Sodini for "protection" to several variety theaters run in violation of the law. This is the sixth indictment found against Mr. Ames.

THE M'CARTHY'S STATEMENT

The Fireman of Engine No. 27 Talked Today to the Coroner's Jury.

The coroner's jury visited Muhlenberg Hospital this afternoon at 1:30 and heard the story of Samuel McCarthy, the fireman of the express. His head was completely covered by bandages, only his eyes being visible.

He said that the steam chest leaked when the engine was taken at Jersey City but the engine made a good run. While there was lots of steam about the cab when the engine started, it greatly lessened when the engine was at full speed. Several times during the run, before they reached Cranford, the engineer shut off, to see the signals. Shortly before the collision he was firing and knew nothing of the accident until the brakes were put on and the crash came immediately.

TWISTED HOUSE.

High Winds of Yesterday Moved Home of Arthur Phelps.

The heavy wind storm of yesterday afternoon did much damage throughout the town. Limbs were blown off of several trees on some of the business streets of the city and in many private yards trees and plants were ruined. The wind blowing from off the plains struck the house of Arthur Phelps at the corner of South Second and Willever streets and lifted it entirely off the ground and twisted it around off the foundations about twelve inches. Several fences were blown down and some of the electric light wires also suffered from the storm.

STORY OF THE DISASTER HAS BEEN TOLD; NOW FOR THE VERDICT OF CORONER'S JURY

Taking of Testimony Concluded at the Session of the Inquest, Which Was Held in This City Yesterday Afternoon.

JURY VISITED FIREMAN M'CARTHY'S BEDSIDE AND HEARD HIS STORY OF THE ACCIDENT.

And now for the verdict. While the coroner's jury, which is investigating the causes of the Westfield disaster, has not entirely concluded its labors, its session of yesterday afternoon will probably conclude the taking of testimony. The afternoon did not bring forward any startling developments. Fireman McCarthy's statement was not as important as many people believed it would. The rear brakeman of the Easton local told his story which went to show that he had taken the needful precautions. Then Rev. Father Andrew M. Egan told of Engineer Davis' reply to the other's casual question of how the wreck occurred.

It had been expected that the taking of testimony might go over until Saturday but Prosecutor English lost no time and the team witnesses sworn during the afternoon were dispatched with much expedition. While the jury did not meet until 2:30 o'clock, it was 4:30 when Coroner Bunting announced the adjournment. There are several inspections which the jury desires to make, then there is the evidence to be reviewed and the report to be prepared. The adjournment was taken until Friday, February 13. If the jury desires to hear any more testimony it will be presented at that time, otherwise it is expected that the verdict will be announced.

Previous to the public session of the jury, the members met at the Smalley building at 1 o'clock and were taken to Muhlenberg Hospital to visit the bedside of Fireman Samuel McCarthy and listen to his statement.

They found the fireman with his head completely swathed in bandages, only his eyes being visible. His voice was low and the jurors, as they gathered around his white cot in the men's ward of the hospital, had to bend their heads to hear. Foreman Fisk asked the questions and the replies were taken down by the stenographers who accompanied the party. Owing to the lack of room, Phillip Kearny Mindil, of the New York World, was delegated by the newspapermen to represent all their interests at the bedside of the fireman.

What McCarthy said is given in full as follows:

Q. What is your name? A. Samuel McCarthy.

Q. What is your business? A. Fireman.

Q. Tell us slowly what you can about this accident? A. Well, we left Jersey City on time, as near as we can tell. On the left side the engine, the cylinder, some part which I could not exactly tell, was blowing steam which obstructed the view, that is, you understand, on the left side where I was.

Q. On the left side? A. On the left side I was on. That was when we left Jersey City, when we pulled out of the Jersey City depot. As soon as we got going 10 or 15 miles an hour the steam cleared away on my side and then I had a full view, that is, of what was going on ahead.

Q. Then the steam cleared away on your side? A. The steam cleared on the left side, but where it went———.

Q. Was the steam chest cracked on his side? A. I do not know whether it was cracked or the head leaking.

Q. On which side? A. I could not tell you that.

Q. Did the engineer say anything to you about the engine being out of order. A. Not that I know of.

Q. Did you know that the other train, No. 13, was on the track ahead? A. No sir. I was in the tank.

Q. Was the steam so thick you could not see the signals? A. Who could not see them?

Q. So that the engineer could not see them? A. I do not know. I do not know that anything obstructed his view on the right side, or not.

Q. You are sure of that, but on your side it cleared away? A. Yes sir. When we got up speed to about 15 miles an hour it cleared away; but when we just pulled out of the Elizabethport station it was like pulling out of Jersey City.

Q. Did you know whether Engineer Davis made any complaint about his engine in Jersey City? A. Not that I know of, but I could not tell. I do not know that.

Q. Not that you know of? A. Not that I know of.

Q. Do you know what the engineer was doing just before the accident? A. No sir, I was in the tank. At Spring street I was up in the cab all the way from Jersey City coming in to Elizbethport, and we shut off there and I went out to cover the fire with coal; and when we got over the bay draw, that is, at the bay bridge, I got up in the cab again, and at Elizabethport I got out because the coal I had was not any too substantial, and the run was a hard run and I had to attend to my business; and at Spring street I was up in the cab again. I took the red lamp up and I said to the engineer, "If she holds up under steam I hope we'll get home in time to night." He says, "I hope so, myself." At Spring street, at the signals, he shut off, and he shut her at Roselle, and I was in the tank feeding the fire with a shovel full of coal once in a while, and he shut off, and I felt the brakes go on, and just about hitting at the same time.

Q. Did you hear any torpedoes on the track? A. No.

Q. Were there any torpedoes on the track? A. No.

Q. When did the steam first begin to leak? After you left Jersey City? A. The steam was leaking when we got the engine at Trenton Junction.

Q. Who did you get the engine from? What was the man's name? A. The engineer's name?

Q. Yes. A. I do not know the man.

Q. Did the engineer have any instructions from anybody in Jersey City, to try to get there on time? A. Not to my knowledge.

Q. Nothing particular? A. Not to my knowledge of any kind. He was a man, if he got any instructions he made it known to me.

Q. So that you would know the same as he? A. Yes, so as I would know the same as he—any orders or messages.

Q. Was he a regular engineer. A. No sir. But I was with him for four weeks every day, and I had known him for a year—a little over a year.

Q. From what you know of him, was he a perfectly sober man. A. He was perfectly sober. I have been out with him off duty, at gatherings, and I have never seen him touch a drop, never seen him taste it.

Q. Did you have any particular trouble in getting your speed up or getting steam up on this engine? A. Coming east, the engine steamed fine; that is, on the way east, and that is why I said to him, if she holds up we will get home in time tonight.

Q. The engine was in pretty good order then? A. The engine, you might say, was in pretty fair order.

Q. Did you have any talk with the engineer after the accident? A. After the accident?

Q. After the accident. A. Yes, not more than they had us in the same house.

Q. Did you have any particular trouble with the engine coming up in the morning? A. What do you mean, what trouble?

Q. From Trenton to Jersey City, on the run in, did you have any particular trouble with the engine? A. Nothing went wrong with our steam.

Q. Did you notice when you went through Cranford whether there was very much steam escaping from the engine? A. I could not tell; the same as I told you before, I was in the tank; I had my attention to the fire.

Q. Did the engineer say to you, he would have to run slow to see the signals? A. No.

Q. Did you have any trouble keeping the fire up, or keeping the steam up, in this engine? A. No. That is what made me say to him, If she holds up in steam we will get home in time. The engine was in very fair order.

Q. Did you say anything to the engineer after the accident? A. I asked him where he was hurt.

Q. He said nothing about the cause of the accident? A. No.

After the jurors had heard McCarthy's story, they returned to the Council Chambers where the session was resumed at 2:15 o'clock.

Harry A. O'Neil, of Brooklyn, a brakeman on the Easton local, testified that his train left Jersey City on time. When the train stopped to repair a hot journal he went back 600 or 700 yards from the rear of his train. He did not believe the stop consumed over a minute and a half. At a distance of about twenty-five yards he placed two torpedoes on the track. Just before getting on his train he notified the approaching Philadelphia express and he ran back with his red and white lanterns, waving them in the face of Engineer Davis. When the Philadelphia train passed him, O'Neil said that he was about fifty yards west of the Broad street crossing at Westfield, and when he last waived his lantern the flyer was about fifteen yards from him. The witness said it was a perfectly clear night. O'Neil said that he had been a passenger brakeman about one year and has been on the Easton local since December 17 last.

After the crash, the witness said he ran back to flag the Dunellen train which was then approaching. He heard the two explosions of torpedoes after the flyer passed him. He did not notice any unusual amount of steam from Engine 27.

To the flagman at the Broad street crossing the witness said:

"My God she's going to run into us."

Charles E. Chambers, the second witness, lives at Roselle. He is master mechanic for the New Jersey Central. He reached the wreck about three hours afterward. He noticed the peculiar condition of Engine 27. The front pony trucks were on the tracks. He noticed particularly that the throttle was wide open, which would give full head of steam. The reverse lever stood at the second notch forward. That showed that the lever was at the proper position when running full speed. The witness found that the emergency brakes had not been applied. In reply to a question, Mr. Chambers said the crash could not change the reverse lever or throttle. It would take the engineer about a minute and a half to apply his emergency brakes, the witness said.

Mr. Chambers explained the purpose of an injector, that of supplying water to a boiler. He said that in reaching the injector it is not necessary for an engineer to take his eyes off the tracks. If it consumed two minutes to fix an injector a train could travel between two and three miles, fully the distance between Cranford and Westfield.

In the opinion of the witness the flames were started from the fire-box of the engine. Investigation has not shown that the gas tanks in the cars on the Easton local exploded, as was reported. Mr. Chambers stated in reply to a question by Foreman Fisk of the jury that there were several foreman under him and they attend to general repairs on engines.

If an engineer could substantiate his claim, he would not be discharged for refusing to take out an engine, said Mr. Armstrong.

Safety is the first consideration and speed the second; under all circumstances, was Mr. Armstrong's reply to a question as to whether an engineer was supposed to make speed at all hazards. He said that it is not necessary for an engineer to take his eyes off the tracks. The witness con-

SOME GOOD ADDRESSES TO LIBRARY WORKERS

The Afternoon Session of the Library Institute Held at All Souls Church.

WAS FULL OF INTEREST

PROMINENT LIBRARIANS OF STATE PRESENT AT SESSION.

Interesting Addresses by Them Attracted a Very Large Attendance to the Afternoon Session—Those Who Spoke.

The afternoon session of the Library Institute, which was held yesterday in All Souls' church, under the auspices of the New Jersey Public Library Commission and the New Jersey Library Association, was even better attended than the morning session, and was quite as full of interest.

The afternoon session began about 3 o'clock, J. C. Dana, librarian of the Newark Public Library, presiding. The addresses of the afternoon all dealt, in one form or another, with children's reading.

The first address was by Mr. Dana himself, on the general subject: "Children's Reading." He said that the children of today do not read enough to become well acquainted with the English language. He thought that excellent plan for getting books into the hands of children. In speaking of the books children actually read, Mr. Dana produced a number of copies of the nickel libraries, sensational detective or wild west stories, which he said were sold everywhere, and had a larger circulation than public library literature. Mr. Dana said, with regard to these, that perhaps, after all, they were better than nothing; they at least acquainted the boys who read them with the language, and the heroes of the stories were almost invariably of a high moral character. He considered that the best way to get a higher class of books into the children's hands was through the personal efforts of teachers acquainted with the best books for young people.

"The Library and the Children" was the subject of an address by Father Joseph H. McMahon, director of the Cathedral Library, New York. Father McMahon spoke of the relation between the parochial school and the public library, of the inadvisability of allowing children to select any books they please for their own reading, and of the necessity of making sure that the books children read are not prejudicial to their spiritual and moral natures.

Plainfield was represented on the afternoon's programme by the closing talk on "The Relation of the Private School to the Public Library," given by Miss Isabel Arnold, of the Seminary. Miss Arnold said that one of the ways in which the library aided the school was by the help given to teachers in their work. She spoke of the fact that the books best liked by children are often those liked by adults as well.

BREAKING SIGNS.

Small Boys Damage Street Signs by Throwing Stones at Them.

A number of small boys in the borough as well as in the city have taken delight in throwing stones at the street signs. Many of the broken signs have come in that condition by small boys with rocks in their hands. The other morning a well known citizen who lives on Park avenue who was on his way to the depot in his carriage saw a youngster throwing stones at one of the signs. He stopped the carriage and severely rebuked the lad.

A permit was granted in the office of Building Inspector T. O. Doane yesterday to Wm. D. Bird, who will erect a dwelling at the corner of West Third street and Clinton avenue. The house will be 35 feet front and will be two stories in height. The contracting artisans are: R. L. Robinson, architect; Wm. Daley, mason; and Wm. D. Bird, carpenter.

WOULD WIDEN SOMERSET ST.

Borough Council Looked Over Plans for Widening Entire Length of the Street.

MORE STORM SEWERS

Lots of Discussion at Last Evening's Meeting of the Borough Council—Estimates for Building the Extension of Storm Sewers—Other Important Matters.

At the meeting of the Borough Council last night the most important business brought up for discussion was the further widening of Somerset street from Jackson avenue to Johnson's drive, and the building of a storm sewer in that part of North Plainfield not now provided with this improvement. Several owners were present and took part in the discussion.

In the discussion regarding the widening of Somerset street from Jackson avenue to Johnson's drive a large map was brought out by the engineer and it showed that it was planned to cut off five feet from the sidewalks along that thoroughfare except that part of Somerset street which runs along the brook where more than five feet will be cut off on the west side than on the east, because of the proximity of the brook on the eastern side of the street. Several property owners were present and stated their objections to the proposed continuance of the widening of the street.

The report submitted by the engineer provided for a sewer to dispose of the surface water which now drains through the south gutter of Greenbrook road and Somerset street to Stony brook. The larger area drains through Somerset street, and a large amount of the surface water also reaches Greenbrook road through Duer street and Grove street using the existing culvert under the south sidewalk of Greenrook road for conveying the water from Grove street to Stony brook.

The sewer will begin at the brook with a thirty-inch pipe continuing to Duer street where the size will be reduced to twenty-four inches. This will extend to and intersecting Somerset street and Summit avenue. At this point the sewer will divide. One eighteen-inch branch will extend up Somerset street to Linden avenue and the other continuing with a twenty-four-inch pipe along Summit avenue to Watchung avenue and up that thoroughfare with a twenty-inch pipe to Grandview avenue.

So little surface water flows to Greenbrook road from the north (the crown of Somerset street being about a block away) that no proposition was made by the engineer.

The following estimates were prepared by the engineer as a rough estimate. If the sewer proposed is adopted and installed the engineer recommended that the Council order the erection of a culvert in the North avenue at Watchung avenue to divert on Somerset street the water which now flows from Fairview avenue and Watchung avenue which is already overloaded with surface water.

The estimates prepared are as follows:

For the first section of the sewer from Greenbrook road to Somerset street, $3,722.50 and for the second section from Summit avenue to Watchung avenue for $1,762.50. The total cost will be $5,485.

Others matter were brought up for discussion last night although the matter of the fire house was not even broach. All the councilmen, excepting Mr. Clark, were present, including Corporation Counsel Charles A. Reed. Mayor N. B. Smalley was in the chair.

It was reported that E. J. Smith had served his time as a fireman and was entitled to the benefits of an exempt fireman. It was referred to the fire, water and lamps committee who confirmed the report. Claims amounting to $3 135 were ordered paid. On motion of Councilman Arnold it was ordered that the bill of Assessor French be paid as he had prepared the duplicate tax book.

Mayor Smalley appointed J. O. Osgood to fill the vacancy on the Board of Health for a term of five years. Councilman Northrup read his report as chairman of the fire, water and lamps committee. He reported

FAST RIDE IN ENGINE CAB

Coroner's Jury Had Practical Demonstration of How High Speed Engines Are Run.

TOOK TRIP THIS MORNING

Carried to Jersey City in Cab in Just Thirty-Four Minutes—Returned in Private Car—Trip Was Taken on Duplicate to Wrecked Locomotive.

A demonstration of a high-speed locomotive going at sixty miles an hour was given to the members of the coroner's jury, this morning. Engine No. 26, the exact duplicate of No. 27, which was demolished in the Westfield disaster, was sent to Plainfield this morning for the benefit of the jury so the members might see the exact location of the throttle, leavers and injectors. A trip on the engine was proposed in order to see the engine in actual operation and the consent of General Superintendent Huntington being secured, the jury took a decidedly fast trip to Jersey City and return.

The trip was planned in a hurry and the engine, with no cars attached, left the North Avenue station at 10:06, just ahead of the local. In addition to the jurors, the party consisted of P. and R. Road Foreman Thomas A. Foersch, of Philadelphia, Chief of Detectives Dougherty, Chief Kiely and Ralph L. Morrow, representing the newspapermen. They were all in the cab.

There wasn't any time lost in the trip to Jersey City. Just thirty-four minutes were consumed, the engine reaching the terminal at 10:40. The engineer was B. J. Loughery, who appeared before the inquest as a witness. H. R. Rowland was the fireman.

At Jersey City, the party was met by General Superintendent C. W. Huntington who explained various details of railroad service. As engine 26 was needed in Philadelphia, it was turned around and attached to Mr. Huntington's private car "Central" and the party brought back to Plainfield. Jurors Arnold and Buckle preferred to remain in the cab while the others of the party occupied the private car.

Conductor T. J. McCabe was put in charge.

"What are your orders?" he was asked.

"Haven't any special orders. We are running under the block signals," was the reply.

The special train left Jersey City at 11:06 and a few minutes later a Philadelphia express followed. It was about three blocks behind the special. The train was travelling at about sixty miles an hour. The jurors timed the train from the Westfield station to the scene of the wreck and it took just forty seconds. At 11:40 o'clock, the party reached Plainfield and disembarked.

A committee has been appointed from the coroner's jury to visit the Philadelphia round house shops Monday and look over the "work" books. The members will also be on the lookout for any new evidence which may have any bearing on the case. The committee will consist of Foreman Fisk and Jurors Buckle and Kenney.

To Make Arrangements.

A meeting of the committee which has charge of the masquerade ball, which is to be given by the women's section of the Gesang and Turn Verein, will be held at the home of Mrs. John Wirth, tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. The committee comprises: Mrs. Matthias Menzenbach, chairman; Mrs. John Retzer, secretary; Mrs. John Wirth, treasurer; Mrs. Charles Meyers, Mrs. Henry Hartle, Mrs. Sutton, Mrs. Geddis and Mrs. Carl Felber.

Will Hold Fair.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Hope chapel will hold its annual fair Tuesday and Wednesday, February 10 and 11, afternoon and evening. On both evenings a musical and literary programme will be rendered.

SAW SIGNALS FROM ENGINE

A Demonstration of Conditions Prior to Wreck for Benefit of the Coroner's Jury.

IT WAS A UNIQUE TRIP

Vice President and General Manager Besler, With Jury, Impersonated Express With Observation Engine—Superintendent's Private Car Acted as "Dummy 13."

Over the same ground that Engineer Davis travelled just previous to the Westfield disaster, with the same signals giving warning of waiting orders and a train in front, the members of the coroner's jury were given a practical demonstration, last evening, of the events which led up to the wreck. It served to show better than all possible explanation could just how the signals are operated there and what were the conditions at the scene of the collision. It was, by all odds, the most unique feature of a remarkable inquest. It also had the peculiarity of being the only event of its kind in railroad annals when the incidents of a wreck were thus reproduced for the benefit of public investigators.

It all grew out of a remark made by Former Mayor Charles J. Fisk, who, as foreman of the coroner's jury, was interrogating Vice President and General Manager William G. Besler when he was on the witness stand Thursday afternoon. There was talk of the operation of the signals and Mr. Besler was trying to explain them for the benefit of the jury. Without any warning, Mr. Fisk wanted to know if Mr. Besler would take the jury over the same ground and show them the signals, as Davis should have seen them, in operation. As soon as Mr. Besler grasped what Mr. Fisk wanted, he readily agreed and last evening's expedition was the fulfilment of his word.

For the benefit of the jury, the observation engine of the Reading system, No. 101, was summoned from Reading, Pa. It reached here a few minutes behind the east bound Philadelphia express, due at 7:32, and the party climbed aboard without delay. Mr. Besler was present to explain the workings of the signals. Then there were the jurors, Foreman Fisk and Messrs. Arnold, Woodhull, Buckle, Kenney and Gavett. The others in the party were Coroner P. DuBois Bunting, Assistant Prosecutor John K. English, County Physician F. W. Westcott and Chief of Police Kiely. W. S. Hunt, of the New York Herald, had been selected to accompany the party as the representative for the New York papers while Charles B. Morse, city editor of The Daily Press, was present as the representative of the local newspapermen.

As the observation engine left the North Avenue station and sped away to the eastward, the members of the jury began to get some idea of what the signals really meant. There was a coal train halted on track three, just beyond Netherwood, the block signals being against it. In front of it stood a second train. From there on both of the east bound tracks were clear. From the darkened cab, the party could see the signals far in advance. Mr. Fisk occupied one of the front chairs with Mr. Besler close beside him. The others were in the chairs on either side or sat in front where they could obtain a good view of the road ahead.

At Cranford Junction, the engine was switched into the yard when the passengers descended while the locomotive was turned about on the turntable. There was a short wait until a Philadelphia express passed by and following it was the private car of General Superintendent C. W. Huntington, with Mr. Huntington and several other railroad officials abroad. It had been arranged that Mr. Huntington's car was to represent train No. 13, while the observation engine was to follow out the course of the express.

So the "dummy 13" departed westward and after a few minutes delay, the "dummy 621" followed after. No sooner had the little engine glided on sidered the style of Engire No. 27 the best for an engineer to watch his tracks and signals. It was shown that a fireman is also supposed to watch signals when possible.

STORY HAS BEEN TOLD

Mr. Armstrong did not favor the two engineer plan; believing that the present system is the best.

A compressed air quadrant was produced by the witness; to show just how this piece of machinery works on an engine. It was shown by this the position of the quadrant when the witness saw it.

David Witherspoon, foreman of the round house at Jersey City, brought his "work" book to show to the jury. Nothing was said in it, under date of January 27 about engine 27. All engines coming to Jersey City did not go to Communipaw avenue round house, some went to Fidler's. Engine 27 was brought to Communipaw avenue round house for forty-five minutes that day and Witherspoon met Davis and talked to him. Nothing was said about the engine. There was plenty of opportunity to make a complaint but none was made.

George W. Tinsman, an insurance agent of Elizabeth, once conductor and station master of the Jersey Central, was called to tell what railroad employes on train 13 should have done at the time of the wreck. He did not think it was a prudent thing for the engineer of train 13 to stop as he did with the express behind. He thought it would have been safe to come on as far as Plainfield before fixing the hot journal. He did not see in any of the testimony any carelessness that could have resulted in the wreck.

Bernard Munn, an engineer for thirty-one years on the New Jersey Central, testified as to having seen Engine 27 a week before the wreck, while running near Bound Brook. He saw the engine the day following the wreck at the Elizabethport shops. He did not notice the throttle or lever, especially.

The witness said that the speed of Engineer Davis's train calls for between 50 to 60 miles an hour. He explained the working of an injector which might be disabled by various causes. In trying to repair an injector the cab might be filled with steam, but the engineer could look out of the window and see signals. It might take from two to ten minutes to repair an injector, was the opinion of the witness.

Mr. Munn said that possibly Engineer Davis might have stood up to repair his injector, but this would not prevent him from watching the signals. In starting from a station steam naturally settles about the head of an engine. Afterward the steam drops down if the weather is heavy. The witness believed that the passenger cars on the Easton train were set on fire by the fire-box of engine 27, together with the oil from the head-light, which was scattered over the wreckage. Mr. Munn denied that he had ever been told to make time at all hazards. In his experience the block signals had never told a lie. He said that when an engine gets a red signal he must stop by all means. Asked as to whether he considered a train order necessary with the block signals, the witness said he did not. He said that being able to see three sets of signals, especially at night, an engineer would not be taking big risks in turning around for a second or so. He did not believe he would be excused for doing just what Engineer Davis did. Mr. Munn thought that it might be a relief to have a second engineer in the cab, but it would not lessen his responsibility.

"If an engine was not fit for service, I certainly would refuse to take her out, and believe the company would think more of me for it," said Mr. Munn. "If the engineer of the Easton local had proceeded with a hot-box on his tender, it might have wrecked his train. I believe it was best for him to stop where he did, instead of possibly wrecking his train at the Fanwood curve."

Pierre Garvin, of the law department of the Jersey Central, was sworn to identify and explain some pictures of the tracks and block signals in the neighborhood of the scene of the wreck. Arthur E. Owen, of the signal department of the Central, explained maps he had showing the block signals.

Some flashlight photographs of the wreck, taken by Frederick C. Berte, were offered in evidence.

Ellis L. Ayers, of Newark, assistant maintainer of signals for the New Jersey Central, was called, and testified that he traveled between Elizabeth and Plainfield the afternoon of the wreck. He reached the scene of the wreck about 6:50 o'clock, the time it occurred. He grabbed his tool bag and jumped off of the Somerville local train on track three. Just west of the Broard street crossing, Westfield, the signals were set at danger. He noticed the signals west of Westfield station set clear at the top and caution at the lower arm. The green light indicates that the block ahead is obstructed. It was not two minutes after he got off his train when he noticed the signals and they were working correctly.

The witness said that there was no possibility of the signals being changed just after the wreck.

James Major, ticket agent and telegraph operator at Westfield, said that the Easton local passed Westfield station at 6:30 o'clock the night of the wreck, and the flyer passed at 6:40 o'clock. He said that the despatcher asked him about the flyer and he replied "passed."

Rev. Father Andrew M. Egan, pastor of St. Mary's R. C. church, this city went to the bedside of Engineer Davis once officially and once to learn of his condition. The second time, as a matter of curosity, he asked Davis how the accident occurred and Davis said that his engine leaked from Jersey City and he couldn't see the signals. The first time he gave the engineer the last sacrament. The Prosecutor brought out that Davis understood that he was about to die before the statement was made to Chief Kiely.

A FEBRUARY FURNITURE SALE.

Uncommon Opportunities in Prices and Terms at A. H. VanHorn, Ltd.

The "February Furniture Sale" of Amos H. VanHorn, L't'd. is certainly planning to upset all previous records in furniture and carpet selling. The five acre stock of this active establishment has been drawn on without reserve and prices have been marked one quarter less than usual prices, a fact calculated to make astonishing activity all through February. The newness and beauty of spring designs is well represented in the stocks and the liberal offer of the VanHorn House to let people select what they want for delivery one, two or three months from now, if they are not ready for goods right away, is but one of the attractive features peculiar to a VanHorn sale.

Shake Off the Wintry Blasts.

The months of January and February are the most disagreeable to the northerner and delightful are they for the Florida tourist. The trip to Jacksonville is through a section as historic as it is picturesque, and the service to that point via the Royal Blue Line is the best. The New Jersey Central is going to run an excursion to Jacksonville on Tuesday, Febuary 10. Train leaves New York, Ft. Liberty street, at 8:30 a. m., arrive Washington at 2:10 p. m., same day; leave Washington at 3:16 p. m. February 11, and arrive Jacksonville at 12:45 noon February 12. The round trip rate from New York and vicinity is $50, and includes also sleeping car berths, meals en-route, transfer and hotel accommodations in Washington. The arrangements are such that the care and worry of the journey are in the hands of the railroad company, and the tourist has the entire time for enjoyment. The New Jersey Central has issued "A Little Y Book" on this Florida trip; if you want it send a postal to C. M. Burt, general passenger agent, New York. It's free for the asking. c

IN ORPHAN'S COURT.

Little Business Came Up at Last Week's Session.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Feb. 7—Very little business was done in the Orphans' Court here last week. The estate of the late John Jennings, of Bound Brook, was declared insolvent.

The hearing on the exceptions to the accounts of the administratrix in the estate of Eugene Hoerster was continued to February 20.

John E. Elmendorf, proctor for Rutgers College, filed a petition for an accounting in the estate of Jacob J. Vreeland.

People Believe In It.

It has been cynically said that anything can be sold by advertising nowadays. This is not so. Many liniments have been advertised but only one—Perry Davis' Painkiller—has stood the test of sixty years' use. Today its popularity is greater than ever and is based not upon what anybody says but upon what the remedy does. There is but one Painkiller, Perry Davis'.

FOOTBALL TOO DANGEROUS.

Many Head Masters of Schools Petition For Change of Rules.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—A petition signed by more than seventy head masters of schools, representing many states, looking to the modification of the present playing rules of football has been presented to the intercollegiate football rules committee. The petition is one phase of the movement for the abolishment of mass plays and had its inception at a conference held in connection with the meeting of the Head Masters' association in Boston in December last. The petition is in part as follows:

"The undersigned head masters of schools in which football is played take this method of urging upon your committee the desirability of so modifying the present rules as to eliminate, as far as is possible without sacrificing the game, the objectionable and dangerous features that exist at the present time.

"We wish to express in emphatic terms our judgment, based on experience, that football as at present played is too severe and too dangerous, and our belief that it is possible by modification of the rules to develop a style of football that will retain the unique and characteristic advantages of the present game without its more serious attendant evils. We present no arguments on the subject, as these are already familiar to you. We make no specific suggestions, for you are the most competent ones to decide how the desired result can be secured. We simply present our testimony and urge you, in the interest of college and school athletics, to take speedy action for the elimination of the present objectionable and dangerous features of football."

The petition was signed by almost every head master to whom it was sent, and the signatures represent all the leading football schools of the east, as well as the champion schools of the west.

Jockey Redfern Hurt.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 7.—Monos and Brief were the only winning favorites, and the latter's victory was won at the price of serious injury to Jockey Redfern. The lad's good riding overcame the obstacles which the mare met in the race, and just as her nose crossed the finish she stepped in a hole in the track, stumbled and fell. Redfern was rendered unconscious by the fall, but his physicians express the belief that his injuries are more painful than severe. Lady Alberta was run up to $1,400 and sold to J. J. McCafferty. The weather was fair and the track good.

Tied For First Place.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Henry P. Stofft of Cleveland and Charles Weston of Chicago are tied for first place in the professional sweepstakes pool tournament which began four weeks ago at the Montauk Billiard academy, Brooklyn. They met last night, and Weston won by a score of 125 to 44. This was Stofft's first defeat, as he had won eight straight games, while Weston had lost one. The Chicago man's victory made him even with the Cleveland expert, each having won eight and lost one game out of the nine games decided.

McGovern-Bernstein Fight a Draw.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 7.—Terry McGovern and Joe Bernstein went the limit in a six round bout at Industrial hall before a well filled house. McGovern forced the fighting from start to finish and gave Bernstein punishment in every round. The latter evaded more severe bruising by clinching. He was knocked down in the fifth round, but quickly regained his feet. Both men finished in fairly good condition, neither showing distress.

One Favorite Won.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 7.—Only one favorite won. The weather was fine, but the track was still slow. The main attraction was the seven furlong handicap, in which some clever sprinters met. Byron Rose was favorite, with Kenilworth, despite his impost of 135 pounds, a well played second choice.

Cresceus at Ottawa.

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 7.—There was a large crowd at the Ottawa ice races yesterday. The weather was exceedingly fine and the track in good condition. Cresceus has reached Ottawa for next week's racing. He will go against the ice record.

PRESIDENT WILL NOT

He Declines to Arbitrate Venezuelan Question.

IT WILL NOW GO TO THE HAGUE

Protocols Referring Differences to That Tribunal Will Be Signed at Once, and Blockade Will Then Be Raised.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—President Roosevelt has declined the invitation of the allied powers to arbitrate the question as to whether they shall receive preferential treatment in the settlement of their claims against Venezuela over the other creditor nations.

He reached this decision shortly before 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon and instructed Secretary Hay to dispatch a note to the British embassy at once advising the British ambassador to that effect. The matter, therefore, now will be referred to The Hague tribunal.

The administration, it is stated in official quarters, was unwilling to approve the effort of the British government to eliminate Minister Bowen from the negotiations, and moreover the president could not have accepted the invitation of the allies even had he been so disposed without the consent of the other negotiator, Minister Bowen, and this the allies did not obtain or request in their note of invitation to the president.

Today preliminaries with reference to the signing of the protocol referring to The Hague for arbitration are being considered.

Immediately on receipt of Secretary Hay's note announcing the president's declination the British ambassador addressed a communication to Minister Bowen stating that he was suffering from an attack of grip and would be obliged if Mr. Bowen would call on him. The Venezuelan envoy went at once to the embassy, where the British ambassador explained that he had been too ill to call for several days and announced the arrival of his protocol, which he was prepared to submit to Mr. Bowen for signature. Later the German minister, Baron Sternburg, called on Mr. Bowen and announced the arrival of his protocol.

It has developed that two protocols are to be signed by Mr. Bowen with the Italian ambassador, Signor Mayor des Planches, two with the British ambassador and two with the German minister, Baron Speck von Sternburg. The first protocol in each case will provide for the reference of the allies' contention for preferential treatment to The Hague and the raising of the blockade simultaneously with the signature of this convention.

Long's Recovery Probable.

BOSTON, Feb. 7.—Former Secretary of the Navy John D. Long, who is ill at St. Margaret's infirmary, continues to improve, and the hospital authorities say that they have good reason to anticipate a complete recovery. This announcement is made to set at rest the minds of friends whose anxiety is expressed in persistent inquiries of the physicians in attendance. For the past ten days the patient's diet has consisted of milk and water. To this has now been added the white of an egg, and an appreciable gain in strength was noted.

Fast Time From Boston to Chicago.

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—Twenty-four and a half hours from Chicago to Boston is to be the fast railroad time between the two points. The fast schedule now made by the Lake Shore and New York Central limited will be utilized to bring the New England metropolis closer to the west. The through New England train from Chicago will be a part of the present Twentieth Century limited as far as Albany. From that point the route will be over the Boston and Albany road.

English Company Gets Oil Wells.

BUFFALO, Feb. 7.—A special to the News from Bolivar says: "A big oil deal has just been closed whereby the National Petroleum and General Construction company of London secures possession of 333 producing wells, 4,000 acres of leases and a monthly production of 20,000 barrels of oil for $685,000. The property is located in Wood, Hancock and Auglaze counties, in Ohio, and was owned by seven different companies."

Montreal Strike Settled.

MONTREAL, Feb. 7.—The strike of street car railway employees has been settled. The officials of the street railway company met a committee representing the men last night. The men were offered a 10 per cent advance, recognition of the union and the reinstatement of all men discharged for belonging to the union. A meeting of the men was called to ratify the acceptance of the terms offered by the company.

Farmer Had Counterfeiting Outfit.

CANTON, O., Feb. 7.—Nathaniel Miller, a farmer, sixty-eight years old, has been arrested by federal officials and taken to Cleveland, charged with counterfeiting silver coins. A counterfeiting outfit was found in a small building on his farm north of this city. Miller denies knowledge of the use of the building. The arrest is considered important.

Kruger's Health Not Bad.

MENTON, France, Feb. 7.—The report that Mr. Kruger's health is shattered is purely fantastical. His indisposition was of a very slight character and did not cause the slightest anxiety to his friends, nor has it left any trace on his health.

THE BODY STEALERS

Ghastly Evidence at Trial In Indianapolis.

DR. ALEXANDER'S HELPERS TESTIFY

Tell the Story of Their Agreement to Furnish Subjects For the Doctor and the Prices Obtained on Delivery.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 7.—In the trial of Dr. J. C. Alexander in the grave robbing cases a parcel in the possession of detectives was introduced in evidence. It contained two shrouds found by the detectives in the basement of the Central college as a result of a visit with search warrants. One of the shrouds was identified as having been made for Mrs. Catherine Doebring, whose body was stolen from the German Catholic cemetery. It was identified by a woman who did the needlework.

Samuel Martin, colored, who was prominently identified with Cantrell in the grave robbing business, testified that Dr. Alexander told him he wanted from seventeen to twenty subjects for dissection and would pay $30 each.

Martin said that Dr. Alexander told Rufus Cantrell that he would watch the death returns at the board of health office and would notify Cantrell. The first trip, he said, was made in July, when, with Cantrell and the others, he went to the Anderson cemetery and secured the body of Glendore Gates and handed it over to the Central college. The next day Dr. Alexander paid him $10.

His next trip was to the Ebenezer cemetery, when the body of Wallace Johnson was secured. Dr. Alexander told him the subject was not a good one because it had been mangled by the cars, and Martin received but $5. At the same graveyard he assisted in getting the body of Johanna Stitlitz, for which Dr. Alexander paid him $8. In addition to these bodies Martin said he got a body at the insane hospital cemetery which Dr. Alexander said was a good subject, but the witness did not remember how much money had been paid for it.

The witness gave further particulars of securing several other bodies, which, he said, were delivered at the college, for which he received pay from Dr. Alexander.

Walter Daniels said he first met Dr. Alexander with Cantrell in July. He was introduced as a man who would stick. Daniels said: "Cantrell told him I had worked for Thornton J. Barnes, demonstrator of anatomy at the Northwestern college in Chicago. Dr. Alexander said he was glad that some one would stick, for the boys had fallen down. Cantrell said bodies were not worth much in Chicago, and Dr. Alexander said they were worth but a dollar in New York city. He said he had nothing on hand, but he would watch the returns and let us know when we would be needed. The following Saturday night we went to Dr. Alexander's office, and he told us there was a good colored subject in the Anderson cemetery, and he wanted us boys to go out and get it. I asked him what my share of the job would be, and he said he would give me $3. So we went out to Anderson yard and got the body of Estella Middleton. Dr. Alexander said that it was a good subject and paid me the $3."

Daniels' testimony was not shaken on cross examination.

Young Jury Secured.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—The taking of testimony in the trial of William Hooper Young, charged with the murder of Mrs. Anna Pulitzer last September, has begun, the jury box having been filled by the acceptance of George H. Wells, a clerk, and Michael Cunningham, a real estate dealer, as the eleventh and twelfth jurors. Young, whose appearance was slightly improved, was half dragged, half carried into court by a deputy sheriff and at once sank down in his wonted listless attitude. He was closely studied by an alienist employed by the defense, who sat near him engaged in the preparation of testimony which he will give later on.

The Reading Declares a Dividend.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 7.—The directors of the Reading company at a special meeting here declared a semi-annual dividend of 2 per cent on the first preferred stock of the company. The board also elected a Vanderbilt representative to the directorate in the person of H. McK. Twombly of New York to fill the vacancy caused by the death of A. J. Antelo. An amount equal to 5 cents a ton on the anthracite coal mined during the calendar year 1902 was set aside to meet the requirements of the sinking fund created under the general mortgage.

As Seen In Boston.

BOSTON, Feb. 7.—The railroad commissioners have rendered a decision to the effect that street railway companies, if they cannot provide sufficient seats for passengers, ought at least to provide sufficient car accommodations so that passengers may stand in comfort. The board also declares that the crowding of men and women upon one another in a street car for transportation like packages of merchandise is an outrage upon the decencies of life as well as a menace to travel.

Death Due to Grip.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 7.—At the coroner's inquiry into the manner in which William Paull, the baritone of the Castle Square Opera company, met his death at the Southern hotel Mrs. Paull testified that her husband had been suffering with the grip for several days and had been subject to attacks of dizziness. It is believed he fell out of the window in one of these attacks.

STILL AT ODDS.

Formal Withdrawal of Addicks Does Not End Deadlock.

DOVER, Del., Feb. 7.—The fifteenth ballot for senator resulted as follows:

Long term—L. Irving Handy, Democrat, 21; J. E. Addicks, Union Republican, 21; L. Heisler Ball, regular Republican, 10.

Short term—Addicks, 19; H. A. Dupont, 2; Harry A. Richardson, 2; Ebe W. Tunnell, Democrat, 21.

Both sides are apparently killing time awaiting a move on the part of the Democrats. A proposition from the latter to aid in the election of two regular anti-Addicks Republicans is believed by many to be the only solution of the muddle created by the retirement of Mr. Addicks.

It is understood that the Democrats have offered to support Congressman L. Heisler Ball for the long term, allowing the other senatorship to take care of itself. This offer was rejected, but it may be taken up and considered later on.

The regular Republican conference committee, consisting of Senator Sparks and Representatives Bancroft and Flinn, made a last request of the union Republicans before agreeing to accept the Democratic proposition. It was, "Will you allow us to name one senator, you taking the other?"

The union Republicans replied that they could abide by nothing but the vote of a majority of the Republican caucus. The regulars then retired, and union Republican Committeemen Conner and Townsend submitted the final proposition of the Addicks men, as follows: "We will stand or fall by the principle of majority rule."

Both sides agreed finally to allow negotiations to remain open for a few days, as it was then time to take a ballot for United States senator.

ORIENTAL RELICS SOLD.

Chinese and Japanese Wood Carvings Bring Good Prices.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—The sale of ancient Japanese and Chinese temple and palace wood carvings at the Fifth Avenue Art galleries brought about $9,000. The Boston Museum of Fine Arts was a liberal buyer and took several of the more expensive pieces.

The highest price paid was $560 for a lacquer ramma, or panel, "Peony Rivaling For Glory," an elaborate carving of peonies in green, yellow and red. The piece dates from the early part of the eighteenth century and for many years was in the library of the Prince of Nagoya. A chest, six feet in height, of black lacquer, the front inlaid with mother of pearl and the interior a maze of red and golden symbolic carvings surrounding a shrine, was sold for $450. Four carved doors of sugi wood, natural color, date 1650, sold for $315. Four temple doors, 150 years old, fretwork, finished in gold, sold for $100. Two old wood carvings of Koreans from a Shinto temple sold for $300. The old guardian saint, Jisc, date 1668, brought $155.

Sultan Makes Warlike Preparations.

PARIS, Feb. 7.—The correspondent of the Figaro at Philippopolis telegraphs that the sultan has ordered the mobilization of 240,000 men and has requisitioned all the steamers of the Idarei Masseusich company to transport these troops, who are to re-enforce the Second and Third army corps at Adrianople, Salonika and along the Bulgarian frontier. Commenting on this dispatch, the Figaro says this action on the part of the sultan greatly complicates the situation in Macedonia. Diplomacy will have great difficulty in solving without accident this new phase of the eternal eastern problem, which has exhausted all efforts for the last 200 years.

A New Haven Tragedy.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 7.—The body of Mrs. Peck, wife of Professor Peck of Yale university, has been found in Fort Hale park, at Morris Cove, after searching parties of students had searched in all directions for the missing woman. It is believed that Mrs. Peck wandered to the park while demented. Her pocketbook was found untouched clasped in her hand. She was fifty-three years old and lived at 124 High street.

Killed by Falling Wall.

BUFFALO, Feb. 7.—While a gang of about twenty-five workmen were engaged in tearing down one of the buildings of the old Strauss tannery plant, at William street and Fillmore avenue, the coverings of a number of archways in the lower part of the building collapsed and buried a number of the workmen. The following laborers were killed: Frank Pfluge, formerly of Allegheny, Pa.; Joseph Schonika and William Young. Five were seriously injured.

The President Has a Cold.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—President Roosevelt is suffering from the effects of a cold he contracted recently. It has not incapacitated him, and he is attending to his usual duties without serious inconvenience, but he is troubled by an aggravated hoarseness. This is yielding to treatment, however, and is expected to pass away in a few days.

Would Sell Bu Hamara.

PARIS, Feb. 7.—A dispatch from Tangier says the Moorish pretender, Bu Hamara, is a prisoner in the hands of the Riata tribesmen, who have offered to sell him to the sultan. El Menebbi, the Moorish minister of war, is now negotiating with the Riata tribe, and it is believed that the pretender will be brought to Fez.

Bakers' Strike Settled.

DANBURY, Conn., Feb. 7.—The strike of the bakers of this city has been settled by arbitration, and the bakers will resume work at once. The bakers quit work two weeks ago.

Hay's HAIR-HEALTH Keeps You Looking Young Test Its Hair Growing Powers
FREE
A BOTTLE FREE.
To prove what this great Hair Beautifier will do for you, every reader of this paper who is troubled with dandruff or with the appearance of gray or faded hair or bald spots may have by mail a FREE sample bottle. (See Free Bottle Offer below.)

Don't Look Old.
A feeling of regret comes with the first gray hairs. They stand in the way of business and social advancement. Hay's Hair-Health affords a sure means of restoring to the hair the beauty of youth.

Stops Falling Hair.
"My hair is now restored to its youthful color I have not a gray hair left. My husband says I look 20 years younger, and my hair ceases to fall, while before I was in danger of becoming bald."

A Public Boon.
Hay's Hair-Health has earned this title, and thousands are enjoying fine heads of hair produced by this preparation. It quickly cleanses the scalp, removes dandruff, stops falling and breaking of the hair, and changes it if gray to its youthful color and luxuriance.

Stains Nothing.
It is not greasy or sticky; not a dye; does not rub off. Never soils anything. It is made from absolutely pure ingredients and may be safely used by old or young. Hay's Hair-Health is a clean, creamy dressing, delicately perfumed and highly desirable in every way.
In 1900-1901 this preparation was tested to the extent of over five million bottles in the United States and British possessions. It is highly endorsed by the nobility.

One Bottle Does It.
That is the expression of many who have had their gray hairs restored to youthful color and their bald spot covered with hair after using one bottle of Hay's Hair-Health.

No More Gray Hair, should you live to advanced age, if you use Hay's Hair-Health occasionally. It is a vital hair food.

Guaranteed
TO QUICKLY RESTORE FADED, BLEACHED or WHITE HAIR to youthful color without staining the skin. An occasional application keeps the hair soft, glossy, of silken texture and disposed to remain in any desired position. Every lady needs a bottle on her dresser.

Harfina Soap.
Nothing like it for keeping the scalp free from dandruff, the hair silken, and the skin clear and rosy. Dandruff causes baldness. To keep the hair, scalp and beard in healthy condition, make a strong lather of Harfina Soap and shampoo freely. If it is desired to restore gray hair to youthful color, apply Hay's Hair-Health after shampoo. The grayness will disappear and the hair grow forth in its youthful color and beauty.

MORGAN CHOKED OFF

Senator Tried to Discuss the Canal In Open Session.

WAR WITH COLOMBIA IS PREDICTED

If United States Persists In Its Isthmian Canal Policy—Debate on Antitrust Bill Closed In the House.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—For a time yesterday in the senate it looked as if the question of the construction of an isthmian canal would be discussed in open session. Mr. Morgan spoke on his resolution calling on the secretary of the navy for the correspondence regarding the military occupation of the bays of Panama and Colon. He had not proceeded far, however, when Mr. Cullom, who had been following him closely, interrupted with a motion for an executive session, which Mr. Morgan resisted. The chair overruled Mr. Morgan's objection, and the doors were closed.

Mr. Morgan continued his remarks in executive session, alleging that $3,000,000 which the United States paid to Colombia would go to the insurgents who made peace last year.

When open session was resumed, Mr. Morgan predicted that if the United States continued its policy with reference to the construction of an isthmian canal war with Colombia was inevitable.

After Mr. Kean had spoken a short time in opposition to the statehood bill the senate adjourned out of respect to the memory of the late Representative Moody of North Carolina, who died Thursday.

General debate on the antitrust bill closed in the house shortly before 6 o'clock in the afternoon. The debate had proceeded since 10 o'clock a. m. More interest was aroused as it proceeded, and the closing speeches by Mr. DeArmond (Dem., Mo.) and Mr. Littlefield (Rep., Me.) were delivered to crowded galleries and to a very full attendance on the floor. The closing, however, was devoid of brilliant pyrotechnics and sensational clashes.

The conferees of the senate and house on the department of commerce bill approached very near the point of agreement on the bill, but adjourned without entirely finishing their work. They were in session about three hours, the greater part of the time being spent in an effort to adjust the differences on the question as to whether the president should be given power to transfer the interstate commerce commission to the proposed department, as provided by the house bill.

"Katy" Settlement Means Much.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 7.—The stupendous interests involved in the Missouri, Kansas and Texas settlement have not been fully realized. Besides affecting the four other southwest roads, the Missouri Pacific, Iron Mountain, the Frisco and the Cotton Belt, it will be the keynote to the settlement of wage grievances on every road west of the Mississippi river. Committees are now waiting at the headquarters of the Burlington, the Great Northern and all the other western and northern roads to follow the action in St. Louis. The "Katy" settlement will be the basis of settlement on all these roads by agreement already entered into between the roads and the men.

Immigrants From Martinique.

PARIS, Feb. 7.—The minister of the colonies has received a dispatch from the governor of French Guiana announcing the arrival at Cayenne on Jan. 30 of the first convoy of immigrants from Martinique. The convoy consisted of eighteen families, composed of twenty-one men, twenty-three women and fifty-five children. Measures have been taken to supply the immigrants with tools and food, while tracts of land will be distributed among the lot. The colonists seem willing and declare themselves satisfied with the measures taken by the authorities to install them in the colony.

An Explosive Trust.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 7.—At a meeting in this city attended by a number of capitalists of New York, Baltimore and Philadelphia the American Explosives Manufacturing company was formed, having for its purpose the combination of all the manufacturers in this country of dynamite, powder and other explosives. The authorized capital of the concern is $1,000,000, and this, it is stated, will be increased to $5,000,000. Samuel W. Regester of Baltimore is the president of the company.

Omaha Printers' Strike Ended.

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 7.—Three hundred printers, press feeders and pressmen have returned to work in the job shops of the city after a three days' strike. The demands of the pressmen and feeders were granted, and the printers' demands will be settled by arbitration.

Ex-Senator Cannon Very Ill.

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 7.—Former United States Senator Frank Q. Cannon, who was operated on for appendicitis Wednesday, is reported to be in a very serious condition, with chances much against his recovery.

COMING EVENTS.

February 8—Hugh R. Monro will speak and Miss M. H. Cromwell, of Cranford, will sing at the Y. M. C. A. meeting at 4 o'clock.

THE COUNTY JAIL.

After it was announced that the sheriff of Essex county had demanded the control of the county jail from the Board of Freeholders of that county, there was more or less speculation as to which other counties would go through the same experience. Now it is announced that Sheriff Coriell of this county wants to take charge of the jail at Elizabeth which has heretofore been in the hands of the Freeholders.

It all depends how the decision of the courts stands. The Freeholders are not going to give up the jail unless they are compelled to. They claim that they can run that county institution more economically to the county than would the sheriff. The truth of the claim remains to be seen, however. If the Freeholders see that there is no question about the sheriff's right to the place, it is probable that they will give up the jail without any fight. They are now investigating the sheriff's claims and will act on the result of their investigation.

Under the present conditions, it seems quite likely that Union county will have a well managed jail, whatever the decision. As conducted by the Freeholders through their warden, it is a model institution. Mr. Coriell ought to manage it equally well. Nevertheless a decision in the case will be watched with interest.

Quite a crowd has already promised to go to Trenton Tuesday afternoon and appear before the Senate committee as opposing the repealers of the annexation and consolidation acts. The greater the crowd that attends the hearing, the more will the Senators be impressed of the magnitude of the feeling against the repealers.

It was decidedly a novel idea to allow the members of the coroner's jury to see just how the signals ought to have looked to Engineer Davis the night of the wreck. This practical demonstration of the conditions will certainly be of great use in assisting the jurymen to understand and appreciate the situation.

PERSONAL.

Miss Matilda Humble, of Somerset street, who has been confined to her home suffering from the grip, has recovered.

A. V. D. Honeyman, of Grove street, has not been able to be at his place of business this week, on account of an attack of the grip.

Howard J. Runyon, of Rahway road, who was injured in the recent railroad wreck at Westfield, has recovered sufficiently to be out again.

Nels Nelson, the clerk at the drug store of Peter B. Hodge, who has been ill for the past few days, a victim of the grip, is now able to be about again.

Kenneth Robbie, secretary of the boys' department of the Young Men's Christian Association, has been confined to his home at 535 Madison avenue for the past few days suffering from the grip.

Great Council Meeting.

The Great Council of the Red Men of New Jersey will be held at Trenton Feb. 26 and 27. It is believed that the State reports will show a net gain of more than 2,000 members during the year.

No Business.

There are seven cemeteries in Delaware township, Hunterdon county, in which no interment has been made during the past fifty years.

the main track than everybody exclaimed:

"There it is." It was the red light at Cranford station which the operator had placed between tracks two and four and was visible fully a mile away. There wasn't any running by signals this time and the observation engine came to a stop at Cranford just long enough to get orders to allow it to proceed. With Cranford behind the "dummy express" rushed along at a lively clip.

Hardly were they well under way again and passing by the last houses of Cranford when the sharpest eyes discovered a red glimmer far ahead.

"Next look out for Verson's warning," said Mr. Besler.

It was the light on the block signal that was first spied but it wasn't long before the red light gleamed at the Broad street crossing. Then came the block signal just west of Westfield station with the green cautionary light visible. The engineer of No. 101 slackened his speed and proceeded cautiously. There was the red light of Flagman Verson at the Broad street crossing bobbing around like a fire fly nor did it quiet down until the engine had almost reached it.

Another red light came into view. It was the rear brakeman of the "dummy local." He was swinging his red lantern about with vigor. Behind him should be seen the two red lights on the rear end of his train.

"See, he's running this way," said somebody. And still another red light gleamed before them. This time it was on the block signal and warned them that the block in front was occupied. Before the signal was reached, however, two torpedoes, left behind by the rear brakeman, exploded. With everybody listening for them and the engine moving slowly, there was no trouble in hearing them. The rear brakeman was gathered in and at the red signal the "dummy express" stopped for the proscribed time. On again they went but very slowly and finally came up with Mr. Huntington's car standing right where the wreck had occurred and the exhibition was over. Before anybody had a chance to move, there was a blinding flash and some enterprising photographer had added another picture to his collection.

The ride home simply served as a further demonstration of the regular operation of the signals. The observation car followed two blocks behind the other and the changing of the signals could be plainly seen. Again was the rear flagman seen at work as the party approached Plainfield and the rear of the private special was guarded. In a few moments there was a general hand-shaking on the station platform and words of thanks to Mr. Besler for his very realistic reproduction of the incidents just previous to the disaster.

While the demonstration did not throw any new light on the subject, it served to give the members of the coroner's jury a comprehensive idea of the signals, how they are operated and just what Engineer Davis had to pass before he collided with the Easton local.

Engine No. 101 was driven by Engineer Bradford, who was for year's Mr. Besler's engineer and who he had not seen since he left that system. The greeting between the two was a hearty one. No. 101 returned to Reading, Pa., immediately while Superintendent Huntington's private car was turned about at Dunellen and sent back to New York with the railroad officials, Mr. Fisk and others of the party who decided to get back to the city at once.

DUNELLEN.

Another attempt was made, Thursday night to break into Williams railroad shanty at the Grove street crossing. The would be burglars were frightened away after breaking every window in the place to gain entrance. It is thought likely that it is the same person who assaulted Mrs. VonTwistern earlier in the evening as he left a horse blanket in his hurried flight and his operations at VonTwistern's were carried on with various articles from a wagon. The last time the shanty was broken into a number of valuable tools was secured but Friday night nothing was taken.

Despite the reports given out at the hospital the other day that Wilson Fredericks was in such a critical condition that he could not recover, has rallied and his condition was reported to his family as being excellent this morning and great hopes are now held out for his recovery. P. M. Ising is also in excellent condition.

Mrs. A. J. Whitney, of New England, a former resident of this place, is spending some time at the home of A. A. Lake. Mr. Whitney was principal of Whittier School here for a number of years.

Ziba Osmun expects soon to add a more commodious vehicle to his stage line. The wagons he has now is not large enough to carry the passengers.

The papering of the Presbyterian church has been completed and as soon as a few minor repairs are finished the church will be opened.

NEW MARKET.

A letter has been received from W J. Davis, saying that he and his family have arrived safely after an exceedingly pleasant journey, at Riverside, California. He also says that the flowers are in full bloom there, roses especially being plenty and beautiful. Grapes, oranges and other fruit are beginning to ripen and altogether the letter says the change from here is a most agreeable one.

Jacob Hess, the crippled gateman, is on the track of another matrimonial adventure as his advertising has brought him another response. The people hereabouts are hoping that Jacob will at least prove successful.

Regular services are being held in the Seventh-Day Baptist church today.

Edson Davis, of New Brunswick, spent yesterday with relatives here.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

While it is yet early for baseball, still the lovers of the game are already talking over the prospect of the makeup for the team that will represent the village next season. Manager Johnston has plenty of good material to select from and has already secured several, among them "Chick" Cousins at short and "Pete" Brogan behind the bat. This suits the fans.

A number from town attended the funeral services of the late Thomas Lee, held from his home near Alton, yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Mr. Lee was a life-long resident of the township, having been born seventy-one years ago in the old homestead in which he died.

The patrons of the trolley are anxiously awaiting the advent of the new power house at Cranford. All excuse made for the upsetting of the schedule will then have to be made along other lines.

Reports show a marked increase in the aggregate attendance of pupils since the new Bound Brook school building came into use. More children are now transported by stage and trolley than at first expected.

At the regular services at the Baptist church tomorrow the pastor will speak upon interesting topics both morning and evening.

Some of the offerings for the coming week at W. W. Dunn's Park grocery are: Choice lettuce, string beans, tomatoes, celery and spinach.

Smalley Brothers have secured some of the choicest cuts in beef and other meats for the opening week. They also have some of the very best fowls in the city.

Persons who use milk should be very careful and always secure the best product. If you trade with Wm. Lindsay & Company, of Mountain avenue, you are sure to get the best milk and cream. Prompt service given at all times.

The New York Painting and Decorating Company, of Park avenue, is showing some very attractive wallpapers of the 1903 designs and the firm is also prepared to receive contracts for either papering, painting or decorating and all work is guaranteed to be first-class.

In purchasing men's furnishing goods it is always desirable to have the best both in money value and in quality. J. R. Blair, the Park avenue haberdasher, keeps only the standard goods and that is the reason he has the reputation of being the leading haberdasher in town.

No one has ever denied that good paint,. properly applied does not prolong the material composing modern buildings, to say nothing of the appearance. But to gain the best results for the money paid out it is necessary to have the work executed by the best mechanics. James Hansen, of East Front street, can furnish them at any time, and also estimates for any contract.

Breakfast without coffee is like Hamlet With Hamlet left out. A steaming cup of the beverage imparts new life to the mechanic, clerk or business man and aids to bear the strain of their daily tasks. Therefore it is imperative that the coffee shall be of the best quality and it may be said that no brand surpasses Neuman Brothers' Mocha and Java or Old Government. The firm places its personal guarantee behind ever pound sold and it has yet to hear from a dissatisfied buyer.

Breaking in New Horses.

The fire department has been at work for the past week in breaking in new horses to the service at the headquarters on East Second street. The horses are two handsome grays and they have grasped the idea of responding to an alarm of fire in a remarkably short time. Twice a day they are run out of their stalls and many people have taken advantage of the time to see the new recruits run under the harness.

Lincoln's Birthday Social.

The women of the Aid Society of the First M. E. church are planning for a social to be given Lincoln's birthday, February 12. Tableaux and music will be the features of the evening, and each one is invited to give as many pennies as years old. The members are working to make this a social as well as a financial success.

Flynn Estate Sold.

The estate of Catherine Flynn on Madison avenue has been sold to William D. Manning for $2,355. The sale was conducted by John H. VanWinkle, Sr., as master in partition proceedings.

A new national bank is soon to be instituted at Stanhope, N. J., with a capital of $25,000.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

By the County Building Committee: To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union, New Jersey.

Gentlemen: We, the County Building Committee, appointed and acting under the laws of 1901, Chapter 47, as amended, beg leave to report as follows:

First. That the County Court House and County building are now in the process of construction under contracts duly awardeed after public advertisement to the lowest responsible bidders which call for payments aggregating not less than five hundred thousand dollars.

Second. That from the estimates and specifications which we have caused to be made we estimate that the total cost of erecting and furnishing said County Court House and building inclusive of the foregoing amount, will amount to at least five hundred and eighty-five thousand dollars.

Respectfully submitted,

J. F. Hubbard, John Farrell, Jacob Brucklacher, County Building Committee.

County Attorney Codington stated that the firm of Everitt & Co., purchasers of the New Court House Bonds had requested the adoption by this Board of a series of resolutions of such a character as would leave no doubt as to the validity of the Bonds when issued. Freeholder Tillman moved the report be received and placed on file which was so ordered.

NEW BUSINESS

By Freeholder King:

Resolved, That the report of the County Building Committee this day presented to this Board, be, and the same hereby is accepted and ordered filed with the Clerk of this Board.

Second. That of said sum of Five Hundred and eighty-five thousand dollars, it is at this time necessary to raise the sum of five hundred thousand dollars, to be applied on account of erecting and furnishing the said County buildings.

Third. That we have, as directed, caused to be prepared and printed, the bonds of the County in the amount of five hundred and eighty-five thousand dollars, and of said amount we have offered for sale bonds in the amount of five hundred thousand dollars, under a notice which we caused to be mailed to certain of the leading bond houses, in the following form, to wit:

Respectfully submitted,

J. F. Hubbard, Director.

E. M. Wood, County Collector.

Freeholder Cady moved that the foregoing report be received, accepted and placed on file which was so ordered on roll call by an unanimous vote.

The following preamble and resolution was presented by Freeholder King:

Whereas, This board, by resolution duly adopted at a meeting of the board duly called and held on the 21st day of March, 1901, did declare that the Court House and buildings in use for public offices were inadequate, and

Whereas, A County Building Committee was, at said meeting, duly constituted, consisting of J. Frank Hubbard, ex officio, the then Director of the board, and by designation, selection and appointment by said Director, of Freeholders Jacob Brucklacher and John Farrell, and

Whereas, The said Court House and County buildings are now in the course of construction, under contracts heretofore duly awarded, after public advertisement, to the lowest responsible bidder, calling for payments aggregating not less than Five Hundred Thousand Dollars, and

Whereas, Under the estimates and specification heretofore duly made, it appears that the total cost of erecting and furnishing said County Court House and County buildings will amount to at least Five Hundred and Eighty-five Thousand Dollars, and

Whereas, The matter of issuing and selling the bonds of the County was, under the certain resolutions of this board adopted on the seventh day of August, 1902, and on the sixth day of November, 1902, referred to the Director of this board, and the Collector of the County, and

Whereas, The said Director and County Collector have negotiated the sale of the bonds of the County in the amount of Five Hundred Thousand Dollars, and awarded the same to the firm of John D. Everitt & Co., at the agreed price of $532,850 and accrued interest, which bonds have not as yet been issued, and

Whereas, It appears by the County Assessment Roll for the year 1902, that the total assessed value of the real and personal property in the county amounts to the sum of forty-five million two hundred and sixty-nine thousand four hundred dollars, and that no bonds of the County have ever heretofore been issued under Chapter 47 of the Laws of 1901, as amended by Chapters 20 and 122 of the Laws of 1902,

Now Therefore, pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 47 of the Laws of 1901, being an act entitled "An Act to facilitate the acquirement of lands and the erection of buildings for county purposes," approved March 19, 1901, as amended by Chapters 20 and 122 of the Laws of 1902, Be it Resolved, By the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union, as follows:

First. That the sum of $585,000 be borrowed upon the credit of the County for the purpose of providing funds wherewith to erect the new County Court House, and County Buildings and to furnish the same ready for occupancy and use.

Second. That the coupon bonds of the County in the amount of $585,000, be issued therefor at the time or times and in the manner hereinafter provided.

Third. That said bonds be dated October first, 1902, be issued in the denomination of $1,000 each and be payable as to principal at the National State Bank of Elizabeth, New Jersey, on the first day of October, 1942, that they bear interest at the rate of four per centum per annum payable semi-annually on the first days of April and October in each year upon presentation of the proper coupons at the aforesaid bank unless the said bonds should be registered as hereinafter provided, in which case the interest shall be remitted to the registered owner. That the said bonds be numbered from one to five hundred and eighty-five, both inclusive, in the order of their issue.

Fourth. That the report of the Director and County Collector, reporting the sale of said $500,000 of bonds this day submitted to this board, be and the same hereby is ratified, confirmed and adopted as the act of this board, and ordered filed with the clerk of the board.

Fifth. That $500,000 in amount of said bonds, as awarded and sold to John D. Everitt & Co., under the notice of the County Collector of Nov. 25, 1902, be issued to said purchasers by the County Collector, to be delivered to them from time to time upon payment of that part of the purchase price which is proportionate to the amount of bonds then taken up, with interest which may have accrued upon said bonds.

Sixth. That the balance of said bonds in the amount of $85,000 be hereafter issued when and as the same may be required for the erection and furnishing of said county buildings.

Seventh. That the said bonds be issued in the following form, to wit:

Sacred Mountains in Japan.

Almost every mountain in Japan, especially if it be unusually picturesque or grand, is dedicated to some deity, who is believed to be guardian of the mountain. It is not surprising that these grand cones of strength and power, which inspire all beholders with awe, should seem imbued with intelligence to these simple-minded people and should fill their hearts with the instinct of fear or dependence. For this reason the grandest shrines throughout the land are found on high or precipitous mountain tops; tributes offered either in admiration or as pleas for protection. These temple grounds are covered with the oldest and largest forest trees, and oftentimes to the eyes of the people below the clouds which hover around the mountain peak seem to rise from and to hide within the mountain shadows. This originated the belief that the gods hold power over the clouds to withhold or cause rain.—Geographical Journal.

Vegetable Turkey.

Boil one pound of chestnuts until tender, remove the shells, add a teaspoonful of salt and a pinch of thyme, and mix thoroughly. Boil together a large turnip, one carrot, two large potatoes, two stalks of celery, three pepper corns, and two cloves. When the vegetables are tender, drain through a colander, add the chesnuts, mash all together, adding two tablespoonfuls each of butter and cream. Salt to taste, place in a buttered mold, in a hot oven, heat thoroughly, and serve on a meat platter, garnished with slices of lemon and sprigs of parsley.—Housekeeper.

Photography and Sunstroke.

If we consider the fact that no one gets heat stroke from the great heat of furnaces in an arsenal, we readily arrive at the conclusion that not the heat rays of the sun, but the actinic rays are the cause of the evil. Hence, if we treat the body as a photographer treats his plates, and envelop it in orange, using always an orange-yellow shirt, and lining the coat and hat with flannel of the same color, we are likely to suffer no bad effects from the sun. Officers in India actually do this.—Science Siftings.

Woman Made $50,000.

About five years ago a Maine woman, taking a consumptive husband to the mountains of Arizona, was shown an old abandoned claim by her Indian servant. She took it, with great difficulty secured $500 to work it and before the year was out sold it for $50,000 and a life interest.—Philadelphia Press.

Mrs. Baba's View.

Ali Baba had just told his wife the secret of the cave.

"How lovely!" she exclaimed, "now I can get Ali money without a divorce."

"...I was having a nap over yonder," answered Rossiter, waving his hand in the direction of the elm under which he had been reclining, "and I heard your brother shout."

"Having a nap eh?" this with considerable surprise, as though the speaker could not understand the philosophy of a mid-morning indulgence of that character.

"Yes, but"—with a swift shift of the topic of conversation—"you haven't told me what was the trouble with you out there," and Rossiter nodded towards the water.

"Oh, a cramp caught me. I must have been too warm when I went in. It doubled me all up on one side, and I called to Jim, who was paddlin' about in shallow water. He ran out onto the bank scart stiff, and began yellin' like mad. It's darn lucky he did, I guess."

At this the younger brother laughed foolishly.

"Say," continued the elder, "you've done me a blamed good turn——"

"Don't mention it," said Rossiter, interrupting him.

"But, by gosh, I'm goin' to!" cried the young man. "What do you take me for? Now, as I say, you've done me a good turn, and I'd like to do you one, if you'll let me."

He looked at Rossiter appealingly.

"Well," said the latter.

"You're in hard luck, ain't you? No offense meant."

Rossiter lowered his eyes.

"Suppose I am?" said he.

"Got anythin' at all to do?"

"I had an offer this morning."

"Somethin' that you care about?"

"I can't say that it is."

"Come along with us, then!" this with a sudden enthusiastic burst of confidence. "My mother 'nd sister 'ad Jim 'nd me's goin' hop-pickin'. We've just come up this mornin' from Fallsburgh down the river where we live, and are goin' into the country this afternoon. Fine place, bully 'grub,' 'nd all that. A chum o' mine was to have been along, but he backed out at the last minute, so it'll be all o. k., won't it, Jim?"

"Sure!" exclaimed the boy.

Rossiter was more than surprised at this spontaneous proposal. He was not accustomed to gratitude, and that he should inspire anyone with enough confidence to suggest such an arrangement struck him with something like amazement. But the more he meditated upon the suggestion the more tempting it was to him. Three weeks and a half had yet to elapse before the first of October. If he should decide to return and accept the offer made by his brother's acquaintance, here was an opening which would enable him to go back with a little money in his pocket, doubtless more than he could earn as a hostler.

"It's mighty good of you to mention such a thing," said he. "Are you sure you really mean it?"

"Mean it!" echoed the young man —"well, I guess!"

"Then I'm with you!" exclaimed Rossiter, surprised the instant he had spoken at his own earnestness and decision.

"My name's Joe Becraft," said the young man, "and this is my brother Jim."

"Mine is Philip Rossiter—Phil, if you like," said the vagabond, and then he was suddenly conscious that he had given his full name for the first time in three years. Ross he had been accustomed to call himself when there was any question of identity.

"Is it a good omen," he asked himself, "or is it but the beginning of another failure?"

CHAPTER III.

OFF FOR THE HOP-FIELDS.

"You see it's like this," Joe Becraft was saying as the three trudged slowly in the blazing sun across the meadow towards the city. "The mill where I've been workin' these six years, an' where Jim's just startin' in, has shut down a month for repairs, so we're gettin' a holiday. Ma always goes pickin' hops, an' Mame—she's my sister—but Jim an' me, we ain't so lucky every year."

"You like it, then?" inquired Rossiter.

"You'd better believe I do. So'd you if you were shut up in a mill all the rest of the time."

"Haven't you a good position?"

"Oh, yes, I'm not kickin'. I'm under-overseer in the cardin'-room. I'll get to be overseer, perhaps, one of these days, an' then—" He broke off. There was a happy look in his eyes and he gave a little laugh, while Jim chuckled audibly.

"What are you snickerin' at, you young jay?" cried his brother, making a pretense of being provoked, and vainly trying to cuff the offender.

The more Rossiter talked with the elder Becraft the more did he grow to respect, if not to admire, him, he was so wholly natural, so independent, so self-poised, and yet so entirely without conceit. He was uneducated, save in a rudimentary way, having been the mainstay of the family for eight years, yet he kept himself informed on the topics of the day, and had his opinions on public affairs, which were more free from bias than the views held by most of those in his station in life. Crude he was, but earnest, frank and warm-hearted, and Rossiter was shamed when he contrasted his own weakness and lack of purpose with this young fellow's unassuming strength.

As the three reached the square beyond the railway tracks, Rossiter noticed that Joe Becraft was beginning to lag and show signs of exhaustion.

"You'd better have a drink of whisky to brace you up," he said.

"A milk-shake will do the business," Becraft replied. "It's too hot for whisky. May be you'd like a nip, though," he added, with a peculiar sidelong glance, which the vagrant caught. It was as though the younger man was surmising what the elder's habits might be.

"Oh, no," Rossiter said, not betraying the fact that he noticed Becraft's scrutiny, "I'm not much on whisky myself. I like a little beer now and again, however."

"Yes, beer ain't bad, but the shake is what I need now. I feel a bit empty."

They stopped at a small corner drug store, where all three had the drink which Joe Becraft craved, though the clerk looked askance when he came to serve Rossiter.

"My mother's waitin' at the Cottage hotel," said the elder Becraft, when they again stood upon the sidewalk. "That's where the hop wagon's to come for us about two o'clock. Now before we go up, for we want you to come along with us, I've got something to propose. You'll take it all right, won't you?"

"Perhaps I know what it is," answered Rossiter, for several times he had seen Becraft furtively regarding his hair and beard.

"Do you?"

"I can guess."

"Well, if that's the case, you ain't a-goin' to mind, are you? You can pay me back, you know."

"You'll trust me to pay you back, then?"

"Trust you to? Why, of course I will. You'll pay me if you've got anythin' to pay with, an' you'll have it all right after a little."

"I don't believe there are many who would take your view of it."

TRADE CONDITIONS.

Great Activity Continues Despite Inadequate Transportation.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Vigorous vitality is conspicuous in trade and industry despite the handicap of overstrained and lamentably inadequate facilities for transportation. Concentrated efforts to reduce the congestion at a few favored points apparently intensified the blockades elsewhere, and inclement weather added a new disturbing factor to an already almost unbearable situation. Every possible method is being adopted to improve conditions, enormous sums are appropriated for extensions, yet accidents and losses are frequent.

Labor disputes are more numerous, although not prevalent to any extent in the leading industries. Idleness at sugar refineries was caused by necessary repairing of machinery and will be only temporary. As the season advances there is notable activity in building trades, with the customary acceleration of inquiry for materials.

There is no cause for uneasiness in the statistics of failures during January, although they show heavier defaulted liabilities than any month of 1902, except the first. At first glance this might suggest unsoundness in the commercial world, but the fact must not be overlooked that the opening weeks of a new year always bring an increase in bankruptcies.

Low stocks of flour at the cities and light milling operations have given additional strength to the wheat market. Storms delayed the movement of grain and also interrupted speculation by destroying means of telegraphic communication. A well sustained export demand provided an additional element of strength.

With the end of January and manipulation in that month's option there came a sharp reaction and more rational quotations for corn, yet producers receive very profitable prices, and there is no diminution in foreign inquiries.

Conditions in the iron and steel industry are without essential alteration. Far from catching up with its orders, the leading producer now reports over 5,500,000 tons of contracts on hand, and similar statements on a somewhat smaller scale are made by other concerns.

Teamsters to Join Elevator Men.

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—The strike of the elevator conductors is still on. At a conference between the Building Managers' association and representatives of the strikers the former body offered to arbitrate the difficulty if the men would return to work. This the strikers refused, claiming that they have been trying to arbitrate the matter for the past six months without any results and that the difficulty has now reached a stage where it could be adjusted only by the Building Managers' association acceding to all the demands of the strikers. The local teamsters have been notified by their union to stop the delivery of coal at the buildings where the elevator men are out. As several of these buildings have but one day's supply of fuel on hand they will be without heat and light by tonight unless the strike shall be settled.

Patti Is Coming.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—As positively a last farewell to the American audiences, whose plaudits for many years proclaimed her the queen of song, Adelina Patti has agreed to a tour of this country, consisting of sixty concerts. For this she is to receive from Robert Grau, with whom she has just made her contract by cable, at least $300,000. Already, it is said, nine concerts have been sold for from $10,000 to $11,000. Mme. Patti is guaranteed a minimum of $5,000 for each concert and 50 per cent of the net receipts over $7,500.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS.

Chicago Barkeeper Thinks They Will Not Return Again.

Says Candidates Nowadays Won't Thaw Out—Calls Them a Lot of Cheap Guys and Chicken-Feed Statesmen.

"Elections are getting quieter and quieter all the time, especially as far as the saloon business is concerned," said a West side bartender to a Chicago Tribune reporter, "and the past election was about the quietest I ever saw. A dollar of campaign money on a saloon bar now is nearly as scarce as a white blackbird.

"No, there's nothin' doin'. It's not like the old election times at all. Then a candidate for alderman or any other political job had to be a good fellow and a spender. His way to boost himself was to go round and paint things red and make them whoop. When you saw him and his gang coming down the street it looked like there was a riot or a revolution. In every saloon there was a congregation of red-eyed bums waiting to get the glad hand and their beer from him and from the other fellow. The crowd would line up at the bar and shout for him and tell him he was the whole thing. Then he would make his little spiel and jolly them up and order drinks, and the same again, and a good cigar for all hands, and throw down a five or a ten-dollar bill, or maybe a $20 bill. And expect any change? Not on your tintype. And no decent bartender would ever dream of giving him any. Bet your life he wouldn't.

"But my, how different now! The old candidates were princes compared with some of these fellows. A cheaper lot of guys never came over the pike, and how they have the gall to look for votes is what gets me. Most of them seem to be members of the W. C. T. U. Soda water and brown pop is their limit, and they seem to expect to get it for nothing.

"Why, the other day a candidate for something or other, one of these cheap statesmen of the new-fangled stripe of 'dead game sports,' save us all! floated in here with a lot of ward heelers, ordered beers for the rounders and ginger ale for himself and his particular grooms, and handed me a two-dollar bill. His eyes grew like saucers when I rung up the whole two dollars on the register.

"Don't I get any change, bartender?" he asked, and he figured it out that I owed him 35 cents.

"'I don't do business that way,' I says, 'not at election times. If you're so ignorant of campaign etiquette, your mother had better keep you at home. You're a hot proposition for a representative, you are!"

"He looked so mad that I made a break for the bung starter. O, it gives me the chills. I'd like to have seen that fellow's finish a few years ago.

"And the skate that is running against him isn't any improvement, either, although he's an alderman and a saloon keeper and ought to know better. A poor welcome he'd have in his own joint for any political candidate who'd leave less than ten bucks on his greasy old bar. And what is he doing on his glorious campaign? I'll tell you his little dodge. He puts a lot of dimes and nickels in his pocket before he starts out and he slaps a handful of them on the bar with a big bluff at reckless generosity and says: 'Come on, old man, I'm feelin' good to-day; give the boys a drink and have one on me yourself, and take the price out of that.' He tried it on me, but it didn't work. I scooped up the measly little pile of chicken feed, about $1.60, and swept it into the till.

"'That's all right, Johnny,' I says, 'but it's a poor way of doing business during a hot campaign, seein' that it cuts no ice for me and puts no slates on the house. Get proper and be a model candidate,' says I.

"Then he gets mad, too, and goes away with his nose in the air.

"So that's the kind of thing we saloon keepers was up against this fall campaign, and that's the kind of stuff a lot of these noble new statesmen are made of. They'll give you plenty of guff, but to get them to loosen up is like trying to find the north pole. They're goin' round to private houses jollyin' the women and coaxin' them to have their husbands vote for them, and kissin' the children and maybe givin' them a cent here and there. But the good old times are gone and the days of the saloon campaign are over.'

BURNS ADMITS HIS MISTAKE

Proprietor of Crescent Hotel Publicly Apologizes to Man He Had Arrested.

A MISTAKEN IDENTITY

J. W. Delahanty Was Taken for Man Who Robbed Crescent Hotel, and Was Arrested, Proved His Innocence, and Prepared to Sue Burns for Damages.

Because he was arrested and imprisoned falsely and charged by J. F. Burns, the proprietor of Crescent Hotel, on Somerset street with being the man who, several months ago, stole some goods from his hotel, J. W. Delahanty, a representative of the firm of Robert Ferrett, food merchants of New York, was about to bring suit against Mr. Burns on grounds of defamation of character and for false imprisonment.

Samuel S. Swackhamer was retained as counsel by the complainant and the case was settled by the defendant paying Mr. Delahanty $50 and publicly apologizing to him.

Mr. Delahanty was in this city this morning and the case was settled after the following apology was written by Mr. Burns:

"Having mistaken Mr. J. W. Delahanty for the person who, some months ago stole some property from my hotel, and having had him arrested for the supposed crime, and having discovered my mistake; and regretting the indignity and injury which I subjected him to; I hereby tender my apology and am free to say that I believe Mr. Delahanty is a gentleman of good character and reputation and is worthy of the respect and esteem which is due to citizens of integrety and honor. And I hereby authorize Mr. Delahanty to bring these statements to the general attention of his friends and acquaintances. J. F. Burns."

SMOKED IN CAR.

Harry Palmer Accused of Assaulting E. C. Martin, When Asked Not to Smoke.

On the complaint of E. C. Martin, of the firm of Woodhull & Martin, Justice Huff has issued a warrant for the arrest of Harry Palmer, an employe of the Levering & Garrigues iron works, on a charge of assault.

Mr. Martin was riding home late Saturday evening in a West Front street trolley car when, it is alleged, Palmer entered the car smoking. As there were women in the car, Mr. Martin made objection to this breach of politeness. Palmer, it is said, took exception to Mr. Martin's remarks and struck him a blow in the face.

Mr. Martin, in self-defense, struck at Palmer and in so doing wrenched his right hand. The trouble was adjusted for the time being, but later a complaint was made by Mr. Martin. The latter is today detained at home as a result of his experience.

MADE DAUGHTER DRINK.

One of Charges Brought Against Edward Dooley by His Wife.

Inhuman conduct of many kinds was alleged against Edward Dooley by his wife, when he was arraigned on her charge in the city court, this morning. One of his acts, she said, was to come home at 3 o'clock in the morning a few days ago and pour two glasses of whiskey down the throat of his infant daughter. This combined with a specific charge of drunkenness resulted in the defendant being sent to jail for twenty days.

STILL UNIDENTIFIED.

Remaining Victim of the Westfield Disaster Will be Buried This Week.

The unidentified body which remains at Cole's undertaking parlors will be buried within the next few days. It has been held by the railroad authorities with the expectation that relatives would claim it. Although the authorities have received over 100 letters asking for information regarding the victim, none have thrown any light upon the mystery. The remains will be interred in a local cemetery with the same ceremony as those conducted over others taken from the Westfield wreck.

THROWN DOWN.

John Beek Injured While Trying to Board a Trolley Car at Terrill Road.

John Beek, a former old resident of Terrill road, but of late residing with relatives at Passaic, was quite badly injured at the Park avenue crossing, Scotch Plains, Saturday morning about 11:30. Mr. Beek, who is nearly eighty years old, had been visiting at the home of friends near his former home and had told them that owing to the recent wreck he thought it would be safer him to return home by trolley.

Mr. Beek is nearly blind and in some way, while the car was coming too a standstill, either stood too near the track and was struck by the car, or while trying to board the car on the wrong side, was not noticed by the conductor, and was thrown to the ground when the car started. The first known of the accident was when Mr. Beek was seen lying along the track cut and bruised. The car was brought to a standstill and Mr. Beek was picked up and taken care of, and later sent to Muhlenberg Hospital. There seems to be several accounts of the accident and, until the matter is sirted, it is impossible to say just who is to blame.

BASKET BALL LEAGUE WILL RESUME FRIDAY

First Game Will be Played Between Hope Y. M. A. and the I. C. T. Club.

AT HOPE GYMNASIUM

ALL THE TEAMS HAVE BEEN PRACTICING STEADILY.

Great Improvement Shown Already in the Work of the I. C. T. Club and the Plainfield Reform Club, the New Additions.

After a postponement of two weeks occasioned by the Westfield disaster, which came as such a shock to the whole community, the Plainfield Amateur Basket Ball League will resume its activity this week. It will be remembered that when several changes were made in the membership of the league and it was enlarged from a triangular contest to a four cornered fight, it was decided best to cancel all the games already played and start anew. The first game of the new series is now booked for Friday evening when the I. C. T. Club and the Hope Y. M. A. will meet at the latter's gymnasium.

It has been remarkable how the interest in the sport has kept up despite the postponements that have been necessary and it speaks volumes for the interest in the league contests which may be expected as soon as they have been started. All of the clubs in the league have been practicing, however, and they are now in the best of shape. Naturally it is to be expected that the Y. M. C. A. and the Hope Y. M. A. will have the stronger teams at the start. The I. C. T. Club boys and the members of the Plainfield Reform Club have been hard at work and they all expect to develop some surprises before the season is over.

When it is remembered that the Hope Y. M. A. started the season this winter with practically no experience and defeated both the Y. M. C. A. and the Alis A. A. in the start of the first series, the new teams in the league have hopes of getting into form before the schedule is anywhere near completed. At its start, the Hope and Y. M. C. A. boys will undoubtedly have the stronger teams but even in the few games the other teams have played there has been decided improvement and the league is going to be no easy victory for either of the more experienced fives.

NARROW ESCAPE.

John Doud's Coat Caught Fire and Threatened Serious Results.

John Doud, the sub postmaster at North Plainfield had a narrow escape Friday morning from being burned to death in the store of J. J. Stahl on Somerset street. He had just put some papers in a large stove and thinking the damper was turned in the right direction he stood in front of the stove. Instead of the flames going up the chimney they came out of the open front door and in a short while Mr. Doud's coat was in flames.

John H. Carney, of Lincoln place, happened into the store at that moment, and seeing that the coat of Mr. Doud was ablaze, he rushed the young man to a faucet where the flames were extinguished. The coat was ruined.

ONE OF SOMERSET'S OLD CITIZENS GONE

Garrett Eick Passed Away at His Home in This City Saturday Night.

VETERAN OF CIVIL WAR

HE ONCE OWNED NEARLY ALL OF EAST MILLSTONE.

He Came to This City Twenty-Five Years Ago—Leaves a Wife, Daughter and Two Sons—Illness Was of a Brief Duration.

Following a severe illness of a few days' duration, Garrett Eick, aged seventy-seven years, one of Plainfield's well-known citizens and a veteran of the Civil War, died at his home, 305 East Third street, Saturday night at 10 o'clock. He was taken ill early in the week, but at first it was not considered serious. Soon afterward he grew worse and medical aid was summoned at once. From that time until he died, Mr. Eick suffered more or less. Toward the last of the week his physician, Dr. Adams gave up all hope.

Mr. Eick had been a resident of Plainfield over twenty-five years. He was born at East Millstone and at one time owned nearly all of that place. The property upon which the Reformed church stands at East Millstone, as well as the cemetery property, was given for the purposes for which they have been used for years. Prior to coming to Plainfield he followed farming to some extent. When the war broke out he enlisted for nine months in Company K, Thirtieth N. J. Volunteers, of which Captain Totten was in command. He served his full time and following his honorable discharge he soon moved to this city.

The deceased was a member of the Reformed church at East Millstone and was a thoroughly devoted Christian. He remained true to his faith to the last. During his residence in Plainfield he was unable to do any heavy work. During the term of the late Postmaster W. L. Force, he was appointed a letter-carrier, but owing to physical disability he was unable to continue this work. After that he lived in retirement. During the past few years he became very deaf and it was almost impossible to converse with him.

Besides a wife, Mr. Eick leaves a daughter, Miss Georgianna V. C. Eick, two sons, Robert D., and Frank H. Eick.

Although Mr. Eick was a member of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., in preference to a request there will be no Grand Army funeral. There will be a short service at the late home tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Cornelius Schenck, of Trinity Reformed church. The remains will be taken to East Millstone, where in the afternoon a service will be held in the Reformed church. The interment will be in the family plot in the cemetery at East Millstone.

WAGON STILL BEHIND.

But a Long Run Through Town Had Partially Demolished It.

An exciting runaway which livened up matters, Saturday night, had its beginning in the West End and terminaed in the opposite portion of the city.

The animal, which belonged to J. Kadosky, became frightened when left standing at Grant avenue and Front street and bolted towards town. It ran directly through the business center, turned Park avenue to East Fourth street and ended up at the barn near Church street. The wagon was still attached to the runaway when it stopped but it was in a partial state of demolition.

TOOK A SECOND.

Error in Reporting Time it Took to Apply Emergency Brakes.

In reporting the proceedings of the Coroner's jury on Friday, it was unintentionally printed that Charles Chambers, master mechanic of the New Jersey Central, stated that it would take a minute and a half to apply the emergency brakes on a locomotive. He said that it would take a second to apply the brakes and about four seconds for them to take full effect. In that same connection the name of Mr. Armstrong was substituted for that of Mr. Chambers. Mr. Armstrong did not testify that day.

DENIES STORY.

A. G. Nelson, of New Market, Knows Nothing of Suit to be Brought Against the Fair Estate.

A despatch to the New York Herald published this morning, states that after having accepted a settlement from the Fair family which gave to them $160,000, the relatives of Mrs. Charles L. Fair, who with her husband was killed in an automobile accident in Paris last August, are about to repudiate the compromise and have brought suit to compel the executors of the estate to give to them a more liberal share of the wealth left by Mr. Fair.

It is said that the suit is being brought in the name of Mrs. Hannah Nelson, her children and their grandchildren. When seen at his home in New Market, last evening, Abram G. Nelson, denied any knowledge of a suit having been brought in the California courts to upset the compromise in the Fair estate. He said that his mother is ill at Mrs. Bonnell's in Union and that he was sure she had not started litigation over the Fair estate. Other members of the family confirm this statement.

DIME SOCIABLE.

Union Veterans' Union and Relief Union Gave It.

A dime sociable and entertainment under the combined auspices of the Union Veterans' Union and the Woman's Relief Union was held in G. A. R. Hall, Friday evening. TO AWARD CONTRACT.

Council Will Meet Soon to Award Contract for Police Patrol System.

The Common Council will hold an adjourned meeting Monday evening, February 23, at which time it is believed that the contract for the proposed police patrol system will be given to the Gamewell Company, of New York. It is understood that the police board, as well as other members of the Council, are well satisfied as to the system and believe the Gamewell to be the best. When the contract is awarded it will require only a comparatively short time to install the system. It is quite likely that Manager Runyon, of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company, will secure the contract to take care of the system in connection with the fire alarm system which is now done by Mr. Runyon.

FRIGHTENED TO DEATH BY FIRE

Sound of Fire Gong and Passing Engines Alarmed Mrs. Abbott and Caused Death.

HAPPEND AT RAHWAY

Was Mother of Mrs. Scott Terry and Well-Known Here—Third Death in Terry Family Within a Year—The Funeral Will be Held Wednesday Afternoon.

Awakened by the furious blowing of the fire gong and the subsequent passing by of the engines and apparatus, Mrs. Frances Abbott, of Harrison street, Rahway, was literally frightened to death, yesterday morning. The alarm came from a box situated near her home and she became fearful lest the conflagration be in the immediate neighborhood. Members of the family sought to allay her mind but when the department went dashing along in front of the house, she was thrown into convulsions. Medical aid was summoned but she died without regaining consciousness.

Mrs. Abbott was the widow of the late Charles Abbott and like her husband was very well known in this city, where she was a frequent visitor. She was the mother of Mrs. Scott Terry, of Terrill road, and had other relatives in this vicinity. The funeral services will be held from her late residence, Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Abbott's death is the third to affect the Terry family within one year. Mr. Abbott's was the first and two weeks ago, Scott Terry's father, Edward Terry, passed away. In addition several of Mrs. Terry's children are ill from various causes and a sister was helping her in the care of them when news of her mother's death was brought.

CARRIED A HOD.

Miguel Marconi Entertained City Court This Morning With a Pantomimic Exhibition.

A pantomimic exhibition that would put a vaudeville artist to shame was given in the city court, this morning, when Miguel Marconi (who repudiates relationship to the inventor) was arraigned on a charge of begging. Marconi, is, or claims to be, a mute and was detected by Patrolman Lunger, yesterday, securing nickels and dimes from West End householders by exhibiting a purported crippled hand. It was cleverly bound up in a stocking giving the impression it had been amputated.

With a little paper hod which he had made, Marconi climbed all about the court room and tumbled on the floor in an effort to convince City Judge Runyon that he was a hod carrier and had been crippled by a fall from a ladder. The court decided to send him out of town but had no other way of making it known to him expect by placing him in Patrolman Meyer's care. The latter took him to the city line and started him along.

ANOTHER YEAR OF SUCCESS.

Past Year's Achievements of the Prudential Company.

The history of the Prudential Insurance Company of America has been one continuous record of success and accomplishment, but the gains made during the year just closed surpass anything in the previous history of the company.

The amount of life insurance written and paid for during the year was over two hundred and seventy-two million dollars, which is reported to have been of such high quality that the total amount of paid-for insurance in force has been brought to more than eight hundred million dollars.

The Prudential is truly ranked as "one of the great life insurance companies of the world," not only in size, but in those features which make for strength and the protection of policy-holders' interests, as well as a progressive and liberal administration. The assets of the company have increased to sixty million dollars, which, with a surplus exceeding nine millions furnish ample security for all insurance contracts.

Nearly five million policies in force indicate the popularity of the Prudential with the great insuring public, for the business of this company now extends from Maine to the Pacific coast, and from the St. Lawrence to the Gulf States, a typical American company of the highest grade, with an American success and an unlimited American future.

The Easy Pill.

DeWitt's Little Early Risers do not gripe nor weaken the system. They cure biliousness, jaundice, constipation and inactive livers, by arousing the secretions, moving the bowels gently, yet effectually, and giving such tone and strength to the glands of the stomach, liver and bowels that the cause of the trouble is removed entirely. These famous little pills exert a decided tonic effect upon the organs involved, and if their use is continued for a few days there will be no return of the trouble. L. W. Randolph.

WHAT PRESS AD HAS DONE

THE RED STAR STAMP COMPANY WELL PLEASED WITH RESLUTS.

Trial of Daily Press Ad Columns Convinced Company of Their Value.

The advertising manager of The Daily Press has been over a year in securing a contract from The Red Star Stamp Company owing to the advertising rates of The Daily Press being so much higher than they have been compelled to pay for their advertising in this vicinity. After a trial of one advertisement we receive the following, which is indeed very gratifying:

Newark, N. J., Feb. 6, 1903.

The Daily Press,
Plainfield, N. J.

Gentlemen: We are frank to say that we are very much pleased with the results obtained from our coupon ad. recently inserted in your paper to draw attention to the premiums given for Red Star Trading Stamps. Now that we have finished counting The Daily Press coupons it occurred to us that you might be interested to know the actual results of the insertion. The ad. appeared one time occupying fifteen inches space, and it brought into our store at 118 Madison avenue, Plainfield, 280 people who were collecting, or who wished to begin collecting Red Star Trading Stamps.

This is certainly very gratifying to us, and must also be to you. The class of people who responded was proof that The Daily Press reaches people who are quick to appreciate any legitimate offer.

We never paid a bill more cheerfully, because the results in Red Star Trading Stamp collecting were beyond our expectations. This Daily Press ad. has put us in closer touch with the Plainfield stamp collectors than we ever were before.

The value of The Daily Press for quickly increasing business is very much prized by us, and it is heartily recommended to advertisers who wish to cover the Plainfield territory.

Yours very truly,
Red Star Trading Stamp Co.

A Weak Stomach

causes a weak body and invites disease. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cures and strengthens the stomach, and wards off and overcomes disease. J. B. Taylor, a prominent merchant of Chriesman, Tex., says: "I could not eat because of a weak stomach. I lost all strength and run down in weight. All that money could do was done, but all hope of recovery vanished. Hearing of some wonderful cures effected by use of Kodol, I concluded to try it. The first bottle benefitted me, and after taking four bottles I am fully restored to my usual strength, weight and health." L. W. Randolph.

WORK ON PROTOCOL

Allies' Representatives Busy on Venezuelan Matter.

TO BE SIGNED SIMULTANEOUSLY.

Early Settlement of the Vexed Question and Speedy Raising of the Blockade Predicted by Minister Bowen.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—The representatives of the allies here are busily engaged in the preparation of the protocol which they are to sign with Mr. Bowen, Venezuela's representative, for the reference to The Hague of the question whether the blockading powers shall be entitled to preferential treatment in the settlement of their claims. The blockade will be raised when the protocols are signed. They are in constant communication with their governments on this subject and are anxious as far as possible to cover every detail which should be comprised in an instrument of this character. Mr. Bowen is also anxious that the protocols shall be identical so far as this may be practicable, and he is directing his efforts to that end and also that they shall be signed on the same day.

The British protocol provides for the reference of the contention of the allies for preferential treatment to The Hague for settlement, for the payment by Venezuela to Great Britain of £5,500 cash and for the immediate raising of the blockade. The matter of the adjudication of the claims and the collection of the 30 per cent out of which they are to be paid has been left for the second protocol.

Italy, it has been learned, wishes to have inserted in her protocol an article providing for a change in her treaty of amity with Venezuela so as to include the "favored nation" clause such as the other powers possess. Mr. Bowen has explained that while he is willing to use his influence to secure this he can do nothing more in the protocol than recommend it, as the matter is entirely irrelevant to the present controversy.

There are also other provisions in the Italian protocol which do not meet the approval of Mr. Bowen, and the Italian ambassador has cabled to Rome for permission to withdraw them.

Regarding the German protocol little is known except that it is along the general lines of the other two. Several changes have been made in it, and other changes are likely.

Minister Bowen continues optimistic of an early settlement and the speedy raising of the blockade. He is hopeful that no perplexing or vexatious problems may intervene now that the matter has progressed so far and that it will not be long before the whole question is settled in its primary stages, the raising of the blockade, arbitration of the question of preferential treatment and protocols signed for the settlement of the claims themselves, including those of the allied and of the unallied powers.

Franciscans Summoned to Rome.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 9.—The Franciscan fathers have received a call from Rome announcing that a universal chapter of the entire Franciscan order will be held in that city on Pentecost Sunday to elect a superior general of the order to succeed the late Father Aloysius Lauer. In this country the Franciscans have five provinces, and the following provincials will attend the general chapter and participate in the elections: Very Revs. Louis Haverbeck, representing the Cincinnati province; Huguolinus Sterff, representing the St. Louis province; A. Butell, representing the New York province; Edward Blecke, representing the New Jersey province, and Stanislaus Jeka, representing the Polish province.

Missouri and Illinois Shaken Up.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 9.—Two distinct earthquake shocks were felt in St. Louis and vicinity between 6:20 and 6:25 o'clock last night. The first shock was of almost twenty seconds' duration, and while it was not so distinctly felt immediately in St. Louis, in the western suburban towns and in Alton, Belleville, Edwardsville and other nearby towns in Illinois it was sufficiently forceful to rattle dishes and swing doors. The second shock followed within two minutes and was slight and of short duration.

Crowninshield at Naples.

NAPLES, Feb. 9.—Rear Admiral Crowninshield, aboard his flagship, the cruiser Chicago, has arrived here from Algiers. He will proceed to Alexandria and return here later. It is reported that he will be back here for the gathering of the Italian and Russian fleets on the occasion of the czar's coming visit.

A Theater Burned.

FRANKFORT, Ind., Feb. 9.—The Columbia theater, the only theater in this city, has been burned. The Maccabees' and Woodmen's hall, a grocery store and a saloon also were destroyed. The fire, which is believed to have been of incendiary origin, caused a loss of about $50,000; insurance, $12,000.

Memorial Session of the House.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—The house of representatives held a memorial session yesterday to pay tribute to the memory of the late Senator William J. Sewell and the late Representative Joshua S. Salmon of New Jersey. Mr. Parker of New Jersey presided.

Boy Killed His Companion.

OUR NEW STORE

is not alone "New Jersey's Greatest Mercantile Establishment," but it enjoys the distinction of covering as great area as that of any New York Store. In its detail of equipment and completeness, as well as the superior line of strictly reliable merchandise carried, it rivals any house in the country. These are potent factors, and, standing alone, form a mighty bid for that patronage which still clings to the mistaken idea that "it's not right" unless purchased in New York. The argument, however, gains strength when the comparison of prices proves beyond a shadow of doubt that a positive saving is evident on identical merchandise, which is sold in New York stores at from 10 to 25 per cent. beyond prices quoted by us.

WAGE SCALE SIGNED

Miners' Executive Committee Completes Its Work.

WAGES OF 300,000 MEN AFFECTED

Final Settlement Came After Hope Had Been Abandoned—A Substantial Increase Granted by the Soft Coal Operators.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 9.—The national executive committee of the mine workers met here today and concluded its work. President Mitchell left for Philadelphia, and Vice President Lewis started for eastern Ohio, and from there he probably will go to the mining district of West Virginia. The district conferences will be held between now and April 1.

All the dates for the joint conferences in the several states have not been fixed.

Of the conventions which have been arranged are Michigan's convention at Saginaw March 15 and the joint conference immediately afterward at Bay City and nine joint conferences in Ohio during the month of March.

Operators and miners of central bituminous competitive district have signed and ratified a new wage scale agreement. Final settlement was reached late and at a time when the leaders of both factions had practically abandoned all hope of effecting an agreement. By the new scale the operators grant an increase of 10 cents per ton for mining of coal on screen system, 6 cents a ton on a run of mine system and 8 cents on machine mining.

The wage scale signed directly and indirectly affects the wages of 300,000 miners. Those directly affected are the miners in the states of the central competitive district composed of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and the Pittsburg district of Pennsylvania. Of these 25,000 are in the Pittsburg district, 33,000 are in Ohio, 9,000 are in the Indiana bituminous fields, 3,000 are in the Indiana block coalfields and 40,000 are in Illinois.

Those whose wages are indirectly affected are the 30,000 miners of central Pennsylvania, 3,000 of Michigan, 14,000 of Iowa, 4,000 of Kentucky, 15,000 of Alabama, 15,000 of Tennessee and about 20,000 of Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas and Indian Territory. All of the latter base their wage demands on the scale adopted in the central district.

Not Dissatisfied With Taft.

ROME, Feb. 9.—The Vatican emphatically denies all the rumors of Cardinal Rampolla's dissatisfaction regarding Governor Taft's attitude in the Philippine questions. Dissatisfaction is felt at the Vatican toward the arrangements initiated by Mgr. Guidi's predecessors with the mediators, to whom, in addition to large salaries, they promised 25 per cent of the property the mediators should succeed in retaining for the church. The effect of Mgr. Guidi's latest reports and mature consideration seems to have decided the Vatican that the best solution is to return to the original proposition made by the United States to resort to arbitration for the purchase of the friar lands, the settlement of the rentals, the indemnity for damage due from the United States and the administration of the charitable and educational trusts. It is reported that the pope has always supported this solution.

New Oil Tank Steamer.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—The new oil tank steamer Phœbus has just arrived on her maiden trip from Glasgow, where she was built by Dunlap & Co. for the Deutsch-Amerikanische Petroleum Gesellschaft of Hamburg. The vessel's dimensions are 437 feet by 53 feet by 40 feet depth. The gross registered tonnage is 6,200, and the total dead weight carrying capacity is about 8,500 tons, or 2,500,000 gallons of oil. The Phœbus is of the latest type of oil steamer, her engines being amidships and the tanks for oil fore and aft of the space occupied by machinery, boilers and bunkers.

The Chattahoochee at Flood Tide.

COLUMBIA, Ga., Feb. 9.—The Chattahoochee river is on a big rise, and a flood is feared. The water is thirty-six feet above normal and rising. All the false work on the new Fourteenth street bridge is gone from the center span to the western shore, having given way early in the morning. All the mills on the river front will be idle several days on account of the inundation of their water wheels. The construction work on the new Muskogee mill has been suspended, and water covers the entire structure. Within six hours the river rose five and a half feet.

Farmer Killed by Magistrate.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Feb. 9.—H. W. Blitch, a truck farmer of Meggetts, Colleton county, was shot and instantly killed there by Magistrate Behling. There had been some dispute between them about a land transaction. Behling advanced toward Blitch with a shotgun. Both were armed, but the magistrate was the quicker and fired twice, a load of buckshot ripping out Blitch's heart. Behling surrendered to the sheriff of Colleton county.

Rumor About Milner Disposed Of.

BLOEMFONTEIN, Feb. 9.—Mr. Chamberlain, speaking at a banquet here, expressed the belief that the high commissioner, Lord Milner, would stay in South Africa long enough to see the fruition of his policy. This remark is held to dispose of the rumors that Lord Milner was about to resign his post.

THE RESPONSIBILITY.

Those who have closely followed the proceedings of the coroner's inquest, heard the testimony which has been presented at its sessions, and seen the various demonstrations intended for the enlightenment of the jury, can come very close to guessing what the general trend of the findings of the inquest will be. After everything that has been said and done, there appears to be no reasonable doubt that Engineer Davis was directly responsible for the accident.

Right here, however, it might be well to add that there is a vast difference between responsibility and liability. There isn't any question as to the liability of the Jersey Central Railroad and that it will have to pay out thousands of dollars to the families of those who met their death in the accident or were injured there. That is a conceded fact by the railroad officials as well as every one else. The question of responsibility, and particularly criminal responsibility, is a different one altogether.

Had the signals failed to work properly; had there been any confusion of orders; had the orders of the company not stated specifically that one must not run by a red signal, the responsibility for the accident would not have rested on the engineer. Under the circumstances, however, the jury will have to bring in a verdict that he was directly responsible. It will remain with the jury, if it so desires, however, to offer any suggestions or recommendations that will tend to indicate that any methods pursued by the railroad company or its employes are not of the best and may have worked disastrously in this case.

It will be these recommendations of the coroner's jury that will be looked for with special interest by the public at large. Here are six of Plainfield's best citizens who have examined all the circumstances exhaustively and impartially. They have gone more deeply into the subject than is usual in such cases and if the truth is to be found they certainly ought to discover it. Whatever is their decision in this case is going to have great weight with the public at large and with the State and county authorities.

THE REASONS WHY.

It is difficult to understand why there should be an attempt made to repeal the Plainfield annexation and consolidation laws. Both acts contain referendum clauses which means that the people whose interests are affected are expected to decide the questions involved, thus relieving the Legislature of all responsibility. Surely our lawmakers at Trenton are not so indifferent to the interests and desires of the people of this community as to deny them the right to laws governing home interests where such laws depend in their enactment, first, upon a majority vote of the Council, or governing body, and then upon a majority vote of the people.

It is true that one election has been held and one section of the people voted adversely by a small majority, but this was a test of annexation only and not consolidation. It is a well known fact that many people voted no last September because they did not believe that annexation, if carried, would be followed by even a chance to vote on consolidation. They were and still are consolidationists who thought the main question, consolidation, should be put first. Furthermore, the voters were deceived by statements that the Plainfield sewerage system was a failure and that North Plainfield would be expected to share in this expense. This clever trick has since been exposed and it is doubtful that intelligent people would again attack the sewerage system which is doing so much for this city.

As to popular sentiment it is well to note that the Board of Trade of Plainfield and North Plainfield has unanimously voted against these repealers. The Plainfield Council has also unanimously asked the Legislature to let this question alone. The Borough Council is known to hold the same opinion and it is a matter of common knowledge over there that annexation sentiment has grown since last fall.

After a two weeks' postponement on account of the Westfield disaster and the period of general mourning and sorrow which followed it, the Plainfield Amateur Basket Ball League is preparing to resume its contests this week. The first game will be played Friday evening between the Hope Y. M. A. and the I. C. T. Club at the former's gymnasium. There has been a combination of circumstances which has seemed to work against the starting of the league under the new arrangement but it is believed that everything is now ready for an interesting and exciting series of games. Both of the new teams are fast rounding into form and the more expert players are likely to find in the new comers formidable antagonists before the season is over. Games will now be played every Monday and Friday evening of each week.

Special arrangements are being made for the host of Plainfielders who will attend the Senate hearing on the repealers to the annexation and consolidation acts at Trenton tomorrow. The great bulk of the local delegation will leave in the train which is scheduled to start from New York at 1 o'clock and reaches here at 1:39. Plainfield commuters, who desire to ride as far as Plainfield on their regular commutation tickets, may secure tickets good from Plainfield to Trenton and return at the New York ticket office.

It is to be hoped that every citizen who can spare the time will join the delgation which goes to Trenton tomorrow afternoon. This is not a question as to the right or wrong of the Greater Plainfield proposition. It is simply an expression on the part of the people of Plainfield and North Plainfield that they desire to settle questions of their own without interference from the outside.

NATIONAL HELP IN MAKING GOOD ROADS

Aims of the Brownlow Bill Which is Now Before Congress.

GROWTH OF THE IDEA

WILL HELP RATHER THAN HINDER THE PLANS FOR STATE AID.

Heretofore National Efforts Have Been Confined Entirely to Educational Work — What Has Been Done in the Matter.

The idea of the National Government taking an active part in the construction of the highways, so popular three-quarters of a century ago, has for several decades been considered obsolete. But the interest manifested in the Brownlow bill, now before Congress, which provides for National aid to road building, shows that this idea is very much alive. Indeed the popular interest in the subject is a source of surprise to those who have not been giving the matter attention. This interest is by no means a sudden development either. It has been growing steadily for a number of years.

It is now ten years since the popular demand that Uncle Sam do something to help out of the mud led to the establishment of an Office of Public Road Inquires in the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The work of this office was intended to be purely educational concerning the roads of the country and means and methods for their improvement. The first work of this office was to prepare and publish a large number of bulletins and circulars treating on the various phases of road building and improvement. This work occupied several years and it was well done. If the roads in most parts of the country remain bad, it is not for the want of information as to how they may be improved in the best and most economical manner; for Uncle Sam's "good roads" office is a veritable "information bureau" on the subject.

But the work of this office did not stop here. The educational idea was carried further, and during the past three years the object-lesson feature has assumed greater importance. The idea as carried out is very simple. When the people of some progressive community, or the authorities of some educational institution want a piece of road built to illustrate the benefits of good roads and the methods of building them, application is made to the Department of Agriculture, and, whenever possible, a Government expert is sent to supervise the work. Recently a number of prominent and progressive railroad men have been giving the road question some study, and have come to the conclusion that the improvement of the roads in the territory tributary to their lines would materially increase their business.

So popular has this idea become that the officials of some of the leading railways have come forward with offers to co-operate with the Government in the object-lesson work. Another voluntary factor in this co-operative work is the manufacturers of road building devices who desire to bring their machinery to the attention of the public. In this co-operative work the Government furnishes the experts, the manufacturers the machinery, and the railroads the transportation. This idea has proven extremely popular. Object-lesson roads have been built under Government supervision in twenty States; and so great has been the demand for National aid of this kind that a large number of applications have to be refused every year because the funds appropriated by Congress are insufficient to employ and pay this expense of enough experts to do the work. Already Congress has twice made an increase in the appropriations for this work, but the $20,000 now appropriated annually proves wholly inadequate to meet the demands for this educational work.

It should be borne in mind that all the work of this kind done by the Government is in the nature of National aid. There is, therefore, nothing new in principle in the bill recently introduced in Congress by Colonel Brownlow, of Tennessee, providing for National aid of a more extensive and substantial character. It is proposed that the Government shall no longer confine its assistance to educational work; that it shall furnish not only information and supervision, but financial assistance. Under certain limitations, the National Government will co-operate with States and counties in the improvement of the common roads each assuming proportion of the expense.

It is sometimes urged as an objection to National aid that it will cause the people to relax their efforts at road improvement, and to depend on the General Government to do the work for them. Is it not likely to produce exactly the opposite result? The large fund which Congress will appropriate for this work will be divided among the States in proportion to population. But no State can secure its share except by complying with the conditions prescribed, the chief of which is that it shall raise a like sum for the same purpose. Instead of discouraging State effort, this should greatly stimulate it. Again, if a State takes no action looking to the acceptance of the Government's proffered help, the individual counties may do so, and this again will start a rivalry among the counties in their efforts to secure a part of the National fund due the State.

The scheme is a great one, and far-reaching in its possibilities for economic development. Time and intelligence will be required to work out the details of its application, but there appears to be no serious obstacle, either practical or constitutional, in the way of its realization.

AN ORDINANCE

Establishing a Sanitary Code for the Township of Fanwood.

The Board of Health of the Township of Fanwood, in the county of Union, and State of New Jersey, by virtue of the provisions of the act of the Legislature of the State of New Jersey, entitled, "An act to establish in this state Boards of Health and a Bureau of Vital Statistics, and to define their respective powers and duties," approved March 31st, 1887, and the several supplements thereto and amendments thereof, doth ordain:

ARTICLE NO. I.

Marriages, Births, Deaths and Burials.

Section 1. Any physician, midwife, nurse, clergyman, magistrate or any other person, who shall officiate at any death, birth or marriage, and who shall neglect to make return thereof to the proper officer acording to law, shall for each and every failure to make such return or report, be liable to a penalty of twenty dollars.

Sec. 2. In case of any person dying within this township it shall be the duty of the physician who may have attended during the last illness to furnish the undertaker or any member of the family with a certificate of death, or in case there was no attending physician, the township physician may be required by the Board to view the body and furnish said certificate, which certificate shall be made out on, and shall comprise all the facts stated in, the blank forms furnished for that purpose by the Board.

Sec. 3. No person shall disinter any body from any place within the township between May 1st and November 1st, as prohibited by State law, nor during any other portion of the year, without the written consent so to do from this Board.

Sec. 4. Any person or persons offending against the provisions of sections 2 and 3 of this ordinance shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than two, nor greater than 100 dollars.

ARTICLE NO. II.

Contagious Diseases.

Section 1. All cases of small-pox, diphtheria, scarlet fever, typhoid fever, yellow fever, typhus fever, measles, Asiatic cholera or other contagious and infectious diseases, and all cases of death therefrom in the Township of Fanwood, shall be forthwith reported in writing to the Board of Health of the said township by the owner or occupant of any dwelling in which any of such diseases or deaths shall have occurred, and also by the physician in attendance on the case.

All directions which the Board of Health shall prescribe for the purpose of preventing the spread of such disease, either by the use of disinfectants, fumigation, isolation, or otherwise shall be strictly carried out, and any order that may be made by the Board for the destruction of clothing or other articles for the purposes aforesaid shall be promptly obeyed. Whenever there shall occur in the Township of Fanwood a case of cholera, small pox, varioloid, diptheria or membranous croup, yellow fever, typhus fever, or scarlet fever, the Board of Health or its authorized agent shall place upon the house or houses in which said case or cases are confined, one or more placards stating that a case of contagious disease exists within the house, and no person or persons shall remove said placard or placards without authority of said Board of Health.

Sec. 3. Adequate disinfection of premises, furniture and belongings, deemed by the Board of Health to be infected by contagious or communicable diseases, shall immediately follow recovery, death or exposure, and such disinfection shall be performed under the supervision of the Board of Health.

Sec. 4. No person from any dwelling house wherein a disease dangerous to the public health exists, shall take any book or magazine to or from the public library without a permit from the Board of Health. Any owner or agent of any premises, building, lot, yard, cellar, privy, sink or cesspool, who shall neglect or fail to comply with the requirements of such notice, shall pay not less than two, nor greater than 100 dollars for each and every offence, and pay the cost of abatement of such nuisance, to be recovered by action of debt.

Sec. 12. No cart or other vehicle carrying any offal, swill, manure, or the contents of any privy, vault, cesspool or sink, shall without necessity therefor stand or remain before or near any building, place of business or other premises, where any person may be; nor shall any such cart occupy an unreasonable length of time in loading or unloading, or in passing along any street, or through any inhabited place or ground; nor shall any such cart or vehicle, or anything thereto appertaining, be in a condition detrimental to the public health; and when not in use all such carts, vehicles and all implements used in connection therewith, shall be stored and kept in some place where any noxious odor arising therefrom shall not be detrimental to public health. UP TO DATE GOWNS.

Pink the Fad of the Moment—Tea Gowns.

Pink is one of the fashionable evening shades at present, and a smart gown recently seen was all of pink chiffon over a glace of pink silk foundation.

Another ideal pink gown was veiled with chiffon of the same tone, with black and white lace medallions worked in silver.

Extremely cheap crepe de chine skirts tucked, in all shades, with bodice materials to match, are sold in the department stores and prove indeed boons to the impecunious girl with clever fingers.

Tea gowns have also to be considered in the practical policy of winter clothes, and people are copying many designs from old pictures, especially from the Stuart and Georgian periods. Diaphanous sleeves seem a necessity, and there is a disinclination to show the waist.

An elaborate evening toilet of black silk is here shown. It is trimmed with applications of black chantilly over white silk. JUDIC CHOLLET.

ODDS AND ENDS.

Louis XV. Designs in Embroideries. Marked Down Furs.

The revival of Louis XV. designs offers a wide field to the home worker. For instance, some women are embroidering old patterns of lace with jewels, using good imitations. The effect is very stunning.

A really good effect is obtained by embroidering renaissance lace with tinsel and jewels. It is to be hoped that the crude ribbon work on cheap lace will be given up in favor of this artistic scheme of decoration.

A good many opera cloaks consist of very heavy brocades, sometimes lined with inexpensive Japanese fox.

Never have furs been so cheap as at present. Squirrel especially is marked down, because there is a great deal more of it in the market than there is a demand for. It is a good investment for the early spring, especially when trimmed with ermine, because gray and white are always charming when combined with a flower trimmed toque.

A useful and serviceable bathrobe is here shown. It is of quilted Japanese silk lined with a contrasting shade, which also appears on the collar and cuffs. JUDIC CHOLLET.

-r raps not, for, to tell the truth, you ain't what the boys would call 'a swell.' But a shave an' a hair cut'll make a sight of difference. I know of a place close by where we'll go. A chap from our town keeps it."

As they turned from the main thoroughfare, which was called Keneseo street, a puff of warm wind blew a cloud of dust in their faces.

"Thunder!" ejaculated Joe Becraft. "I've swallowed enough nasty stuff for one day. Do you know," he added, "for a decent city, this town is one of the dirtiest goin'! 'Taint as bad as it used to be, but it's plenty bad enough."

Rossiter was not posted in the matter of municipal street-cleaning, so he did not reply to these observations. They had not walked more than a block when they saw a barber's striped pole, and entered a little shop where a dapper young man, with elaborately brushed hair and a not over-clean white duck jacket, was making change for a customer whom he had been shaving.

"Hullo, Joe!" said this individual, "what are you up to?"

"Oh, the mill's shut down for a few weeks, an' I'm off hop-pickin' with the family," answered Becraft. "Friend of mine, here," he continued, indicating Rossiter, "wants you to fix him up."

The barber's attention was for the first time directed to the companion of the Becraft brothers.

"Say——" he began.

"No Jollyin', now," interrupted Joe. "He took an oath a while ago that he wouldn't get a shave or hair cut till you cleaned your streets properly, but he's backed out."

The barber exploded in a guffaw.

"Lucky for him he has," he answered, "unless he means to hire out to Forepaugh or Buffalo Bill as the wild man of Borneo."

While Rossiter's locks were being trimmed and his beard removed, Joe Becraft and his tonsorial friend kept their tongues continually wagging. Their conversation had chiefly to do with the town of their nativity and a certain portion of its inhabitants, and Rossiter listened with not a little inward amusement, for each young man had, in his way, a sense of broad humor that flashed out in their comments upon people. Finally the barber's task was accomplished, and he removed the soiled apron from Rossiter's neck with a flourish and a——

"There you are, sir!"

"Gosh!" Joe Becraft exclaimed, "I wouldn't believe you were the same fellow."

The change in the vagabond's appearance was indeed great. His rather large, clear-cut features showed to an advantage without beard or mustache, and though the lines of his chin indicated a lack of decision, one studying his face for the first time would have said that its possessor was endowed with a strong individuality. His deep brown eyes were laughing and grave by turns. The discontent and bitterness which showed in the expression of his mouth were not to be seen habitually. Dissipation had left no mark upon his countenance, for although at times Rossiter had imbibed freely, he was very far from being a drunkard; indeed, he had no special taste for liquor, and had frequently resorted to it not so much because he craved it as because it took him out of himself.

Becraft produced some silver and paid his townsfellow.

"Its my treat to-day," he explained.

They now retraced their steps to Keneseo street, and followed this thoroughfare until they came to the elaborate lift-bridge spanning the Ontario canal. From time to time Becraft regarded his new friend speculatively.

"Say," he at length broke out, as the three paused and leaned over the railing, idly scanning a steam packet that was moored below, "you've been used to a different sort of life, haven't you?"

Rossiter did not reply at once.

"Yes," he said finally.

"Had an education, an' all that?"

"Yes."

"I thought so. You don't talk like—well, like most of the people I know."

"I'm not aware of any difference."

"Oh, yes, you are. That is, you would be if you'd stop to think about it."

"I got through thinking some time ago, at least I so imagined until lately."

"You know, an education," said Becraft, not heeding Rossiter's last remark, "is something I'm always wishin' I had. It's a great thing."

"I've certainly not done very much with mine," replied the wanderer.

"How'd it happen?"

"It's hard to say. I don't doubt another—you, for instance, would have profited by it, but as for me—" He ended with an expressive shrug of his shoulders.

They continued to look at the steam-packet for several minutes longer, and then resumed their walk towards the Cottage hotel.

"Don't b'lieve we'd better say anythin' about my swimmin' experience to Ma, Jim," observed Joe Becraft, as they left the main street for the narrower thoroughfare where the hotel they sought was situated. "Like as not she'd have a blue fit."

"Bet she would," replied Jim.

"She's pretty nervous about my health sometimes," Joe explained. "You see, father died o' consumption."

"Why should you say anything to her about it?" inquired Rossiter. "Certainly, so far as I am aware, there's not the slightest reason for your doing so."

"Oh, but I want her to know some day what you did for me. I'll tell her about it up in the hop-yard. She won't take on so there. I mean, she won't give it to me quite so strong about bein' careless, an' all that."

HE MADE THE DESIRED ALTERATIONS.

"Have it as you will," said Rossiter, "but I should be rather pleased if you made no mention of it whatever."

"I'm goin' to introduce you," said Joe, "as a friend who's done me a good turn. That'll explain our fetchin' you along."

Rossiter now descried in the distance the staring letters—"Cottage Hotel"—above a large and rambling wooden building, so he intimated that before he met the mother and sister of his companions he would like to make a slight change in his apparel.

"I've got another shirt in here," he said, displaying his bundle, "that looks more presentable than this one I'm wearing."

DEATH IN TIDAL WAVE

A Thousand Lives Lost In the Society Islands.

Huge Wall of Water Caused by Hurricane Swept Over Eighty Islands—The French Government Takes Measures For Relief.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 9.—News of a fearful loss of life in a destructive storm that swept over the south sea islands last month has just reached here by the steamer Mariposa, direct from Tahiti. The loss of life is estimated at 1,000 persons. On Jan. 13 last a huge tidal wave, accompanied by a terrific hurricane, attacked the Society islands and the Puamoto group with fearful force, causing death and devastation never before equaled in a land of dreaded storms.

The storm raged several days, reaching its strength between Jan. 14 and 16. From the meager news received at Tahiti up to the time of the sailing of the Mariposa it is estimated that 1,000 of the islanders lost their lives. It is feared that later advices will increase this number.

The first news of the disaster reached Papeete, Tahiti, Jan. 26 by the schooner Eimeo. The captain of the schooner placed the fatalities at 500. The steamer Excelsior arrived at Papeete the following day with 400 destitute survivors. The captain of the Excelsior estimated the total loss of life to be 800. These figures comprised only the deaths on the three islands of Hao, Hikuera and Makokan, whose ordinary population is 1,800. On Hikuera island, where 1,000 inhabitants were engaged in pearl diving, nearly one-half were drowned. On an adjacent island 100 more were washed out to sea.

Makokan and Hao are depopulated. Conservative estimates at Tahiti place the number of islands visited by the tidal wave and hurricane at 80. All of them are under the control of the French governor at Tahiti.

The surviving inhabitants are left destitute of food, shelter and clothing, all having been swept away by the storm.

The French government, upon receipt of news of the disaster, took prompt measures to relieve the distressed districts and dispatched two warships with fresh water and provisions. The Italian man-of-war Calabria accompanied the French vessels on their errand of mercy. As the supply of fresh water and provisions was totally exhausted by the storm it is feared that many lives will be lost before the relief ships can arrive. As far as known eight white people were among the drowned. Included in these were Alexander Brander, N. P. Plunkett of Oakland, T. D. Donnelly, formerly a fireman on the steamship Australia, and the local agent of C. Coppenrath, a merchant of Papeete. Added to this number was an unknown woman who committed suicide from fright.

As the islands were barely twenty feet above sea level and were not surrounded by coral reefs, it was necessary for all the inhabitants to take to the cocoanut trees when the tidal wave began to cover the land. These trees grow to an immense height, many reaching an altitude of 100 feet. All of the lower trees were covered by the raging seas, which swept with pitiless force about and over them. The natives in the taller trees were safe until the cocoanut roots gave way, and then they, too, were swept out into the sea.

The 400 survivors brought by the Excelsior to Papeete gained the ship's side by swimming three and four miles from the tops of the cocoanut trees. The Eimeo, though badly damaged by the storm, also brought off as many persons as could swim to her sides, she, like the Excelsior, being unable to run close to the shore because of the violence of the ocean swells which continued to run abnormally high for a week after the tidal disturbances.

One of the many acts of heroism reported is that of a woman who climbed one of the tall cocoanut trees and lashed her babe to the branches, hanging to the body of the tree beneath the little child as best she could. There they remained for ten hours, suffering great torture until finally rescued. Thousands of tons of copra and more than 200 tons of mother of pearl shells are known to have been lost. The pearl shells are valued at $1,800 per ton, and many valuable pearls may now be lost to the world forever, as these were considered some of the best pearl islands in the world.

Wants His Monument Sold.

DUBLIN, Feb. 9.—Michael Davitt last August unveiled a memorial erected by Armagh Nationalists to Hugh Carberry, an Armagh man killed while fighting with the Boer Irish brigade at Modersprult. Letters have now been received in Armagh from Pretoria stating that Carberry is alive and desires the memorial to be sold and the money realized to be forwarded to him, as he is badly in need of it.

Freight Congestion Relieved.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 9.—Officials of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad state that the freight embargo which has existed for several weeks has been lifted and that there is no congestion of freight at any point on the line. Freight is now being accepted from all connections. While there is a great deal of freight being handled, there is little or no delay in its delivery.

MAYOR TALKS ON PARKS

GIVES HIS IDEAS MORE IN FULL ON THAT SUBJECT.

Believes That Plainfield Should Have Several Public Parks and Lakes.

Provided no serious obstacles arise during the coming year it is not too much to expect that Plainfield will have at least one city park and possibly a lake. Since Mayor O. L. Jenkins has announced himself in favor of parks and lakes for the city, places where both young and old can go and enjoy themselves during the summer time, and members of the Common Council are known to favor the scheme, steps will undoubtedly be taken during the year to bring about these improvements for Plainfield.

A few evenings ago a reporter for The Daily Press met His Honor and endeavored to learn something of his ideas on the subject of lakes and parks. The Mayor declined to specifically state where he had selected spots for proposed lakes and parks, for he felt that it might have a tendency to jump the price of property. He does not favor one lake and one park, but says that the city should have two or three situated at convenient points where they can be of the most benefit to the people. He suggested that one desirable place would be in the vicinity of Randolph road and Park avenue, another in the West End of the city and still a third in the East End. His Honor believes that now is the time to make provisions for these improvements while land can be bought cheaply.

The Mayor also favors the plan of making the parks and lakes large enough to be of some good. He would have small boats and electric launches on the lakes and in the parks he would have flower gardens, a band stand where concerts could be given and other attractions. He would have them so situated that they would be easy of access by trolley.

When asked about the probable cost of such improvements, Mayor Jenkins declined to quote any figures. He says that he has not investigated that part of the scheme sufficiently to give figures, but he believes that Plainfield is abundantly able to make these improvements which are sure to be of lasting benefit. In explaining his failure to attend a recent meeting of the Board of Trade and explain his ideas about parks and lakes, the Mayor said that he was given only a few hours' notice and he was not prepared to go to the meeting and quote facts and figures, such as the members of the Board of Trade wanted.

His Honor favors the plans of G. Herbert Taylor, of West Seventh street, as regards these improvements, and has an idea that they would be practicable to Plainfield's needs.

Uribe-Uribe Took His Life.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Feb. 9.—The British steamer Para, which has just arrived here from Colon, brings the news of the suicide on Jan. 30 of the former Colombian revolutionary general Uribe-Uribe. General Uribe-Uribe published a letter Dec. 12 advising Colombia to await the falling in of the Panama canal concession in 1904, which would leave the Colombian government a free hand in the matter of the canal. The reports brought by the Para indicate the possibility of another revolution in opposition to the Panama canal treaty.

Blizzard In Northern New York.

UTICA, N. Y., Feb. 9.—A blizzard prevailed here yesterday, starting early in the morning with a hailstorm. Trains were more or less delayed, especially through trains from the west. A dispatch from Malone says that a heavy snowstorm from the northeast continued all day throughout northern New York. About eight inches has fallen. The storm was general throughout central and northern New York.

New Serum Cures Bubonic Plague.

MAZATLAN, Mexico, Feb. 9.—There were two deaths from the plague yesterday. Very satisfactory results are being attained by the use of yersin serum. Most of the patients to whom it is given begin to recover immediately. Nearly all of the hotels and boarding houses are closed, the owners fearing in case the plague breaks out in them the buildings will be burned.

Wrecked by a Broken Truck.

UTICA, N. Y., Feb. 9.—A broken truck caused a bad freight wreck on the Mohawk and Malone division of the New York Central railroad at Childwold, in the Adirondacks. Eight cars were derailed and their contents scattered, but no one was hurt. Trains were delayed several hours.

The Pretender's Capture Confirmed.

THE HEARING ON REPEALERS

Many From City and Borough Go to Oppose Passage on These Bills.

"ANTIS" REPRESENTED

Strong Sentiment Against Repeal of Annexation and Consolidation Measures, As Was Shown by the Crowd That Left for Trenton This Afternoon.

By special arrangement the Philadelphia express, leaving New York at 1 o'clock this afternoon, stopped here at 1:38 to pick up the delegation bound for the hearing before the Senate committee on the revision of laws. Many citizens of borough and city will appear before the Senate committee this afternoon to protest against the repealers to the annexation and consolidation acts. Of those that depart from Plainfield this afternoon the vast majority were those that desired to see the repealers killed. There was a small representation of the faction which opposes Greater Plainfield. Somerville also sent a few to the scene to use their influence to pass the repealers.

Represented in the delegations were the North Plainfield Home Association, whose personnel is confined to antis, and the North Plainfield Union Association consisting of those in favor of annexation. The latter is headed by Mayor N. B. Smalley, Former W. L. Saunders and many other prominent borough citizens. Owing to illness, Dr. J. H. Cooley and A. V. D. Honeyman were unable to attend but it is expected Charles W. McCutchen and W. W. Howland will be on hand.

The Plainfield Common Council will be spoken for by President James F. Buckle, who has many arguments in readiness to tell why he believes Plainfield and North Plainfield should settle their differences without interference.

Noticeable in the crowd also was James E. Martine, who with President L. B. Woolston will appear in behalf of the local Board of Trade. Known throughout the country for his "silver tongued" oratory it is safe to assume that he will outdo himself on this occasion.

NEW RULES.

Adopted by the Jersey Central and Reading Systems to Become Operative March 1.

As a result of the recent wreck at Westfield when so many of Plainfield's citizens lost their lives a meeting of the officials of the New Jersey Central Railroad was held at Philadelphia Sunday. At the meeting it was decided to introduce new rules governing the operation of trains on their lines. Vice President W. G. Besler, of the New Jersey Central, presided at the meeting.

The new rules conform with the latest rules promulgated as the best and safest standard by the American Railway Association. A complete book of rules, the very latest and most improved, will become effective on March 1, on the entire Reading-Jersey Central system.

After New Members.

The Woodmen of the World, an organization which has a flourishing lodge in this city, has been making special efforts of late to secure new members. A. C. Carvin, State manager of the movement, has been in this city for some time recruiting new members. A meeting will be held shortly, when twelve new members will be initiated into the order.

Rev. Arthur Crane in Town.

Rev. Arthur Crane, who drafted the resolutions signed by the passengers on the St. Louis, when that vessel was so long overdue, in which the passengers protested about being sent to a sea in a boat which was alleged to be unseaworthy, was in this city, Sunday, and was the guest of his son, J. Henry Crane, of East Fifth street.

Reception to Seniors.

Preparations are now well under way for the reception which will be tendered the seniors of the North Plainfield High School by the junior class Friday evening. A pleasing programme is being arranged by the juniors and will consist of a short musical entertainment and later dancing will be enjoyed.

BORNE BY HIS COMRADES

GARRETT EICK LAID TO REST AT EAST MILLSTONE CEMETERY.

Service Held at East Third Street Home This Morning—The G. A. R. Service.

The funeral services of the late Garrett Eick were held this morning at 10 o'clock from the late home on East Third street. There was a large gathering of relatives, friends and neighbors, including a delegation from Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, of which the deceased was a member.

Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph. D., pastor of Trinity Reformed church, conducted the services. After reading appropriate Scripture lessons, he made a few remarks concerning the Christian life of the departed. He likened his life to that of Paul the Apostle, who fought a good fight. He said that early in life Mr. Eick had declared his faith and that he had remained firm to the end. He referred to his devotion to his country in times of trouble, by enlisting in the service for the defense of the Union. In conclusion Mr. Schenck spoke words of sympathy for the bereaved family and pointed them to the Heavenly Father who alone can comfort.

Following Mr. Schenck's remarks and an earnest prayer, members of Post No. 73, G. A. R., conducted their ritualistic funeral service. There were a number of floral tributes, including a pillow from the G. A. R., a tribute from the Woman's Relief Corps, a wreath of galax leaves and several bunches of flowers.

At noon the remains were taken to East Millstone, where in the Reformed church another service will be held. The interment will be in the cemetery at East Millstone. The pall bearers, members of Post No. 73, G. A. R., were Commander H. C. Smith, Augustus Runyon, James B. Clarkson, Abram King, Albert Perry and Louis Willet.

THE 'PLAINS POLITICAL POT

IS BEGINNING TO BOIL AND THE LEADERS ARE ACTIVE.

The Republicans Hold Balance of Power, But Internal Strife Prevents Any Accomplishment.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, Feb. 10—The annual township election, only a few weeks off, is already beginning to stir up the leaders in both parties and candidates for the offices to be filled at that time are being talked about. One member of the Township Committee, in place of Thomas J. Nichol, is to be elected and an assessor and collector are also to be voted for. All three positions are now held by Democrats, although the township is a Republican stronghold, the ticket usually going from 40 to 45 majority. However, factional fights have made it impossible to elect Republican office-holders.

Thomas J. Nichol, the retiring member of the committee, will no doubt receive a re-nomination from his party and there is hardly any doubt but what he will be re-elected, as he is one of the most popular men in the township and is sure to draw from the Republican ranks. He has served the township faithfully for a number of years and the Republicans seem to recognize his worth.

Charles French, the present assessor, and John L. Darby, the collector, can no doubt be renominated by their party if they so desire and it is believed that the Republicans will have to put up strong candidates to defeat either one as they have been before the people in various offices for a number of years. At present all seems to be harmony in the Republican ranks, but the yearly primary usually stirs up a factional fight which is carried to the polls and the Democratic candidates as a rule walk in as a result of the fight.

TEAMS IN READINESS

FRANK M'TAGUE, OF NEWARK ADVERTISER, WILL ACT AS REFEREE.

List of Players Will be Filed at a Meeting of Executive Committee Tomorrow Evening—The First Game Friday Evening.

All is now in readiness for the opening game of the Plainfield Amateur Basket Ball League at the Hope Y. M. A. gymnasium Friday evening, when the Hope boys will meet the five from the I. C. T. Club. Although the two teams have met twice recently, the I. C. T. aggregation has been showing improvement at each game and this first league meeting promises to be still closer.

Another meeting of the executive committee of the league will be held at The Daily Press office tomorrow evening when the clubs will present their lists of players for final approval. Both Hope and Y. M. C. A. have filed their lists but recent happenings have made a few changes necessary.

A rule has been made that the referee and umpires at every game shall be from out-of-town in order that there shall be no question as to their impartiality. Frank McTague, of the Newark Daily Advertiser, who is considered one of the most competent officials in Newark, will act as referee and will bring with him two umpires from Newark teams, men who are constantly officiating in games in that city.

The schedule was adopted at a meeting of the executive committee, held last Wednesday evening, but its publication was delayed in order that all teams might make sure that there was no conflict of dates. It is now announced as follows:

Friday, February 13, I. C. T. Club at Hope Y. M. A.

Monday, February 16, Reform Club at Y. M. C. A.

Friday, February 20, Y. M. C. A. at I. C. T. Club.

Popular Club's Anniversary Reception Takes Place This Evening.

The first of the I. C. T. Club's "color" dances will be held this evening in celebration of the popular organization's first anniversary. Concert at Perth Amboy.

The Terpsean Glee Club and Miss Aimee Louise Emmons, reciter, of this city, gave an entertainment under the auspices of the Simpson M. E. church, of Perth Amboy, last evening. A large crowd was well pleased with the programme given. A party of young people from this city accompanied the quartette.

Crescent Division to Install.

At its regular meeting this evening Crescent Division, No. 13, U. R. K. of P., will install officers. Owing to the death of one of its members a short time ago the usual banquet and entertainment will be dispensed with. Delegations from neighboring companies will be in attendance.

Albany Pastor to Preach.

The services at the First Baptist church next Sunday will be conducted by Rev. Clarence Gallup, of Albany, who recently resigned his pastorate in that city. Mr. Gallup is considered a very forceful speaker.

ON THE STREET?

A Question Raised in Court as to Where Isaiah Coriell Made His Will.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Feb. 10—The celebrated Isaiah Coriell will case occupied the attention of Judge Schenck in the Orphans' Court here yesterday. A great amount of testimony was taken. All of the witnesses of the proponents swore that the will was executed in the officers of J. T. Vail at Plainfield, while the caveators produced witnesses who declared that the old man made the will on the street because, he declared, he was too old and feeble to go from his wagon into the office. The case was then adjourned until Feb. 20.

Coriell was an eccentric resident of Warren township and when he died he left all his property to his nieces and nephews living at that time. This cut out all his grand nieces and nephews and they filed a caveat against the will.

The estate is a valuable one, but there are many heirs. The legal array is probably the greatest ever seen in one case here.

Y. M. C. A. TEAM VICTORIOUS

DEFEATED NEW BRUNSWICK BASKET BALL FIVE IN SPIRITED GAME.

Score Was 17 to 5—The Members of Both Teams Afterward Enjoyed a Social Hour.

The basket ball game between the local Y. M. C. A. team and the team from the Triangle Athletic Club, of the New Brunswick Y. M. C. A., played in this city, last evening, was spirited throughout. The home team won the contest by a score of 17 to 5, two twenty minute halves being played. At times the game was very exciting and although the visiting team has not had the practice of its opponents, a most creditable showing was made. The home team held its opponents down very close all the way through the game and several times when it looked as though they would score, clever play prevented.

In the first half, Plainfield threw four goals from the field and one from foul, making a total of nine points. In that same half New Brunswick threw one goal from the field and one from foul, making a total of three points. In the last half Plainfield threw two goals from the field and four from fouls, making eight points and a total of seventeen points. New Brunswick did not do so well in this half. The team threw two goals only, making two points with a total of five points.

It is likely that two more games will be arranged with this team from New Brunswick to be played in March. One contest will be at the local Y. M. C. A. and the other in the New Brunswick association building.

After the game last evening refreshments were served to the two teams and a social time was enjoyed.

The line-up is as follows:

Y. M. C. A.		T. A. C
Denton	R. F	Ewing
Hand	L. F	Myers
Cahoone	C	Buckalew
Scull	R. G	Harper
Heincke	L. G	Gowen

Referees—H. Boardman and C. E. A. Heywood. Umpires—Robert Meeker, H. Boardman and C. E. A. Heywood. Scorer—John H. Doane.

How to Study the Bible.

William D. Murray, who led the Christian Endeavor Society meeting at Trinity Reformed church, last evening, spoke on the subject of "How to Study the Bible." Mr. Murray told in his own interesting manner how he studied the Bible and he made many helpful suggestions to those present. Throughout his entire talk Mr. Murray held the closest attention of all and it is earnestly hoped that there will be another opportunity to hear him in the near future.

Position At Museum.

Waldron DeWitt Miller, son of Major and Mrs. W. D. W. Miller, of East Seventh street, has just secured a very fine position in the Museum of Natural History, New York. His duties are those of classifying and as Mr. Miller has an especial fondness for the study of birds his position is a most pleasant and profitable one for him.

INITIAL ATTENDANCE INDICATES SUCCESS

For Fair of Benevolent Council, No. 256, Jr. O. U. A. M., in Saengerbund Hall.

SEVERAL ATTRACTIONS

BUT SUHR'S ORCHESTRA AND DANCING REMAINS A FEATURE.

Company K. Entertained Last Evening and Tomorrow Night I. C. T. Club Will Attend in a Body—The Various Committees.

With a large attendance and every indication of a very successful week's run, the fair of Benevolent Council, No. 256, Jr. O. U. A. M., opened last night in Saengerbund Hall on Somerset street. The place was resplendant with gay bunting which adorns the booths lining one side of the room while on the stage Suhr's Imperial orchestra discoursed dance music from behind a screen of potted palms and plants, giving to the whole a very pleasing appearance.

Those who have charge of the various booths are: Candy, Mrs. I. N. Wyckoff, Mrs. George A. Ballentyne; china booth, Miss Margaret Shepherd and Mrs. Frank Manchester; fancy table, Mrs. J. V. Beekman, Miss Charlotte Clark, Mrs. Arthur Adams and Mrs. George VanCamp; and the refreshments booth, Marion Brokaw, Samuel Terry, J. H. Adams, Frank Milligan and Garret Shepherd. The bowling is in charge of Frank Quass.

The Council entertained last night the members of Company K and tomorrow night the I. C. T. will be their guests. Friday evening the members of the Independent Fife and Drum Corps will attend the fair in a body. On Saturday night the fair will come to a close when the main feature will be a dance.

The Council is two years old and this is the second fair it has held. Last year the fair was a great success but the committee which has the present one in charge intend to break the record made at that time. The number present last night spoke well for the attendance for the rest of the week.

The committee which has the arrangements in charge comprises J. V. Beekman, chairman; A. G. Adams, secretary; Edward C. Searing, treasurer; H. A. Adams and R. M. Clark. This committee is assisted by the following floor committee: Clifford Compton, chairman; Frazee Putnam and Isaac Wyckoff.

THE CHILDREN IN A BLAZE

PLAYED WITH MATCHES AND THE RESULTS WERE SERIOUS.

Brisk Blaze on Elm Place This Morning Which Resulted in $300 Damage.

Children and matches formed a combination that started a bad fire in the Bird Row on Elm place, shortly before noon today. The flames spread so quickly that one of the former narrowly escaped being seriously burned if not losing its life. Damage was caused to the extent of $300 but it would have been much more but for excellent work on the part of the department.

The conflagration started in the east apartment occupied by Mrs. John Naylor. She was calling on neighbors at the time leaving her two children alone. When out but a short time she was recalled by screams and rushing back, found the parlor and kitchen in flames. The children were found groping about and the smallest was almost overcome by smoke.

Two lines of hose were laid but the blaze was extinguished entirely by the chemical stream. Of the damage $250 was on the building and $50 on furniture, the latter uninsured.

FAIR HEIRS ADMIT THEY'LL FIGHT AGAIN

A New Campaign Started to Get Larger Share of the Fair Fortune.

COMPLAINT WAS FILED

ASSERT THEY HAVE WITNESSES TO PROVE MRS. FAIR LIVED LONGEST.

Are Now Trying to Set Aside the Agreement Signed by Mrs. Hannah Nelson and Her Children in Settlement of the Estate.

Although denying the truth of the matter, yesterday, for reasons best known to themselves, the Fair heirs in this vicinity have admitted that a complaint was filed in the Supreme Court, of New York, to set aside the agreement by which Hannah E. Nelson and her six children accepted $185,000 rather than try to get a larger share in the estate of Mrs. Caroline D. Fair, who with her husband, Charles L. Fair was killed in an automobile accident in France, last summer. Mrs. Nelson is the mother of Mrs. Fair and lives with her son, A. G. Nelson at New Market. At present she is staying with her daughter, Mrs. Laura Leonard, of Verona.

The plaintiffs assert that new evidence has been secured whereby it can be proven that Mrs. Fair survived her husband by twenty minutes, that she thus inherited under his will and that Mrs. Nelson was the rightful heir to the estates of her daughter, as the latter died intestate. They also allege that facts in the case were misrepresented to them by the defendants, Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt and Mrs. Herman Oelrichs, through agents, from the start and that Mrs. Nelson was cajoled into signing her release.

Chandler & Beekman, of New York, are the plaintiffs' lawyers, and most of the evidence to be submitted was gleaned by the junior member of the firm who was in Paris at the time of the accident. It is declared he has the affidavits of nine people who can testify to Mrs. Fair living the longest.

Runyon, sang "Nearer My God to Thee" and "Jesus Lover of My Soul."

Among the very pretty floral tributes was one from the Ladies' Association of the Congregational church and one from the Christian Endeavor Society. There was also a beautiful wreath from the children.

The interment took place in Hillside cemetery, the pall-bearers being Geo. S. Raynolds, Henry C. Nomer, Harry Webster, Morris C. VanArsdale, J. A. Powlison and Charles Steiner.

HORSE MAY COME FREE.

House Ways and Means Committee Favors Edna Wallace Hopper.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Edna Wallace Hopper can bring her race horse into the United States without paying any duty on it.

This race horse caused the solemn committee on ways and means of the house a whole lot of trouble yesterday. It made the eighteen statesmen comprising the committee get out of bed early to attend a committee meeting at 10 o'clock.

The committee at once went into executive session, and the question of making Chester, Pa., a subport of entry and everything else was dropped while the committee considered the case of Miss Hopper's race horse.

Her petition stated that she wanted to use the horse for breeding purposes, that he was of the bluest horse blood of England and would prove a great addition to the horse family of the United States.

After the case had been properly explained each committeeman voted to let the horse into the country without the payment of duty. Miss Hopper's press agent did not attend the committee meeting.

Mr. Postal said he agreed with this view and that his interest can be had if a proper price is paid.

There was heavy fighting until the fourteenth round, and Dixon tired out Ware, but could not himself land a knockout blow.

THEATRICAL.

The Whitney Opera Company will present the new military comic opera, "When Johnny Comes Marching Home," for the last times in New York at the New York Theatre this week, ending its engagement there Saturday evening. This production has scored a big success as a clean, bright and refined entertainment, catering to lovers of pure fun and high class music. A special matinee performance will be presented Thursday afternoon, Lincoln's birthday. On Wednesday, Feb. 18, "Johnny" will be followed by the noted colored entertainers, Williams and Walker, and their own company of 100 people, in a new farce called "In Dahomey."

The engagement of "The Silver Slipper" at the Broadway Theatre, New York, is rapidly drawing to a close and after what has been a most successful engagement of sixteen weeks, this delightful musical play has entered upon the last five weeks of its engagement. This most tuneful of musical extravaganzas is as popular as ever and continues crowding the large and commodious Broadway Theatre with fashionable and enthusiastic audiences who never seem to tire listening to the tuneful strains of Leslie Stuarts music. The same well-known players, Sam Bernard, Cyril Scott, Stanley Hawkins, Snitz Edwards, Harry Buroher, Eva Davenport, Eleanor Kent and last but by no means the least, the dainty Edna Wallace-Hopper, are still in the cast and are as popular favorites as ever. This tuneful sister play of the ever popular "Florodora" could undoubtedly remain at the Broadway until the end of the season but for other engagements which John C. Fisher, the owner and manager of "The Silver Slipper," has been unable to cancel. Before leaving the Broadway, however, "The Silver Slipper" will celebrate the 150th performance with handsome and expensive souvenirs.

CHICAGO STRIKE UNSETTLED.

Elevator Men and Managers Still at Odds—General Strike Likely.

CHICAGO, Feb. 10.—No progress has been made in the efforts to bring about a settlement between the striking elevator conductors and the Building Managers' association, and the indications are that a general strike in all the buildings controlled by the association will be ordered. The number of buildings under the jurisdiction of the association is variously estimated at from 68 to 132, and nearly all the principal office buildings in the city are included.

After a three cornered conference between representatives of the strikers' unions, the Building Managers' association and the National Teamsters' union it was announced by Charles L. Fielddack, president of the Elevator Conductors' union, that an adjustment of the trouble was more remote than ever and that a general strike in all the buildings controlled by the association would be called to enforce the demands of the men already out. Mr. Fielddack claims that this step has been forced on the unions, as the managers at the conference refused to arbitrate the difficulty or meet the representatives of the strikers in any compromise that they offered to make.

The call for a general strike will include the elevator conductors, starters, window washers and scrubwomen. It will also include the coal teamsters, as the latter have been ordered by their union to refuse to deliver coal at any buildings where the men are out.

RACE TROUBLES IN MISSOURI.

Whipping of Three Negroes Starts a Serious Disturbance.

FAYETTE, Mo., Feb. 10.—A race war has been started here as the result of the public whipping of three negroes on the courthouse steps Friday night. A committee of the Law and Order league took three negroes from their homes and whipped them publicly for alleged misconduct. Two of them were women. Since then the negroes and white people have been in open enmity, and it is said that twenty-five negro families have been frightened into leaving this vicinity.

The recent killing of Harry O'Donnell, a reputable citizen, was charged to negroes and did much to stir up enmity. The whites have threatened to drive the negroes from Fayette and vicinity.

The one negro man who was whipped Friday night made a desperate resistance. It took several men to carry him to the whipping post. He cursed his captors as the lash was applied, which resulted in the whip being wielded only the more vigorously. When the ordeal was ended, the negro was so weak from loss of blood that he was put to bed instead of being driven from town. The women, who were not whipped severely, were taken to the outskirts and told to go.

After the School Book Trust.

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 10.—A resolution introduced by Assemblyman Hornidge of the Twenty-second district of New York declares that it is a common rumor that the textbooks and supplies used in the public schools of the state, particularly in New York city, are controlled by a trust and that the prices demanded for them are far in excess of what they would be if not so controlled. It directs the speaker to appoint a committee to investigate the methods of the alleged trust and the manner of adopting and purchasing school books by school boards and provides that the committee may subpoena witnesses and expend not exceeding $5,000 and must report to the present session of the legislature.

The Grave Robbery Cases.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 10.—The evidence in the case of Dr. J. C. Alexander, charged with grave robbing, will be finished today and the arguments begun. Dr. Alexander took the witness stand today in his own behalf. The defense is that Dr. Alexander is a man of irreproachable character, that Cantrell is insane and that his testimony cannot be believed for that reason. A general denial is made that Dr. Alexander had any knowledge that the body of Rose Neidlinger or any other body was illegally obtained.

ARGUMENTS BEGUN.

Counsel For Miners Present Case to Strike Court.

NO FAVORS; ONLY JUSTICE ASKED

Mr. Lloyd Says Last Summer's Struggle Was the Waterloo of Capitalistic Absolutism In This Country.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 10.—Arguments for and against the demands of the union anthracite mine workers, which will continue before the coal strike commission for the next six days, were begun when the miners through Daniel J. McCarthy of Hazleton made the opening argument. Mr. McCarthy was followed by former Congressman Brumm of Minersville, who made a general argument, and Henry Demarest Lloyd of Chicago, who confined his efforts to the question of recognition of the union and yearly trade agreements.

In the course of his address Mr. Lloyd said:

"The strike of last summer was the Waterloo of capitalistic absolutism in this country. Organized labor never did civilization a greater service than when it whipped this master to a finish and settled, let it be hoped for the third and last time in America, that the only business in which there is one master is slavery, and that in free business there are as many masters as there are parties. These miners offer, they have actually begged, to be allowed to become guarantors of each other in discipline, production, contract.

"We are not asking for favors, but for justice. We acknowledge the superb sense of justice in the American people which gave us this arbitration, this extraordinary effort of industrial justice. We acknowledge it, but we are not grateful for it. We have won the right to this justice, this representation in our bargains, by sacrifice and a struggle which whitened the faces of a whole people and shortened thousands of lives. But we are grateful that we live in an age where justice is not denied to those strong enough to get it. It is something that our civilization has advanced so far as that."

During Mr. Lloyd's argument Chairman Gray interrupted him with this question, "What have you to say regarding the nonunion men who prefer to continue at work through the strike in the exercise of the right that they suppose they have, those who are not strike breakers and do not loaf between times?"

"Of course in doing that," Mr. Lloyd replied, "they are strictly within their legal rights, but to me they seem to violate a moral duty of the highest sanctity, which is that a man must do what he can to help along a necessary struggle for the elevation of his own class and of society at large."

"Are such men protected by the union?"

"The union certainly withdraws no legal protection from them," said Mr. Lloyd. "They are not protected by the union from being visited with that obloquy which properly falls upon a man who will not join in a common effort for the common good. I should class this man precisely with the loyalists in the American Revolution. I characterize the strike as an industrial war, as an incident in a great uprising."

Mr. Lloyd was followed by former Congressman Charles M. Brumm, who occupied the time up to the adjournment at 5:45 p. m.

Woodruff Heads Syracuse House.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Feb. 10.—Timothy L. Woodruff, late lieutenant governor, was elected this morning to succeed Lyman C. Smith as president of the Smith Premier Typewriter company of Syracuse. The establishment over which Mr. Woodruff will thus have immediate personal control is the second largest industrial enterprise in this city or this section of the state, being ranked only by the Solvay Process company. Governor Woodruff will give his entire time to the affairs of the company to the exclusion of other business, and his advent practically as a Syracuse business man is cordially welcomed here.

Hendricks and Collins Reappointed.

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 10.—Governor Odell has sent to the senate the reappointments of Hon. Francis Hendricks of Syracuse to be state superintendent of insurance for three years at a salary of $7,000 and of Cornelius V. Collins of Troy to be superintendent of prisons for five years at a salary of $6,000. The nominations were confirmed without reference.

DEADLOCK ON VENEZUELAN QUESTION

Minister Bowen Has Refused to Sign Protocols—He Contends They Are Insisting on Preferential Treatment.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Although Mr. Bowen and the other negotiators are closely guarding the provisions of the several protocols, it is understood that the demands which are known to exist in the German and Italian agreements as they are at present drafted which Mr. Bowen cannot agree to concern an increased payment by Venezuela prior to the handing down of The Hague's decision regarding the allies' contention for preferential consideration in the settlement of their claims. It is reported that Germany asks that she receive in addition to the $27,500 cash that Mr. Bowen has agreed to pay a certain percentage of the customs receipts until the remainder of the $340,000 demanded in the original ultimatum addressed by Germany to President Castro last autumn is paid.

Italy, it is believed, is insisting on a similar demand, though the amount asked for in her ultimatum was over $500,000. Both Germany and Italy suggest that this money be paid in monthly installments out of the customs duties, but even under this arrangement it would require eight months for the payment of the entire sums.

It is the principle, however, to which Mr. Bowen so strenuously objects and which he has informed the German and Italian envoys he cannot subscribe to. Until their protocols are relieved of these objectionable demands Mr. Bowen says that they must remain unsigned. He contends that Germany and Italy are insisting on preferential treatment, a question which they agree in their protocols shall go to The Hague.

It is the firm opinion of both the Italian ambassador and the German minister that the insertion in their protocols of these demands is the result of a serious misunderstanding on the part of their foreign offices of certain phases of the negotiations which were supposed to be settled. They are using every effort to have this misunderstanding cleared up and have informed Mr. Bowen they hope to submit their conventions to him in a few days.

Mr. Bowen has made it plain to the allies' representatives that he is willing to consider any reasonable requests they may advance, but that he will not yield to the extent of signing the present German and Italian protocols. Published reports that Germany included in her protocol a demand for an apology from President Castro or his resignation is news to Mr. Bowen and of course would not be considered.

TO PUNISH REBELS.

Government Force Leaves Caracas. Castro Is Now Master.

CARACAS, Venezuela, Feb. 10.—A force of 2,000 men, with fifty horses and two guns, under the command of minister of war General Ferrer, left Caracas yesterday morning in the direction of the seaport Higuerote, fifty-five miles east of Caracas.

The object of the expedition is to attack a body of 1,500 revolutionists under General Monagas, who are reported to be too feeble to attack the government but strong enough to devastate the district around Rio Chico, province of Miranda, sixty miles southeast of Caracas, and daily enter and pillage the town.

Even ardent revolutionists recognize that President Castro is master of the situation.

No Plague In San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 10.—Regardless of all the controversies that have existed as to whether there were cases of bubonic plague in San Francisco it is agreed by all the medical men that there is none of the disease here now and that all the danger, if any ever existed, has long been passed. Every vessel now clearing from this port is given a clean bill of health, showing that there has not even been a suspicion of the plague here for at least sixty days. In this the local health board agrees with the federal quarantine officers.

Use to Be Made of Phipps' Gift.

CALCUTTA, Feb. 10.—The gift of $10,000 which Henry Phipps, director of the Carnegie Steel company, handed to Lord Curzon Feb. 1 for some practical object or scientific research of enduring benefit to India, will be devoted to the establishment of an agricultural laboratory in Cashmere and a Pasteur institute in southern India. The government will give the sites for and will assist in maintaining the first and wholly maintain the second institution.

SANTO DOMINGO, Feb. 10.—The Dominican government has informed United States Minister Powell that it will not accept the demand of the American government in the matter of the claims of the Clyde line of steamers and that under the law cases such as the Clyde line claims must be settled in the courts of the republic and not by intervention.

MARKET & HALSEY STS.

TENTH ANNIVERSARY SALE.

WHEN THIS BUSINESS was established ten years ago it marked a new era in the retailing history of Newark. Its phenomenal growth from a small beginning has been paralleled by only one other house in this country, and is attributed entirely to the introduction of a policy tending to revolutionize worn-out methods and subserve the best interests of a great buying public. This store was the first to refund money for merchandise returned, to guarantee every article sold, to inaugurate systems facilitating selection, and has been a power in bringing about conditions impossible had any but the most positive and aggressive tactics been pursued. Reforms were instituted for the benefit of employes—we advocated and enforced shorter hours—were first to open our doors at 8:30 mornings and keep them closed on holidays. Truthful advertising, liberal methods and lowest prices always have inspired the confidence and patronage of a splendid clientele, and contributed to a success almost without a precedent for comparison. During this celebration there will be

Letters from Women

Cured by the use of Kodol are received daily. Their troubles nearly all begin with indigestion or other stomach disorder.

If the food you eat fails to give strength to your body, it is because the juices secreted by the stomach and digestive organs are inadequate to transform the nutrient properties of the food into blood. That is indigestion. The system is deprived of the amount of nourishment required to keep up the strength, and the result is that one or more of the delicate organs gradually grows weak, and then weaker, until finally it is diseased. Here a great mistake is made. That of treating the diseased organ. The best doctors in the land make this very mistake. Why should they? It is so easy to see that the trouble is not there.

Kodol Cures

This famous remedy puts the stomach and digestive organs in a healthy condition so that rich, red blood is sent coursing through the veins and arteries of every muscle, tissue and fiber throughout every organ of the entire body, and by Nature's law of health, full strength and vigor is soon restored to each.

Kodol cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach disorders.

I have taken Kodol for nearly two months after each meal and it is the only remedy that gave relief from the terrible pains I endured. After a time I would take it but once a day, and now, while I keep a bottle handy, I seldom need it, as it has cured me. MRS. J. W. COOLBAUGH, Milo Center, N. Y.

FIGHT NEAR MANILA

Constabulary Defeats Band of Two Hundred Insurgents.

INSPECTOR HARRIS WAS KILLED.

General Miguel's Rebel Force Severely Punished — Headquarters Burned and Records of the Irreconcilable Leader Taken.

MANILA, Feb. 10.—A force of 100 constabulary under Inspector Keithly has defeated a body of 200 insurgents near Mariquina, a small town seven miles from Manila city, after a severe engagement in which Inspector Harris and one man of the constabulary were killed and two other men of the constabulary wounded. The enemy left fifteen dead and three wounded. Inspector Harris' home was at Atlanta, Ga.

The body of insurgents formed the main force of the irreconcilable General San Miguel. The constabulary were divided into three detachments, which were scouting in the Mariquina valley. The detachment commanded by Inspector Harris came upon the enemy, who were in a strongly intrenched position. Inspector Harris fell at the first volley, being hit five times. The detachment of constabulary, although outnumbered, held its position until Inspector Keithly, with the main force, arrived, when the enemy were put to route. Their headquarters were captured and burned, and the constabulary seized the records of General San Miguel, who claims that he succeeded to the command of the insurrectionary forces when the other generals surrendered. He has only a handful of men under him, and his operations have been of no consequence.

The wounds of the Americans are all severe.

The Philippine commission has passed an act governing the constabulary. It creates a summary court for the trial of light offenses, gives the civil courts jurisdiction over serious offenses, forbids the constabulary to administer the water cure or resort to whipping or other punishments in order to obtain information from the natives and provides for the drastic punishment of such offenses. In the measure are incorporated most of the regulations governing the American army.

Standard Oil Buys Gas Stock.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 10.—It is officially announced that the Standard Oil company through C. N. Payne of Titusville, Pa., has purchased a large portion of the stock of the People's Natural Gas company of this city on a basis of about $200 per share. The capitalization of the People's company was $1,000,000 and the Standard is said to have bought 20,000 shares at the price named. The People's Natural Gas company will be maintained as an independent corporation and proposes to have a twenty inch line completed into West Virginia by July 1 connecting with the large gas territory owned and controlled by the Standard.

OUR DUTY.

The Westfield disaster, the coroner's jury, its hearings and its probable verdict; those are the subjects which the public is still discussing at length. Hardly two people take exactly the same view, some of them are widely divergent. Nearly everybody has a remedy which he believes would go toward improving the present conditions and preventing any such occurances in the future.

All sorts of stories are going the rounds. Some of them, if true, should be brought to the attention of the coroner's jury. The jury is doing its best to find out everything possible bearing on the subject and it has had the co-operation of the county prosecutor. Its members are but human, however, and it may be that some important piece of evidence has been passed by. If there is anyone who knows aught of importance that has not been brought out at the sessions of the inquest, it is his duty to inform the coroner's jury and allow that body to look into it. If there is anyone who can confirm these stories that are being passed about, there should be no delay in informing the proper authorities. It is one's duty to the community. If there is no truth in them, why add to the unpleasantness of the situation by painting anything worse than it really is.

Those who know the men who are on the coroner's jury realize that they are men of integrity and honesty, who cannot be influenced, let alone corrupted by corporation or individual. It is the rankest nonsense to say that such men have been persuaded to bring in any particular verdict. They are going to decide according to the very best of their judgment. If they are judging from false premises, then it is the duty of anyone who is aware of any error under which they are laboring to set them right before it is too late. The jury meets again Friday afternoon. This is the time to tell them if you know anything new so they can investigate. But do not keep silent now and afterwards tell how much light you could have thrown on the situation if you had been asked. It's a case of speak now or forever hold you peace.

At the last Common Council meeting, there was a surprise in store for the public. While it was generally known that the Council would advance the salaries of the policemen, a similar advance in the fire department was not generally expected. The increase as a matter of fact, looks larger on paper than it really is. As long as it does not affect the tax-rate, there will be no general objection on the part of the tax-payers. There is bound to be some criticism, however, when the pay of any city official goes up, no matter how little.

A large delegation went to Trenton this afternoon in order to impress on the Senate committee on revision of laws the necessity of killing the repealers to the annexation and consolidation laws and allowing the people of Plainfield and North Plainfield to work out their own salvation without outside interference. It is sincerely to be hoped that the State Senators will see the wisdom of their requests.

An important real estate transaction in the borough has just been consumated through the agency of William H. Pangborn, of Linden avenue. There have been considerable improvements made in that section of the borough recently including the erection of several very handsome houses and this strip of woodland containing about nine and three-fourth acres of land was purchased for about $1,000. SUBURBAN NEWS

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

It is said that the leaders of the Republican and Democratic forces in this place are experiencing considerable difficulty in securing candidates to run for the various offices which will have to be filled at the coming election. Even some one to run for Mayor is a scarcity as Mayor Swackhamer does not desire the office again.

The young son of J. Greenhahl, of North avenue, is confined at home with an attack of diphtheria, under care of Dr. Brakeley. The house has been quarantined and there is no fear of the disease spreading.

The Democratic party will doubtless run the present incumbent of the collectorship and have other men in prospect but the Republicans are in a quandary.

A very encouraging report was given at the hospital yesterday of Wilson Fredericks' condition. He is improved in every way.

William Giddes, who was injured in the wreck, does not improve as rapidly as could be desired and is still unable to get up.

A large number of tickets are being sold for the entertainment in the Methodist church next Friday evening.

Miss May O. Fulper, formerly a teacher in the schools here, has been visiting friends in town a few days.

The Craig Manufacturing Company sent a large shipment of furniture to New York yesterday.

Mrs. Harry Terry, of Plainfield, spent yesterday with her mother, Mrs. Emily Apgar.

It is rumored that wedding bells will ring for some local young people next week.

Alvah Bowlby has taken a position with Dr. Elmer Giddes, of Plainfield.

The Juniors will hold a regular meeting this evening in Apgar Hall.

Mrs. Lewis Tinsman has been suffering from quite a severe illness.

Theodore Kuldoshes' new house is rapidly nearing completion.

The card club will meet at New Market this afternoon.

Frederick Dickerson is detained at his home by illness.

Luke Hurley is recovering from a slight illness.

NEW MARKET.

Miss Irene Day entertained a number of friends at her home Saturday evening in a very pleasant manner. Guests were present from Dunellen and Plainfield. The evening was spent with dancing and refreshments were served.

A review of the local political situation does not show that much interest is being taken in the coming election. As usual the most efforts will be made for the paying offices, collector and assessor.

Miss Irene Day will entertain the Afternoon Card Club this afternoon.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

First come, first served, will be the rule at the entertainment for the bene fit of the baseball team to be held in Excelsior Hall tomorrow night. No reserved seats have been sold, so those who come early will be sure of as good a seat in the house as any one. Doors will be open at 7:30 and from the present outlook the hall will be crowded as everyone in town is interested in having an A No. 1 team on the diamond for next season.

Lincoln's Birthday will be observed at the public school tomorrow afternoon. A programme appropriate to the day will be held by the several classes in their rooms.

Thos. R. Mead, a former well known resident and for years the junior member of the late firm of Baker & Mead, died at his home in Plainfield Sunday.

Rev. G. M. Shott, secretary of the Ministers' Weekly Conference meeting, attended a meeting of that body held in New York, Monday morning.

John Boormann, the contractor, has secured the contract for a large building at Cranford. Mr. Boormann will begin work at once.

The members of the Brooksides will hold a members' shoot on their grounds on Thursday afternoon.

Fanwood Council, R. A., will hold its semi-monthly meeting in its rooms tonight.

Robert Walpole has been visiting at the home of relatives in Brooklyn.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

A small fire underneath the furnace in the Lehigh Valley Railroad tower was discovered a few days ago by Melvin Teeple, one of the switch operators. It was a windy day, and probably it was only the timely alarm given by Mr. Teeple that saved the building. The fire is supposed to have been caused by a defect in the furnace.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Bechstein, after a visit at their summer home on Park avenue, have returned to New York.

Rev. J. A. Cubberley was present at the New York Baptist Ministers' Conference, at New York, yesterday.

Thieves broke into Campbell's clubhouse Friday night, and secured an overcoat and $12 in money.

George Arrowsmith is advertising a lost black and tan hound dog.

Competent Judges for Dog Show.

At the bench show of the New Jersey Kennel Club, which will be held in the Armory on William street, Newark, Feb. 17-21, several well-known breeders will make their inaugural bows as judges. Among them are F. J. Bristol, E. L. Jones and Edward A. Hardin. J. B. Dale, Mr. Lenoir and Dr. Foote are among the old timers as is C. G. Hopton. The premium list will soon be issued and every indication points to a highly successful show. Several novelties will be introduced each day, so that there will be no begging of interest and the entries already promised place the exhibit upon a high plane from a professional standpoint.

Bank Buys and Sells.

The First National Bank property located at 62 Duer street and occupied by Andrew Vanderbeek, was sold at public sale yesterday afternoon by Sheriff McMurtrie at Somerville. The bank bought the property to protect itself, having a small second mortgage on the property. The price was about $2,300.

CARMACK'S HARSH TALK.

Hurs Cast at the Army, War Secretary and President.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—In the senate yesterday Mr. Carmack spoke on the Rawlins resolution calling on the secretary of war for the proceedings in certain courts martial. He charged that murders in the Philippines by American soldiers had become so common that they would not bear investigation and that this answer was entirely satisfactory "to our noble, generous and humane secretary of war." He also criticised the president for "never having heard of the Captain Brownell case after having announced his intention of probing crimes in the Philippines."

Mr. Kean spoke on the statehood bill for a short time, when he yielded to various senators who indulged in debate over the question of the influence of the Mormon church in politics. Mr. Elkins also spoke at length in defense of the claims of New Mexico to statehood.

After a brief executive session the senate at 5:10 p. m. adjourned.

The house spent practically the entire day upon two District of Columbia bills, one to authorize the government to advance $6,000,000 to the District and the other the conference report on the union station bill. The former was defeated and the latter sent back to conference after a motion to recede from the amendment of the house to cut down the appropriation to the Pennsylvania and Baltimore and Ohio railroads from $1,500,000 to $1,600,000 had been voted down. The disapproval by the house of the action of Mr. Hepburn in presenting the conference report on the department of commerce bill during the memorial session Sunday resulted in postponement of action upon that report.

Temple-Jackson Fight a Draw.

BOSTON, Feb. 10.—Larry Temple of New York and Young Peter Jackson of California fought ten hard rounds to a draw before the Health and Physical club last night. Captain Billy Daly was the referee, and at the end of the bout he said that while the club rules called for a decision after bouts in this match Al Hereford, manager of Jackson, insisted that if his man went into the ring and both men were on their feet at the end a draw must be given. Accordingly he announced a draw, greatly displeasing the audience.

Sister Stricken at Brother's Funeral.

OSKALOOSA, Kan., Feb. 10.—Al Patrick, one of the first editors of the Louisville Courier-Journal, is dead here, aged eighty years. His death was sudden. When his sister, Mrs. S. S. Cooper, viewed the body, she fell to the floor unconscious and died in a few hours. Mr. Patrick was a "forty-niner" and took part in the first rush to the California goldfields.

Dr. Mynter Dead.

BUFFALO, Feb. 10.—Dr. Herman Mynter is dead at his home in Delaware avenue. Dr. Mynter was one of the best known surgeons in this part of the state. He gained national fame as one of the doctors who attended President McKinley after his assassination at the Pan-American exposition.

Fire Makes Thousands Homeless.

BOMBERG, Austria, Feb. 10.—A disastrous fire broke out in the town of Krutz, Galicia, and wiped out 370 homes and many public buildings. Five hundred families are destitute of food and shelter.

Killed by Molten Metal.

BEAUTIFUL TROPICAL FISHES.

Many Fine Specimens Gathered in the Bermudas for the Aquariums of All Lands.

The collection of tropical fishes for various aquariums throughout the world, and especially for the American aquariums, is now a recognized industry in the Bermudas, says the Philadelphia Press.

It is carried on at all seasons, though for obvious reasons the fish are shipped north only in the summer months. As there are more than 150 varieties of fish in Bermudan waters, and every variety is found in abundance, it is not a difficult problem to secure good specimens. Only a few varieties reach this country, for the reason that tropical fish, as a rule, are unable to stand the trials of transportation. The ones on exhibition are the finest that can be caught.

The native fishermen go far and wide in search of specimens, for the aquarium will pay only for the best.

Possibly the most voracious fish they have to deal with are the groupers and morays. The groupers have peculiar habits. During the month of June, which is their spawning or "snapping" season, they gather at two spots on the south coast, known as "grouper grounds," and rarely are caught elsewhere.

Not many tropical fish are as ferocious as the moray, but most of the larger varieties are truly sporting fish.

WORKING IN THE DARK.

Discomforts of Mining Before the Invention of a Lamp Suitable for Underground Use.

The difficulties under which coal mining operations were carried on before the scientist Davy had invented his safety lamp must have been very great. In many mines the only alternative the medieval miner had to pitch darkness was the phosphorescent gleam from dried fish. The miner's implements, originally of stone or hard oak, gradually improved; but he was forced to work in almost complete darkness until Sir Humphrey Davy by his remarkable invention enabled him to light his way through the tunnels he had excavated with comparative safety, says a mining journal.

Agricola, an author who wrote about the middle of the sixteenth century, has left an elaborate treatise on coal mining as it was practiced during the middle ages. From this we learn that the horsegin, which survives to the present day in some of the mining districts of Great Britain and northern Europe, was the engine chiefly employed both for lifting the coal and for getting rid of the water. This latter object was also sometimes effected by means of pumps turned by windmills or by tunnels driven with great labor to an outlet at a lower level.

AUTOCARS IN ENGLAND.

There Is a Strict Enforcement of the Law to Make Owners Regardful of Others.

In one respect, at least, the persecution of the automobilists is indirectly serving a useful purpose, reports London Truth. The majority of the victims belong to a class which has hitherto had little sympathy with the discontent of humbler folks at the quality of justices' justice. Now that the wealthy motorist is coming into personal contact with this kind of justice, he is beginning to revise his opinions. He sees that policemen are capable of making grievous mistakes and even deliberate misstatements, and that magistrates often exhibit the grossest incompetence and allow their judgments to be swayed by the most stupid prejudices.

It then occurs to the motorist that poachers and other delinquents may sometimes have equally good cause to complain of police evidence and magisterial bias, and so he comes finally to the conclusion that the administration of the law by the Great Unpaid is, after all, not undeserving of the contumely that has so long been poured upon it.

LINES IN MAPLEWOOD.

The Only Way to Find the Bird's-Eye Is to Cut Into the Tree.

Nobody seems to know what cause it is which produces those delicate and beautiful lines in maple, known as bird's-eye. Some people think they come from the hundreds of little branches which shoot out over the trunk of the tree as soon as a clearing is made around it. Expert timbermen say that is not the case. The only way to tell a bird's-eye maple tree is to cut it. There are no outward signs by which one can judge. The Railroad Gazette tells a story of the late George M. Pullman. Many years ago he was offered a mahogany log for $3,000, to be cut into veneers. It was supposed to be a very fine piece of wood, but this could only be determined by cutting it. He declined the offer, but agreed to take the log cut into veneers for what it was worth. The owner had it sawed and was paid $7,000 for his veneers. Anyone who can discover the secret of determining the interior nature of wood from the outside will have a fortune.

Feast on Butterflies.

Millions of butterflies are eaten every year by the Australian aborigines. The insects congregate in vast quantities on the rocks of the Bugong mountains, and the natives secure them by kindling fires of damp wood, and thus suffocating them. Then they are gathered in baskets, baked, sifted to remove the wings, and finally pressed into cakes.

DOING THEIR DUTY.

Scores of Plainfield Readers Are Learning the Duty of the Kidneys.

To filter the blood is the kidneys' duty.

When they fail to do this the kidneys are sick.

Backache and many kidney ills follow:

Diabetes.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure them all.

Plainfield people endorse our claim.

Mrs. Henry Bender, of 118 West Front street, says: "I suffered almost constantly from a dull aching pain across my back and hips. I was also subject to severe headaches and dizziness when stooping, and though I tried different plasters and home remedies I could not get relief. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised for such troubles as mine, got a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store, used them according to directions and obtained a great deal of relief from them. In my estimation and from my experience Doan's Kidney Pills are a good reliable kidney medicine."

MIDWINTER MILLINERY.

Models Composed of Parma Violets, Pale Tinted Felts.

Delightful models are made up with parma violets and their leaves. Equally fetching combinations are of gray felt with cream tinted roses or of white felt trimmed with pink roses and a chine scarf. The fur and lace picture hats are quite irresistible.

There are a good many novelties in headgear at this time of the year. Even in this cold weather we are wearing crowns of ruched tulle, and, while for some time fruits and nuts made of velvet have been the rage, women are now beginning to adopt vegetables, and radishes are not being discarded.

Hats, muffs and pelerines made for weddings and gay occasions are often made of satin and chiffon.

Blues and greens were always worn by young people, but now that white hair has become the fashion light blue can be worn with impunity by elderly women who have a touch of pink in their cheeks. Those whose figures are well developed should abstain from light shades altogether.

The picture shows a smart shirt waist which can be carried out either in silk or flannel.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

FANCY DRESS.

Chic Effects In Brocades and Quaint Satins.

At this season of the year there are sure to be many fancy dress parties. Some of these take the form of small dances. Last year there was a craze for fancy dress dinners, and this gave greater scope, as far as dress was concerned.

Naturally there are many classical frocks and draperies which look charming at a dinner, but which are rather impractical for dancing.

Perhaps the prettiest costumes are those of the Louis period, for so many people look their best poudre. There is a decided fancy for brocades just now; consequently if you go to a fancy dress ball as a lady of the French court you will be able to use your brocade afterward.

If a thick brocade is utilized, hardly any lining is needed, and it forms a very decided change from the limp fabrics which we are using at present and are likely to use for some time.

Old English and French brocades look extremely well in a brilliantly lighted hall, and with such a costume can be worn the coy single ringlet in the coiffure.

The cut shows a smart boa and muff of gray fox. The hat is of gray velvet and fur. JUDIC CHOLLET.

A Knight of the Highway

By CLINTON SCOLLARD,
Author of "A Man at Arms," "The Son of a Tory," Etc.

Copyright, 1901, by J. B. Lippincott Company. All rights reserved.

"Ma ain't over particular," said Joe, but as Rossiter insisted, they turned up at the side of the hotel and sought the stables, where the vagrant made the desired alteration. He could but smile to himself as he was affecting this, the experience was so novel to him. It was many a long day since he had given much heed to what anyone thought of him.

The hotel stood upon a corner, and on two sides of it there was a wide veranda, at one end of which mother and daughter were sitting. The girl was a plain, shy miss of 17, while the mother proved to be a woman of ample proportions, with a worn but kindly face which showed that her path through life had not been among the roses. Her manner towards Rossiter was at first marked by a decided reserve, but when her son explained that he was indebted to "the gentleman" for a very particular favor, she thawed perceptibly, and later, when Rossiter contrived to compliment Joe while the latter was not listening, she quite beamed upon him, and thereafter the new-comer was fully established in her good graces. Though her experience in the world had been limited, like her elder son she was a person of observation, and treated Rossiter with something akin to deference, detecting in him a superiority of breeding.

It was not long before the clock in the city hall not far distant proclaimed the hour of noon, a fact that was reiterated by sundry whistles of different tones in various parts of the city.

"You might as well be gettin' the lunch out, Mamie," said Mrs. Becraft to her daughter. "I presume the boys are ready for it, we had such an early breakfast."

Rossiter now rose, remarking that he would join them later.

"No, you don't," announced Joe Becraft. "You ain't goin' to run off like taken part in a prize contest before an audience made up chiefly of beaming and fluttering maidens and their escorts. How very far away it all seemed! Quite like another existence. And he was coming back to the scene in a hop-wagon! It was not much as he had pictured his return when he had lingered one night in the moonlight by yonder fountain a few weeks before his graduation.

He glanced about as they passed up the residence side of the park, thinking he might recognize some of the townsfolk, for he had known quite a number of the citizens when he was in college, but there were few to be seen, and among them he distinguished no one whose figure he remembered. Beyond the trees and the strip of greensward, a baggage-man was driving at an ambling gait in the direction of the station, but it was not the eccentric little Irishman, "Barney," who had been wont to deliver his trunk in the old days at the top of three flights of stairs with so many remarkable expletives. A feeling of disappointment and loneliness seized upon Rossiter, a sense of being apart and aloof from the rest of the world. This was the one place of all places where he had felt that there was sure to be some one to greet him cheerfully should he ever return, yet he beheld no one who stood out clear in his memory. Doubtless there were those whom he would know and who might recall him, but they were not in evidence, and he had expected that they would be.

Joe Becraft noticed the dejection in his face, and, misunderstanding the cause of it, appealed to his mother to know if she had not said that their journey's end was but a short distance beyond Hintonville.

"Well, it ain't an awful sight further," she answered, "but it's mostly hill."

Mrs. Becraft had been wielding a large, loosely jointed fan energetically for most of the nine miles they had traversed, and was well-nigh in a state of collapse. A little rill of perspiration was making its way down her rounded face just in front of each ear. There was a ring of heat about both of her eyes, and yet she did not complain.

"You look about done up, Ma," said her elder son, transferring his attention from Rossiter.

She smiled at him resignedly.

"I don't know's I'd care to go on many more miles like this," she said. "I guess we'll all be glad to get there."

Some of the young men were anxious to pause for a drink of beer, but the driver informed them that if they did so they would have to follow on foot, as he should not wait, consequently no one quitted the wagon. As they left Hintonville behind the ground began to rise in a long slope, for instead of pursuing their way along the valley in which the town nestled they bore to the left towards a lofty range of hills. The sun was slowly westering, and beyond the brooding vale where the winding Oskenonto flowed, on the crown of the first abrupt rise Rossiter saw the slanting rays kindle to golden fire the spire and vane of the old college chapel. At the sight of the shifting wind-indicator one of his student pranks flashed into his mind, a thing that had dropped from his memory for years—how in the lazy spring afternoons he used to place a chair in the deep window of his bedroom and, having lowered the upper sash, pepper away with his revolver at the veering arrow.

"Now that I'm so near," he thought, his eyes still upon the spire and the trees that hid the other college buildings, "I must walk over some Sunday and have a look at the dear old place."

A little breeze sprang up as they ascended, stirring the leaves in the apple-orchards, and causing the foliage of two ancient poplars that towered where the road forked to glisten here and there like quicksilver.

"Do you see those trees?" exclaimed Jack Parmelee, suddenly turning to his weary wagon load. "Well, from the way they act we're goin' to have rain afore to-morrow mornin', an' a mighty big blessin' it'll be too!"

A peacock with spread tail paraded its vanity before them as they passed this point, and as they were bending to the right gave a long, raucous cry which was the occasion of a vast amount of amusement among many of the young people who had never heard the bird's peculiar call before.

"Now, we're sure of it," said Jack Parmelee, "Mister Peacock's an authority on the rain question. It's luck all around—better hops an' better pickin'."

"What good'll the rain do the hops now?" one of the prospective pickers inquired. "They ain't goin' to grow any more, be they?"

"It'll cool the air an' keep 'em from mouldin'. I've been mighty scart of 'em for a day or two," answered the driver. "Such a spell o' heat raises thunder with 'em sometimes."

Several hop fields had already been passed, and there was now a yard upon either side of the road. Everyone began to regard the vines, each pole with its hops like a swarm of bees at the top, with an increased interest. When these fields had been left behind Mamie Becraft and a number of others commenced craning their necks as though they thought that their destination must be in sight.

"There's the house!" cried one.

"I can see the hop-kiln!" exclaimed another, and in spite of the uncertain motion of the wagon over the stony road several mounted the seats for the purpose of obtaining a better view.

"Yes," Jack Parmelee remarked, that. We've got enough for ourselves an' two or three more. Besides, you'll offend Ma if you skip out when they's any eatin' goin' on. She'll take it as a slight to her cookin'."

There was a general laugh at this, and as Mrs. Becraft assured Rossiter that her son knew her failings, he was without much difficulty persuaded to resume his seat. Mamie Becraft soon emerged from the hotel parlor (thus designated by a little strip of painted tin fastened above the door) bearing a capacious basket, which was found to contain an abundance of bread and butter, doughnuts, and cookies. Joe darted across the way and purchased a bag of peaches from a fruit vender, and then the al fresco feast proceeded with much gusto.

"You see what I have to provide for, Mr. Rossiter," said Mrs. Becraft, smiling at Jim, who was rapidly making away with his fourth fried cake. "But, dear me, their appetite now is nothin' to what it will be when we get into the hop fields. I don't know what Mrs. Merton will say when she sees how her pies an' things disappear. Did you ever hear of the Mertons? It's to their place we are goin', you know."

"He's goin' too," put in Joe.

"Oh, indeed! I didn't understand," said Mrs. Becraft. "I suppose mebbe you're acquainted with the people?"

"No, I'm not," said Rossiter.

"Well, Mr. Merton is one of the largest hop growers near Hintonville. His farm is about 2½ miles from the village."

"You've been there, then?"

"Yes, last year, Mamie an' I, but the boys never have."

Soon others began to arrive at the hotel, and by half-past one as many as 25 people—men, women, boys and girls—had gathered on or about the piazza. A few were acquaintances of Mrs. Becraft and her daughter and there was a slight interchange of talk. A subdued air of expectancy, however, pervaded the company, and the eyes of many, of the male portion more particularly, were constantly turned in the direction of Keneseo street. Just before two there was a cry of "Here he comes!" followed by a general movement towards the railing on the part of those upon the veranda. Over the heads of two boys who had crowded in front of him Rossiter beheld a long wagon with seats running longitudinally, drawn by two powerful horses, moving leisurely towards the hotel. The driver, perched upon a seat considerably higher than the body of the wagon, swayed from one side to another as the clumsy vehicle rattled over the cobble-stone pavement, the smooth asphalt having not yet been laid in front of the Cottage hotel.

MORTGAGE 100 YEARS OLD.

A Philadelphia Incumbrance That No One Has Ever Sought to Satisfy.

A sale of property at 213 Fitzwater street was recently made, and in going back over the old records it was discovered that a mortgage which antedated the administration of President Washington was still an incumbrance on the property, says a Philadelphia report. The paper was executed by James Clow and wife in favor of Archibald McCall. The consideration named was 333 1-3 Spanish milled dollars, a coin which was the standard of value during the revolutionary period. The value of the milled dollar exceeded by a few cents the value of the silver dollar now in use.

McCall transferred the mortgage in the year 1794 to John Houck, and it does not appear on the records again. The attorney for the petitioner has served notice by advertisement on Houck or his heirs to appear in the court of common pleas No. 1 on December 1, and show cause, if any exist, why the mortgage should not be satisfied by an order of the court. It is not anticipated that any defendants will appear, but the legal formula must be gone through with before the title may be perfected.

Even if any of Mr. Houck's heirs should appear in court it would be necessary, if they designed making a valid claim for money due, to show that the debt had been recognized during the past 20 years. A payment of interest or part of the principal is the best evidence of such acknowledgment, and there is no record of any payment having been made for more than 100 years.

OLD PEOPLE WHO WORK.

World-Famed Celebrities Who Still Keep Busy Although Over the Fourscore.

It is needless to call upon history to prove the usefulness and richness that may attend the lives of those who have passed their three score years and ten, says Will Carleton's Magazine, Every Where. The venerable Gladstone did the thinking and much of the speaking for the government of one of the mightiest empires of the world, almost up to the day of his death. Pope Leo, at the age of 91, carries the burdens of a worldwide church, and Herbert Spencer at 81 reads and digests the news and literature of the world and recreates therefrom an immortal philosophy. In our own land the sturdy Senator Morrill and Evarts, the jurist, worked out their problems of state and law almost up to the very hour when they were called to higher fields of effort; and to-day ex-Senator Bradbury, of Maine, aged 99, and Senator Pettus, of Alabama, at 81, are busy with the affairs of this world.

The venerable David Wark, the "father of the Canadian senate," performs the duties of his high office at the remarkable age of 97, and Verdi still composed music at the age of 87. There are few keener or more persistently active minds in the world of finance than that of Russell Sage, who recently celebrated his eighty-seventh birthday, while King Christian of Denmark actively administers the affairs of state at the age of 85, and Julia Ward Howe, though 83, writes books that sell, and gives lectures that people are eager to hear.

OKLOHOMAS CUT THEIR HAIR.

Young Men of the Tribe Are Fast Discarding Many of Their Aboriginal Ways.

The blending of the customs of the red men and the palefaces is discussed in a report recently sent to Washington by Maj. George W. H. Stouch, United States army, the agent in charge of the Cheyenne and Arapahoe Indian reservation in Oklahoma. As the views of an authority on the subject, the report, reviewed by the Washington Star, throws interesting sidelights on what is really taking place in the amalgamation of the two races. Maj. Stouch says:

"Many of the older Indians adhere to their religious customs, yet they do not indulge in them to any alarming or detrimental extent. By moral suasion and friendly advice a number of the young Indians have been prevailed upon to discontinue the wearing of long hair.

"No strenuous effort has been put forth to induce the old Indians, who have worn long hair all their days, to shear their locks, as to compel them to cut their hair would be very bad policy and result in more harm than good. The loss of their hair would make the old fellows weak, humiliated and cowed characters out of what are now strong and leading spirits."

She Fears Cats.

For 21 years Lizzie Cunningham, of New York, dislocates her jaw every time a cat approaches her. When she was 16 years old she was attacked by a cat, and since then every time she sees a cat running toward her she opens her mouth to scream and is unable to close it again.

Russian Aeroplanes.

Aeroplanes, known as "Flying Dragoons," are now in use in the Russian fleet. Several of these kites bound together can support a man in the air. Considerable heights are thus reached and the invention is admirably adapted for scouting.

ROD AND GUN.

George Voehl returned home from an extended trip South Sunday and reported that the hunting in that part of the country was very good this year. He was there for six weeks and while in the south he was the guest for several weeks at the large plantation of August Trust, at East Arcadia, North Carolina.

SHAKESPEARE AND JENKINS.

Great Dramatist and Plainfield's Mayor Are of One Mind.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—It is worth noting that the great dramatist thought it not an unworthy ambition for a Roman emperor to furnish to the people parks and playgrounds as his honor Mayor Jenkins would. In "Julius Caesar," Act 3, Scene 2, Marc Antony says: "Moreover, he hath left you all his walks, his private arbors and new-planted orchards, on this side Tiber; he hath left them you, and to your heirs forever, common pleasures, to walk abroad and recreate yourselves. Here was a Caesar! When comes such another?"

I hope there's one in Plainfield, and I heartily sympathize with Dr. Jenkins in his hopes and his look ahead.

Plainfield should have a big playground where everyone could have room for all sorts of out-door games without trespassing, as most of the boys and girls must now, when engaged in such sports. G.

His Appointment Was Confirmed by the Senate Last Night.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Among the several nominations confirmed last night by the Senate was that of Nicholas J. C. English for prosecutor of the Pleas for Union county.

Mr. and Mrs. William Smith, of New Market, Hurt in a Runaway Accident.

Mr. and Mrs. William Smith, of New Market, who are among heirs of the Fair estate, were thrown out of a carriage this noon on West Front street, near Grant avenue and were badly injured. The ambulance was called but before it arrived at the scene of the accident Mrs. Smith recovered somewhat and was administering to her husband. He soon recovered and after the carriage was repaired they started on their way home. The accident was caused by the horse becoming frightened at a small boy with a small cart which he was rolling along the street.

Mr. Smith received several severe concussions on the forehead and shoulders. The dash board of the carriage was wrecked.

FORTUNE FOR WESTFIELDER

CATHERINE CLARK, OF THAT PLACE, NAMED AS AN HEIR.

Miss Charlotte Williams, of New York, Included the Niece in Her Will.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, Feb. 10—Catherine Clark, of this place, has fallen heir to a fortune of $69,065, through the death of an aunt, Miss Charlotte Williams, of New York, who died on July 23 last.

Miss Williams was a recluse who lived for many years alone in the Williams homestead on Fifteenth street and Seventh avenue, New York. The appraisers of her estate have just reported that the net value of her personal property is $207,197. It will now probably be divided among five distant relatives.

Miss Williams was the last of three sisters, Rachael and Jane having died in 1886 and 1887, respectively. All three spent their lives in the homestead and in 1869 they executed joint wills by which each left her property to the survivors.

When Miss Charlotte Williams died her will was found in an old tin box, with a number of bank books and private papers. The death of her sisters had, of course, made the will's provisions void, but she had never altered them since she had drawn it thirty-three years before. The appraisers, report that the homestead was sold for $53,000 and this, with the money on deposit in various banks and trust companies, brings the total value of her property up to $229,258, from which, however, a number of deductions had to be made. The division of the estate among the remaining relatives gives $34,532 to Miss Mary Harper, Metuchen, and Florence Freeman, of Brooklyn, grandnieces, and Arthur E., and Walter Freeman, of Metuchen, grandnephews.

Unique Monument.

In Mount Hope cemetery at Logansport, Ind., is one of the queerest monuments ever erected. William T. Reichter was a ditch contractor. Death came to him while he was wearing a broad brimmed hat, a mackintosh over his suit of clothes, and his trouser legs were in his rubber boots. The members of his family, wishing to remember him as he looked when last he bade them goodby, employed a man to have his picture taken in the clothes last worn by Mr. Reichter. They replaced the head on the photograph by the head of a likeness of Mr. Reichter taken several weeks before he died. This done, the picture was sent to a sculptor in Italy and a life size statue made from it in Italian marble. The monument cost $5,000.—Chicago Tribune.

Most Timid of Kings.

King Albert, of Saxony, who died recently, was a very timid man. He disliked to walk through a room full of people, and he blushed like a girl if anyone spoke to him, says a London paper. Twilight, indeed, was the only time during the day when he seemed to have any courage. Thus he was unable to refuse any request during the day, but he often refused them during the evening, and for this reason those who wanted him to grant them favors tried, if possible, to obtain interviews with him during the day. This constitutional timidity gave rise to a rumor that he was lacking in physical courage, but that is not true, as on various instances he gave striking proofs of his willingness to face perils.

Diet of the Sultan.

The diet of the sultan of Turkey is very simple. He eats very little of the plainest food and never touches wine or liquors of any kind, but consumes enormous quantities of coffee, which aggravates his nervousness. Up to a few years ago a servant with a coffee pot always followed him when he went out for exercise, and while driving in the park coffee stations were placed at frequent intervals, where he could stop and refresh himself. By the advice of his physicians he now limits himself to five or six cups of his favorite beverage a day, and it is said that he has himself noticed an improvement in his health. He is not so nervous and sleeps better.—London Mail.

Within Recent Memory.

An eight-year-old boy in the catechism class of an uptown Sunday school was recently asked by his teacher if he knew who made him—one of the formal questions always asked the younger pupils.

"I—I don't know," he stammered in reply.

"You don't know!" exclaimed the teacher. "Why, you should be ashamed of yourself! There's your little brother Dick, only four years of age; I dare say he can tell."

"Well, so he oughter," indignantly retorted the eight-year-old. "'Tain't so long since he was made."—Philadelphia Times.

The Wrong Tack.

He was a persistent young man who was politely refused by the eldest daughter of the family, and at once began to lay siege to the heart of the sister.

"How like her you look," he mused on the evening of his third call. "You have the same eyes, the same hair, the same broad forehead, the same curving lips—"

"Yes, and the same 'noes,'" she said, as she arose in plain intimation that the sooner he left the better she would be pleased.—Pick Me Up.

REASONS WHY GREATER CITY ACTS SHOULD BE LEFT ALONE

Presented At Public Hearing On Repealers To Annexation And Consolidation Acts At Trenton Yesterday.

GREAT HOST PRESENT TO OPPOSE.

NORTH PLAINFIELDERS, PROMINENT IN "ANTI" RANKS, OPPOSED REMOVAL OF BILLS FROM THE STATUTE BOOKS.

Small Delegation of "Antis" Present To Urge Passage of Repealers—Senator Strong, of The Committee, Compelled To Rebuke W. W. Howland For Indulging In Too Many Personalities In His Remarks—Those Present From City and Borough

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Trenton, Feb. 11—In no uncertain way did the citizens of Plainfield and North Plainfield express to the members of the Senate committee on the revision of laws their desires regarding the fate of the two bills aimed to wipe from the Statute books the annexation and consolidation acts. With much earnestness they urged the members of the committee to allow the city and borough to settle this question according to the will of the majority without any interference from the outside. A host of men from both Plainfield and North Plainfield appeared at the Senate Chamber, yesterday afternoon, and at the hearing on the repealers to the annexation and consolidation acts, given by that committee, outlined the reasons why the bills should never be passed. The opposition was represented, of course, but its delegation was a very small one compared with the other side.

It was during the closing hours of the session of the State Senate that the throng began to arrive. The old Supreme Court chamber, where the Senate is meeting now, was not large enough to care for them all behind the rail. Then, when the Senate adjourned, they soon filled all the chairs while some were left standing.

Among the North Plainfielders who were there to oppose the repealers were Mayor N. B. Smalley, Former Mayor W. L. Saunders, Former Mayor B. A. Hegeman, Jr., Samuel Townsend, secretary of the Union Association, Former Senator Charles A. Reed, F. W. Iredell, William Griscom, A. J. Winkler, Barney Williams, Fred Bettman, Chas. H. Lyman, Borough Clerk Frank Rowley, F. H. Ball, W. L. Smalley, David King, Joseph Howe, Capt. William C. Smith, Borough Magistrate Thomas Dond, A. E. Faber, Jr., L. B. Woolston, president of the Board of Trade of Plainfield and North Plainfield, Councilman J. K. Arnold, Wallace Guilford, Nelson A. Miller, Morris C. VanArsdale, Joseph H. Howell, J. P. Emmons, J. V. E. Vanderhoef and J. H. Robley.

From Plainfield there came President of the Common Council James F. Buckle, City Clerk J. T. MacMurray, Vice President J. C. Pope, of the Board of Trade, Secretary Harry C. Runyon, of the Board of Trade, J. W. Johnson, P. V. R. VanWyck, Harry Potter, David Smalley, Henry Liefke, Amos Andrews, Chas. W. Runyon, City Collector F. H. Smith, James E. Martine, Andrew McCardell, George J. Tobin, Chief of Police Kiely and State Supervisor of Roads R. A. Meeker.

Advocating the repealers were Chas. W. McCutchen, president of the Citizens Association, W. W. Howland and Dr. W. E. Honeyman. County Clerk Frank Somers, of Somerville, was on hand to represent that town. Senators Cross and Childs and Assemblymen Newcorn and Swackhamer were also present as interested listeners to the arguments. Other members of the Legislature dropped in during the course of the proceedings and listened to the talk.

It was just 3:13 o'clock when Senators Strong, Wakelee and Martin took the chairs on the platform and Senator Strong rapped for order. As the introducer of the bill, Senator Hutchinson took the floor and announced W. W. Howland as the first speaker in favor of the repealers.

Mr. Howland began very pleasantly, remarking that there were only a few of them and that they didn't bring a brass band. We wanted to apologize to the Legislature for all the trouble that North Plainfield was causing but assured that the other people were to blame. Then he began at Senator Reed and said that if it had not been for the peculiar action of Somerset's former Senator regarding the first bills, there would have been no trouble at all. He claimed to represent a majority of the citizens of the borough as the special election had shown a majority of them against annexation. Then he proceeded to relate a history of the greater city movement from his point of view. He told of the introduction of the bills into the Legislature last winter but said they had not worried as the Senator had told them he was firmed opposed to any such bills.

"We were sold out," he exclaimed. "And that's the truth. What the consideration was we do not know; every one in the borough believes there was a consideration." Then he told about the local papers. No, he didn't say they were subsidized, hypnotized expressed it better. He told of a literary bureau, headed by Senator Reed, that furnished identically the same editorials to both local papers.

In graphically describing one of the "anti" meetings, Mr. Howland started in to tell about the hosts of the enemy and he had just gotten as far as "Emporer Newton I" when Senator Strong interrupted his eloquent flow with a request that his remarks take a less personal form. The rebuke had its effect and Mr. Howland became more temperate in his remarks. A promise had been made to Governor Murphy to call an election to vote on consolidation at once but, he pointed out, it had not been done. After the special election, there were threats about what would be done at the regular election and he sadly related what did happen and how the Republican forces had been routed. In closing he declared the annexation and consolidation measures a menace to the peace, prosperity and happiness of the borough. Then he demanded justice.

In a very temperate speech, Charles W. McCutchen outlined his arguments in favor of the repealers. The annexation act should be repealed he said because the question had been presented to the people and they had definitely said that they did not wish to annex. The consolidation act should be repealed, he believed because it had no status without the other. They belong one to another. Siamese twims was the way he characterized them and said that you kill one and you killed the other. He trusted that the members of the committee would appreciate that this was a very important matter to that town and that it was stirring up strife in a peaceful community.

Having been dragged into the discussion by the first speaker, Senator Reed wanted a few words. He spoke very highly of Mr. McCutchen but suggested that it was possible to judge the other speaker by the contrast in their remarks. He referred to what he termed Mr. Howland's hallucinations.

"His statements are not worthy of credit," remarked Mr. Reed. "They have been proven so elsewhere and they can be proved so here." Mr. Reed told of how he had originally objected to the annexation and consolidation bills until, at the hearing, the speakers of both sides had agreed to a referendum. Regarding Mr. Howland's claim that he represented all those who had voted against annexation, Mr. Reed told of two men present at the time, A. J. Winkler and William C. Smith, who worked and voted against annexation but were desirious of leaving tthe measures on the statute books.

Much regret was expressed by Former Mayor W. L. Saunders at seeing the personalities introduced into the discussion as in the campaign last fall. It was only another evidence that the question was by no means settled. For the benefit of the committee so they might understand Mr. Howland's objection to a really worthy movement, he explained that Mr. Howland had once strenuously opposed trolleys and factories for North Plainfield.

Then it was Mr. Saunders' turn to tell the history of the Greater Plainfield movement and how it had been gaining ground steadily for the last five years. He wanted to know who there was who could determine how the people felt on it. No one vote could settle any question for all time. He told how many questions of national importance had kept coming up and coming up despite defeat. There was, he said, much truth in Lincoln's saying, "Nothing is settled that is not settled right."

He outlined the strength of the movement, the fact that nearly all those interested in the material welfare of the borough were lined up for it. Not in five years had a single member of the Board of Trade been found who opposed consolidation. And now, many of these men, not satisfied to send a representative, came down personally to ask that they be allowed to settle their own affairs.

In order to refute the claim that the defeat of the annexation bill meant that a majority of the borough citizens were opposed to consolidation and that the single vote answered both questions, Mr. Saunders quoted from the pamphlet issued by the Citizens Association in which Dr. H. K. Carroll laid special sterss that the vote was on the question of annexation only. Dr. Carroll believed that the talk of consolidation was only a blind to carry out the plans of certain politicians. Many that opposed annexation were in favor of consolidation, Mr. Saunders declared.

He had been told by able lawyers that the consolidation act was complete in itself, that it did not depend on the other measure. He quoted A. V. D. Honeyman, one of the "antis," to show that consolidation was possible without annexation. What would be safer, he wanted to know, than a special act that would allow the people directly interested to settle the question for themselves.

Here Mr. Howland had a question he wanted answered. In reply as to whether a favorable vote for consolidation would settle annexation, Mr. Saunders said that it was his personal opinion that consolidation could be best brought about with the two municipalities as part of the same county but he was perfectly willing to see consolidation with the two counties and a trial given to discover whether the double county part would be as cumbersome as they believed. The situation in Plainfield was, he declared, absolutely unique.

L. B. Woolston, president of the Board of Trade, explained that he lived in North Plainfield and did business in Plainfield. Those who were not on the ground every day could not really understand the situation. He believed that there was a strong feeling for consolidation.

Mayor Smalley's arguments came straight from the shoulder. The "antis" didn't have the band, he explained, because they couldn't get the musicians. The election was won by misrepresentations and a bundle of money. The other side wanted the repealers passed as their only safety as they knew they would lose in another election.

"We are a determined band of Jerseymen," continued the Mayor in his sledge hammer style. "We are going to leave Somerset county sometime. There is no power in Jersey that can stop us. It may not be now but the day is coming. We have got to get out if we want our rights. We don't come to the Legislature asking for anything except that we be left alone."

Mayor Smalley also explained that the reason there had not been a vote on consolidation immediately after the other was that they had to consult the city and prepare for it in joint session.

At Mayor Smalley's request, Capt. William C. Smith had something to say. In a witty little speech he explained that while he had worked against the annexation measure, he was in favor of allowing the annexation and consolidation measures to remain on the statute books. As long as they had a majority, there wasn't any danger and there might come a time when they did want to go. Furthermore, they would prevent the Legislature from changing the county line some day and giving the people nothing to say. He had been doing a little canvassing during the last day or two and he found among some twenty-five of his friends, representing property amounting to $500,000, that there was a general feeling that the acts should remain as they are.

In strong and forcible way, James E. Martine summed up the arguments in behalf of consolidation. In was not a scheme of politicians but one of common sense and good business judgment. He did not see how a legislator could refuse the right of the referendum to the people.

Reasons why annexation was defeated at the last election were summed up by Former Mayor B. A. Hegeman, Jr. The liquor element and the firemen were responsible and it was a matter of business with them, he explained. He had followed the borough's prosperity for many years and only asked that its people have an opportunity to work out their own salvation among themselves.

An eloquent appeal was made by James F. Buckle, president of the Common Council. Plainfield was a very prosperous city. North Plainfield was trying to keep up with it. It was doing well but he didn't know how long it would last. He appealed to the Legislature to leave the acts alone.

Mr. Howland announced that his party had answered every argument that the other side had advanced. He didn't see the use of going into the merits of the question.

For the benefit of the committee, Mayor Smalley explained that it was the first time that they had been able to speak directly to the "antis" as the latter had refused to debate during the campaign and that such being the case they were naturally anxious to bring a few more important facts home.

Another "anti," A. J. Winkler, explained that he was just as much opposed to removing the acts from the statute book as he was to annexation.

It was a funny story that W. B. Smith had to tell. He had purchased a house supposing it to be in Plainfield, not knowing of the dual nature of the community. After he had paid for, he discovered that he was living in the borough of North Plainfield instead of the city of Plainfield. He wanted the Legislature to help him get over into Plainfield as fast as possible.

A final word was said by Mr. Saunders. He repeated the invitation given earlier in the afternoon that the members of the committee visit Plainfield and look the ground over for themselves. As a last suggestion, he asked that if the repealers were going to be carried, that they have referendum clauses attached so the people could decide whether they wanted to give up the measure in question.

Senator Strong tapped the gavel and the hearing was over. A general informal discussion followed in which everybody joined.

ORGAN RECITAL.

To be Given by Swedish Pilgrim Church Congregation on Erection of Its New Instrument.

An organ recital is to be given on Thursday evening, February 19, at the Swedish Pilgrim church at the corner of New and West Sixth streets, when the new organ which was recently purchased by that congregation arrives. The organist who will preside at the instrument will be Rev. J. A. Hultman, of Worcester, Mass., who is pastor of the Swedish Pilgrim church at that place. It is in response to a call from this church that Rev. O. G. Norseen, has tendered his resignation to the congregation in this city.

The recital will be given for the benefit of the organ fund and a very complete programme has been prepared. The instrument is on its way to this city now and will be installed during the present week, so that it will be in use for the evangelistic services.

Remarkable Fishing.

Dr. and Mrs. M. A. Carman, of Franklin place, who have been stopping at Maimi, Fla., during the past two weeks, have written home telling of their exceptional good luck in fishing. They recently caught 131 king fish, each weighing from 10 to 25 pounds, also some Spanish mackerel. They except to remain at Maimi a week longer.

UNION COUNTY TAKES SAME VIEW OF THEM

Elizabeth Journal Unites in Cry That Repealers Should Not be Passed.

A STRONG EDITORIAL

BELIEVES THE CITY AND BOROUGH SHOULD BE LET ALONE.

Interests of the People Are Perfectly Safeguarded by the Referendum Provisions Attached to Both of the Measures.

Plainfield is not alone in its belief that it should be allowed to settle the questions of annexation and consolidation without outside interference. The rest of Union county takes the same view. In the Elizabeth Journal of Monday, the following strong editorial on the subject appeared and will be read with much interest by everyone in Greater Plainfield as it presents the situation very clearly:

"The citizens of Plainfield and North Plainfield wish to be let alone, and to be allowed to settle the questions of annexation and consolidation acording to their own judgment.

"This sentiment has grown rapidly and has made itself much more manifest since Senator Hutchinson, of Mercer county, procured the introduction in the Senate of his two bills repealing the annexation and consolidation acts of last year.

"At a recent meeting of the Plainfield Board of Trade, whose membership comprises the leading citizens and business men of North Plainfield, as well, a resolution protesting against the repeal of the acts of last year was unanimously adopted. The Common Council of Plainfield at its last meeting unaminously adopted similar resolutions, and the same subject is to come up at the next meeting of the Council of North Plainfield, and there is hardly a doubt that the action of this body will be the safe as that of the Board of Trade. Public sentiment throughout North Plainfield is certainly indicative of this result.

"There is absolutely no demand, arising from either city for the adoption of President Hutchinson's bills, and the repeal of the two acts already referred to. If there is such a demand it comes from other parts of Somerset county. President Hutchinson has doubtless been misled as to the sentiment of the people most directly interested in these measures.

"While it is unquestionably true that a number of the North Plainfield people are as yet opposed to annexation to Union county, a great many of those holding to this opinion have come out openly in opposition to the repeal of the laws of last year. They express themselves strongly in favor of being allowed to settle this local question according to their own judgment. 'No matter,' they argue, 'what we think at present with reference to consolidation, the time will come when we may think it advisable and highly essential to consolidate, we do not want the privilege removed.'

"There has been and there is constant friction between North Plainfield and Somerville. It cannot be allayed. It will continue to irritate in the future. The business relations, the social relations, the church relations, and to a certain extent the municipal relations of Plainfield and North Plainfield are so close and so intermingled that they are practically identical. They are growing more so with each passing year. Had it not been for the unfortunate factional antagonisms aroused last year—antagonisms so intense as actually to cause many of the people to lose sight of their party interests and the merits of the main issues involved in the special election—there is now no room to doubt that the result would have been different.

"Public anger has cooled down since then in North Plainfield, and public interests are again rising into consideration. The sentiment of the citizens and taxpayers has changed to such an extent that it is claimed an election held today would result in favor of consolidation by a majority of at least two to one.

"Be this as it may, it is certain that the Plainfield and North Plainfield citizens do not wish the annexation and consolidation acts of last year to be repealed. They would esteem it a great favor if President Hutchinson would withdraw his repealers and not take from the taxpayers and the voters the power to deal with this local question as their own interests demand and their own best judgment dictates.

"The acts of last year do not threaten or interfere with the rights of any people save those of Greater Plainfield. They are referendum acts. They are absolutely inoperative unless the people cause them to be effective by a plebiscite. Nothing but the will of the majority of the voters, taxpayers and property owners, can give them force and effect, and to these intelligent and interested people they should be left. No other people in this State know so well what to do with the annexation and consolidation acts.

"The people of these two municipalities are certainly not asking too much when they ask, with all courtesy, to be let alone."

RED PREVAILED AT DANCE

"COLOR" DANCE IN HONOR OF FIRST ANNIVERSARY OF I. C. T. CLUB.

Novel Affair Proved a Great Success—Costumes of Prevailing Color.

Something new in a local sense was promulgated by the I. C. T. Club, last evening, when the members tendered a reception and dance to their friends in honor of the club's first anniversary. In point of originality, decorations and success it exceeded all other affairs of a like nature conducted by the popular organization.

The event was termed a "color" dance, red being the predominating hue. It was to be seen everywhere. The walls were adorned with crimson streamers, more of them were about posts and pilars and at midnight it was again discerned when lemonade of more than a pinkish shade was served in connection with refreshments. Costumes of red were worn by the young women while the men had the color displayed in some part of their apparel. The effect viewed from a distance was charming and many favorable comments were heard. It is the intention of the club to conduct a similar dance in the near future.

The affair was arranged and in charge of a committee consisting of Leonce Texier, chairman; George L. Apgar, Edward Mosher, Thomas Muir, William Waters and Arthur Caleen. The decorations were designed and placed by V. W. Nash, Jr., and Howard Drake.

THE AGRICULTURALISTS MET

UNION COUNTY ORGANIZATION DISCUSSED INTERESTING SUBJECTS.

Many Theories Advanced for Best Methods of Pruning and Spraying Fruit Trees.

The regular meeting of the Union County Board of Agriculture which took place last week at the home of E. P. Beebe, Elizabeth, was one of the largest in point of attendance yet held. President James L. Headley, of Union, presided. It was decided that as there is a sufficient amount of money in the treasury, to suspend the payment of dues for the balance of the season. Mr. Ogden gave a short report of the meeting of the State Horticultural Society which he attended as a delegate.

There was also an interesting report presented by Mr. Beebe, who as a delegate attended the Western New York Horticultural Society meeting held last week at Rochester.

There was a discussion of the subject "Pruning and Spraying Fruit Trees," and it was thought that a mixture of lime, salt and sulphur was one of the best, especially for the San Jose scale which is rapidly increasing in this county. The subject for the next meeting will be "Potato Culture; Especially Planting, Fertilizing and Digging." This meeting will be held Thursday, February 19, at the home of Mr. Beebe in East Grand street, Elizabeth. The meetings of the Board are held the first and third Thursdays of November, December, January, February and March. All agriculturists and horticulturists of the county are cordially invited to attend and become members. All will be made welcome, however, whether members or not.

HOPE CHAPEL WOMEN HOLD ANNUAL FAIR

Crowd That Attended the Event Packed Chapel to the Doors.

IS CONTINUED TONIGHT.

THOSE WHO WERE IN CHARGE OF THE VARIOUS DEPARTMENTS.

Ladies' Aid Society of Hope Chapel Began Its Fair on More Elaborate Proportions Than Ever Before—The Committees.

With an attendance that packed the building to the doors, the annual fair of the Ladies' Aid Society, of Hope chapel, began last evening. It needed but a glance to show that at every point it exceeded its predecessors and before it terminates tonight it will undoubtedly surpass the most sanguine expectations.

Attractions in the way of salable articles and refreshments are especially numerous and these and their attendants are as follows: Grocery department, Mrs. William G. Gray, Mrs Harry Corless, Mrs. David Bowden and Mrs. W. H. Smith; chocolate booth, where the article is to be had in both liquid and solid forms, Mrs. A. B. Lewis, Mrs. Harry K. Lister, Mrs. Charles Dixon, Miss Mary Duvier and Miss Mabelle Firstbrook; cake room, Mrs. Joseph Randolph and Mrs. William Ruckman; ice cream booth, which enjoyed a liberal patronage despite the unseasonableness of the delicacy, Mrs. Charles Graves, Mrs. Joseph Brown, Mrs. John Turner and Mrs. John Rittenhouse; tea and coffee room, where the beverages were served in the most approved form, Mrs. Fred Wharton, Mrs. William Jones, Mrs. J. B. Higgins, Mrs. Walter Bradford, and Miss Bessie Farlee; candy booth, loaded down with all manner of tempting confections, Mrs. Thomas Chamberlain and Mrs. Charles Vincent; fancy goods, in a variety seldom seen at a similar affair, Mrs. William Gray, Mrs. F. A. Weber, Mrs. O. F. Pierson, Mrs. Clarence Leland, Mrs. Charles Delahunt and Miss Thain.

A distinct feature which attracted much attention and caused great merriment by the originality of the epistles, was a postoffice, where letters were in waiting for all the prominent people among the attendants. This was presided over as post mistress by Mrs. George Radford.

All the booths and tables and the greater part of the chapel was decorated in a most pleasing manner. Bunting was used with good effect and it was set off very prettily by crepe paper.

Under the direction of J. Fred Wharton a programme was presented during the evening which consisted of the following numbers: Piano selections, Miss Pearl Ruckman; vocal selection, Thomas Muir, accompanied by William N. Runyon; recitations, Miss Clara Weber; black-face sketch, B. C. Firstbrook and M. D. Sweeney. The latter was an original effort and provoked much mirth. An entire change of programme is promised for this evening.

Mrs. Margaret Sweeney is supervising the affair and she is assisted by the entire membership of the society. There are are no sub-committees.

MUST BE TREATED.

State Sewage Commission Will Not Allow Borough to Empty Raw Sewage Into Raritan.

Mayor N. B. Smalley and Former Mayor B. A. Hegeman, Jr., chairman of the Borough Sewage Commission, appeared before the State Sewerage Commission at Trenton, Monday, to make some inquiries concerning the problem of sewage disposal for North Plainfield. They were told that the Commission would not grant the borough permission to empty crude sewage into the Raritan river at tide water. It would have to be treated first.

The board informally advised them to establish a plant on the same general principles as the Plainfield one to treat the sewage and then empty it into some flowing stream not used for water supply. It was suggested that North Plainfield have its plant at a greater distance from its borders than is the city disposal works in order to avoid opposition.

CRACK SKATERS MEET.

Exciting Contests at Saranac Lake. Ice Racing at Saratoga.

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., Feb. 11.—Some of the best skaters in the United States and Canada competed yesterday in the professional and amateur speed skating contests held in the Pontiac club rink under the auspices of the Saranac Lake carnival committee. The races were witnessed by 2,000 spectators.

Morris Wood of Verona, N. J., won the half-mile race in 1:22, Z. P. St. Marie of Montreal and G. Bellefenille of Winnipeg being respectively second and third and J. Boswell of Winnipeg and Benjamin Baker of Saranac dropping out.

Wood also won the one mile race, with Bellefenille second and St. Marie third. Time, 3:32¼.

In the five mile professional race J. Nilssen of Minneapolis and P. Sinnirud of Verona, N. J., led alternately for the first mile. In the last mile the latter fell and finished fourth. Nilssen, J. K. McCulloch of Winnipeg and Norval Baptie of Bathgate, N. D., apparently passed under the wire together. The judges gave the race to McCulloch, disqualifying Nilssen for skating inside the line. Time, 14:55.

The three mile race was won by Bellefenille in 9:08, Wood being second and St. Marie third.

Athletics at Yale.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 11.—The candidates for the Yale track team were called out last evening, the meeting being held in the trophy room of the university gymnasium. About 140 candidates responded to the call. Fifteen hundred dollars has been given anonymously to the athletic association for the purpose of remodeling the house used by the track athletes at Yale field. Captain Thomas announced that sufficient funds have been provided by an alumnus for the purpose of placing tablets on the walls of the gymnasium with the best standing records of Yale track athletes. Active training for the candidates begins by squads today.

Ice Races at Saratoga.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Feb. 11.—Good weather, a large attendance and a fine track favored the opening of the annual meeting of the Saratoga Ice Racing association on Saratoga lake. There were five starters in the 2:17 class, purse $200, which was won in three straight heats by John Mathisen's B. & M. of Lansingburg. Best time, 2:23. In the 2:19 class, purse $200, six starters contested five heats. Lady Foxwood won. Best time, 2:28.

Favorites Won at New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 11.—The tail end of the card, the last three races, fell to the favorites—Ahumada, Telamon and Scorpio—all three ridden by George Odom. Potheen landed a comfortable wager in the third race through the disqualification of Sheriff Bell. Robbins could not keep the colt straight in the stretch, and his interference with Potheen and Honolulu led to his displacement. Weather rainy, track sloppy.

Oarsmen's Proposition Rejected.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Feb. 11.—The Saratoga Business Men's association has decided that it cannot accept the proposition of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen, which offered to hold its annual regatta on Saratoga lake next summer provided Saratoga would meet all the financial requirements. The Business Men's association decided the demands were too excessive to be entertained.

Ice Racing at Ottawa.

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 11.—The first day of the Ottawa Ice Racing association's meet opened under good weather conditions on a mile track. The track was in good shape. The officials are George H. Mills, Goshen, N. Y., and Judge A. K. Keating, New York. Cresceus will go against the ice record on this track tomorrow.

Favorites Beaten at Ingleside.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11.—Summer weather prevailed at Ingleside and the track was in fairly good condition. The favorites met with disaster. The main attraction was the seven furlongs handicap. Princess Titania was favorite, while Kenilworth receded in the betting. Kenilworth won easily.

SCORE MINERS' UNION

Nonunionists Present Their Case to the Commission.

RIGHT TO COERCE WORKMEN DENIED

Independents Claim Right to Earn Livelihood Without Dictation—Socialistic Theories of the Organization Hamper Good Men

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 11. — The United Mine Workers of America as an organization was severely scored yesterday by counsel before the anthracite coal strike commission. The nonunion men through their attorney, John T. Lenahan, presented their side of the controversy and demanded consideration at the hands of the commission, claiming the legal right to earn a livelihood as they might elect without the consent or dictation of the union. During his presentation of the case Mr. Lenahan denounced the union as the fomenter of crime and anarchy. The main feature of his argument was the claim that the union had no legal or moral right to coerce miners into membership or to arrogate to itself the authority to fix the wages of mine workers.

James H. Torrey, counsel for the Delaware and Hudson company, claimed that the question of recognition of the union was not an issue before the commission, but he devoted considerable time to the consideration of that demand. He asserted that violence and intimidation were agencies selected for the promotion of the purposes of the mine workers. Regarding the demand for an eight hour working day Mr. Torrey said the evidence showed that for various reasons the breakers did not average more than eight hours a day, so that the physical effects of long hours were not felt.

Major Everett Warren, counsel for the Hillsdale Coal and Iron company and the Pennsylvania Coal company, answered the demands of the miners in detail and declared the socialistic theories of the union or some of its leaders to be responsible for unreasonable claims.

Regarding Mr. Mitchell's claim that wages in the anthracite mines were insufficient to maintain the American standard of living Major Warren said: "Fortunately for all of us, that has been interpreted by Mr. Mitchell, and he has given us the benefit of his opinion that $600 a year would permit the mine workers to live in a manner conformable to American standards. The average earnings of the contract miner for the year 1901 in the employ of the companies I represent are approximately $670.

"Throughout the discussion as to the rates of wages, no matter how it may be presented, whether by figures, oral testimony or argument, it is absolutely necessary to bear in mind that the annual earnings of the mine workers are limited by the men themselves.

"I do not charge this upon the great body of the mine workers themselves. They do not understand why it is done. They are not familiar with the socialistic theories of some of the leaders of the organization. Whatever may be the motive on the part of the union, the evidence is overwhelming that the result is a restriction on the part of the industrious miner, limiting the amount of work and the consequent wages, shriveling his powers and reducing him to the dead level of his lazy and indifferent associates. This cannot be blotted out from the record. It appears in the testimony of every company and every employer of labor in the region.

"Socialism proposes to establish an equality among unequal men by reducing them to the dead level of this possible majority. Instead of allowing every one to determine for himself what he wants to do, it is to be done for him. That is nothing but slavery."

For Loss of Legs, $21,000.

BOSTON, Feb. 11.—A jury in the supreme court here gave a verdict of $21,000 to Charles Bjoinquist, aged twenty-one, for loss of both legs in his suit against the Boston and Albany railroad. Bjoinquist was stealing a ride on a freight car in East Cambridge in 1899, when one of the trainmen ordered him off. The boy jumped and fell under the wheels. The plaintiff claimed that the accident was due to the fright given to the boy by the company's employee, while the defendant corporation contended that the fact that Bjoinquist was a trespasser cleared it of liability.

WRECKED ON A REEF

Excursion Steamer Goes to Pieces Off Bermuda.

PASSENGERS AND BAGGAGE ARE SAVED

Shock Came In the Night, and For Many Hours There Was Great Peril and Suffering While the Sea Broke Over Them.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Feb. 11.—The Quebec Steamship company's steamer Madiana, Captain Frazer, which sailed from New York last Saturday with a party of excursionists for a special cruise around the Caribbean islands, went ashore on the reefs off this island at 3 o'clock in the morning. The passengers had a thrilling experience. The ship is a total loss, but all on board were rescued and brought safely to land after a perilous trip in lifeboats from the wreck to a tug standing a mile off. The mails and the passengers' baggage were also saved.

According to statements made by those on board, the Madiana was threading her way in the night through the narrow channel between the coral reefs which lead to Hamilton harbor when she struck a reef one and a half miles northeast of North Rock. No explicit explanation is yet forthcoming as to how the vessel went on the rocks, and the only information obtainable from the officers is that the light which indicates the channel for some reason could not be seen.

All the passengers were in their bunks when the Madiana struck the rocks, but the shock of the impact awakened them, and they rushed on deck, the majority of them without attempting to dress. Considerable alarm, though not a panic, prevailed among the passengers when they found that the vessel was hard on the rocks, but the officers went among them and calmed them, although a number did not venture below again to seek proper clothing. A part of the crew did not share the coolness of the officers, but the latter soon restored order among the troublesome seamen.

Distress signals were sent up, and the passengers passed an anxious time during the latter part of the night. The Madiana listed heavily during the night and when morning broke lay broadside to the wind. The passengers, many still scantily dressed, were huddled together on the hurricane deck, and the sea breaking over the steamer drenched them to the skin.

As soon as the news of the wreck became known here government and other tugs proceeded to the scene to endeavor to render assistance. A heavy sea, however, was running, and they dared not approach too closely to the reef on which the Madiana was pounding. For some time no communication with the Madiana was possible. The tug Gladisfen stood about a mile off awaiting an opportunity to assist, but it was not until 11 o'clock in the morning that it became possible to effect a rescue.

The crew of the Madiana launched a boat, but it could not live in the sea then running and was dashed to pieces against the steamer's side. A second and more successful attempt was made a little later, and some of the passengers were lowered into it, and after much exertion it succeeded in reaching the Gladisfen. The Madiana's other lifeboats were then launched in succession, and the remainder of the passengers and the captain and crew gained safely the salvage tug.

Women Pelted With Eggs.

LYNN, Mass., Feb. 11.—Eggs flew thick and fast last night when about a dozen women stitchers brought here by the Boot and Shoe Workers' union to take the places of Knights of Labor stitchers who are on strike at the George F. Nicholson company's factory left work to go to their boarding places. The women left the factory under escort of three union cutters and all at once were surrounded by a crowd of men and boys. The police, anticipating trouble at other places, were not near the Nicholson factory, and the women and their escorts ran quite a distance in the shower of eggs. The crowd melted away as soon as the police appeared.

War Rumor Unconfirmed.

PANAMA, Feb. 11.—No confirmation has been received here regarding the reported declaration of war by Guatemala against Salvador and Honduras. It is well known that Guatemala openly sympathizes with the president elect of Honduras, Senor Bonilla, but it is believed that the present critical situation in Guatemala will not allow the government to render Senor Bonilla any substantial aid. Salvador and Nicaragua are protecting their respective countries. War preparations are reported to be proceeding in Guatemala, where a strict censorship has been established over outgoing telegrams.

Coal Dealers Fined.

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—Nine officers and directors of the Retail Coal Dealers' Association of Illinois and Wisconsin, lately indicted by the special grand jury which was called to investigate the fuel shortage and high prices, have been fined $100 each on a formal verdict of a jury in Judge Horton's court, which found them guilty of conspiring to commit an illegal act in restraint of trade.

Russia's Warlike Preparations.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—It is announced in a dispatch to a news agency from St. Petersburg that all the officers of the Russian army reserve have been notified to hold themselves in readiness to rejoin their regiments in twenty-four hours in the event of mobilization orders being issued. The measure, it is added, appears to be connected with fears of trouble in the Balkans.

BODY USED FOR FUEL.

Shocking Details at Hearing In the Taylor Murder Case.

MONTICELLO, N. Y., Feb. 11.—The hearing in the Taylor murder case has begun in the Monticello courthouse. Mrs. Kate Taylor is charged with having murdered her husband, Lafayette Taylor, at their farmhouse near Centerville Station, Sullivan county, on the night of Jan. 27.

District Attorney F. S. Anderson conducted the inquiry. The only witness examined was the fourteen-year-old daughter of the accused. She testified that her stepfather came home drunk and that she retired while he and her mother were quarreling. A short time after she heard a shot and, running into the kitchen, saw Taylor lying on the floor and saw her mother shoot him again. Mrs. Taylor then seized an ax and cut off his head and right arm, both of which she placed in the stove.

The remainder of the body was cut in four pieces and put in a sack in the pantry, and during the two succeeding days parts of the body were burned until it was all consumed. The bloody clothing was placed in a washtub and later burned.

The tub, which became stained with blood from the clothes, was scraped and burned on the inside with kerosene to remove the stains, and places on the wall where blood had spattered when the body was being chopped up were repapered. The ax was afterward burned. During the time the body was being burned the usual meals were cooked by Mrs. Taylor.

The daughter is attractive and intelligent looking, but Mrs. Taylor has a brutal and animal-like face. During her daughter's recital of the story Mrs. Taylor showed no sign of nervousness. The hearing was adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning, when Mrs. Taylor will be examined.

Ship In Wireless Communication From Port to Port.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—The possibility of maintaining by wireless telegraphy a daily paper at sea has been proved.

The Atlantic Transport company's steamer Minneapolis, which left here a week ago last Saturday and arrived at London yesterday, reports being in wireless communication either with Cornwall in England or Siasconsett in America all the way across.

The officers of the ship published a newspaper every day containing the news of the world as sent by wireless telegraph.

An Appeal For Sweden.

LINDBORG, Kan., Feb. 11.—Rev. Dr. C. Swenson, president of Bahany college, received a long cablegram today from the United States legation at Stockholm, Sweden, saying: "The chairman of the committee to collect contributions in America for the famine sufferers in northern Sweden appeals to you in the name of Christian charity and of your love of old Sweden to start collections in Kansas. If a shipload of provisions can be collected easier than money they will be received in New York and transmitted to Sweden. Oats, rye, wheat, shelled corn, potatoes, corned beef and salt pork will be acceptable. At least $1,000,000 is necessary to avert starving till next harvest. Have just returned after a fortnight's traveling in the stricken district. My heart aches at the sight of suffering witnessed. Drafts should be made payable to Landshofding Bergstrom, Luela, Sweden.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS.

House Adopts Conference Report on Department of Commerce Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—The house yesterday adopted the conference report on the department of commerce bill by a vote of 251 to 10. One Republican, Mr. Littlefield (Me.), and nine Democrats voted against this action. Several Democrats took the position that the "Nelson amendment" to the bureau of corporations was a weak and ineffectual attempt to provide the machinery for corporation publicity. Mr. Mann (Ill.) in behalf of the Republicans contended, on the contrary, that it was a better measure of publicity than had been presented in any other bill.

The remainder of the day was devoted to the sundry civil appropriation bill. Mr. Cannon, chairman of the appropriations committee, gave notice that at the proper time he would move two amendments, one to provide for the purchase of a site and the erection of a three story, 400 room office building for members, to be connected with the capitol by a subway and to cost $3,800,000, and the other an appropriation of $2,500,000 to carry out the original plans for beautifying and enlarging the main wing of the capitol. The notable feature of the general debate on the bill was a speech by Mr. De Armond (Mo.) on the Hanna bill to pension ex-slaves. He spoke in a sarcastic vein, but the subject assumed a serious phase when Mr. Richardson (Tenn.) said that adventurers in the south were using the bill to impose on ignorant, credulous negroes and called on Mr. Cannon to give assurance that the passage of such a measure was not contemplated. This assurance Mr. Cannon gave.

She statehood bill again came up in the senate, and Mr. Morgan (Ala.) spoke on it for some time. In the course of his remarks he referred to bills regarding trusts, which, he said, have been kept back and will be kept back until it is too late for discussion regarding them. The time of the senate was being wasted on account of what he termed "a peaceful political blockade" on the statehood bill when more important measures were awaiting action.

Mr. Hanna presented the conference report on the department of commerce bill, a final vote on it being deferred until today in order that it might be printed. The conference report on the general staff bill was agreed to. A number of other bills were passed.

At 5:25 p. m. the senate adjourned after a brief executive session.

Compromise Statehood Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—The Republican senatorial advocates of a compromise statehood bill have prepared their measure for the admission of the two states, Oklahoma and Indian Territory comprising one state and Arizona and New Mexico the other. They will bring it before the committee on territories at the first opportune moment, but are holding it back because of the opposition of the Democratic senators and also because some of the Republican supporters of statehood are not entirely reconciled to the change.

BRITISH PROTOCOL ACCEPTED.

German and Italian Conventions Not Yet Acceptable to Bowen.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Great Britain's protocol has been formally accepted by Mr. Bowen for Venezuela. The German and Italian conventions are still undergoing revision, but assurances are given in authoritative quarters that they eventually will be made to conform in all essential respects to that of the British ambassador.

It appears that the insertion in the German protocol of the provision for advance payment of the original $340,000 demanded of President Castro in the German ultimatum was the result of a misunderstanding on the part of the German foreign office of certain steps in the negotiations here. Through the activity of the German minister, Baron Speck von Sternburg, this point is being cleared up.

The Italian ambassador's instructions are such that he can make little headway until he knows what is contained in the German protocol. He, however, has made a rough draft of his convention, and it will take only a short while after the completion of the German convention for Signor des Planches to put the finishing touches to his protocol.

Mr. Bowen has done everything possible to conclude the negotiations with dispatch in order that the blockade might be raised.

Gift to Harvard Medical School.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 11.—A gift of $76,000 to establish an infants' hospital as an adjunct to the Harvard Medical school is announced. Some $60,000 more is promised, and the entire gift will be accepted as a memorial to Thomas Morgan Rotch, class of 1901. It is planned that the hospital shall be one of the finest of its kind in the country, and in it will be laboratories for scientific work and lecture rooms. The site will be adjacent to the medical school, which will be erected in the Longwood section of Boston.

TOPEKA, Kan., Feb. 11.—Ex-Governor W. E. Stanley has decided to take the place on the Dawes Indian commission which was tendered him. Mr. Stanley said he was not familiar enough with the work, but repeated urgings caused him to give his assent. Washington authorities have been notified.

OSWEGO, N. Y., Feb. 11.—Fire completely destroyed the plant of the Ontario Malting company, owned by Elliott B. Mott of Oswego and William A. Waite of Adams. Fully 100,000 bushels of grain were destroyed, and the loss will aggregate $100,000, which is covered by insurance.

NEW TAXATION PLAN

Leaders at Albany Confer With the Governor.

NOTARIAL TAX BILL ABANDONED.

Real Estate Conveyances, Mortgages and Direct Inheritances of Real Estate to Be Taxed—A Revenue of $6,700,000 Expected.

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 11.—Governor Odell and the Republican leaders and members of the committees on taxation of the senate and assembly have agreed upon the legislation to be pressed at the current session to increase the revenues of the state from indirect sources so that the governor may redeem his pledge to abolish direct taxation for state purposes. The measures agreed upon differ in some particulars from the legislation recommended by the governor in his message to the legislature and are the result of a consensus of the best opinion of the Republican leaders as to how the increased revenues should be raised. They are as follows:

First.—A tax on real estate conveyances, expected to bring a revenue of $1,200,000.

Second.—A five mill tax on mortgages, estimated to raise a revenue of $10,000,000, of which the state is to receive $5,000,000 and the localities where collected a like sum.

Third.—A tax of 1 per cent on the direct inheritance of real estate when its value is $15,000 or more. This is expected to produce $500,000 annually.

Governor Odell and the leaders believe that the $6,700,000 which it is estimated the state will receive from these three sources will be sufficient to provide the extra moneys needed to avoid the necessity of imposing direct taxes for state purposes next year.

It was decided to abandon the provisions of the notarial tax bill, which imposes a tax of 10 cents on notarial certificates, because of the objections that have been made to the tax and the belief of the governor that sufficient funds can be raised without it. This change transforms that measure into a conveyance tax bill, imposing a tax of 10 cents upon each $100 of valuation of all real estate conveyed in this state, thus securing an estimated revenue of $1,200,000.

In its original form the mortgage tax bill imposed, in lieu of all other taxation, a tax of 4 mills on mortgages, two-thirds of the revenue to be payable to the locality and one-third to the state. These provisions were changed at the conference so as to provide a tax of an additional mill, the revenue to be divided equally between the state and the collecting locality.

The third bill embodies a new proposition. It will amend the state transfer tax law, which now imposes a tax of 1 per cent on all collateral inheritances. The amendment extends the tax to direct inheritance of real estate the value of which is $15,000 or more. It will not apply to the inheritance of personal property.

What Partridge Threw Away.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Colonel John N. Partridge, former police commissioner, addressing the Women's Republican club at Delmonico's, said that in 1902 he had made more than 800 appointments, "and they did not cost the men a cent." The former commissioner added that, according to the computation of a friend based on the alleged previous custom of exacting payment for appointments and promotions, he had thus "thrown away $782,000." Colonel Partridge reviewed the history of the police department from the time of the constabulary in 1632 until now, when the force comprises about 8,000 men and is maintained at an expense of $11,000,000 a year.

New York Savings Banks.

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 11.—The total resources of the savings banks of the state on Jan. 1 last were $1,191,327,573, an increase during the year of $59,762,949, according to a statement issued by Bank Superintendent F. D. Kilburn. The amount of money deposited with these institutions is $1,077,383,743, an increase of $63,077,885. There was likewise an increase of $100,872 in the number of open accounts during that period, the number on Jan. 1 being 2,275,383.

J. P. Morgan's Name Forged.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—According to the Daily Chronicle two bills for over $55,000 each purporting to have been given by J. Pierpont Morgan in payment for purchases of pictures and bric-a-brac, which were sent to New York for collection, have just been returned with an intimation that the signatures were forged. It is reported that many more such bills have been circulated in the London market. The origin of the forgeries has not yet been discovered.

Alabama River Dangerous.

SELMA, Ala., Feb. 11.—The condition of the Alabama river is steadily growing more dangerous and is causing much alarm. The lowlands along the river are inundated, and it is feared the stream will overflow its banks and result in great damage to life and property. Section Observer Chaffee at Montgomery says the river will continue to rise at Selma through today and will certainly reach forty-six feet and possibly forty-eight feet.

Labor Troubles at Cadiz.

CADIZ, Spain, Feb. 11.—The strike which was begun here recently as the result of general dissatisfaction with the existing conditions is rapidly spreading. Rioters have forced the proprietors of all the stores to close their establishments. An attempt to wreck an express train by the removal of a rail was discovered in time to avert a disaster.

YESTERDAY'S HEARING.

Reasons why the annexation and consolidation acts should be allowed to remain on the statute books were presented to the Senate committee on the revision of laws at a public hearing at the State House, Trenton, yesterday. While each speaker had a different viewpoint, the reasons could be inevitably reduced to two primary ones.

First. The people of any community should have the right to settle without outside interference any question which concerns them alone.

Second. There is no question, no matter of what vital importance, that cannot be safely trusted to the people and left with them to settle.

A defense was made in behalf of the repealers which aim to remove the annexation and consolidation acts from the statute books. It was simple. Because the vote on the annexation measure had been a negative one, the Legislature was asked to wipe them both out, as one being useless without the other and the vote being a final one without the possibility of any future combination of circumstances making annexation desirable to a majority of the borough citizens.

There were few in attendance who favored the repealers. There was a host that did not. And that host not only included those who had favored annexation at the election last fall but a number of those who opposed it but were not disposed to see taken away the right of the citizens of North Plainfield to settle that question for themselves. That was where the shoe pinched. Both city and borough desired to retain the privilege of settling a distinctively local question among themselves.

Just what effect the hearing will have on the fate of the repealers it is hard to say. If, however, their future depends on the merits of the question as they exist and as they were presented to the committee on the revision of laws at yesterday afternoon's hearing, then the annexation and consolidation measures will remain as part of the laws of New Jersey for many years to come.

After the lapse of time it was hoped that the bitterness and personalities might be entirely eliminated from this Greater Plainfield question. Opinions might differ but there was no need of meeting in anything but a friendly way. It was therefore with the greater regret that W. W. Howland's bitter and utterly uncalled for attack on those who favored a greater city was heard. His well deserved rebuke by Senator Strong, chairman of the committee and the scathing arraignment by the other speakers were all he could expect. What a pity it is that questions of public interest cannot be discussed by some men without forgetting themselves. It was the one regrettable feature of a hearing that would otherwise have been very satisfactory to all concerned.

After it was supposed that the contest for the Fair millions was over, the public is startled by the announcement that the heirs of Mrs Fair are not satisfied with the settlement and that they are preparing to carry the case into the courts of law. What makes the matter of particular importance is the claim of her heirs that they have strong evidence that she survived her husband a brief time and that legally all the wealth of Charles L. Fair goes to them. The wealthy relatives of Mr. Fair are going to fight the case to the bitter end and the result will undoubtedly be a long drawn out legal controversy which will manage to dispose of a fair share of the estate.

The Daily Press will be published tomorrow, Lincoln's Birthday, at noon.

PAID FOR CARE OF TRAMPS

SOMERSET COUNTY FREEHOLDERS WERE IN A HURRY THIS YEAR.

South Bound Brook People Ask for Help to Solve the Tramp Question.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Feb. 11—Considerable business was transacted at the regular monthly meeting of the Somerset County Board of Freeholders in the court house here yesterday afternoon.

The citizens and taxpayers of South Bound Brook have become alarmed at the depredations of tramps and petitioned the board for permission to have vagrants locked up in the county jail. The board passed a resolution to appoint a committee to confer with Sheriff McMurtry, with power to arrange for the locking up of tramps. Members Lutkins, Mobus and R. W. Hoagland were selected.

John V. D. Pumyea, of Plainville, appeared with a petition, largely signed, for the improvement of a road, under the State aid road act, in Montgomery and Hillsborough township. This highway begins at a point in the road leading from Belle Mead to Flaggtown and runs thence along the Sourland Mountain to Neshanic. The petition was ordered laid on the table.

E. B. Hoagland moved that the resolution passed at the regular meeting in January, respecting payment of bills of justices of the peace, constables and Sheriff, for the arrest, conviction or board of tramps, be reconsidered. This was carried by a vote of six to four. Then by a vote of seven to three it was ordered to pay the bills of the Sheriff. This is quite an unusual proceeding with the board, as the bills of this sort are usually held up until May. It was decided, however, that the bills of Justices Kitchen, Farley and Shay be tabled. The board wants to have a little work to do at that May meeting.

The next regular meeting will be held March 11 instead of the 10th, when the spring elections will take place.

BUILDING BOOM.

More Permits Granted During January Than in Any Previous January on Record.

At the close of the office hours of Building Inspector T. O. Doane last week there were more permits granted for the month of January than have been granted at any time since the office of Building Inspector was established. This shows that there is going on about this community a healthy growth not only in residential buildings but in factories and stores as the following figures will show.

There were twenty-five permits granted during the past month. Of this number eleven were for frame dwellings, six for sheds and barns, one for a store and dwelling, one for a shop and dwelling, one for an addition to a house, two for additions to store buildings, two for brick factory buildings, and one for an addition to a frame factory building.

THEATRICAL.

Mirth and melody will constitute the entertainment at the Grand Opera House, Manhattan, this week, when that bright sparkling comedy "Foxy Grandpa" will be brought forward to delight both young and old playgoers with its wealth of fun and music. Mr. Hart has embodied the idea of the cartoonist with marvellous success and the rotund but agile figure that Schultze so often draws becomes, in the person of the comedian, a veritable reality. Associated with him is that very clever comedienne and singer, Miss Carrie De Mar, who makes a charming personage of Polly Bright, and the two form a combination that would be difficult to excel in any description of stage work depending upon comedy and music. In addition to the regular Wednesday and Saturday matinees, there will be a special matinee on Thursday, Lincoln's Birthday.

WOODHULL & MARTIN.

Shabby, But Had the Price.

A shabby old man recently came driving through Allen county. He said he was from Arkansaw, and his crowbait team and rattletrap wagon had the stamp of Arkansaw upon them. He wiggled along until he came to the farm of Mr. McAdams, near Kincaid. There he stopped and began to survey the farm in an indolent sort of a way. "Is she for sale?" he drawled to Mr. McAdams, who had come to the fence to observe him. "Yep, she's for sale—$13,500—were you thinking of making a purchase this morning?" replied McAdams, sarcastically. The old man took another dreamy look over the landscape. Then he sighed in protest at the exertion and pulled a fat wallet from somewhere about his person. From his wallet he extracted cash and drafts in excess of the amount required. "Kin yer turn her over now?" he plaintively inquired. McAdams was knocked speechless, but he rallied and completed the deal.—Moran (Kan.) Herald.

Made a Good Guess.

She was an amateur artist, and, like most of her kind, considered herself several laps in advance of the average amateur. She was eager, however, to know how her work would impress one of the masters who had managed to grasp fickle Fame by the back of the neck.

One day a real painter called at her home, and she immediately conceived the idea of testing him. She would show him a specimen of her handiwork, but would reveal nothing that might lead him to suspect her as being the creator thereof. So the fair amateur proceeded to guide the real painter toward her masterpiece.

"Of what school would you call this painting?" she asked, expectantly.

"Of the boarding school," promptly replied the real painter.—London Spare Moments.

Ought to Take Warning.

Fond Mother—Now, look here, George! I want you to break off with that girl. She is very pretty and all that, but I know her too well to want you to risk your life and happiness by marrying her. Why, she knows no more about housekeeping than I do about Greek—not a bit.

George—Perhaps not; but she can learn.

"After marriage is rather late for that, George."

"But you said yourself that you did not know a thing about housekeeping until after you were married."

"Very truly, George—and your poor father died of dyspepsia 20 years ago."—Stray Stories.

In addition to this there was sent and received over forty cablegrams. Manager Mondeaux, of the local office, was assisted by special men from New York, and the office has been complimented for its excellent work.

The Easy Pill.

DeWitt's Little Early Risers do not gripe nor weaken the system. They cure biliousness, jaundice, constipation and inactive livers, by arousing the secretions, moving the bowels gently, yet effectually, and giving such tone and strength to the glands of the stomach, liver and bowels that the cause of the trouble is removed entirely. These famous little pills exert a decided tonic effect upon the organs involved, and if their use is continued for a few days there will be no return of the trouble. L. W. Randolph.

AROUND THE CITY BY SMELL.

Odors Peculiar to Certain Sections Would Guide One Acquainted with New York.

"If you were to set me down in New York blindfolded I could give a pretty close guess as to my whereabouts by the smell of that particular locality," said a salesman in The Swamp, relates the New York Times. "If my nose seemed stuffed with hides and tallow I should know that I was in the immediate vicinity of Gold, Cliff or Frankfort street. A pronounced odor of spices would indicate Fulton street, in the neighborhood of the East river; but if tea and coffee predominated the chances would be strongly in favor of Front, Pearl or Water street. A saccharine quality in the air would suggest the sugar and molasses neighborhood of William, Wall or Front streets. Perfumes would place me at once on Leonard or Chambers, or possibly Grand street, while a strong odor of soap would let me know that Pearl or Murray street, or, perhaps, Greenwich or Hudson was not far off. If the atmosphere was fairly reeking with the scent of drugs, I could figure out that I had wound up somewhere near Fulton, William or Cliff street. Tobacco would give me a wide range, but I should probably be near Pearl, Pine or Broad street. The smell of hops would be a sure indication of Whitehall street. West and South streets have their distinctive odors of shipping and seamen's supplies."

BEATS HEALTH FOODS.

Ozone in the Rocky Mountain Air Enables One to Go a Long Time Without Eating.

Edgar Wallace Conable, of Colorado Springs, has discovered that the ozone in the air of the Rocky mountains makes food practically unnecessary, and that a 15-day fast is beneficial to the body in every way, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. If this is true, it need but be a short time until Colorado may ship all her irrigated products to other markets and subsist upon Colorado ozone, of which there is an inexhaustible supply. One meal once in 15 days would be such a slight interruption in one's file work that it would scarcely be noted at all, and would produce no more apparent effect than the usual frugal lunch counter collation in St. Louis. Many are somewhat accustomed to the ozone diet here already; and when in midsummer one may have observed a busy man regaling himself on a slice of watermelon and a glass of milk, it is apparent the ozone regimen was near. At first it may be necessary to take only a few crackers with your ozone; after that you can taper off on foodine, dessicated bran and other health foods, and then take up ozone altogether. It has often been said that in many cases nerve alone will keep a man alive. Ozone and nerve amount to the same thing.

ATMOSPHERIC CONUNDRUM.

A Question Often Asked by Observant Persons Elucidated by a Weather Expert.

Which is heavier, dry air or moist air? This is a question which occasionally agitates the minds of persons who get to thinking about the weather, and when such folks have considered it for a time and discussed it with their neighbors, they write to the newspapers for information, states the New York Tribune.

Before consulting any authority, a man is apt to reason in this fashion: The air absorbs the vapor very much as water dissolves sugar, and consequently there must be a gain in weight for the same volume. If he should write to Prof. Willis L. Moore, chief of the United States weather bureau in Washington, though, he would find that his own independent logic was fallacious. Prof. Moore says: "A cubic foot of dry air weighs more than a cubic foot of moist air at the same temperature and pressure. The addition of vapor to a cubic foot of dry air enlarges the volume of the mixture if the air is free to expand, as in the atmosphere; and as the vapor has only about two-thirds the density of dry air at the same temperature and pressure, the density of the mixture is less than that of dry air."

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Eick, of Bound Brook, have returned home after a visit of several days with Plainfield relatives.

LONG TROLLEY RIDES.

Trip of a New York Man from His City to Chicago Almost Altogether by the Electric Lines.

A glimpse of trolley car travel of the future is given in the recent experience of a New Yorker. He journeyed from New York to Chicago by trolley routes wherever it was available, and that means nearly the whole distance. He sums up a delightful experience by saying: "Steam for speed; trolley for a good time." The cost of his journey was considerably greater, and much more time was required than would have been involved in a trip by steam railway. He was bent on pleasure, however, and he found the novelty most enjoyable.

The journey alluded to is of general interest as an indication of the amazing rate of expansion of trolley car service in the east. From New York to Buffalo the traveler found the trolley is available most of the distance, with gaps in process of rapid filling by lines under construction. He went clear across the state of Ohio, with the exception of one break of a few miles, by his favorite conveyance. The breaks in Michigan and northwestern Indiana were also few and short, and he notes that, generally speaking, the farther west he went the better service. The best stretch of electric railway in the whole distance, according to his report, was the 76 miles from Detroit to Jackson.

DUCK HUNTERS TANTALIZED.

Spot in Massachusetts Where the Fowl Swarm, Yet May Not Be Molested by Gunners.

Spot Pond, in the Middlesex Fells district, which lies between the towns of Melrose, Malden, Stoneham, Medford and Winchester, has become the Mecca of thousands of wild ducks, most of them of the black variety.

For the past five or six years, since the Metropolitan park commission has taken possession of the pond, no gunning has been allowed, says the Boston Journal. This the ducks quickly learned, and every year since they have been greatly augmented in numbers, until this year there is the largest number of ducks ever seen on the pond at one time.

They sit out in the middle of the pond in several bunches extending from the Stoneham to the Medford shores. There are two islands in the vicinity on which they roost each evening.

It is estimated there are over 3,000 ducks at the present time in the pond, and they are increasing daily, as the migration to the south takes place.

There were a large number of well-known gunners on the shores of the pond the other day with hungry eyes, watching the ducks for hours. The ducks seem to know they are safe from all danger and come quite near the shore and play with each other, and seem to have no fear.

A COLOMBIAN EXACTION.

One Item of Extortion Which Alone Surpasses Anything in "Gail" the World Over.

A significant story of the conditions prevailing in the part of South America where revolutions are periodical is told by Peter MacQueen, the Boston traveler, whose wanderings are as wide as the hemisphere, says the New York Tribune.

"I was getting ready to leave a small town in Colombia," said MacQueen, "when a very much uniformed official waited on me.

"'Senor,' said he, politely, 'I understand that you have decided to leave us to-morrow.'

"I admitted that my intention was such.

"'Senor,' he continued, deferentially, 'I have called to remind your excellency that there is as charge of ten dollars gold made for the privilege of leaving.'

"I looked at the man in utter amazement for a moment; then I inquired what reason was alleged for this piece of robbery.

"'Ah, senor, there is no reason.'

"As I was anxious to catch the boat I paid the ten dollars, but I own I was disturbed when I got back to New York to hear the New York police called 'The Finest.'"

JOE MEALEY'S RIDE.

Unique Bareback Gallop on an Enraged Deer.

Hair-Raising Experience of a California Mountaineer Who Mounted His Quarry a Few Minutes Too Soon.

Few more thrilling experiences can be imagined than that recently undergone by a young California mountaineer named Joseph Mealey.

"Some young fellows from Oakland," he says in the Philadelphia Press, "were up here looking for big game. They had the latest and best kinds of shooting material, new style rifles and pistols, and the like, but there wasn't a shotgun in the party.

"They were poor hunters and were so scared of shooting one another that they persisted in hunting in a bunch. I finally got disgusted with them and on the second morning after their arrival set out alone to bag a deer. I was up at daylight and set out over the mountains.

"I didn't see a sign of deer, although I trudged all over one side of the slope. The sun was up pretty high when I set my rifle against a big bowlder and jumped on to a rock to sit down and smoke.

"While I was gazing lazily about me I heard the thud-thud-thud, and I knew a deer was jumping down the mountain. I slid off the bowlder quick, grabbed the rifle, and laid low. Again I heard the thud of the deer's jump, and, looking over the rock I saw a big buck trotting slowly across the small opening down the mountain.

"The deer was north of me and the breeze came from that direction, so I hurried straight down the mountain. While I was sneaking along I looked over a clump of brush, and there, out in plain view, stood the buck. He was a big one I tell you, and with his great antlers banged if he didn't look big as an elk to me.

"I should judge he was about 200 yards from me. He was standing there tossing his head as though some sort of a fly was bothering him, and I decided to give it to him through the heart. I wasn't well acquainted with the rifle, but I aimed careful and let him have it.

"When I reached him I took my hunting knife out of my belt to bleed him. Before this I stood looking down at him for a few seconds, for he was by far the biggest deer I ever saw—a six pronger.

"I had my foot on his hind quarters. Then I straddles him, holding his antlers to keep his head steady, and with my left hand started to cut his neck.

"No sooner did the knife prick his skin before that buck was on his feet. I was too scared to notice how it was done, but I know that his forelegs went out first and he was up quick as a flash.

"I already had a grip on his antlers with my right hand, and as I dropped my knife I grabbed them with my left. I was too paralyzed to think even, but I can tell you that he and I were off like the wind—with me hanging on for dear life.

"Over rocks, across dry ditches, and over the patches of buck brush that animal went as if he had never been hurt, and although I stayed with the wildest bronchos Montana could produce, I never had such trouble as that.

"People have asked me many times if trotting and leaping were the only gaits of a deer. That particular buck deer seemed to have 'em all. No spurs were needed for that animal, I tell you.

"About this time the animal slowed to a trot, and he gave a bleat much as would a calf, then staggered and fell.

"I threw myself off his back before he commenced to reel, but I saw blood gushing out of his nose and mouth as he dropped. He was game, for he tried to get his feet again—then dropped over, dead.

"The distance from where the deer started after I first dropped him to where he dropped me was close on to a half mile."

Waltzing Mice of Japan.

The Japanese delight in animal freaks. They train dogs to perform various kinds of stunts, but their most amusing wonders are waltzing mice. The whirlings and twistings of these little animals are exceedingly ludicrous. The diminutive waltzers are about half the size of the American mouse, and piebald in color.

ENGLISH AT FOREIGN HOTELS.

Words Put Together in a Fashion That Is Something Fearful and Wonderful to Contemplate.

Many gems of the curious English of foreign hotel keepers have been given to the public. Among the best, says Stray Stories, is the tale of the host of a well-known establishment in Greece, who was wont to greet his guests in an effusive manner with: "What you prefare—a biftek or a chick-hen?"

Their astonishment at the mastery of the language was frequently deepened when, upon their return to the hotel a few hours later, they found nothing prepared. It was his only English sentence, and he did not understand a word of it.

This, however, is not quite equal to the placard in the possession of a naval officer just returned from Egypt. He procured it at a cafe chantant in Alexandria. It was printed in several languages, and this is the English part: "Every of the consummations of the coldness, one piastre besides. Every of the claim to be addressed directly of the direction. During of the repetitions the price of consummations to be the same that in every the other's coffee."

With the aid of the parallel passages in other languages the meaning is found as follows: "All iced drinks one piastre extra. All complaints should be made at the office. Nothwithstanding the performance the prices will be the same as those of other cafes."

THE FINISH AT MONTE CARLO.

Those Who Lose Their All at the Gaming Tables Go Elsewhere with Their Misery.

One sees only the appearances of luxury and of gayety in this glittering community. Despair would make a blot upon it. Those who have lost their fortunes disappear like magic, and while the newspapers announce on their first page, "Monsieur le Duc has left the azure coast and has returned to his sumptuous apartments," the poor devil goes to conceal his shame in some little shanty lost in the ocean of Parisian room, says Harper's Weekly. But all have not the courage to go away. Many stay. Of such not a word is heard. The cold, the rain, the fog, ruin, and death are and ought to be, according to the announcement of the company and the press, wholly unknown in this favored spot. Orange trees always in flower, palms trees always green, and the sky always blue, a continual fete, winners, fortunate gamblers, nobles, millionaires, counts, dukes, grand dukes, highnesses, and princes, princes, princes—that is what people want at Monte Carlo. A pistol shot is never heard, never wakes an echo, never causes a scandal. The walks where the cactuses stretch out in perspective toward the sea are always clean and well sanded. One never sees a drop of blood.

THE TURKISH POST OFFICE.

An Institution That Regards with Suspicion Anything of a Foreign Nature.

The Turk suspects everybody and everything, and no private act, no seclusion is safe from his intrusion. Every telegram sent from the public offices is at once reported to the authorities. No one can safely send a letter by the Turkish post unless he is willing to have it opened and read, and take the chances of having it confiscated if the censor finds anything that can be twisted into an insult to Mohammedanism, says Outing. As a result of this condition and the inability of foreigners residing in Turkey to communicate with any certainty with their friends, some of the great European nations have established post offices of their own in Turkish cities, in which they employ only Europeans, use their own stamps, and watch their mail bags until they pass beyond the prying eyes of the Turks. In Salonica there are no fewer than five post offices—British, Austrian, French, Servian and Turkish; in Constantinople, six. If one wishes to be sure of his mail, he must inquire at four of them at least; and if he really wants to have his letters reach their destination, he must send them through some post office other than Turkish.

Not Well Posted.

Just how much the average Englishman knows about this country was illustrated in Washington a day or two ago. James Blackie, a traveler from London, asked the clerk in his hotel how far it was to Michigan, as he wished to call on a friend there. The clerk inquired to what part of Michigan Mr. Blackie wished to go. The traveler did not know exactly, but said: "I can easily find out in what part of the city he lives when I get there." "What city?" inquired the clerk. "Why, the city of Michigan, of course," said the intelligent Briton.

Swedish Courtesy.

When a train leaves a platform or a steamboat pier in Sweden, all the lookers on lift their hats to the departing passengers and bow to them, a compliment returned by the travelers. If you address the poorest person in the street you must lift your hat. A gentleman passing a lady on the stairs of a hotel must do the same. To enter the shop or a bank with one's hat on is a terrible breach of good manners. If you enter or leave a coffee room you must bow to all the occupants.

Strength of the Saxon.

An average Britisher is as strong as two Hindus.

He Wanted Action.

A well-dressed man went into the telegraph office of a southern Michigan town and wrote a message home for money. He then laid down a quarter and asked that it be sent as soon as possible. "Three cents more," said the agent. "Haven't got it," replied the man. "Can't send the message, then." "Well," said the fellow, "send it as far as you can for a quarter. I am a gambler and I want action on my money, if it is only 25 cents."—Chicago Chronicle.

His Aspirations.

"Yes, ma'am," said Tattered Tag Tad, sadly, "my high aspirations are de only t'ings dat have prevented me from obtainin' work."

"Ah, my poor fellow," she said, as she passed out a meal; "another victim of mercenary commercialism. What are the high aspirations that handicap you in your search for work?"

"Ter be cap'n on an airship, ma'am."

Similar Sounds.

"Ethel," said Mrs. Subbubs, sternly, "after that young man had said 'good-night' to you on the porch last evening I heard several sounds like kisses!"

"Yes?" replied the girl, demurely. "Oh, I know! What you heard was the noise he made pulling his feet out of the mud as he walked down the path."—Catholic Standard and Times.

ONLY THE BEST
paint is usable. To be worth putting on it must be durable, and to be durable it must be top quality. The general war of wind, sun and rain upon houses knows no cessation or truce. Paint is the main defense. Put your faith in something that will not fail you. A reliable article at a top price is cheaper than something else sold way down.

FOR PRESENT WEAR.

Dainty Hats—Skating and Walking Costumes.

Headgear is distinctly smart at the present moment. In fact, it has seldom known such variety. It does much to relieve the monotony of winter garb. White and pink camellias are still the rage for decorating fur and beaver hats, and these will continue the favorite form of millinery during the next few weeks.

Some of the leading French houses are turning their attention toward skating frocks. For this purpose and also that of walking suits white, black and sable colored zibeline skirts are most useful worn with jackets to match, or, better still, with a fur bolero of the same shade. Zibeline is almost as warm as fur and therefore makes an admirable material of which to make skirts to wear with fur coats.

White zibeline is used for reception frocks and will do duty later on in the sunny south. It fulfills every requirement for a smart winter frock. It is suggestive of lightness combined with warmth. The rage for white is not abating in the least, and the best frocks are in white and gray.

The evening coat in the cut is of panne velvet, with a lining of white satin and rich applications of lace and chiffon. JUDIC CHOLLET.

FOR EVENING WEAR.

Fluffy and Elaborate Skirts—Up to Date Trimmings.

Many elegant and costly ball gowns are made of fine silk net resembling tulle, and there are many frills run with drawn ribbon.

The frilly skirt is the chief favorite for dance gowns, and motifs of lace are also used to powder the skirt and to head the frillings. Stripes of lace and ribbon alternate with grouped tucks on some skirts and usually finish with tassels or bows falling loose over flounces of the same description.

Lace embroidery and ribbon, with the inevitable flowers, are the chief adornments of the evening toilet, but Parisians are again using fringe in small quantities, and applique motifs of lace and velvet are much in favor. The pointed train is no longer seen, but skirts are long all around, and often the entire back appears of one depth.

Evening wraps are extremely smart, and the most elaborate are of satin or brocade lavishly appliqued with lace and trimmed with ruched plaitings of chiffon.

Frills of lace of the guipure type on net are very effective on coats of silk or satin, and the loose sack paletot form is much in demand.

The waist in the illustration is of oriental satin trimmed with heavy guipure lace. JUDIC CHOLLET.

A Knight of the Highway

"It's Jack Parmelee," Rossiter heard Mamie Becraft say to one of her brothers. "He's Mr. Merton's brother-in-law, an' oversees the farm."

The individual in question, an energetic appearing man of about 45, his hat pushed back upon his head, the dust clinging to his brown beard and causing it to seem flecked with gray, presently pulled his horses up before the hotel and surveyed those gathered upon the sidewalk and veranda.

"All here?" he demanded, his gruff voice sounding as though it might have proceeded from his boots. "Well, pile in!" he added, not giving anyone time to answer. "Any trunks?"

Those who had belongings hastened to load them into the wagon; then there was a good-natured scramble for seats. Rossiter assisted Joe with the two satchels and large basket containing the possessions of the Becraft family, and then found himself seated between the two brothers, with Mrs. Becraft and her daughter opposite.

"All right there?" inquired Jack Parmelee, surveying the load from his superior height with a glow of satisfaction.

"Right!" cried someone.

"Get up!" cried the animated Jehu. The big horses braced themselves; the heavy wagon moved; and the journey to the hop fields was begun.

CHAPTER IV.

AT THE MERTONS'.

It was a long and wearisome ride. There had been a protracted season of drought, and beyond the city the fields lay scorched and sere, while a white coating of dust covered everything by the roadside. Even the leaves of the trees, motionless in the sultry air, seemed burnt and lifeless. Overhead hung a blazing sun. As they plodded forward, the horses being unable to move faster than a walk, owing to the heavy load, clouds of dust rose about them. The very atmosphere was permeated with floating particles, and the distance was blurred and vague.

For nine miles the road ascended gradually, part of the time following the course of the abandoned Susquesango canal, part of the time in close proximity to the track of the Suswego and Eastern railway. There was little conversation. Occasionally one of the young men near the driver's seat was heard to berate the heat in a subdued, hopeless fashion, and there was a rare interchange of chaff between these same young men and a lone yokel shouting from a farm-yard by the highway. Once or twice a pugnacious sheperd dog rushed out and barked at them, but no one gave heed to the implied challenge.

It was nearing five o'clock when they reached the shady park at Hintonville. Very familiar this spot looked to Rossiter, for it was at the institution situated upon the lofty hill a mile and a half from the pretty little town that he had spent the four years of his college life. There was the church in which he had once "we're about there, and I reckon supper'll be ready."

This announcement was hailed with various comments of satisfaction. The jaded horses seemed to realize that they too were about to be rewarded for their part in the tiresome journey, and struck into a brisker walk. Everyone forgot, for the instant, the heat and the discomfort, and became animated and alert. Rossiter caught something of the excitement of the moment, and rose partly from his seat as the wagon approached a large, white farm-house set midway in a spacious yard. In front were several tall locust trees. In the rear, upon the nearer side, stood the barns, the hop-kiln with its queer ventilator upon the top, and various other outbuildings. Beyond, there appeared to be a garden and orchard, while directly opposite was a huge hop field.

As they entered the yard a robust, smooth-shaven man came out upon the piazza at the side of the house, closely followed by two women. The man, who was in shirt sleeves and wore a ribbonless wide-brimmed hat of straw, paused with his lips parted in a smile, his hands upon his hips, and his feet spread wide, and surveyed the wagonload. The women, sisters evidently, slender, kindly faced, and rather short of statue, shaded their eyes and examined the new-comers with curiosity and interest.

"There's Mr. and Mrs. Merton," said Mrs. Becraft to Jim. "That's Mrs. Merton this way; the other's her sister, Miss Parmelee, who lives with 'em. They's a daughter, but I don't see her."

"All right, Jack?" asked Mr. Merten, descending the porch steps.

"Yes, all right," returned Parmelee, leaping from his perch and giving himself a shake.

"Must 'a' had a pretty warm an' dusty drive."

"Golly, guess we did!"

"Get right down, all o' you," said Mr. Merton. "Mrs. Merton will look after the women, and Jack, here, will take care of the men. Hey, boys!" he cried, motioning to two farm-hands who were standing in the door way of the horse barn, "hurry up and give us a lift."

It was a great relief to Rossiter to stretch his cramped limbs. As he glanced about, he saw evidences of thrift everywhere, in the neat yard, in the trim sheds, in the overflowing mows, and in the recently painted, ramblingly spacious house. His vagabond experience had trained his eye in these matters, and he could usually read from the exteriors what treatment he was likely to receive. Here he knew that he should fare well. He was already glad that he had decided to come.

Having seen the hop-wagon unloaded and the team led away by one of the farm hands, and having watched the women and girls disappear in Mrs. Merton's wake, Rossiter whirled about to find the male portion of his companions gathering up their possessions preparatory to following Jack Parmelee. He had his own small bundle in his hand, and having joined the Becraft boys, who had been assisting their mother and sister, the three went forward together. Mr. Merton's right-hand man led them along the driveway to the rear of the house, where he struck into a path which traversed a small orchard that was separated by a high picket fence from one much more extensive. At the left-hand lower corner of the lesser orchard, and within a stone's throw of the farm-house, was a long, rather low one-storied building.

"WELL, WHAT DO YOU THINK OF IT?" ASKED JOE.

"Here's your sleepin'-quarters," said Jack Parmelee, throwing open the door and revealing a double row of snowy cots. "You'll have to do your washin' up to the barn. I'll show you after you pick your places and stow your traps," and therewith he left them.

The floor was scrupulously clean; there was mosquito-netting at all of the windows; and there were three lamps, with reflectors, for lighting the room. Rossiter and the two Becrafts secured cots at the farther end of the apartment, and then, having made themselves acquainted with the basin and towel arrangements at the barn, went in to the large kitchen, which had been cleared for an eating-room, to a plentiful supper.

"Well, what do you think of it?" asked Joe Becraft, as he and Rossiter strolled, smoking, down the road in the afterglow, having satisfied to the full their by no means slender appetites. "I say it's the slickest thing I've ever struck, by long odds."

"I don't fancy we shall find much to complain of, unless it's the hop-picking. What's that like?"

"Oh, that's fun. There's no work about it. All you do is just to strip the hops from the vines, that some chap called a 'pole-puller' brings you, an' chuck 'em into your box. You musn't put many leaves in, though. They dont' like that."

"It doesn't sound difficult."

"Difficult! Well, no; but I can tell you it's quite a trick to pick so that you can turn out your three boxes a day. They used to allow you to put some leaves in, an' then a fellow could manage four or five, but now it's different. They're darn particular."

"Let's see, what do we get?"

"Thirty-five cents a box an' 'grub.' If you boarded yourself, you'd probably get 50. They usually have a lot of people who pick after that fashion come up from Hintonville, so I understand. That's how they manage in most yards hereabouts."

"I'm really quite keen on it," said Rossiter, with a touch of Joe's enthusiasm.

"You must try and get at a box next to ours. You see four boxes are generally joined together, made so, consequently they's only room for our family at one of the combination things," announced Becraft.

"Oh, that's how it is!"

"Yes, that's the way they work it."

LED A DOUBLE LIFE.

Col. Plant's Sudden Death Reveals Strange Doings.

Known as "Edmund Hall" in a Quiet English Village Where He Reared a Family — Two Plates on His Coffin.

A London cable to the New York Sun says that from the west of England there comes a strange story of the double life lived by a man without suspicion for more than 19 years, his neighbors, and even his own son, being ignorant of it till his sudden death revealed the truth.

Nineteen years ago there came to live in a house called the Old Grange, in the small Dorsetshire village of Oborne, Edmund Hall, an accountant by profession. He lived at Oborne with his wife and family for 19 years, during which period they gained the respect of the whole neighborhood.

Mr. Hall was a great bee fancier. On Monday, September 1, he drove with his little son to a neighboring farm in the village of Templecombe, where he took some hives of bees. Afterward he went to a farmhouse, and while taking tea with the wife of the farmer he suddenly fell dead of heart disease. No suspicions were aroused, although some surprise was expressed at the news that Mr. Hall would be buried on the following Saturday at Bristol, instead of in Oborne churchyard, where a son, 17½ years of age, who died in 1901, and a son 16 days old, who died in 1902, lie buried.

On Wednesday the Bristol newspapers announced the sudden death of heart disease on the previous Monday at a small village near Templecombe of one of the most distinguished, best known and respected inhabitants of Bristol, Col. Edmund Carter Plant, C. B., who would be buried on Saturday in Bristol with full military honors. Some residents of Sherbourne, where Hall was well known, on seeing this, noticed the strange coincidences of the date and the manner and cause of the two men's deaths. But the editor of the Sherbourne Post suspected something more. He made inquiries which convinced him as to the identity of Hall and Plant, but he was unable to prove his case. However, he did not lose sight of the body, which on Friday evening was taken to the station attended by a large number of sorrowing villagers, and was placed in the guard's van. The coffin plate was seen to be inscribed "Edmund Hall. Died September 9, 1902, aged 60 years."

The Bristol undertaker entered the van with the coffin, but at the junction where the van was detached and coupled to another train this man changed to an ordinary carriage and when the train had arrived at Bristol the coffin plate was seen to be inscribed:

"Edmund Carter Plant, C. B., Colonel Bristol Engineers, died September 9, 1902, aged 60."

On Saturday the streets of Bristol were thronged with thousands of people anxious to see the funeral, which was the finest military spectacle the populace had seen since the late Queen Victoria visited the place in 1897. Eight colonels acted as pallbearers. Thus this distinguished resident of Bristol was laid in the cemetery of the town beside his wife, who died in 1900, and to whom he was married in 1865.

Plant's career, from his boyhood, with the exception of the 19 years he lived at Oborne as Hall, is well known. He had lived at Bristol since 1861. According to Who's Who, he was lieutenant colonel and colonel commanding of the Second Gloster volunteers, R. E. (the Bristol engineers). He passed through all the grades from sapper to colonel commanding.

Not until his death was the identity of their father revealed to their children at Oborne. "Mrs. Hall" knew, and but for the clumsy work of his legal advisers when they notified the newspapers of the colonel's death, the secret would never have been revealed. The mention of Templecombe gave the clew, however, and resulted in the exposure. The colonel's absence at Bristol or Oborne, "on business," never aroused the slightest suspicion.

The Wild Man of Borneo.

A professional "Wild Man of Borneo," named Calvin Bird, a negro, went to a hospital at Syracuse, N. Y., to have his horns removed. Under his scalp a silver plate had been ingeniously inserted, in which stood two standards. Into these standards, when he was on exhibition, Bird had screwed two goat's horns, and thousands of people have paid to see his horns and hear him bark.

A Weak Stomach

causes a weak body and invites disease. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cures and strengthens the stomach, and wards off and overcomes disease. J. B. Taylor, a prominent merchant of Ohriesman, Tex., says: "I could not eat because of a weak stomach. I lost all strength and run down in weight. All that money could do was done, but all hope of recovery vanished. Hearing of some wonderful cures effected by use of Kodol, I concluded to try it. The first bottle benefitted me, and after taking four bottles I am fully restored to my usual strength, weight and health." L. W. Randolph.

PALE PEOPLE

With Weak Lungs and Weak Stomachs,

ATTENTION!

The main trouble with the ordinary Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is that many people with weak stomachs are unable to use it, thereby being deprived of one of the best tissue builders and lung tonics of the day. We have formed a perfect mechanical combinat on of the

NORWEGIAN COD LIVER OIL, SHERRY WINE, GLYCERINE AND EGGS,

With the universal digestant—PURE PEPSIN making a food and medicine for the weakest constitution. Consider this matter before it is too late for you to derive proper benefits. Confer with your physician regarding it if you desire. If your lungs are weak act and act quickly.

CITY'S PLANT IS A SUCCESS

State Sewage Commission Refers in Annual Report to Its Successful Working.

HAD AN EXPERT HERE

Complete Text of Portion of the Board's Report Which Refers to Plainfield's Sewage Disposal System—It is a Decided Success.

There has been so much talk about the success of the Plainfield sewage disposal beds and their approval by the State Sewerage Commission that it is interesting to note just exactly what that board has to say about them. The annual report of the State Sewage Commission has just been issued and fills a pamphlet of fifty-one pages.

In the report is over a page devoted to the Plainfield system. This is given in full herewith. There is also a description of the Red Bank plant, which is similar to the Plainfield one and has been in successful operation for over a year. In the report of the secretary of the board is given the report of Thomas McClear, the expert chemist who made tests of the local plant for the State board. His report is of a technical nature and contains a number of tables showing the results of tests. It was after receiving and considering this report that the State Commission prepared its own report.

The portion of the report which refers to Plainfield is given as follows:

Plainfield Analysis.

"The extensive improvements effected at the instance of this Commission in the sewerage disposal works at Plainfield, at heavy cost to the city, have been successful in operation. The Commission caused chemical and bacteriological examinations to be made, which show remarkable efficiency for the septic tanks and single-contact beds installed. Eighty-seven per cent. of the bacteria were removed and the putresible matter completely disappeared. There seems no reason why, with proper care, this system should not continue to operate with success. The results obtained confirm the experience in other places that, with a septic tank and single contact beds, properly constructed and operated, an affluent may be obtained which will be free from objection, if discharged into a stream of moderately-abundant flow. The use of the water of the stream for potable purposes cannot, however, be permitted with safety. Sand filtration might achieve this, but the use for drinking purposes of water once contaminated should be permitted only with great caution and reserve.

Not Unduly Expensive.

"The cost of the plant of the kind which has proved effective at Plainfield need not be prohibitory. The cost of the Plainfield plant was $38,755.59, to which ten per cent. may be added for engineering, etc.

"This purifies about 650,000 gallons of sewage each day (separate system), that being the discharge from 1,575 house connections. The cost of operation appears to be slightly more than $100 a month, although this figure might be increased to remove sludge. The city owned the land upon which the works were constructed, and the sewers had been previously constructed to the works.

"As a fair example of what may be done for a city the size of Plainfield, the case is illustrative. To attempt to apply it to communities of greater size, with far heavier flow of sewage, with intercepting sewers to be built and land for disposal works to be purchased, might make the cost so high that other measures might have to be adopted.

"It is also true that had Plainfield originally provided more land for its works, at a greater distance from population, it would have been able to economize somewhat in its methods, and escape some opposition from communities. The failure to provide adequate space for the development of disposal plants is a common error, which sometimes proves disastrous and always costly in the end."

Miss Jennie Schultise, of New Brunswick, is the guest of Mrs. Caleb Mills, of Grandiew avenue.

PLANNING TO BUILD A CREMATORY HERE

Stockholders of a New York Company Have Been Negotiating For a Local Site.

LOCATED IN BOROUGH

HENRY DE MOTT HAS OFFERED ONE FREE ON A CONDITION.

Would Build a Handsome Chapel at Cost of $100,000—Only Crematory in the State If it is Erected in North Plainfield.

If the plans which are now being formulated are matured, as was exclusively told in yesterday's Daily Press, a large crematory will be located in North Plainfield, the capital for which will be furnished by some of the principal stockholders in the Stephen-Merritt Undertaking and Cremating Company, of New York and Brooklyn, which company built and now owns the large crematory at Fresh Ponds, Long Island.

During the past two weeks representatives of these men, whose names are withheld for the present, have been in this city and have been negotiating for some property on Cedar avenue, Jefferson avenue and Mountain avenue, which was recently purchased by Henry DeMott, the borough undertaker.

A Daily Press reporter saw Mr. De Mott this morning and asked him about the rumor. He said that the negotiations were already underway and that there was every prospect of the deal going through. He would not give out the name of the men who have been here during the past week but said that last Sunday evening representatives of the company and a man who is promoting the scheme were in this city and visited the proposed site of the crematory. They expressed themselves as being pleased with the site.

Mr. DeMott has offered to give the site free to the promoters of the deal providing they give him an interest in the company. The land is situated in the rear of the large tract of land recently purchased by Mayor N. B. Smalley, and is only a short distance from the borough limits. It is situated upon an elevation and is considered an ideal spot for such a building.

It has been learned, on good authority, that if the negotiations mature the company will erect upon the site a magnificent chapel, 150x100 feet, which will follow the architecture of the local Y. M. C. A. building. The interior will be richly decorated and it was stated this morning that the entire cost of the building would be over $100,000.

This would be the only crematory in this State and would be the handsomest of any in the country. The promoters are a company of men who are building these crematories in different parts of the country and they have already erected several in the east, one of which is located on Long Island.

PRODUCED LETTERS.

Given as Evidence in Behalf of Mrs. Bruce in Divorce Case Now on Trial.

Ex-Judge Jacob Neu, of Brooklyn, counsel for Mrs. Grace C. Bruce, who is suing her husband in Brooklyn for a separation and is being sued by him in the Nebraska courts, has produced a series of letters written to Mrs. Bruce by her husband at the time when, according to Bruce's statement, she had given him a legal cause of action by deserting her. Mr. Bruce is a lawyer and formerly practiced in Plainfield. Both he and his wife were members of the Lewis Avenue Congregational church, Brooklyn, and the pastor, Rev. Robert J. Kent is much interested in Mrs. Bruce and declares her character excellent and her conduct irreproachable.

These letters, together with a story concerning the case, were published in the Brooklyn Daily Eagle, Wednesday, February 4. They tend to show, it is claimed, that Mr. Bruce was in the wrong and according to them he makes many confessions as to the way he wronged his wife.

THE ELEVATOR MISSED HIM

ROBERT VANNESS HAD A NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH.

Was in Elevator Shaft in Schepflin Building, When the Elevator Came Down.

Robert VanNess, of Jackson avenue, saved himself from being crushed to death by an elevator, Tuesday afternoon, while at work in the Schepflin building on West Front street. Seeing the elevator coming down the shaft above him he dropped fifteen feet and was able to crawl out of harm's way just as the elevator passed him.

VanNess is an employe of S. Scheuer & Company and was in the Schepflin building for the purpose of getting some goods which are stored there. He rode up on the elevator and jumped off at the second floor. While the lift was several floors above him he had occasion to the floor below and instead of going down on the elevator he decided to lower himself to the floor below by means of a rope which was hanging in the shaft.

Just as he was about to place his foot on the landing he chanced to look up and saw the lift coming down. He instantly let go of the rope and dropped to the basement, fifteen feet below, where he was able to crawl out of the shaft through a small opening just as the elevator came down.

ANOTHER CROWD.

Attended Concluding Night of Fair at Hope Chapel—Will Realize $300 From It.

Inclement weather had no material effect upon the attendance at the second and concluding night of the Ladies' Aid Society fair in Hope chapel. Before it terminated the success bespoken the evening before was realized in every way.

The usual attractions were much in evidence and patronized while the programme rendered consisted of recitations by Miss Ella Case, piano solos by Miss Lillie Duckworth and piano duets by Miss Duckworth and Miss Jessie Chamberlain. In addition two scrub teams from the Y. M. A. gave an exhibition basket ball game in the gymnasium.

As a result of the fair the society will clear about $300. The proceeds will form the nucleus of a fund for the new kitchen to be erected in the rear of the chapel.

HEARING IN PALMER CASE.

Lots of Business to Keep Justice Fred J. Huff Busy.

There will be a hearing in Justice Huff's court Saturday afternoon in the case of the State against Harry Palmer, charged with assault and battery by E. C. Martin. The contract case of Reilly against Clark has been settled and the judgment paid. The papers in the contract case of Dahl against Harrigan are returnable February 20, and the contract case of Zimmerman against McVey will be tried Friday afternoon, as will also the contract case of Zimmerman against Granger. In the latter case W. S. Angleman will represent the plaintiff and S. S. Swackhamer the defendant. The contract case of the Trading Publishing and Advertising Company against Rosa Frucht will be tried February 17.

All Day Meeting.

The members of the Advance Circle, King's Daughters, were entertained yesterday at the home of Mrs. J. V. Beekman, of West Eighth street. After the regular business meeting of Wetumpkah Tribe, No. 229, Improved Order Red Men, this evening, the members will enjoy a clam chowder supper. The affair will be for the members and a few friends.

PARK CLUB TO BE ENLARGED

Present Quarters Are Inadequate to Meet the Demand of the Steady Growth.

MEMBER'S GENEROSITY

How Club Has Prospered Since Its Organization Eleven Years Ago—Plans for the Addition to the Clubhouse—Offer of a Member Made It Possible.

From an organization designed to meet the social wants of that colony of borough residents known as Washington Park, the Park Club has grown to become the representative social club of Greater Plainfield. With a membership of 130, filled to the limit by residents of both city and borough, the present well-equipped quarters on Washington avenue have been found inadequate and a movement is now well under way to enlarge the present clubhouse and supply the club with quarters equal to the demands upon them. The generosity of one member has materially assisted in securing this much needed addition. He has offered to meet half the expense provided the other members will donate the rest. As a result the officers of the club are rapidly securing subscriptions which will enable the club to build the addition without incurring a single penny of indebtedness.

Eleven years ago, the Washington Park Land Improvement Company built the cosy little club house and turned it over to the Park Club which was then organized. From the very start, the policy of opening the club to all members of the family was pursued and that has been continued ever since. While other clubs, which have appealed to the heads of the household only, have been organized and died, the Park Club has been steadily growing, demonstrating the wisdom of the policy which caters to the wives and children as well as the members themselves. As the demands for membership in the club grew, the membership limit was raised until it has now reached 130, which is really more than the present club house can accommodate. With the proposed improvements completed, however, the membership will be still further increased and some of those now on the waiting list added the membership of the club.

Even with the present arrangements, the Park Club has become the only permanent social organization that has much to offer its members in the way of attractions. There is the main hall, used for the delightful informal dances which follow each other in rapid succession. Then there are the formal club dances and an occasional progressive euchre party. A few "smokers" held each season have won a reputation for novelty and pleasure. Then the regular entertainment committee of the club is one of its most aggressive departments. Every winter sees a number of entertainments, each attracting an audience that crowds the little hall to its utmost capacity. Then there are the bowling matches and bowling, pool and billiard tournaments beside the regular run of play at those indoor games.

While interest in the indoor sports naturally takes a secondary place during summer months, the members of the Park Club still find plenty of enjoyment at the club. The opportunity to drop into the cool club house and enjoy a game of pool or billiards is often taken advantage of. The tennis courts were very popular last summer and the informal receptions, run in connection with the tennis tourna-

BASKET BALL TEAMS READY

OPENING OF LOCAL LEAGUE TAKES PLACE TOMORROW EVENING.

Lists of Players Filed at Meeting of Executive Committee Held Last Evening.

All is ready for the opening of the season for the Plainfield Amateur Basket Ball League tomorrow evening. The first game of the new schedule will be played at the Hope chapel gymnasium tomorrow evening between the team of the Hope Y. M. A. and the I. C. T. Club. Special accommodations are being made to care for those who wish to see the league contests.

Final details were completed at a meeting of the executive committee, held at The Daily Press office last evening. The managers of the different teams presented their lists of players which were duly approved. While it is expected that the Hope Y. M. A. and the Y. M. C. A. will have the stronger teams at the start, the I. C. T. Club has several players of experience in its ranks who will make a valuable nucleus for a powerful team before the season is over. Most of the Reform Club players are entirely new at the game but they have been devoting much time to practice and have had some coaching from several of Plainfield's best players. There is every prospect, therefore, that the games in the league are going to be exciting ones and furnish the lovers of the sport with plenty of amusement.

Frank McTague, of the Newark Daily Advertiser, an athlete of prominence in the State, will referee tomorrow evening's game and will bring with him two experienced umpires from Newark. The officials in all the league games will be from out-of-town.

MORE TESTIMONY.

Mr. Marsh and Mr. Gavett Go To Boston Monday in Suit of Disposal Co. Against City.

Testimony will be taken again in the suit which has been instituted against this city by the American Sewage Disposal Company, of Boston, at that city Monday. Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh and Street Commissioner Andrew J. Gavett will be present at that time. The taking of the testimony was adjourned last time so as to allow Mr Marsh and Mr. Gavett to be in this city while the coroner's inquest was going on.

After all the testimony has been taken for the complainants there will be further testimony taken on behalf of the city and that will be heard partly in this city, partly in New York and partly in Trenton.

BLAMED WIFE.

Raritan Man Beat Her Because Their Home Was Robbed.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Feb. 12—A clever robbery was committed at Raritan a few days ago. Geo. Berkfield engaged to board at the home of Gottlieb Stauch. One evening while Mrs. Stauch was out shopping, it is alleged, Berkfield sent her little son out to buy a can of beer and then ransacked the house, securing about $30 in cash and some other articles of value. When Stauch returned home he declared it was all due to his wife's carelessness and beat her. She had him arrested and Justice Kitchen held him in $200 for the next Grand Jury. Mrs. Stauch is now talking of applying for a divorce.

KAFFEE KLATSCH TO HELP NURSES' HOME

Successful Social Event Held at Home of Mrs. S. Huntington, of Franklin Place.

RAISED $250 FOR HOME

DESPITE THE STORMY WEATHER THERE WAS A LARGE ATTENDANCE.

Many Thronged to Mrs. Huntington's Home for Benefit of New Nurses' Home to be Erected at Muhlenberg Hospital.

One of the most successful social affairs of the season was the "kaffee klatsch" given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Samuel Huntington at her home in Franklin place, from 4 to 7 o'clock, for the benefit of the new Nurses' Home. The hostess was assisted by a number of well-known society women and as a result of the united efforts it is believed that about $250 will be realized as profit for the new building to be erected in connection with the new Muhlenberg Hospital. This sum includes several donations received outside of the amount taken in yesterday.

The dining room was prettily decorated in red, carnations being used chiefly. In the parlors pink flowers were used with good effect.

Mrs. Huntington was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Daniel T. VanBuren, and Miss Elizabeth R. Cock. At the cake table Mrs. George P. Mellick was in charge, assisted by Mrs. John Gray Foster and Mrs. Daniel F. Ginna. Mrs. W. T. Pelletier presided over the candy table, assisted by Mrs. Edward M. VanBuren, Mrs. Drake and Miss Imogene Bass.

Those who poured coffee in the dining room were Miss Emilie Schipper, Mrs. Henry Woltmann, Mrs. Lapsley, Mrs. Evarts Tracy, Mrs. E. Arthur Janke, assisted by Miss Marjorie Fleming. Miss Helen Martin, Miss Harriett Goddard, Miss Borsum, Miss C. VanDeventer, Miss Marion Bowen, Miss Josephine Lapsley and Miss Haven. The fortune tellers were Miss Elizabeth Stewart and Miss May Rodman. Howard Lapsley assisted by receiving money at the door.

Mrs. Huntington's home was thronged during the hours set for the affair and everything for sale was quickly disposed of at good prices.

MORE ART WORKS.

Several Additions to Collection at the City High School.

The City High School has recently been presented with a large engraving by Miss Elizabeth A. Cock, of this city. The picture represents a group of American men of letters.

The proceeds of the exhibition of carbon photographs, given at Thanksgiving time in the Franklin School hall, have secured for the City High School three new pictures, Corot's "Springtime," Regnault's "Automedon with the Horses of Achilles," and a marine view, a photograph of the Colombo (Ceylon) Breakwater during the southwest monsoon.

A further addition of $50 worth of art works will soon come to the school as the gift of the senior class.

Through the interest of the patrons of the school and the gifts of the several classes, a fine collection of pictures is gradually being hung upon the walls of the High School.

CONTINUES MERRILY.

Prosperity Still With Benevolent Council at Its Fair.

Benevolent Council's fair in Saengerbund Hall continued merrily on its way, last evening, despite the inclemency of the weather. A good attendance was noted and the different attractions were liberally patronized.

Tomorrow evening an extra vaudeville programme will be presented, local and out-of-town artists contributing. The Independent Fife and Drum Corps will also visit the fair in a body.

Improvements to Store.

Extensive improvements are being made to the store at 33 Somerset street which is owned by Dr. Albert Pittis. The entire back of the place is being torn out and is being fitted up in an attractive manner. The store will be occupied as a printing office on or about the first of April.

SOCIETY OUT AT COTILLION

A Patriotic Dance Was the Latest Effort of the Cotillion Club.

HELD AT THE CASINO

Decorations of the Casino Were of the National Colors, While the Figures and Favors of the Cotillion Were in Conformity With the Idea—The Guests.

American flags and tri-colored decorations were the attractive features of a patriotic cotillion given last night by the Cotillion Club at the Casino, it being the third of a series of four dances which have been given this winter. Although the weather was not at all conducive to a large attendance the number of people present at last night's affair was very gratifying to the committee, and it proved to be one of the most successful dances given by that club this season.

In departing from the usual plan of decorating the assembly hall an inovation in the form of a patriotic cotillion was hit upon and the scheme was carried out admirably to the smallest detail. American flags were hung in tasty designs about the walls of the hall while the side lights as well as those which hung from the ceiling were hidden by tri-colored tissue paper. The same color effect was carried out in the front rooms of the Casino.

Heretofore the refreshment tables were carried out in the main dance hall by maids and men in waiting but last night tables were spread in the reception rooms of the hall where tri-colored candles with shades of the same color design formed the decorations.

The cotillion was led by Mr. and Mrs. Lewis E. Waring and some of the figures were entirely new. After general dancing the guests were led to the reception rooms where they enjoyed the refreshments and the cotillion followed. There were five tables which were presided over respectively by F. W. Yates, E. T. Barrows, Thomas R. VanBoskerck, L. E. Waring and L. G. Timpson.

Mrs. William B. Lowe, Mrs. Howard Fleming, Mrs. Henry A. McGee and Mrs. Charles F. Abbott, received the guests and gave out the favors which consisted of miniature golf sticks, rifles, roses for the women and silk flags and cornicopias of candy.

The music was provided by Austin's orchestra, of Brooklyn, which was seated upon the stage behind a bank of potted plants and palms.

The novel ideas which were a feature of the cotillion were introduced by the committee which have made the cotillion were introduced by the committee which have made the cotillions held this winter such notable affairs. The committee comprises L. G. Timpson, F. W. Yates, E. T. Barrows and L. E. Waring.

PRINCE GETS DIVORCE.

Decree Issued Against Louise—Insanity Plea Denied by Court.

DRESDEN, Feb. 12.—The suit for divorce brought by the crown prince against the former Crown Princess Louise of Saxony was resumed in camera during the day, and after several doctors had furnished expert testimony a decree of divorce was granted. She is ordered to pay the costs of the proceedings.

An interview with Dr. Zehme, the lawyer of the former crown princess, has been published in Vienna. After denying that Professor Giron had been paid to break off his relations with the princess, Dr. Zehme said M. Giron was mainly actuated by personal vanity. The princess, he added, was quite free at the sanitarium at Nyon, Switzerland, and was allowed to go on excursions to various places in the neighborhood.

Although the special court declined to take into account the contention of the former crown princess' lawyers that she was deranged, this theory is fully accepted by King George, Crown Prince Frederick and the Saxon court as the view to be put forth within the kingdom in future and that reasons of state required the separation.

The same reasons also require that the people shall be brought to believe that the princess acted in an unroyal manner because she was demented. This legend will be nourished until so far as Saxony is concerned it will become historic truth. The conduct of the princess is considered by the monarchists to be most destructive to respect for the crown, and they claim that every care must be taken to gloss over her misdeeds.

TWO MINE EXPLOSIONS.

Eight Men Burned by a Miner's Carelessness.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Feb. 12.—A serious explosion has occurred at No. 11 colliery, operated by the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal company at Plymouth, four miles from this city. Eight men were burned and injured, two of them seriously. From what can be learned a naked lamp carried by one of the men in the mine at the time ignited a feeder of gas in one of the chambers, which exploded with terrific force, causing havoc for hundreds of yards in what is called the Bennett vein. Timbers were hurled in every direction, doors in the mine cut loose from their hinges, and many of them were reduced to splinters.

The injured men were sent to their homes attended in every case by physicians.

Another mine explosion occurred, but in this instance no one was injured. At Dorrance colliery of the Lehigh Valley Coal company a miner fired a blast which spread a flame causing an explosion of a keg of powder that had been standing in a miner's box not far away. The flame from the powder also ignited a large gas feeder, starting a fire which soon communicated to the brattice or woodwork in the mine. There were some 500 miners, laborers and door boys inside. They were hurried to the surface, and no one was injured. In the evening the fire was subdued.

Largest Vessel In the World Coming.

LIVERPOOL, Feb. 12.—The new White Star line twin screw steamship Cedric, the largest vessel in the world, has sailed hence for New York via Queenstown. The Cedric has a gross tonnage of 21,000 tons. H. J. Haddock, R. N. R., formerly master of the White Star steamer Germanic, is in command of her. It is expected that the Cedric will make the trip to New York in about eight days.

A Lower Hudson Freshet.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Feb. 12.—Indications point to a freshet in the lower Hudson valley. The creeks entering the Hudson are swollen. Moving ice from Newburg bay chokes the Highlands, and the river is filled with moving ice from here to New York. Not in years has the Fishkill and Newburg ferry encountered such difficulties in crossing, large ice floes blocking the passage.

Heavy Snowfall at Salt Lake.

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 12.—More than eight inches of snow have fallen in Salt Lake City, and the storm is still raging with unabated fury. This is the heaviest snow here in fourteen years. Street car traffic is demoralized, some lines being almost totally at a standstill. The storm extends over southern Idaho, western Wyoming and northern Utah, and trains on all roads are more or less delayed.

Fatal Tail End Collision.

TIFTON, Ga., Feb. 12.—As the result of a tail end collision with wild cars which had broken loose from the remainder of the train seven cars and a locomotive of a mixed train on the South Georgia and West Coast road went through Little river trestle, instantly killing Fireman Baxter Dixon and Brakeman Joe Niles. J. K. Niles, the engineer, was severely injured.

FOR ALASKA TREATY

The Senate Ratifies Boundary Pact Without Opposition.

CONVENTION WITH GREECE DELAYED

House Votes Heavy Appropriation For Work on the Capitol and For Site For a New Office Building.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—In an executive session which lasted only an hour and a half yesterday the senate, in addition to confirming a large number of nominations, ratified the Alaskan boundary treaty and came near taking similar action on the commercial treaty with Greece, which was reported by Senator Cullom of the committee on foreign relations. The Greek treaty was read through by the clerk, and then Senator Cullom asked that the resolution of ratification be acted upon, but Senator Hoar (Mass.) objected. He said that he desired an opportunity to examine the provision in the treaty concerning consular trials. He explained that he had no objection to the general purport of the treaty, but said that as the provision was read it seemed to him to be loosely drawn, and he wanted an opportunity to read it carefully before giving his assent to it. The principal purpose of the Greek treaty is the regulation of commerce between Greece and the United States. It contains full provision for the control of the consular service along the lines laid down in the recently negotiated Spanish treaty.

There was no delay in securing action on the Alaskan treaty, and very little opposition to it was manifested. Senator Teller said that he considered the Alaskan boundary so well determined as to make it not a matter of dispute. Therefore, while he would not delay it, he would not vote for it. Senator Mason made a few similar remarks, adding that he considered the procedure proposed by the treaty non-American.

All the provisions of the Alaskan boundary treaty except one paragraph from the French portion of the treaty have been published heretofore.

The house made fair progress on the sundry civil appropriation bill, covering eighty-six of the 150 pages of the bill.

The amendments of which Mr. Cannon previously gave notice for the completion of the east front of the capitol and the erection of an office building for members were adopted, points of order raised against them being overcome by the adoption of a special rule making them in order. By the terms of the amendments $500,000 is appropriated for work on the main building of the capitol and a limit of $2,500,000 is fixed. For a site for a new office building $750,000 is appropriated. The cost of the building is to be $3,100,000.

MITCHELL IS BLAMED

Counsel For Coal Operators Arraign Miners' Union.

AN IRRESPONSIBLE ORGANIZATION.

Coal Workers' President Is Charged With Responsibility For All the Trouble—The Members Beyond Control of Their Leaders.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 12.—Counsel for the coal operators continue to arraign the miners' union in their arguments before the anthracite strike commission. The independent operators of the Lehigh, the Wyoming and the Lackawanna regions held the attention of the commissioners for the greater part of yesterday, the proceedings concluding with the presentation of the Reading company's argument by Simon P. Wolverton, the company's chief counsel.

In nearly every case the attorneys charged President Mitchell with responsibility for the alleged lawlessness in the coal regions during the strike, and the union was characterized as an irresponsible organization, whose members were beyond the control of the leaders. Mr. Wolverton strongly urged the incorporation of the union and charged that it was unfit to control the anthracite industry because boys are numbered among its members.

Samuel Dickson argued the case of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company, G. B. Markle & Co. and other independent operators in the Lehigh region. He defended the attitude of the Markle company, claiming the firm was justified in the stand it took against its men when the strike was declared off because it had not been a arty to the correspondence resulting in the appointment of the commission.

Francis I. Gowen for the Lehigh Valley Coal company suggested that the commission recommend the establishment of a shift, consisting of a certain number of cars to constitute a day's work, the men able to do the amount of work required to receive an increase in wages.

Union Miners Only Share Advance.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 12.—An important feature in the interstate mining agreement has been officially announced here by President Dolan. It provides for the payment of the advance in wages to union men only, and on April 1, when it takes effect, miners who are not members of the United Mine Workers will not participate in the increase granted by the operators. Mr. Dolan said this was decided in committee, but was not announced when the agreement was given out. In the Pittsburg district there are over 40,000 miners, and of this number 15,000 are claimed by the United Mine Workers' union.

Erie to Spend $10,000,000.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—The directors of the Erie railroad have voted to issue $10,000,000 of 4 per cent fifty year gold bonds, the proceeds of which are to be used in making improvements in the line. The most important improvements contemplated are the building of new ferryhouses at Chambers and Twenty-third streets in New York, fine new ferryboats and a new depot and ferryhouse in Jersey City. A new line will be run through an open cut across Bergen hill to avoid the use of the present tunnel for passenger traffic.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 12.—Miss Louise Gittings Merryman of Philadelphia, sister-in-law of President P. A. S. TENTH ANNIVERSARY SALE.

WHEN THIS BUSINESS was established ten years ago it marked a new era in the retailing history of Newark. Its phenomenal growth from a small beginning has been paralleled by only one other house in this country, and is attributed entirely to the introduction of a policy tending to revolutionize worn-out methods and subserve the best interests of a great buying public. This store was the first to refund money for merchandise returned, to guarantee every article sold, to inaugurate systems facilitating selection, and has been a power in bringing about conditions impossible had any but the most positive and aggressive tactics been pursued. Reforms were instituted for the benefit of employes—we advocated and enforced shorter hours—were first to open our doors at 8:30 mornings and keep them closed on holidays. Truthful advertising, liberal methods and lowest prices always have inspired the confidence and patronage of a splendid clientele, and contributed to a success almost without a precedent for comparison. During this celebration there will be

AMERICAN SPORTSMEN.

League Meets In St. Paul—Year's Work Reviewed.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 12.—The League of American Sportsmen convened in the Commercial club rooms in this city, with delegates from all parts of the country. After an address of welcome in behalf of the city and state the report of the national president, G. O. Shields of New York, was read reviewing the work accomplished during the year for the better protection of and enforcement of laws affecting birds and fish.

In the course of his report he said: "A very important event in this year's work is the fact that the president of the United States has at our request extended the Yellowstone and Teton forest reserves, on the east and south of the Yellowstone park, by adding thereto more than 8,000,000 acres of land."

The report states that during the year the league has increased in membership from 7,784 to 9,210 and is organized in every state except Delaware, Mississippi, Louisiana, North Carolina and Indian Territory. The league has been organized in Alaska, which, according to the report, is in the most important section of the country so far as game is concerned.

International College Athletics.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—Some unofficial correspondence has been exchanged between Oxford and Cambridge universities and Harvard and Yale indicating a willingness on the part of the American universities to challenge the Englishmen to an athletic meeting. No challenge, however, has yet been received, and it is doubtful if the English universities could accept. Their reason for nonacceptance would be entirely a financial one. Acceptance of the challenge would involve a return challenge in 1904, and the English universities have no funds to defray the cost of a visit to the United States. Their last trip to America was only carried through by insuring against loss at Lloyd's. It is unlikely that they could repeat this operation, as Lloyd's lost over $3,500 on the previous occasion.

McLeod Too Much For Sharkey.

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 12.—Pugilist Tom Sharkey was not able to withstand Wrestler Dan McLeod's attempt to throw him three times within an hour last night, and McLeod was successful in fifty minutes. The first fall was the longest of the three and took McLeod half an hour to down the sailor. After a rest of fifteen minutes the men went to the mat again, and McLeod had Sharkey flat on the mat in thirteen minutes. The third fall was made in twelve minutes. Sharkey did not attempt any aggressive work, but simply lay on the mat and balked in so far as he could the efforts of the champion to throw him. Twenty-five hundred people saw the contest, which was advertised to be for a purse of $1,500 and a side bet of $500.

A Big Dog Show.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—The Westminster Kennel club's twenty-seventh annual bench show has opened in Madison Square Garden, with 1,650 dogs competing for honors. The attendance was large throughout the day, and in the evening all the space available for spectators was crowded. All the judges this year are Americans, with the exception of two Canadian experts. In former years it has been the custom to bring at least two judges from England. Among the prominent exhibitors in the regular classes are Foxhall P. Keene, George J. Gould, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gould, Frank H. Croker, Edward F. Croker, Mrs. James L. Kernochan, Winthrop Rutherford and Jacob Ruppert, Jr.

Petunia Led Two-year-olds.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 12.—The St. Charles Hotel stakes for two-year-olds at a half mile and worth $1,025 to the winner was practically a race between the Walden filly, Petunia, and Aransas Pass, who ran in the colors of W. S. Price, to whom she was sold for $2,000 before the race. Becky Rice, backed from 3 to 8 to 5, was favorite. Petunia, second choice at 16 to 5, and Aransas Pass at 7 to 2 fought it out all through the last furlong. Lindsey outrode Hall at the end, and Petunia finished a neck in front.

On the Ice at Saratoga.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Feb. 12.—The Saratoga Ice Racing association continued its annual meeting on Saratoga lake. The weather was rainy, but the track was in excellent order. The 2:40 race, purse $200, was won by G. A. Soporta's Marshall of New York city in three straight heats. Best time, 2:32. The 2:22 race, Beverwyck stakes, $200, was won by J. H. Cunningham's Vinto of Sandy Hill. Best time, 2:29¼.

Sunday Baseball Bill Killed.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 12.—In the senate here the law legalizing professional Sunday baseball in all cities in the state of 16,000 population and over was killed. The bill had passed the house. The scene while the vote was being taken bordered on the riotous. Senator O'Brien refused to vote and was declared in contempt. The vote was 23 to 24.

GERMANY STUBBORN

Will Not Modify Demands Against Venezuela.

INSISTS ON $340,000 CASH PAYMENT

Minister Bowen Refuses to Yield. Italy and Great Britain Have Renounced All Responsibility For Their Ally's Action.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Germany has ignored her previous agreement made with Mr. Bowen by Count A. von Quadt-Wykradt-Isny, her charge d'affaires, and has insisted on a cash payment of $340,000 or a lien on the customs receipts of one of the Venezuelan ports until this amount is paid. This information was communicated to Mr. Bowen last night by Baron Speck von Sternburg, the German minister.

Mr. Bowen immediately informed the German minister that he refused to yield the receipts of any port prior to The Hague's decision, saying that would be preferential treatment. As to the cash payment of $340,000 demanded, Mr. Bowen left that matter to the German minister to determine, saying to him that if Germany can afford to make public confession that it does not stand by agreements signed by its duly accredited diplomats he (Mr. Bowen) is willing that they shall receive on the day the protocol is signed the total amount asked in the original ultimatum. The response has been cabled to the German foreign office.

Great Britain and Italy have renounced any responsibility for the action of Germany and expressed their regret. Through their representatives they have informed Mr. Bowen that they will stand by all agreements they have made with him and will not be influenced by the action of Germany. Both the British and Italian protocols provide for a cash payment of £5,500 and for the submission of the question of preferential treatment to The Hague. They contain recommendations for the renewal of all previous treaties of amity and commerce, and the Italian convention has an article providing for the payment of the Italian claims, which already have been adjudicated without further arbitration, after her commission has arbitrated the other claims.

With the exception of the demand for an increased cash payment the protocol of Germany in all essential respects will conform to that of Great Britain, but will be somewhat more concise. All three protocols, it is understood, will provide for the immediate return of all vessels seized by the blockading ships.

Sing Sing a Healthy Place.

OSSINING, N. Y., Feb. 12.—Dr. Irvine, prison physician at Sing Sing prison, says there is less consumption in the prison today than at any time in its history. There is but one case of tuberculosis in the prison now, and there have been but three deaths from the disease in the prison during the last eighteen months. Not in eleven years has there been so little sickness of any kind as at present, the hospital being almost deserted.

Additional Blizzard Victims.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Feb. 12.—Four more deaths due to the recent blizzard have been reported. The first train for six days has reached the city. Railway traffic is still delayed by heavy snowdrifts. The opening of the legislature has been postponed from Feb. 19 to Feb. 26 owing to the delay in the departure of the governor, Sir Cavendish Boyle, from England.

Award Against Salvador.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 12.—The Salvador Commercial company, composed of a number of capitalists of Oakland, Cal., has a claim for $600,000 against the government of Salvador, and the money will fall due next month about the time the Pacific squadron, under Rear Admiral Glass, arrives in the vicinity of the Central American republic.

New Orleans Theater Burned.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 12.—The Audubon theater, situated on St. Charles street and known for the past quarter of a century as the Academy of Music, was destroyed by a fire which broke out in the rear of the building last night. The loss is estimated at $35,000, with no insurance.

Increased Postal Receipts.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The statement of the gross postal receipts for January, 1903, as compared with January, 1902, at fifty of the largest postoffices shows a net increase of over 10 per cent. New York's receipts increased 11 per cent and Chicago's 4 per cent.

Redwood Instead of Steel.

A QUESTION SETTLED.

The Plainfield sewage disposal plant is a success. There isn't any doubt of it now and those who have denied the fact are now confronted by indisputable proof. The Daily Press long ago claimed that the State Sewerage Commission had approved of the local plant and now comes the annual report of that commission to prove that claim. It is a triumph for the city and a fatal blow to those who have been trying to injure the city's reputation by claiming that its disposal works were a failure. It is another argument in behalf of the Greater Plainfield scheme.

Since the Greater Plainfield question has been so much before the public eye, there has been a steady campaign on the part of certain of those who objected to union of city and borough to aid their cause by claiming that the city's disposal works were a failure and that the borough should not be inveigled into sharing the expense of a new method of disposal. This claim was vigorously denied by the friends of the greater city movement. Their claims have now been proven without a doubt. The State Sewage Commission is very particular about such matters and would not come out openly in favor of any plant unless its success had been demonstrated without a doubt.

Now that this report is made public, it is sincerely to be hoped that the enemies of the city will cease their efforts to throw discredit on that department of municipal affairs. The report is there. It is open to anyone. There can be no claim of partiality. It is simply up to the opponents of the measure to admit their mistake and wind up that part of the incident. Any future argument along those lines cannot be looked upon as anything but a deliberate attempt to misstate facts in order to gain a point.

It looks as if the secret of the successful conduct of a social club had been discovered by those who formed the Park Club eleven years ago. That organization has now continued for eleven years and is today in a better condition than ever before. So great have been the demands on its cosy little club house that plans are now underway to enlarge it so as to give more than twice the present available space and then enlarge its membership so that many who are now desirious of joining that club may do so and find ample room for the enjoyment of the different amusements which the club provides. There is one thing about the Park Club which makes it particularly popular with all, and that may account for its remarkable success. The club is not only for the members alone but for all of their families. Instead of being occasionally admitted on sufferance, as it were, the wives and children of the members find special privileges and attractions awaiting them at the club house. There is no attempt to separate them and there apparently lies the secret of its success.

Mayor N. B. Smalley, of North Plainfield, generally has very little to say. He is a man of deeds rather than words. When he does warm up in his characteristic style as he did at the hearing on the repealers at Trenton Tuesday, it is a sure sign that His Honor feels very deeply on the subject under discussion. And when Mayor Smalley is deeply moved on any subject, it is pretty certain that he is going to act. It certainly looks as if the consolidation fight was not over by a great deal.

The I. C. T. Club has just celebrated its first anniversary. If that organization continues on the same lines it has observed during the single year of its career, it should continue to grow in popularity and flourish. It has aimed to offer its members a reputable place at which to spend their evenings and has provided pleasant times for them. Questionable amusements and practices have been barred from the club rooms and, as a result, the organization is in a flourishing condition.

In its report of Tuesday's hearing on the repealers, the New York Tribune of yesterday made an unfortunate error. It credited Senator Reed with speaking in disparaging terms of Chas. W. McCutchen when, as a matter of fact, his remarks were just the contrary. It was W. W. Howland who came in for Senator Reed's well directed sarcasm.

It is rather remarkable what a variety of accounts there were of the hearing at Trenton, Tuesday afternoon, on the repealers for the annexation and consolidation acts. In some cases it was hardly possible to recognize the different stories as applying to the same event.

If the members of the Senate committee on the revision of laws could visit Plainfield and see for themselves, there would be no question about the fate of the repealers.

ments, proved highly delightful social affairs. Then the Fourth of July celebration has become the principal Independence Day happening in the city.

Its central location, within a block of the trolley and almost on the line between city and borough, has made the club house a popular gathering place evenings for the members and their friends. While there are frequent special events, the regular attractions of the club are sufficient to make the time pass very pleasantly.

These plans for the enlargement of the club house naturally aroused more than the usual interest in the club. The addition has long been talked of but now that there is every indication that it will be complete before the end of the calendar year, the members are highly delighted. Many of the members have already subscribed according to their means and the others are being interviewed by the committee.

Regarding these changes, it is proposed to build an addition at the rear of the main hall which will considerably more than double the present size of it besides giving a women's dressing room and a kitchen. The basement will be enlarged on the same lines and more room given for the games, the present ones and several new ones which are to be introduced, besides making possible a sitting room where all may gather and watch the play without interferring with the players. With the enlarged hall it is planned to make the social features even more prominent than they are at present.

The member, whose generosity has made all this possible, has refused to allow his name to be made public but the club rings with words of praise for his kindness which has made this great improvement possible and thus enable Plainfield to boast of one of the finest clubs of all the suburban cities.

Farewell Reception.

The members of the Swedish Pilgrim church will give their pastor, Rev. O. G. Norseen, a farewell reception Thursday evening, February 26.

The Farther Light Society is planning to hold a sociable in the near future.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The storm of last night could not dampen the ardor of those who wanted to help swell the treasury of the Scotch Plains baseball team by attending the entertainment held in Excelsior Hall. The hall was filled to its seating capacity and many were obliged to stand. The committee in charge had decorated the hall very prettily with bunting and the club's colors, while on the stage was swung the handsome pennant presented by admiring friends for the team's good work on the diamond last season. The programme was all that could be desired, Willard and Waller, musical team, being one of the best teams that has ever appeared before a Scotch Plains audience. A. D. Hoyt, blackface comedian, was exceptionally funny and kept his audience in laughter all the time. Prof. Wade accompanied the vocal selections upon the piano. When the programme was brought to a close the floor was cleared and the younger element enjoyed a dance. While it is impossible to tell until returns are made from the sale of tickets, how much the club's treasury will be enriched, the friends of the club can be assured that a neat little balance will be found when all expenses are paid. Much credit for the success of the affair is due to Arthur Haskard, the secretary and treasurer of the club.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will meet in its rooms tonight. Business of importance will be transacted and a full attendance of the members is desired.

John Hamlin and family, who have been occupying the Stanbery cottage on Park avenue for the past two years, have removed to Perth Amboy.

The house committee of the Public Library is arranging for an entertainment to be held in the near future for the benefit of the library treasury.

The weekly teachers' meeting of the Baptist Sunday-school will be held tonight at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Parks.

Miss Edna Walpole, who has been suffering for several weeks from diphtheria, has entirely recovered.

The teachers and pupils of the school are practicing for their Washington Birthday exercises.

Miss Evelyn Buckley, of Plainfield, has been visiting at the home of her aunt, Miss Susie Parse.

George W. Marsh has been detained at home for several days suffering from a severe cold.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

J. C. Morris is busily engaged in hewing locust trees from his property near Oak Tree, joining the golf grounds. The logs are being sawed into fence posts for Mr. Morris' farm where he resides.

Randolph Morris, who has been ill for some time at the home of his brother, John Morris, is much improved. He is under the care of Dr. Geo. Howell, of Perth Amboy.

Friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Sumner Randolph, in whose home a number are ill with measles, recently cheered the sick ones with a gift of various groceries.

Mrs. Oscar Thorn was accompanied by Mrs. W. H. Manning on a trip to Plainfield yesterday morning.

Eddie Maher, who is employed by R. B. Manning & Brother, is detained at home by illness.

TO REOPEN MILLS.

Company of Local Capitalists Will Start Old City Mills Going Again.

The old City Mills, which was formerly owned by the late P. M. French, is soon to be started up again under the management of P. S. Dayton, who is at the head of a company of local capitalists. The mill will be completely overhauled and will be ready for business on or about the first of March.

The new company will spend about $5,000 in remodeling the building which is located near the city line on Somerset street. A new raceway will be built and the water wheel will be repaired and put in first class condition. The exterior and the interior of the building will be repaired and put in first class condition. It is also planned to install a new sidewalk scale in front of the building.

INVESTIGATING RUMORS.

Coroner's Jury Found They Were Based on Hearsay Evidence.

A conference of the members of the coroner's jury was held last evening to review the testimony that had already been taken. Some time was spent in running down remarks made by Plainfielders who claimed to know all about the wreck. When interviewed over the telephone, it proved that their evidence was all hearsay and could not be substantiated. No new light could be thrown on the cause of the wreck.

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

G. H. Kenyon, the West Front street piano dealer, reports an increasing trade. He carries only the best makes and if you call he will explain the easy terms upon which he sells these instruments.

Everything in the way of potted plants and ferns are to be found at the florist store of C. L. Stanley on North avenue. He also keeps a large assortment of cut flowers and makes a specialty of floral pieces.

W. W. Warnock, the West Front street confectioner, is making a specialty this week of charlotte russe, eclaires and other confections. All are made fresh every day and are delivered anywhere in the city.

Larger, better and more varied than ever, describes the stock of cut glass, china ware and bric-a-brac at Gavett's. No need to ponder over the suitable wedding or birthday gift. Every article at Gavett's is a suggestion.

The new line of spring and summer goods at Peck's on West Front street cannot be excelled anywhere. The quality of the goods and the designs are important features, while the price is within the reach of persons desiring such goods.

Just such weather as that which has visited this city during the past few days brings on heavy colds and makes it difficult to cure one already contracted. If Powers' Honey of Colts foot and Tar is used it will serve as a preventative and will cure the most stubborn case.

The handsome showing of new spring goods at Woodhull & Martin's store is attracting much attention on the part of shoppers. It is seldom that such a choice assortment of goods is displayed and large sales are reported. In all the other departments you will find desirable goods, all of the first quality and low in price. Of course, the firm expects to be in its new building before a great while and it is the purpose to dispose of their stock before moving. You will from now on find bargains every day.

COLT'S RUN.

Gave Employes of S. Scheuer & Company a Lively Time.

The employes of S. Scheuer & Company, grocers, had a lively time with a colt, last evening about 6 o'clock. The firm's horses and wagons were being put up in the barn in the rear of the store for the night, when something frightened the young horse. He broke away from the wagon to which he was attached and ran out of the alley to Front street. He then went down Front street to the alley next to Frank Linke's establishment, through this alley to Second street, then to Madison avenue, through the latter avenue to Front street and back to the alley next to Scheuer & Co.'s store. Here the horse was caught and taken to the barn. There was no damage.

Died in New York Store.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Feb. 12—Mrs. A. A. Emery, about sixty-five years of age, a prominent woman of this place, dropped dead Tuesday afternoon while in Cammeyer's shoe store in New York. She had gone to the city in the morning to do some shopping. Word was telegraphed to Jas. Brown, Jr., and Undertaker Johnson started at once for New York to get the remains.

On His Own Word.

Paul Richter, of this city, who was recently committed to jail in default of bail, was released yesterday on his own recognizance. He will be given a hearing before the Grand Jury at its next session. Richter is charged with assaulting and threatening to kill August Wolf.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Feb. 15—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—Lessons from Benhadad's defeat.—I King xx. 12-20. (Temperance meeting.)

"And Benhadad, the king of Syria, gathered all his host together, and there were thirty and two kings with him and horses and chariots, and he went up and besieged Samaria and warred against it." The cause of this war is unknown, except that it seems to have been for the purpose of humiliating King Ahab and the people of Israel. The Syrian king's demands upon the king of Israel were most humiliating and offensive, yet would have had to be complied with had not God interfered to save the nation. In his providence 232 young men were enabled to bring about a panic among the soldiers of Benhadad that led to their utter rout and ruin.

One of the principal factors in this defeat was drunkenness. When Ahab's reply was sent to the Syrian king, he and his allies were drinking in the pavilions, and when later on the prophet led the young men against them they were still drinking. "And they went out at noon. But Benhadad was drinking himself drunk in the pavilions, he and his kings, the thirty and two kings that helped them." This excessive drinking had no doubt much to do with the panic that immediately seized the Syrian army and caused its defeat and destruction. Nor was this the first or last time that intemperance caused the defeat of armies. Belshazzar and Babylon went down to defeat in the midst of drunken revelings, and Alexander's military career was blighted by the terrible curse. Men able to lead armies and to conquer nations have themselves been overcome by the demon of strong drink.

Drunkenness always leads to defeat. "It is not for kings to drink wine" nor for generals nor for soldiers nor for any one who would creditably hold any position in life worth holding and who would perform successfully the duties of life. Drunkenness never won a battle. The Russian soldiers in the Crimean war were drugged with drink, but this only assured their defeat instead of saving them from it. Intoxicating drinks weaken the intellect, destroy the physical powers of a man and absolutely unfit him for the battle of life. Defeat will come to every man as surely as it did to Benhadad, who is accustomed to "drinking himself drunk."

Since intemperance has always led to individual and national disgrace and ruin, why will nations continue to make drunkenness possible, and why will men continue to form a habit that has proved so disastrous to thousands of others? That these things are done after centuries of experience seems almost incredible. Yet it is sadly true. Public sentiment has not yet been educated to the point where it will make drunkenness impossible by law, and individuals are not yet brought to the point where they are unwilling to risk all for the pleasures of intoxication. May God hasten the day when these conditions will prevail! To this end let us as Christians totally abstain ourselves, pray earnestly for the overthrow of the rum traffic and do all in our power to reach and to reclaim those who have been led to form this terrible habit.

Baer Meat.

John Willis Baer, till recently general secretary of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, is one of the most enthusiastic public speakers in the country. The following pithy paragraphs are all from a convention address delivered a few weeks ago:

Once an Endeavorer always an Endeavorer, if you please.

The numerical growth of Christian Endeavor proves to me beyond a doubt that God is in the movement.

Christian Endeavor is not man made. It is Spirit filled, and it is well to take as our motto Paul's words, "Remember Jesus Christ."

Christian Endeavor is a great international and interracial peace society.

The Christian Endeavor pledge is "the strenuous life," if you please.

If I had my way, there would be a junior society in every church that has a Y. P. S. C. E.

The days just ahead are to be the best days of Christian Endeavor.

Sparks From Dr. Clark's Anvil.

Christian Endeavor stands for a definite purpose and a direct aim.

Christian Endeavor is a united training school for Christian service.

We do not worship our pledge, but we simply say that this is a way that God has shown us whereby we can satisfy the longing of our hearts for better service.

Our covenant—a definite way of doing definite things at a particular time for Jesus' sake.

Every prayer meeting is a school of Christian service.

You, Christian Endeavorer, not only long for service, but you belong to Him who can give you power for service.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning Feb. 15, "Selfish Ambition and Christ's Service" — Text, Mark x, 35-45; Matt. xvi, 24-26.

From whatever source it may arise, it is clear that there is in most men a craving for power, for position, for mastery in some way. It shows itself in innumerable ways. It may appear as inventive faculty, combining things in ways to reach desired ends. It may be in searching the resources of nature, exploring the unknown, or it may be in clearing wilderness and bringing it under cultivation. It may be in leading men in schools, in work, in parliaments or battle. The spirit of leadership, the thirst for dominion and control, is in the blood of the race.

In itself it is neither good nor bad. It is a power which may work harm or may be made strongly helpful. The Scriptures represent this as an endowment originally given to man to fit him for his place in God's world. And from it came the command of God to primitive man to have dominion over all worldly creaturehood. Man is to be master of the earth. But his mastery is to be as the representative of God and because he is the image of the Divine One.

If, now, the thirst for lordship breaks the bounds of his subjection and man undertakes to rule for himself instead of for God, he at once becomes usurper and intolerable as tyrant over the world and rebel against God. His selfish ambition thwarts itself and sways the world against him on one side and God on the other. He has forfeited his place, lost his power and become ruined.

The work of Christ was to restore man to his true position in God's world. He did this by becoming Himself fully what in some degree every one should be. He received of the divine nature all fullness. He imparted of it to men as they would take and use. Active outgushing of goodness and blessedness is the secret of the divine relation to the world of creaturehood. It is self impartation. It is manifestation of quality and nature by imparting to others who can participate. It is sharing. The glory of love is in doing to others that they may be the best possible. The impulse is not so much the desire to please others. It may be needful to displease, to pain, to wound, to even anger them. It may be necessary to so do that they will reckon you as an enemy, but the end to be secured is their betterment, their well being, which is more than making them feel pleasure.

Here lies one of life's hardest battlefields. We are sent to overcome the world and have been overcome ourselves by pride and false ambition.

Under Christ and in His power we can find our true place and true ambition to take this world in all its realms for God. We are to make earth the God kingdom. We must master self and then by the spirit of glad self devotion, sacrifice, service, ministry, self impartation, bring all men into divine fellowship.

When the Love of God Is Born.

The loneliness of life becomes permanently broken when the love of God is born in the human heart. Alone in life's struggle the soul may be. The seething sea may be all around, the light of the stars be blotted out and the lights along the shore be dimmed, but loneliness is an impossibility. Loneliness is impossible so long as I think of and long for God and so long as God thinks of and longs for me. The former is the result of the latter, and the latter is the supreme fact of redemption.—Episcopal Recorder.

Patience.

The thought of peace and rest in heaven is so entrancing that the heart, weary of its disappointments and tribulations, looks forward with longing and joy to the time when it shall know its full meaning. But tribulation worketh patience, and we fail in working out God's design, the beautiful fruit of patience, when we expect that fruit before He has cultivated the plant.—Episcopal Recorder.

A Christian of the First Order.

For one to be a Christian it is only necessary that he be loyal, but to be a Christian of the first order he must be mystical. Jesus still comes to us in our outer life, and blessed is the man who arises and follows Him whithersoever He goes. Jesus still comes to the door of the soul, and that man is most blessed who receives the Lord into his guest chamber.—Ian Maclaren.

A Misconception.

When church members excuse their neglect of what is a plain Christian duty by saying that they are better Christians even than many who attend divine service more regularly and that mere church attendance should not be made the gauge of a man's Christianity, it is evident that there is a total misconception as to what church membership implies.—Lutheran.

Perfect Love and Accord.

The experience of perfect love brings people together in perfect accord and unity as naturally and easily as drops of water are brought together.—American Friend.

The Happier Life.

Forget the ache your own heart holds
By easing others' pain;
Forget your hungering for wealth
By seeking others' gain
And make your life much briefer seem
By brightening the years,
For tears dry quicker in the eyes
That look for others' tears.

Heartache fades quickest from the heart
That feels another's pain;
The greed for wealth dies sooner if
We seek another's gain;
Life's sands run lightly if we fill
With kindness all the years,
And tears dry quicker in the eyes
That look for others' tears.

FASHIONABLE COLORS.

Ivory Whites—Mulberry Red Is Much Worn In Paris.

White cloth and white crepe de chine edged with mink or chinchilla and worn with beautiful Italian lace make extremely becoming and exclusive house frocks, by which is meant a warm tone of ivory. Blue white is seldom becoming, although it suits a few, but at best it looks rather cold and comfortless.

Dull mulberry red will be worn a great deal for street wear later, especially in headgear. In Paris crimson tones have taken the place of sapphire blues and greens. Presently no doubt this mulberry shade will be ousted by purple and light gray, which two colors are always beloved by Parisians during the Lenten season.

ACCORDION PLAITED CHIFFON BLOUSE.

Gray is a very trying color and should be made up very softly, with perhaps a suggestion of a warmer tone. It should always be trimmed with lace.

The dainty evening blouse here shown is of accordion plaited chiffon over satin. The collarless neck is encircled by a yoke of lace.

EVENING COLORS.

Smart Touches of Yellow—Prevalence of Spangles.

Evening dresses this year are exceptionally beautiful. There is a great feeling for orange the exact shade of the marigold, a flower that plays its part a good deal in the most dainty gowns for full dress.

The bouquets of yellow blossoms which are introduced accentuate hints of yellow in other parts of the gown. Many of the thin materials have a foundation of gold or silver cloth, and touches of flowers or of petals of some tone help to give that necessary importance to the hem of the skirt without which the gown is not a success.

There is certainly no sign of our getting away from paillettes, but there is a great art and secret in the way in which they are disposed.

Beautiful dresses, princess style, are made like coats of mail, the sequins overlapping each other. In these coat of mail dresses above the hem there is generally a lace flounce handsomely paiietted falling over a lot of frills.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Where He Got His Accent.

"Hello, Mulcahey! Well, well! How are you?"

"Clever, old chap; quite clever. I'm jolly well glad to see you too. And how have you been?"

"Say, Tim, chop it! Where in blazes have you been; over in London for a year? Where did you get that accent, eh?"

"No, I haven't been away, you know. Have I an accent, really?"

"Oh, drop it, Tim. What are you doing?"

"I am demonstrator in an automobile establishment."

A Knight of the Highway

The little breeze that sprung up just before their arrival had died with the going down of the sun, and the fever of the day was still in the air. Far away beyond the western hills a black cloud was beginning to invade the sky, and Rossiter concluded that the prophecy of the silvering popular leaves and the trumpeting peacock was likely to be fulfilled before morning. In the parched and dusty grass at the roadside a cricket chorus was ringing clear and cheery, and a late locust was violining in the stubble of a barley field. They walked for perhaps half a mile before they turned, Becraft commenting in his frank way upon the pleasure he was anticipating in his sojourn of two or three weeks in the hop-fields, and telling Rossiter of the monotony, the colorlessness of his ordinary daily life.

"Do you know," he said, with a wave of his hand, "if it wa'n't for somethin' like this every year or two, I'd be a fit subject for an asylum. It often seems, when I leave the mill at night, as though I was never goin' to get the clatter o' machinery out o' my head. I hear the wheels hummin' in the dark, an' see the straps spinnin' round an' round. Then I begin to think o' the country, the smell o' things"—and he drank in the pungent aroma of the hop-fields with infinite content—"an' after a while I'm all right. There's nothin' like havin' somethin' free an' healthy to look forward to."

"You'd thrive on a farm, wouldn't you? Haven't you ever thought of trying it?"

"Oh, yes! But there's no money in farmin' unless you've got a good-ish-sized place, an' then my girl—I've got a girl, you know," he interjected—"she don't take much stock in livin' out away from folks."

Reticent as Rossiter was in regard to his own affairs (and he felt that he had good cause to be), it was very pleasant to have this young man, to whom he had been an utter stranger until that morning, talk to him in this confiding strain. It made him have a new and surprising sense of half-confidence in himself.

As they were silent for a moment, they became conscious that a vehicle was approaching behind them. They glanced back, and saw not far distant, and drawing near at a rapid rate, a pair of large sorrels attached to a light surrey. They retreated farther into the grass at the roadedge to avoid the dust from the passing carriage, and, glancing up as it swept by, observed that it contained a driver and two young ladies. The one who sat upon the side nearest them let her eyes rest upon them for an instant, then she, her companion, and, indeed, the whole conveyance, were lost in a whirl of dust. Rossiter watched the traveling cloud until the horses and the surrey emerged from it at the Merton's gate.

"Did you notice that girl?" remarked the younger of the two men.

"Yes, I did."

"Gee, but wa'n't she a hummer!"

"She certainely was," agreed Rossiter, amused at his companion's tribute to feminine beauty.

The calm of the growing dusk now cast its influence over them, and there was little said as they retraced their steps to the farm.

CHAPTER V.

AN OLD ACQUAINTANCE.

A gruff clamoring from without, and a tremendous thumping on the side of the building, awakened Rossiter the following day. The unusual sensation of finding himself in a clean and comfortable bed created for a brief space a great wonder in his mind, and it was not until he espied Joe Becraft sitting upon the edge of his cot yawning and stretching himself that he became fully aware where he was lying. The instant he scrambled out upon the floor he knew that the air had changed during the night, for a fresh breeze swept in an adjacent window. Drops of rain glistened in the pale dawn on the grass where it was not sheltered by the trees, but Rossiter discovered when he went towards the barn for a morning scrub that it was only the edge of the shower that had touched the Merton farm. The atmosphere, however, had cleared and the dust was laid, so that everyone was in excellent humor.

As he came out from breakfast with the Becrafts two men were bearing the last double hop-box into the yard across the way where the picking was to begin. Presently Jack Parmelee appeared and announced that everything was in readiness, whereat there was a general movement towards the yard. The women and girls had provided themselves with great sun-hats and cotton gloves, and Rossiter observed that some of the boys had also procured a protection for their heads.

"Does one need gloves of any sort?" he inquired of Joe Becraft. "I don't see that you have any."

"Jim an' I never use 'em," was the reply. "If the vines bother you at first, you'll find your skin'll get toughened to 'em after a little."

Jack Parmelee had the apportionment of the pickers, and at Rossiter's request he was placed at a box adjoining his friends, where he could talk across the rows to them. He had for his companions a carpenter from Illica, who was out of a job, and his wife and son, a boy of Jim Becraft's age. He fell into pleasant conversation with them, and as they had frequently been in the hop-fields before, they gave him such simple instruction as was necessary in regard to picking. Shortly after operations began an additional 15 pickers arrived from Hintonville, and the scene became an animated one. Cries of "Hoppole!" rang up and down the field. The pole-pullers, with their hop-dogs (an instrument for pulling poles consisting of a toothed clamp attached to a stout strap hung about the neck), hastened hither and thither supplying the needs of the pickers, stripping and stacking the poles as fast as the hops were removed from the vines. Acquaintances shouted greetings and gossip from one box to another. Then, as the sun grew high, awnings were suspended for those who objected to the heat.

Rossiter thoroughly enjoyed it all. The odor of the hops was delightful to him, and erelong he found his fingers growing nimble, so that he was gratified to see from the pile in his box that he was holding his own fairly well with his fellow-toilers. By and by, shortly after half-past eight, some one shouted "Hop-sack!"

"My goodness!" exclaimed the carpenter's wife, "that's quick work! They must have 'dumped.' Suppose we try it, Ben, and see how much we've got."

To "dump," Rossiter discovered, meant to empty the hops from one partially filled box into another, so that they should have less time to settle. The carpenter at once proceeded to carry out his wife's suggestion, but when he had finished they still lacked two inches of having one level box.

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $300 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods. If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

FOR BETTER HIGHWAYS.

Good Roads Advocates Now Prepare to Amend Constitution.

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 12.—The plan of the good roads advocates, formulated in lieu of a proposition to combine bonding schemes for both canal and highway improvements, made its appearance in the form of a concurrent resolution introduced by Senator Armstrong proposing to amend the state constitution so as to permit the incurring of indebtedness for road improvement not to exceed $50,000,000 at any one time.

The proposed amendment provides that at least 2 per cent must be reserved annually for a sinking fund, and general laws are to be passed requiring the counties to pay not exceeding thirty-five-hundredths or the towns not more than fifteen-hundredths of the total cost of highway improvements.

The memorial accompanying the resolution was signed by W. Pierrepont White as chairman and the seventeen other members of the executive committee appointed at the recent good roads conference held here. It sets forth the contention that cheap freight rates necessary for state commercial supremacy depend upon the development of a system of main highways throughout the state which will enable the 12,000,000 tons of farm produce raised from the 22,000,000 acres of farm land in the state to reach the market at the least possible cost.

HAVANA HAPPENINGS.

Cuban Congressmen Not Opposed to Treaty—Postal Business Doubled.

HAVANA, Feb. 12.—The senators and members of the house of representatives who conferred with President Palma and the members of the cabinet regarding the coaling stations for the United States navy have informed the president that they had no objection to the treaty as informally agreed upon between the Cuban government and United States Minister Squiers.

Senor Figueredo, the director general of posts and telegraphs, states that the postal business has doubled since the opening of the Cuban railroad, which has brought about quick communication throughout the island.

The railroad management has tentatively suggested taking over from the postoffice department the public telegraph business, for which it would use its own lines. It is not improbable that the telegraph business will eventually be turned over to a private company.

The United States cruiser Atlanta has sailed for New Orleans.

Smoot Expects to Be Seated.

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 12.—Senator Elect Reed Smoot of Utah, it is announced, will go to Washington next week. His credentials as senator to succeed Senator Rawlins will then be presented. "The protests against my being seated in the senate will make no difference in my plans," said Mr. Smoot. "I expect to take my seat, and I do not anticipate any serious interference. I see no reason why there should be. Nothing can be brought against me except that I am a member of the Mormon church."

Boy of Thirteen Killed.

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 12.—Herman Pohl, aged thirteen, was killed by Lawrence Lavigne, aged eighteen, who struck him twice over the left ear with an ax helve in River Rouge, a western suburb of Detroit. Lavigne was under the impression that Pohl and a crowd of about twenty other boys were preparing to attack him with snowballs, though he now claims the crowd was lying in wait for another boy. Lavigne is under arrest.

BASKET BALL.

The basket ball team of the City High School will journey to East Orange this afternoon to play the East Orange High School. The game will be called at 3 o'clock.

The I. T. C. and Reform Club basket ball teams, will meet in a practice game in the latter's rooms this evening. As both teams are evenly matched, a close contest is looked for.

The basket ball team of Leal's School met and defeated the business men's team of the Y. M. C. A. at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, last evening. The score was 11 to 4.

At the end of the first half, after some fast playing by the business men, the score stood 4 to 4. The business men were unable to hold the fast pace of the school boys in the second half, and when time was called Leal's had rolled up seven more points and the game ended 11 to 4. The teams lined up as follows:

LEAL'S.		BUSINESS MEN.
W. Doane	R. F.	J. Doane
R. Abbott	L. F.	Whitford, Shaw
G. Abbott	C.	Spicer
Robert	R. G.	Zimmer
Bigiow	L. G.	Clark

Goals—W. Doane (3), R. Abbott (2) J. Doane, Spicer. Goal from foul—R. Abbott.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

There was an interesting bowling game on the Y. M. C. A. alleys, last evening, between a team from the association and another local team called "Chauncey's Country Cousins." Chauncey Koons, a regular member of the Y. M. C. A. team, bowled with the opposing team and made high scores for it, and for this reason the unique name was given this team. The Y. M. C. A. team won the games 648 to 554 and 756 to 470.

ON THE DIAMOND.

The candidates for the City High School baseball team hold regular practices under the direction of Capt. VanAuken. The practices are held at the Olympia building on Sycamore street. Twenty candidates are trying for the various positions of the team. Bogart, VanAuken and Munro are trying for the box, while VanAuken or Munro will probably play behind the bat.

THEATRICAL.

Fraulein Else Haerting, the premiere of the Grigolatis flying ballet in "Mr. Blue Beard" at the Knickerbocker Theatre, is the most talked about person on the New York stage at the present time. Miss Haerting is the very beautiful woman who does the flying act distributing natural flowers over the heads of the audience at the conclusion of the great ballet, "The Triumph of the Magic Fan," at the end of the second act in this marvelously attractive performance. She takes part in the ballet, performing remarkably graceful evolutions through the air with her six assistants. At the end of the ballet of the fan she comes on the stage as if in response to an encore. Posing gracefully in acknowledgement of the applause, she raises her hands, holding large bunches of carnation pinks, and, before the audience realizes it, is sailing over their heads to the upper balcony, sixty feet from the footlights. She does not alight, but circles in the air and returns to the stage like a bird on the wing. Again she repeats this feat amid enthusiastic cheers.

One of the best shows of the winter has been arranged for Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre, New York, next week. "The Way of the World," by Clyde Fitch, will be the attraction. The patrons of Proctor's Twenty-third Street will have another week of sensational vaudeville next week. The long bill will be headed by Miss Florence Burns, "The Persecuted American Girl." Next week will be Miss Burns' real debut in New York City. Proctor's One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street Stock Company next week will present Harrison Grey Fiske and Charles Klein's splendid melodrama, "The District Attorney." The attraction at Proctor's Fifty-eighth Street Theatre next week will be Lester Wallack's famous war drama, "Rosedale." Over in New Jersey, at Proctor's Newark playhouse, an all-star bill will be the attraction. The bill will include the Rossow Midgets, F. F. Proctor's Gorgeous "Living Art Studies," Melville and Stetson, Leon Morris' Ponies, Frederick Brothers & Burns, and fifteen other excellent laughing acts.

BLAZE UNDER STAIRS.

Fire Department Called Out to Extinguish Blaze on West Fourth St.

A still alarm of fire called the local department out yesterday afternoon at 2:25 for a small blaze in the two-story tenement house at 961 West Fourth street. The fire was caused by spontaneous combustion among some rags, soaked in oil, under the second story stairs. The blaze was extinguished by several small basins of water.

The house is owned by Jas. Totten, and is occupied on the first floor by Daniel O'Keefe and on the second floor by a family by the name of Lindabury.

Entries in the women's and children's classes are exceptionally good, including the majority of the best dogs in this vicinity. Professor Parker's dog circus will prove a great attraction.

CHILD LABOR BILL.

Assemblyman Newcorn is Taking Much Interest in the Bill.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Feb. 12—There was an important hearing Tuesday before the committee on the child labor bill. Three bills have been introduced changing the age and increasing it from 12 to 15 and 14 years. One of the bills gives the Governor power to remove any factory inspector. Assembly bill No. 88 provides that the age of the child must be correctly given and attested by the superintendent of a Board of Education or principal of a school. After the hearing the committee met and decided to combine a measure covering the essential points of the three bills. It will probably be decided to make the age limit fourteen years. Assemblyman Newcorn is a member of this committee and has interested himself very much in the matter of child labor.

Wilson Fredericks, a Wreck Victim at Hospital, Celebrates the Day.

Wilson Fredericks, of Dunellen, who was seriously injured in the recent railroad wreck at Westfield, and who is at the hospital under treatment, is believed to be getting well, much to the surprise of those in charge of him. Mr. Fredericks, realising that today is a holiday, sent word to his friend, E. Wickham Mills, manager of the U. S. His patriotic feelings were gratified and Mr. Mills happily responded to the request this morning. Mr. Mills says that he feels sure that Mr. Fredericks will recover.

NEED OF NEW COURT HOUSE

Somerset's Antiquated Building is a Disgrace to That County.

OVER A CENTURY OLD

Another Instance of How Far Somerset County is Behind the Times—Lack of Room to Keep the County Records—Increased Cost to the County.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Somerville, Feb. 13—The ancient and inadequate county buildings of Somerset cause people who come from a distance to marvel that such a state of affairs could exist here in progressive Somerville. Many times the Somerset County Bar Association has brought the matter of a new Court House and other county structures before the Board of Freeholders and in each instance the members of that august body have waited for "further development of public sentiment before taking action." There the matter rests and there it will rest until the Court House is ready to cave in and the Surrogate and County Clerk's offices have followed in its wake unless the people of the county bestir themselves and demand more modern facilities along this line.

For a proper consideration of questions involved information concerning the cost of the present county buildings will not come amiss. The original Court House was built in 1798 at a cost of $14,710.07 and was remodeled in 1848 and '49 at a cost of $12,107.15. About the year 1841 the County Clerk's and Surrogate's offices were erected, the cost of which is not definitely known, and in 1872 a vault was added to the office of the County Clerk, causing an additional expenditure of $3,760.72. A new jail building was erected in 1870 at a cost of $15,502.03, and has since been added to. As far as information can be obtained these items make the cost of our county buildings alone run up to something like $46,079.97.

When the Court House was remodeled in 1850 the population of the county was 17,500 and the taxable property $8,950,913. At the present time the population is nearly 35,000 and the taxable property about $22,000,000. The population is increasing rapidly and the real estate valuations have increased over two millions within the past ten years regardless of the fact that farming land has been diminished about one-half. The net increase of taxable property in the last decade has been over one million dollars, the difference between the increase on the real estate and the total increase of taxable property being accounted for by the fact that for some reason the taxable valuation of the personal property has been decreased over one million during that period of time.

Considering the necessity of a less ancient Court House these facts show that the county can afford one and that the need for one is very apparent. The rapid increase of population, which is most conspicuous in the growth of the towns, will not only enlarge the business of our civil courts, but will materially increase the cases in the criminal courts.

At the present time additional space is needed for the keeping of the county records. Also, the petit jury is occupied from six to ten days of each term after the Circuit Court is ended at an additional expense of about $150 a day in the trial of criminal and Common Pleas causes. With a Court House having two court rooms a great saving could be made by having Justice Garretson and Judge Schenck trying cases at the same time.

Now the Court House and county buildings are heated by steam. By having all in one building a great saving would be made.

The inability to properly ventilate the court room when it is fully occupied and the unsafe condition of the Court House when the upper floor is crowded are matters that have been widely discussed.

These are but a few facts of the many that might be mentioned. All go to show that the present county buildings of Somerset are an expense rather than a saving. That they are entirely inadequate to the amount of business that is transacted in them there can be no doubt. "That rusty

CLUES TO WRECK VICTIM

TWO MEN MISSING SINCE THE DAY OF THE WESTFIELD DISASTER.

Believed That Unidentified Body May be That of One of the Missing Men.

Wesley Jerolaman, a young man whose home was near Martinsville, left his home just prior to the time of the railroad wreck at Westfield and nothing has been heard of him since. For this reason some of his friends are inclined to think that the one remaining unidentified body at Cole's morgue might be young Jerolaman. He wore a 7½ shoe, the same size worn by the person whose body is at Cole's. Jerolaman was married about two years ago and his wife has now gone to live with her folks near Liberty Corner.

Theodore Glazier, the fat dealer, had a young German in his employ, who went away the day before the wreck and has not returned. He also wore a 7½ shoe. His clothes are still at Glazier's. The young German did not have a single relative or friend in this country, excepting Mr. Glazier and the latter is of the opinion that the unidentified body is that of his employe. Charles Fisher, who is employed at Smalley Brothers' meat market on North avenue, saw the young German the night before the wreck and he told him that he was going to New York. Since then he has not been heard from.

ATTENDANCE GOOD.

Crowd Still Attend Fair of Benevolent Council of Juniors.

The attendance at the fair of Benevolent Council, No. 256, Jr. O. U. A. M., which has been held all during this week at Saengerbund Hall, was very good last night. It was one of the best nights the council has had. The dancing was exceptionally fine and was continued until 1 o'clock this morning.

This evening there will be several attractive features of special interest. The members of the Independent Fife and Drum Corps will attend the fair in a body.

Tomorrow evening the contests for the $25 worth of merchandise, dinner set, sofa pillow and tapestry table cover will be decided.

CLAM CHOWDER SUPPER.

Formed Part of Social Evening Enjoyed by Wetumpkah Tribe.

Following a pow-wow in the tepee, last evening, the members of Wetumpkah Tribe, No. 229, I. O. R. M. and many of its friends, enjoyed a smoker and clam chowder supper.

While the pipe of peace was being smoked, selections on the phonograph were given under the direction of M. Armstrong and speeches were made by C. E. Campbell, Archibald Hacquer, Jerrry Foss, R. E. Humphrey and Edward Eskerson. John Manley contributed several recitations.

The committee in charge consisted of M. Armstrong, William A. Westphal and R. E. Humphrey.

ONE TO COLLECT.

Postmaster Bird Will Have One Carrier Simply to Collect Mail.

Postmaster E. H. Bird is making arrangements to have an extra regular man appointed whose duties it will be to make collections from the several mail boxes about the city. It has been shown that the time of the regular carriers is too much taken up in making collections and it is believed that if one man attends to the collections the work of delivering mail will be facilitated, thereby making it possible for everybody to get their mail on time.

Knights to Service.

Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., will attend the farewell service conducted by Rev. J. W. Richardson at the Park Avenue Baptist church, Sunday evening. The Knights will attend in full uniform and a very large turnout is expected. Room will also be reserved for their families. Mr. Richardson will leave next week for Stamford, Conn., where he will assume charge of the Baptist church.

Time Clocks for Watchmen.

The New York Central Railroad's latest innovation is to place time clocks at frequent intervals along the line to make sure that track watchmen are performing their duties properly.

PICTURED SEASONS IN SERIES OF TABLEAUX

Annual Social of Ladies' Aid Society of First M. E. Church Held Last Evening.

WAS WELL ATTENDED

THEN THERE WAS A MUSICAL ROMANCE OF NOVEL CHARACTER.

The Guests Were Asked to Contribute According to Age in the Season of Year in Which They Were Born—Those Who Took Part.

The annual social and entertainment, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society, of the First M. E. church, was given last evening in Vincent chapel and attracted a large number of people. The affair consisted of four tableaux, representing spring, summer, autumn and winter, and the special feature was that after each tableaux, those who were born in the season represented, gave as many pennies as they were years old. In this way four collections were taken and a goodly sum realized. The chapel was appropriately decorated with American flags in recognition of the celebration of Lincoln's birthday.

The first tableaux, representing spring, presented a number of people out for a walk enjoying the balmy air. There were two nurse girls, Miss Helen Whitney and Miss Antionette Aaholm, and the children were the Misses Margaret and Annie Robley and Archibald Smith, the Misses Jubilee Rowley, Mary Bingaman, Catherine Bingaman, Mildred Burnett and Edward Bingaman.

Summer was represented by a beautiful rose bower. Those taking part were Miss Lillian Snodgrass, Miss Nan Wilson and Harold Whitney. A picturesque golf scene represented autumn and the participants were playing golf. Those in the tableaux were Miss Carrie Mulford, Miss Lillian Snodgrass, Raiph Lane, Edward Wilson, while the caddy was George M. Rittenhouse, Jr.

The tableaux representing winter pictured the college girls at home. In this scene Miss Wilson poured tea, while the others present were Miss Mary Robley, Miss Carrie Mulford, Miss Druscilla Smith, Miss Mary Smith, Miss Antionette Aaholm and Miss Helen Whitney.

These tableaux were arranged and given under the supervision of Miss Bertha Hurst Whitney, assisted by Miss Stephen H. Tugwell and to them much credit is due.

In addition to the tableaux, there was given a unique musical romance, telling in song and instrumental music the happy time of a hero and heroine. Nelson A. Miller related the story minus certain important facts which were supplied by the names of songs. Mrs. Charles S. Lewis presided at the piano playing some of them while Mrs. Thomas MacDonald and Elmer D. Cutting sang others. There were twenty of these and the titles gave the complete story of the hero and heroine, who happened to be "Sweet Marie," and "Robin Adair." This portion of the entertainment was fully enjoyed and at the conclusion refreshments were served.

The committee in charge of the affair consisted of Mrs. Charles H. Lyman, Mrs. Nelson A. Miller, Mrs. Henry A. McGee, Mrs. James R. Joy, Mrs. O. L. Jenkins, Mrs. Elwin Leland, Mrs. J. Hervey Doane, Mrs. Burnett, Mrs. Samuel Clark and Mrs. John Lewis.

Lots of Business.

Manager Charles H. Schermerhorn, of the Western Union telegraph office, has been very busy since the railroad wreck. Since that wreck about 60,000 words of press matter have been sent through this office. Most of the time several extra operators have been employed steadily.

Awarded a Gold Medal.

George Wharton Edwards, of Franklin place, received word Wednesday that his drawings had been awarded the gold medal at the exposition at Barcalona, Spain. His drawings on exhibition there include chiefly illustrations of poems and other of his works.

Will Exchange.

Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph. D., pastor of Trinity Reformed church, will preach in Marcounier chapel Sunday afternoon and A. P. Tulp will preach for Dr. Schenck at the evening service.

Y. M. C. A. RECEPTION.

Given to the Employes of the Pederick & Ayer Company at Y. M. C. A. Last Evening.

A reception was held last evening at the Y. M. C. A. when the employes of the Pederick & Ayer Company were entertained. The affair was a delightful one and the programme was enjoyed by all. The men were welcomed by the president of the association, Stephen Cahoone and the response was made by Charles C. Mauil, foreman of the Pederick & Ayer Company.

Members of the Y. M. C. A. orchestra favored with several selections under the direction of the leader, M. A Korff. Selections were also rendered on the xylophone, ocorenia, banjo and handbells by Joseph Loraine, of Hartford, Conn. He also favored with some humorous selections and vocal solos.

The reception committee comprised, J. W. Gavett, LeRoy H. Gates, M. C. VanArsdale, F. H. Martin, Clarence Vail, Charles F. Dayton, and T. H. Stafford. The women who assisted were: Mrs. J. A. Stafford, Mrs. LeRoy H. Gates and Mrs. Roger F. Murray.

TURKEY SUPPER.

Given for Benefit of Marconnier Chapel Last Evening.

The turkey supper given last evening at the home of Eugene VanCourt in Park avenue, Oak Tree, for the benefit of Marconnier chapel, was a complete success. There were sixteen people present from this city, and nearly eighty persons from Oak Tree and vicinity. In all about 100 suppers were served. The menu comprised a first-class turkey supper and concluded with ice cream. There was plenty of everything to eat and no one was allowed to go away hungry.

Those directly in charge of the supper were Mrs. Eugene VanCourt, Mrs. Freeman and Mrs. Reighton, and they were assisted by other women from Marconnier chapel. It is believed that the net profits from the supper will be between $40 and $50 and this will be placed in the chapel fund.

FIRM HAD FAILED.

E. VanCourt Shipped Goods to Them and Recovered Them in Time.

Eugene VanCourt, of Oak Tree, had a narrow escape a few days ago from losing about $150. For some time past he has been employed by a New York firm to collect all kinds of skins from various animals. Last Monday he shipped $150 worth of these skins to the firm and it so happened that the next day Mr. VanCourt was obliged to go to New York. While in the city he thought he would call on the firm by whom he was employed. When he reached the place of business he saw a sign on the doors notifying the public that on the previous Saturday the firm had failed. Mr. VanCourt immediately went to the express office, found his goods there and in a short time he recovered them. He thereupon sold the skins to another New York firm.

MIGHT HAVE PREVENTED WRECK.

Mr. Fisk Believes the Station Signal Board Might Have Prevented It.

In connection with the investigation being made in to the cause of the wreck at Westfield recently, Foreman C. J. Fisk, of the Coroner's jury, visited the North Avenue station yesterday and had Manager Schermerhorn, of the Western Union telegraph office, explain the workings of the order boards near the station. These boards are operated from the telegraph office and Mr. Fisk was so well pleased with the arrangement that he expressed the opinion that it might be well to have such boards at every railroad station. He believes that if such boards had been in operation at Cranford the night of the wreck, the fatal collison might never have occurred as the engineer might have seen the signal.

Plans for Masquerade Ball.

Plans for the masquerade ball which is to be held at the Saengerbund Hall Monday night are almost completed. The committee in charge of the ball comprises: Abram Barre, John Wirth, H. Lademan, John Retzer, Charles Meyer, Sr., F. Wurster, P. Bleich and A. Wolf.

To Name Officers.

Prior to the annual election of officers, the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church has chosen the following nominating committee: Mrs. Hannah Y. Flanders, J. Henry Crane, Herbert DuBois, N. Douglass Drake and Miss Grace TenEyck.

—Vegetables at Neuman Brothers' tomorrow: Boston lettuce, green beans, celery, rhubarb, endive salad, romain salad, cucumbers, radishes, oyster plant and brussel sprouts. All strictly fresh.

A GOOD WOMAN GOES TO THE HOME ABOVE

Mrs. Charles Potter Passed Away at Her West Seventh St. Home This Morning.

BEAUTIFUL CHARACTER

MRS. POTTER IS SURVIVED BY THREE DAUGHTERS.

Was Actively Associated With Local Charitable Work As Long As Her Health Permitted—Member of Seventh-Day Baptist Church.

Mrs. Charles Potter, of 427 West Seventh street, entered the Home above, this morning, after a long illness but which grew suddenly worse a few days ago. She was born at Little York, Cortland county, N. Y., on February 25, 1825, and had, therefore, nearly reached her seventy-fifth birthday. She was married to the late Charles Potter, June 22, 1850. The following years were spent in Westerly, R. I., until 1870 when they became residents of Plainfield. Mrs. Potter leaves three daughters, Mrs. David E. Titsworth, Mrs. Albert R. Sheppard, of Chicago, who, fortunately, is visiting here at this time, and Mrs. William C. Hubbard. Her eldest daughter was Mrs. Joseph M. Titsworth, who passed to the Better Land in 1883, leaving two daughters, Mrs. Frank J. Hubbard and Miss Ethel Titsworth. Mrs. Potter's eldest sister was Mrs. Johnathan Maxson, of Westerly, R. I., the mother of Superintendent Maxson, of this city, with whom she is spending the winter. She also leaves two other sisters, Mrs. Henry Stillman and Mrs. Thomas Stillman, of Edgerton, Wisconsin. Her other sister, Mrs. L. C. Rogers, passed to the Home beyond, at Westerly, R. I., last August.

During the earlier years of her life here, Mrs. Potter was personally associated with the benevolent and charitable work of the city, but in later years, although prevented by ill health from taking active part she ever maintained a deep and helpful interest in them. She was a lifelong member of the Seventh-Day Baptist church in this city and elsewhere. No good cause, no appeal for sympathy or help that came within the range of her knowledge was ever passed by unheeded or unaided. While her home was her special kingdom, she ruled with equal grace and efficiency in every circle where mother-love, Christian woman-hood or nobility brought demands. The universal hospitality, kindness and helpfulness which abounded in her beautiful home, were equaled and transcended by the strength and sweetness of her character, the memory of which will always be a precious heritage to all who came within its circle, the influence of which cannot be told in words, and the tributes to which are larger in the hearts of those who knew and loved her than can be told.

The funeral services will be held from her late residence, Sunday afternoon at 2:15.

DEMOLISHED WAGON.

Spirited Horse of Wm. S. Loizeaux Made a Lively Run.

An exciting runaway occurred yesterday afternoon when a horse attached to one of William D. Loizeaux's handsome carriages became frightened and dashed down East Fifth street. At Sycamore street the horse turned towards the depot and after circling about the depot driveway for several minutes it turned and started for the exit into Fourth street when the vehicle collided with a telegraph pole and was demolished. The coachman, who was alone, was thrown out but was not severely injured.

Extensive Addition.

Ground will be broken in a few days for an extensive addition to the house and store of William Debele, of Somerset street. The addition will 35x40 feet and will extend in the rear of the store. It will be two stories in height. About $1,000 will be spent on the improvement. The contract for the mason work has been granted to S. V. Snyder, and the carpenter will be A. J. Winckler.

Want Less Engines Disabled.

Superintendents of the New Jersey Division of the Lehigh Valley Railroad have urged freight engineers, many of whom are firemen recently promoted, to use every effort to make a creditable showing as to the number of engines disabled on account of knocking fires for trivial causes, such as injectors failing to work.

ENTERTAINMENT AND DANCE

GIVEN BY THE YOUNG MEN'S DEMOCRATIC CLUB LAST EVENING.

Affair Proved Highly Successful, and Was Attended by Many Prominent Politicians.

The local Young Men's Democratic Club tried its hand at entertaining, last evening, by giving a diversified programme at the Casino. It was comprised of two parts, an entertainment and dance. Both were largely attended, not only by local friends of the organization, but by many prominent politicians of the county, including Peter Egenolf and Judge Mahon, of Elizabeth, and John Moody, of Cranford.

As rendered the programme consisted of piano solos by Miss Lamberding, of Rahway; songs by Robert Swart, of Elizabeth; a musical turn by the Ern brothers; songs and dances by George Carroll, of Elizabeth; and operatic selections by Miss Mears, of this city. Every number was heartily encored and the programme was greatly lengthened through responses. Afterward the floor was cleared and dancing, with Harris's orchestra, of Elizabeth, accompanying, was taken up by the greater part of the audience. It was continued until an early hour this morning.

In honor of the occasion and the day, the Casino was decorated with patriotic colors making a very pretty effect. Taken as a whole the affair was a decided success and the committee was warmly complimented for its efforts.

Those who arranged and had charge during the evening were Frank Shattle, A. J. Nolan, James J. Kane, P. J. Reville, C. A. Shannon, John Moran and J. F. Deitz.

NEW SIGNAL TOWERS.

Iron Ones Are Being Used to Replace Wooden Towers.

For reason best known to the officials of the New Jersey Central, six new signal towers are being erected in this city to take the place of the wooden signal towers now in use. The new signals are of iron and they will be connected up entirely by underground electric and air connection. Two towers are being erected west of the North Avenue station and four east of it.

The work was started this morning and it will probably take a couple of days to complete it. So far as known it is impossible to state the advantages of the new towers over the old ones, unless it is that the iron posts will stand the weather better and they will have no overhead connection as at present.

TOO HEAVY A LOAD.

A Sixteen-Year-Old Lad Couldn't Carry Man's Load of Liquor.

Although but sixteen years old, William Ashton, of the East End, took on a man's load of liquor, last night. It proved too heavy for him on his way from the borough to this city and, when he reached Front street, he succumbed to the strain and placed himself in the care of Patrolman Saffron.

He pleaded guilty to drunkenness in the city court, this morning, and a suspension of sentence was made after a more than ordinary lecture.

HOSPITAL CAR.

Erie Railroad to Furnish Gratuitous Services for Employes.

A hospital car is now being built by the Erie Railroad at its car shops in Jersey City. It will be fitted with all modern conveniences. Competent surgeons are to be employed and on duty day and night. This is intended to furnish gratuitous service to all employes and will be sent after any injured person on the company's lines. The Erie will be the first road in New Jersey to give this service a trial.

R. A. McGee to Assist.

Miss Harriette Cady, who is well-known to music-lovers in Plainfield, will give a piano recital at the Waldorf-Astoria, Friday afternoon, February 27, at 3 o'clock, assisted by Raymond A. McGee, basso, of Washington Park. Mr. McGee will give five numbers from Gounod, Chopin and Ballard. The affair will be given under the patronage of a number of well-known New York society women.

Many Cases of Grip.

Nearly all of the local physicians report many cases of grip in the city. There is scarcely a family in the city or borough that has escaped the troublesome malady. In many cases the victims have been very ill requiring heroic treatment.

NO VERDICT READY TODAY

Last Public Session of Coroner's Inquest is Being Held This Afternoon.

SIX WITNESSES READY

One Witness Is Expected to Testify That the Emergency Brakes Had Been Applied—Verdict Will be Ready Tomorrow or Monday—Will Blame Davis.

While nothing really new is expected to develop at this afternoon's session of the coroner's inquest, there are a few more that the jury desire to hear from and they will be called to the stand this afternoon to testify regarding some lesser details of the Westfield disaster. At 2:15 o'clock this afternoon, the inquest was reconvened and the examination of these six remaining witnesses was immediately started. No verdict will be reached today. It is possible, however, that the findings will be made public either tomorrow night or Monday morning.

As has already been told in The Daily Press, the trip of several of the jurymen to Philadelphia resulted in the discovery of several more witnesses who have been asked to testify. Engineer Dolan is the most important of them. It was he who was in charge of the ill-fated engine on its run from Philadelphia to Trenton Junction that day before it was transferred to the Philadelphia express. He will tell as to the condition of the engine at that time. Engineer Wilkinson, who had been in charge of the engine just previous to that day, will also be on the stand.

Then there are several men who were passengers on the Philadelphia express who will tell of their experiences at the disaster. It is reported that a railroad man has been found who says that he saw that the emergency brakes on engine 27 had been closed, contrary to the testimony of Master Mechanic Chambers. He will be examined. There will be six witnesses in all.

There is no doubt now that the verdict of the jury will place the blame on Engineer Davis but it is also expected that the jury will make certain recommendations to the railroad. The subjects which will be included will be the need of signal order boards at every station, the abolishment of coal stoves in passenger cars and the much discussed two men in a cab proposition.

THOMPSON-SETON COMING.

Will Lecture Here Twice on Washington's Birthday.

Manager Maze Edwards has just closed negotiations for a strong attraction at the Casino, on Washington's birthday, in the person of Ernest Thompson-Seton, the friend of animals. A matinee will be given in the afternoon especially for the children when Mr. Thompson-Seton will speak on the subject "The Indians as I Knew Them." In the evening his subject will be "Animal Minds and Heroes Of." Both lectures will be fully illustrated.

Unity Will Celebrate.

At last night's meeting of Unity Lodge, No. 102, Knights of Pythias, it was suggested that a programme be prepared to properly celebrate the twentieth anniversary of that lodge, which falls on March 26. The members were very enthusiastic over the project and although no plans have been arranged so far it is generally believed that the celebration will take the form of a banquet and entertainment.

Robbed Postoffice Again.

The country store and postoffice at Oak Tree, conducted by Geo. Stover, was broken into last night. A quantity of pies, cakes and cigars were taken and considerable damage was caused by the breaking of windows and glass. This makes the fifth time the place has been robbed, but no money has been secured as the postmaster removes all stamps and money to his home every night.

Funeral of James McDonough.

The funeral of James McDonough, who passed away at the home of his grandmother Tuesday evening, was held yesterday afternoon from the residence of Mrs. John McDonough, of Howard street. The interment was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Washington in Winter.

Washington is a typical winter vacation resort and its bustle is purely social and political. There are gathered in the Capital representatives of every nation and country, and their comings and goings are of no little interest. Then the doings of the Senate and House are features which every tourist delights in following, and these features together with the visits to the numerous public buildings keep one busy all the while one is in Washington. The Royal Blue Line of which the New Jersey Central is the initial road is going to operate an excursion to Washington on February 19, and cost of tickets for the three days' excursion including all expenses is $12. Train leaves New York at 1 p. m., and arrives Washington at 6:10 p. m. If you want to know about the trip drop a postal to C. M. Burt, general passenger agent, New York City, for tour book. TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

The night of the railroad wreck at Westfield, some person called Charles W. McCutchen's home in Washington Park on the telephone and inquired for Mr. McCutchen. Upon being informed that he was home, the stranger exclaimed, "Thank God!" It is not known who the inquiring party was. This was only one of scores of such incidents.

THEATRICAL.

Another one of the all star bills which are so much the rule at Keith's Theatre, New York, is promised for next week. Watson, Hutchings & Company, present their musical sketch, which has been meeting with the most unqualified success wherever seen. Tom Lewis and Sam Ryan, back in the varieties after a long absence at the head of their own farce comedy company, will be seen in their familiar black face skit, which they call the "Two Actors." Arthur and Jennie Dunn, make their first appearance in vaudeville for two years. Arthur Dunn has not been seen in New York since his appearance in "The Runaway Girl," and his reappearance will undoubtedly call out a great gathering of his friends. Other noteworthy features upon this record breaking programme are the Three Millettes, acrobats; Herbert and Willing in their dancing specialties; Thor, in his refined musical act; Imhoff and Conn in a sketch; Lawrence Crane, the magician, and the American Biograph.

Klaw & Erlanger's "The Billionaire" is the most successful production ever presented at Daly's Theatre, New York, where it is breaking all records for attendance, receipts and laughter. The public takes little interest in the receipts of an attraction except in so far as they indicate its merit. The volume of laughter is another thing. In a humorous production it means that the piece is just what it is represented to be. "The Billionaire" is a funny farce put together for laughing purposes only and the way it convulses every audience at Daly's has never been equaled in the history of humorous entertainments. The entire production is a whirlwind of the comic from start to finish, the satirical theatre scenes in the second act making people laugh till they are actually exhausted from merriment. "The Billionaire" will go down in stage history as the champion laugh-maker of the world—up to this time, at least. Mr. Sykes is surrounded with a remarkable company of comedians and the production in all its aspects is very elaborate. Seats may be ordered by mail as far in advanced as a month, addressing letters and making remittances payable to Daniel Frohman, manager.

MINE OWNERS' CASE

President Baer Makes Closing Argument For Operators.

DARROW BEGINS PLEA FOR MINERS

Coal Strike Commission Holds Two Sessions of More Than Ordinary Interest—Crowds Listen For Nearly Five Hours.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 13.—Before an audience that filled every inch of space in the United States circuit courtroom President George F. Baer of the Reading company made his closing argument for the coal operators before the strike commission yesterday, and Clarence S. Darrow, chief counsel for the miners, began the summing up for the men. The two sessions were extremely interesting, and the principal speakers held the attention of the auditors throughout their remarks.

The greatest interest was manifested in Mr. Baer's appearance before the commission to plead the case of the mine owners. There were many prominent persons present to hear him, among them being President Truesdale of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad, Archbishop Ryan, judges of the federal and local courts, state senators and many mining officials from the coal regions. Mr. Baer concluded his address by making a proposition to pay the contract miners on a sliding wage scale, their wages to fall or rise with the market price of coal in New York, but that in no case shall the wages fall below that basis. The spokesman for the coal companies took up two hours and twenty minutes in delivering his address, and when he sat down he was congratulated by hundreds of persons.

Mr. Darrow spoke at the afternoon session for two hours and a half and will take up all of today in closing the miners' case. The crowd that heard him was equally as large as that which listened to Mr. Baer, and he, too, was surrounded by an admiring throng when he temporarily suspended his speech at adjournment time. His remarks were directed principally at the wage statements presented to the commission, which, he said, could not be relied upon.

SLOW WORK IN HOUSE

Relief Fund of $3,000,000 For Philippines Voted.

SENATE DISCUSSES CANAL TREATY.

During Five Hour Sitting Behind Closed Doors Mr. Morgan Opposed Ratification—Will Offer Thirty Amendments.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—The house made slow progress with the sundry civil bill yesterday, covering only twenty-seven pages and leaving forty pages still to be disposed of. The delays were occasioned by a rather protracted discussion of the item in the bill for the maintenance of the White House and considerable debate upon the item appropriating $3,000,000 for the relief of distress in the Philippines. Mr. Gaines (Dem., Tenn.) and Mr. Fitzgerald (Dem., N. Y.) criticised the greatly increased cost of maintaining the White House. An amendment to cut in half the appropriation for the relief of the distress in the Philippines was defeated, but the language of the paragraph was modified to require annual reports of the expenditure of the money.

With the exception of a few minutes, during which some routine business was transacted, the session of the senate was behind closed doors. After being in executive session for five hours the senate adjourned.

The Panama canal treaty occupied the attention of the executive session.

Senator Morgan, speaking against the treaty, said that there had been a failure to embody the act of congress providing for the construction of the canal in the treaty, as was set forth in the preamble, and dwelt at length on what he termed the unreliability and revolutionary character of the government. He asserted that the price of $10,000,000 in cash which the United States had agreed to pay to Colombia was exorbitant and more than was necessary in view of the former agreement to take $7,000,000. He also criticised the provision for a perpetual annual payment of $250,000 and declared that in all probability much of these payments would go into the pockets of private individuals. In this connection he declared that a recent chief executive of the Colombian government had sold out and abdicated for $1,000,000. He repeated his declaration that the existing government has no power to enter into treaties and asserted that a treaty with that government would not be binding. He declared that it would be folly to make the payment of $47,000,000 as was proposed by the treaty depend on so unstable and unsubstantial an institution as the Colombian congress, especially in view of the chronic insurrectionary condition of the people.

Senator Cullom, chairman of the committee on foreign relations, made a brief speech in the middle of Senator Morgan's address. It was devoted to an explanation of the terms of the treaty.

Senator Morgan gave notice of thirty proposed amendments to the treaty.

The senate committee on Indian affairs concluded consideration of the Indian appropriation bill. The committee recommends a number of changes, and its amendments add $1,488,185 to the aggregate of the bill as passed by the house, making a grand total of $10,434,213. The most important item of increase is $1,200,000 to pay awards to loyal Creek Indians whose property was destroyed during the war of the rebellion.

Omnibus Bill For a Rider.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. — The friends of the statehood bill have reached a definite decision to have the omnibus statehood bill reported as a rider to the postoffice appropriation bill. It is expected that this action will be taken at once. It is the purpose to make a fight in the senate to have the statehood bill tacked on to one of the appropriation bills, whose passage is absolutely necessary to the running of the government.

ANTIQUATED BUILDINGS.

Another peep into the way they do things over in Somerset is taken in the columns of this issue of The Daily Press. There is not a citizen of North Plainfield, who has had occasion to visit the county offices at Somerville, who has not been ashamed at the rickety barn and row of shacks which constitute Somerset's county buildings. Those who have never seen them have missed one of Somerset's chief disgraces.

For years, the legal fraternity in that county has begged and implored the Somerset County Board of Freeholders to build a new court house. But all their importunities have been in vain and it looks as if the Freeholders would refuse to act until the court house tumbles down of its own accord as it is likely to do most any day. The lawyers have occasion to see most of these buildings and consequently the appeal comes from them. Anyone, however, who has had occasion to visit Somerville and these same establishments, cannot but see the need of doing something.

In another column of today's Daily Press are given some interesting facts about this barn and accompanying row of shacks. As the court house is something over a hundred years of age and was remodeled some fifty years ago, one might almost believe that Somerset county is entitled to a new one. Incidentally it is explained how the retention of these antiquated buildings costs the county a considerable amount every year which could be avoided by the erection of a new court house and county buildings.

This evening will see the start of the new schedule of the Plainfield Basket Ball League. Never has a local organization of that nature been confronted by so many obstacles beyond its control. It has managed, however, to survive them all and there is now every prospect that the league games will go forward with regularity and to the satisfaction of all concerned. While two of the teams will start the league somewhat stronger than the other two, past experience has shown that the contests are likely to be very even after the first few matches. As the new clubs are practicing hard in anticipation of the contests, they may give their opponents a surprise as did the boys of the Hope Y. M. A. when they first entered the basket ball arena last fall.

Although the coroner's jury will meet this afternoon and hear more testimony regarding the Westfield disaster, it does not seem likely that any of the witnesses will serve to throw any additional light on the cause. They may serve, however, to bring out some points about which there may have been a little doubt. It looks as if the inquest had brought out all possible information and that the jury may go ahead and prepare its verdict with the knowledge that it has done its duty in securing all the information possible.

Lincoln's Birthday was more generally observed as a holiday this year than ever before. While it is a legal holiday in New Jersey, it is only very recently that there has been much pretence of keeping it. Yesterday, however, the city assumed quite a holiday appearance.

North Plainfield's election is approaching and still there is no abatement in the general demand that Mayor N. B. Smalley shall stand for re-election.

Greater city advocates and "antis" are united in expressions of regret that personalities should have again been introduced into the consolidation fight.

Tomorrow will be St. Valentine's Day when, according to custom, it is right and proper to exchange missives with sweethearts and friends.

old Court House at Somerville will collapse some of these days," a prominent lawyer of Plainfield once said, while returning to his home in that modern little city, "and it would serve the people right too. They would then have to build another one, which would be a blessing to all who transact business in the county seat at Somerville."

For Annual Meeting of Republican County Committee.

There was a meeting of the Union County Republican committee at Elizabeth Tuesday evening, when several amendments to the constitution relating to the annual and monthly meetings were adopted. Hereafter the annual meeting will be held on the second Tuesday in January, instead of the second Thursday, and the monthly meetings on the second Tuesday of each month, instead of the second Thursday. Chairman Hamilton F. Kean announced the following appointments on the executive committee: W. T. Kirk, Plainfield; James E. Warner, Cranford; W. H. Lawrence, Summit, and James White, Elizabeth.

SELF-MADE MAN.

From Telegraph Boy to Superintendent of Transportation

Oscar Stager the new superintendent of transportation of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad, has worked up from a telegraph boy at a salary of $3 a week. From that he advanced to telegraph operator, then despatcher, manager of the Philadelphia telegraph office, superintendent of telegraph, assistant division superintendent, master of transportation and finally to his present responsible duties, which carries with it a salary of $15,000 a year.

A 'Possum Supper.

Some of the members of the fire department, at the headquarters on East Second street, captured a large opossum yesterday afternoon. The animal weighs about fifteen pounds and is very fat. The prize was skinned and dressed, and some of the members declare that there will be an opossum supper at headquarters the first of next week.

DUNELLEN.

A number of local railroad men executed a practical joke on a comrade of theirs a few nights ago that has been the cause of merriment all along the road. The one on whom the joke was played had just received a considerable sum as pay. The others knew this and resolved to give his much vaunted courage a try. He was accompanied on his way home by a companion who was also in the scheme. The two were discoursing about the holding up of a railroad man some time ago, when suddenly forms were seen behind some trees in a dark spot some distance ahead. The pair walked on however and when they came to the trees two men sprang out at them. The man with the money started to run, as did his companion which was in the joke. From there until he reached home vociferous shouts of "murder" accompanied the victims somewhat hurried course. The other men remained behind convulsed with laughter and the joke is now on the victim.

All that money could do was done, but all hope of recovery vanished. Hearing of some wonderful cures effected by use of Kodol, I concluded to try it. I. C. T. WON.

Victorious in Practice Game With the Reform Club Played Last Evening.

To better their condition for the opening of the Plainfield Amateur Basket Ball League this evening, the teams of the I. C. T. Club and the Reform Club played a practice game in Reform Hall last evening. They found the largest playing floor in the city and ample accommodations for the spectators. It was the first time these two teams had lined up against each other and for that reason attracted special attention.

Superior team work landed the I. C. T. Club in front at the start. More accuracy in goal throwing helped. The Reform Club scored chiefly on fouls. The I. C. T. Club boys were a little careless and the accurate throwing of Taylor enabled the Reform Club to keep up very well. At the end of the first half, the score was 14 to 7 in favor of the I. C. T. Club. The same club finally won by a score of 28 to 15.

The teams lined up as follows:

I. C. T. Club.		Reform Club.
Reynolds	right forward	O'Loughlin, capt
Sherwin	centre	Higgins
Overbaugh	right guard	Townley, Galbraith

Score—I. C. T. Club, 23; Reform Club, 15. Goals from the field—Reynolds (7). Caleen, Sherwin (2), Blimm, Scott (2), Taylor. Goals on fouls—Caleen (2), Taylor (9). Fouls—I. C. T. Club, 21; Reform Club, 7. Referee—Charles B Morse. Umpires—George Whitley and J. Fred Wharton. Scorer—George McCombe. Timekeeper—Wm. Porter.

LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY.

Celebrated in Appropriate Way by Programme at Lincoln, Yesterday Afternoon.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Lincoln, Feb. 13—An appropriate celebration in honor of Lincoln was held in the public schoolhouse yesterday afternoon, where a large crowd of people gathered from New Brunswick, Bound Brook, Somerville and Dunellen. There was a stirring address by Rev. T. E. Davis, of Bound Brook, who leaves March 1 for the south. This address was followed with a strong one by S. D. Drake, who referred affectionately to the good works of Mr. Davis and expressed his regret that he is soon to depart.

After the speeches all adjourned to the basement of the schoolhouse, where 150 people enjoyed a fine spread. Mr. Drake was in charge of the celebration and it was complete in every detail.

ANOTHER DAY.

So Successful Was Fair at St. Peter's Church it Will be Continued.

So successful has been the fair under the auspices of the women of St. Peter's German Lutheran church, that it was decided last evening to continue it this evening, when it will be concluded and the contests announced. Among those who have worked earnestly for the success of the fair and whose names have not been mentioned are Mrs. Charles Smith, Mrs. John A. Kooh and Rev. Theodore Duensing. The Young Ladies' Aid Society, recently organized by the pastor, has also done excellent work.

Driver Thrown Out.

An exciting runaway occurred Wednesday night, on East Front street when William Ricketson, of Stony Hill, was thrown out of his carriage and received several slight scratches. The accident happened in front of the Y. M. C. A. building. The horse was captured at the corner of Watchung avenue and East Second street.

Recovered Sign.

A large sign was stolen from in front of Herrman Keller's cigar store on Somerset street, Tuesday night. Wednesday night Patrolman Saffron, of the city police force, notified Mr. Keller where his sign was and he recovered it in an alley near the corner of West Front street.

—The teachers' meeting of the Congregational Sunday-school will be held at the parsonage this evening at 8 o'clock.

BILLS BY SENATOR CROSS

UNION COUNTY'S SENATOR HAS INTRODUCED THREE IMPORTANT BILLS.

One of Them Provides for the Incorporation of Political Committees.

Three important measures have recently been introduced in the upper part of the Legislature by Senator Cross, the first of which is a bill, No. 115, which establishes the office of register of deeds and mortgages in counties, office to be an elective one, term five years, such office to be commissioned by the Governor and to receive the same fees and enjoy the same rights and privileges as in the case of the clerk of the court of common pleas and all laws and penalties relating to the latter shall govern the new office.

The second measure, bill No. 116, grants the consent of the State to the acquisition by condemnation, purchase or otherwise by the United States of certain land in Elizabeth, not exceeding two acres for a post-office.

The third measure, bill No. 117, is an act to incorporate political committees. It gives the organizations of political parties the right to become a body politic, capable of suing or being sued, such incorporations being permitted to make, adopt or use, from time to time, alter, amend or change such general form of a constitution and by-laws for their government, provided that such shall not be repugnant to the constitution or laws of the United States or New Jersey.

LINCOLN AND GRANT.

Rev. W. S. Hubbell Related Remembrances of the Martyred Men.

Under the auspices of the Men's Club, Rev. W. S. Hubbell, of this city, gave an address in the Congregational church, last evening, appropriate to the day. It consisted of personal reminiscences of Generals Grant and Lincoln, of whom he saw a great deal in an official way during the Civil War as he was a member of the Eighteenth Corps.

The two martyred presidents traits were pictured and lessons were drawn from their characters. The address proved very entertaining and was heard by a large attendance.

During the evening a committee was in charge consisting of John D. Moon, Rev. O. L. Goodrich and H. O. Normer.

STRUCK TROLLEY POLE.

Elizabeth Man Thrown Out of Carriage by Runaway Horse.

While he was driving to this city yesterday afternoon in a light runabout, William E. Munson, an employe of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company at Elizabeth, was thrown out of his carriage on East Fifth street and received severe contusions about the head. He struck his shoulder against a trolley pole and it is thought that he broke a bone as he was hardly able to move his arm. The horse, which had become frightened and had run away, was captured at the corner of Washington and Sixth streets. Neither the horse or the carriage were damaged.

THEATRICAL.

At the Central Theatre, tonight, the same company, which gave a large audience entire satisfaction last night, will continue.

Appointed Notary Public.

Attorney Charles M. Dolliver, who recently opened offices in the Vanderbeek building, has been appointed a notary public. He received his commission from the State authorities, yesterday.

Special Election.

At its regular meeting, this evening, Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., will hold a special election of officers. The second degree will be conferred upon one candidate.

IRELAND ON LINCOLN

Notable Speech by the Archbishop In Chicago.

EQUALITY FOR ALL UNDER THE FLAG

Republic That Lincoln Saved Must Be Given Equal Civil and Political Rights Without Regard to Creed or Color.

CHICAGO, Feb. 13.—Archbishop Ireland of St. Paul was the guest of honor at a banquet given at the Auditorium hotel by the Lincoln club in commemoration of the ninety-fourth anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln. In an address on the great emancipator Archbishop Ireland said in part:

"The republic that Lincoln saved! How she has grown! And as she grows the more beauteous she seems, the more winning are her graces and the more sout entrancing her claims to our love and devotion.

"The republic is what she is because she has virtually remained what Washington intended her to be and what Lincoln bade her to be—a government of the people, by the people, for the people. This is what she must remain if she is still to live and to reign. The vital principles of democracy must animate her. Every man under the flag must be equal before the law in civil and political rights. It matters not what his place of birth, what his religious creed or what the color of his face. If he is an American citizen, the laws of the land must shield him, and the favors of the land must flow upon him.

"To announce, for instance, that the citizen who is black must not aspire to a political office or must not approach the ballot box is to war against American institutions. To hold populations in perpetual tutelage, whether on our immediate continent or in the islands beyond the seas, is to set aside Lincoln's principles. Delays may be counseled. Often delays should be counseled, for the question always calls for an answer: Are children to be made to walk as adults? Are populations incapable of self government to be allowed, for their destruction, its privileges? But when the time comes that such populations have ripened into self governing manhood the rights of that manhood must be theirs. And meanwhile the mission of the flag is to hasten them toward such manhood.

"The day must be expected when our territories will be states and when our island possessions will be states. Abiding dependencies cannot be the appanage of a republic.

"The flag has been carried far beyond the America of Lincoln's day. This is as it should be. A great nation cannot but grow. Occurrences will come to it beyond its control that will compel it to grow. It is for humanity that freedom loving republics do grow.

"I rejoice in the territorial aggrandizement that has come to America, and no fixed limits would I dare put to yet further such aggrandizement, but always and everywhere would I hold out to new friends and new brothers the hope and the promise that in due time fullest civil and political equality with myself and my fellow Americans shall be the reward of their loyalty and good citizenship.

"The United States is by force of irrevocable events an international power. She cannot isolate herself, for her interests are amid all peoples, and their interests are amid her people. Our pride in her grows, and as she thus grows in greatness we watch her with jealous eye as she enters into the new spheres of duty and responsibilities.

"The republic is committed to our love and our care. Let us be loyal to her. This is the lesson of Lincoln day."

Lincoln Day In New York.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—Not in a decade has the anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's birthday been more generally observed throughout the city than yesterday, and at banquets, dinners and meetings of various societies the memory of the "war leader," friend of the negro and white man alike, was the subject of speeches and eulogies. The exchanges were closed in honor of the martyr president, and but little business was transacted in the city. Among the most interesting of the gatherings in honor of the "great emancipator" was that of the Chicago society, which held a banquet, the second in its history, at Delmonico's. At the Waldorf-Astoria the Republican club held its seventeenth annual Lincoln dinner. An oration on Abraham Lincoln was delivered by former Governor Black.

Democrats Dine and Hear Bryan.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 13.—More than 1,000 Democrats were present at the Jefferson-Jackson-Lincoln league banquet to celebrate the birthday of Abraham Lincoln. Distinguished Democratic leaders from various parts of the country were present to address the banqueters. Among them was William J. Bryan, who spoke to the toast, "The Test of Democracy." Former Governor James Budd of California also spoke.

Rev. Thomas A. Perryman Dead.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 13.—Rev. Thomas A. Perryman, president of the Creek house of kings, is dead, aged sixty-four years. Mr. Perryman was a full blood Creek Indian and had been a leader in national affairs for thirty years. He was a member of all treaty commissions since 1865 and was instrumental in bringing about the allotment of the Creek lands. His home was in Tulsa, I. T. While visiting in Kansas City he was stricken with pneumonia

BOLD TRAIN ROBBERY.

Burlington Express on Northern Pacific Held Up by Bandits.

BUTTE, Mont., Feb. 13.—Burlington express No. 6, eastbound, was held up shortly after midnight on the Northern Pacific tracks eight miles east of this city, near Homestead, by two masked men, who are said to have secured $20,000 in money. They covered the sides of the train with their guns, uncoupled the engines, mail and express cars and ran them ahead two miles.

The operator at Highview says that he heard two explosions, and it is believed the bandits attempted to blow the safes to pieces. The trainmen of the passenger train, after the robbers had left with the engines and cars, hastened back toward Butte and met an incoming freight train, the engine of which was uncoupled to run to Butte and the alarm given.

Every officer in the city has been called to South Butte and all approaches to the city are carefully guarded.

The sheriff is scouring the country, and a fight between the officers and robbers is believed to be imminent.

The train was a double header, and the engines, with the mail and express cars, were run about 600 feet ahead of the rest of the train. A few moments after the train was stopped there were two explosions of dynamite, which wrecked the express car. The roof was blown off, but no one was hurt.

A FARMER TORTURED.

Thieves Try to Find Treasure, but Are Disappointed.

LEWISBURG, Pa., Feb. 13.—Benneville Mensch, a wealthy farmer residing near Mifflinburg, this county, was tortured in his home by five robbers last night.

Mensch on returning from the barn found the house locked up. He forced an entrance and found five masked men, who, after a struggle, bound and gagged him and demanded his money. Mensch replied that he had no cash, but, not believing him, his assailants applied redhot irons to his feet in the hope of forcing him to yield. Frantic with pain, Mensch finally became unconscious.

The house was searched for the hidden wealth which Mensch is reported to have, but without result. Plunder to the extent of 50 cents and a silver watch was secured from Mensch's person.

Arrested For Murdering a Child.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 13.—Three persons have been arrested, one of them charged with the murder of Richard Maule, aged thirteen years, whose body was found in Fairmount park, and another accused of complicity in the crime. The third is said to be a witness. William S out, aged thirty years, the police say, is the principal. The others are William Standemeer, fourteen years old, and Lewis Weiner, aged nineteen years. Young Maule had been missing from his home for several days. The evidence gathered by the police shows that he was terribly maltreated, his injuries resulting in death.

To Make Toledo Square.

TOLEDO, O., Feb. 13.—Ex-County Surveyor Talmidge has been engaged by a combination of property owners and real estate men to draw plans to square Toledo, which is now oblong. The proposed change, if made, will increase Toledo's population 25,000 by the annexation of six suburbs. In addition it will bring two cemeteries and three parks within the city limits.

Floods In Mississippi.

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 13.—Owing to recent heavy rains in this section Pearl river has overflowed its banks, inundating the lowlands for several miles and seriously damaging the waterworks plant which supplies this city. The hydrants have not been able to furnish water since last night. It is said that it will be two days before the damage can be repaired.

Called to Mexico.

ITHACA, N. Y., Feb. 13.—Professor J. W. Jenks of Cornell university has been invited by the Mexican government to go to Mexico to consult with the authorities there regarding the establishment of a new monetary system. The trustees have granted Professor Jenks leave of absence for one month, and he will leave for Mexico on March 1.

Floods In Hudson Headwaters.

HOOSICK FALLS, N. Y., Feb. 13.—The continued rains have caused all the streams in this vicinity to rise to high water mark. The Walloomsack and Hoosac rivers look as though early spring freshets had struck them. Ice in the rivers has broken up and started southward to the Hudson river. The lowlands southwest of here are under water.

Blizzard In Wyoming.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Feb. 13.—The storm that set in several days ago has assumed the proportions of a blizzard throughout southern and western Wyoming, and stockmen who are ranging herds in regions where there is little food are greatly alarmed. In the western portions of the state snow has fallen to a great depth.

Another Fever Patient Dead.

ITHACA, N. Y., Feb. 13.—One death occurred from typhoid fever yesterday. It was that of Harry C. Francis, Jr., of Philadelphia, a student in Cornell university. The number of new cases reported is decreasing. Many students continue to leave for their homes.

Children and Home Burned.

LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 13.—The cottage of Mr. and Mrs. James Lyons has been burned, and their two children, a boy five years old and a baby, perished in the flames. They had been left alone in the house.

How a Girl Should Choose Her Friends

"I WONDER if all girls realize how important it is for them to make the right kind of friends," remarked the married woman as she poured out a cup of tea for her girl visitor.

"Male friends for me!" interposed the latter as she helped herself to a toasted muffin.

"And that's a great mistake, too," went on the married woman. "Male friends, if you wish, but they never can take the place of the friends of your own sex. Then there's this disadvantage, too—one never knows how long they are going to last—as friends."

"That's true," admitted the girl, reaching over for a stuffed olive, "but if you knew what heartrending experiences I have had with friends of my own sex perhaps you wouldn't be so surprised at my attitude."

"But, my dear child, perhaps you were unfortunate. Perhaps they didn't happen to be whole hearted people."

"Ah, well," drawled the girl, "that you can judge for yourself. I chose them naturally from the ranks of society, the people we go with. Perhaps that's why. However, here are a few of the different kinds I have had to contend with:

"First.—There's the friend who is always trying to make you feel her superiority. If you give a luncheon party, she will let you know just how much more gorgeous hers of the next week is to be, or if she has not the money to give one she will tell you how much more gorgeous hers could be.

"Second.—Then there's the friend who manages you, who tells you how to do your hair, how to walk, how to think and how to breathe, and she and you get along all right as long as you do exactly as she says.

"Third.—Then there's the opposite of No. 1—namely, the friend who makes herself as piteous as possible and whines into your patient ears continually. That's so you will do things for her, and when you do, if you're foolish, she up and denounces you as a stingy thing because you didn't do better. To this class belong Mrs. and the Misses Toady, who throw ashes on their own heads and lick your exalted feet while they make capital of you every minute of the twenty-four hours.

"Fourth.—Then there's the well meaning but critical one. She is never contented with the general appearance of things, but she must forever spoil her pleasure and yours by dissecting and analyzing. Just wear a new dress when she calls and see how well dissatisfied you will be with it before she leaves.

"Fifth.—Then there's the friend who is jealous of you (and you get plenty of those if you're at all attractive). She only invites you to meet her fustiest and least worth while friends, and, as for men—oh, sorrow, never! But she loves you very dearly, and these little omissions always happen by a mere hairbreadth, so you have to remain on outwardly friendly terms with her.

"Sixth.—Perhaps worst of all is the friend who openly and shamelessly 'pulls your leg,' as the vulgar saying is, who says when she hears you know the rich Mrs. So-and-so, 'I wish you would introduce me to her,' or—but why discuss the disgusting type? You know her as well as I do."

"But, my dear," ejaculated the married woman, a trifle shocked, "the unmarried girls may be like this. I suppose they're on the make, so to speak, but the married women, those who have experience of life, they can be true friends to you, they can give you a practical chance of bettering yourself, they can teach you to know your own self, best of all, to believe in your own self, and to succeed."

The girl looked full at her friend with a glance somewhat tinged with sarcasm. "The married women?" she repeated. Then she laughed. "The married women? They invite the girls, lure them on with false hopes and then make backgrounds of them for their own more mature and therefore superior powers of brilliancy and cleverness. Oh, no, no! There is hardly a belle who succeeds nowadays who has done so without counting as her most dangerous rivals the very ones who ought to help her—the married women."

And the married woman in her heart of hearts was forced to agree with her.

MAUD ROBINSON.

A Knight of the Highway

By CLINTON SCOLLARD,

Author of "A Man at Arms," "The Son of a Tory," Etc.

Copyright, 1901, by J. B. Lippincott Company. All rights reserved.

"Less hustle," said he, "perhaps we'll get the second." They made their fingers fly and soon he, too, was yelling "Hop-sack!"

Jack Parmelee speedily appeared with several bags of coarse stuff under his arm, into one of which he emptied the hops from the now brimming box. Then he handed out a strip of card-board upon which was printed

ONE BOX OF HOPS.
RICHARD E. MERTON.

This the carpenter, with much evident satisfaction, slipped into one of the pockets of his vest. By 11 o'clock Rossiter also had the pleasure of pocketing one of those little tickets, and he began wondering how many he should be able to accumulate during his tarry at the Mertons'.

The afternoon picking had been but a short time in progress when Rossiter noticed two farm hands crossing the road carrying a hop-box arranged for two pickers. This was placed a few rows in advance of his own. Erelong he saw two girls emerge from the house and come towards the hop-field. A glance told him that they were not ordinary frequenters of the hop harvest, and then it flashed into his mind that they were the young ladies who had passed Joe Becraft and himself the evening before. As they advanced he had an excellent view of them, for he was facing in the direction from which they were approaching. The one whose beauty he and Becraft had remarked upon was tall and slight, and carried herself with a singular grace and charm. The great hat which shaded her features and was tied beneath her chin showed her countenance as though in a frame—the delicately arched brows, the appealing eyes, the refined and sensitive mouth. Her skin was unnaturally pale, as though from illness, yet she betrayed no further evidences of ill-health, laughing and chatting with the one who accompanied her in an animated way. The other girl—Rossiter judged that both might be 24 or 25—was much shorter and plumper than her companion. There were roses in her checks, and while with some she would hardly have passed as pretty, there was about her a wholesome attractiveness.

Rossiter was tempted to turn and watch them, but restrained himself from doing so. He chanced to look towards the Becraft box and caught Joe's eye. That young man gave a little emphatic nod of his head which told its story of admiration.

"I shall have to threaten to report to his sweetheart," thought Rossiter.

"What can they be doing in the hop-yard?" he mused.

His unspoken query was answered an instant later by the carpenter's wife, who said to her husband:

"That's Miss Merton, the one with the red cheeks, and the other's a Miss Densmore, a cousin of the Merton's from Illica, who's come out to pick for her health. I heard Mrs. Merton tell some one so last night."

During most of the afternoon the face of Miss Merton's cousin was before Rossiter, although he did not actually see her again till towards the time for the picking to cease, when she and Miss Merton passed on their way to the house. It was her eyes especially that haunted him—the searching tenderness in them. That he should dwell upon her thus was quite as ridiculous, he confessed to himself, as was Becraft's display of susceptibility. Rossiter had long considered women, at least those of the class with which he had once associated, as having gone out of his life forever. Indeed, from the time, a year and a half before he had cut loose from his kin and all social ties, when, on learning that his fortune had vanished, the girl to whom he had given his heart had thrown him over, he had regarded the sex from an isolated standpoint. The love of beauty in its many forms which had been born in him, and which no series of experiences could eradicate, had often, in his vagabondage, riveted his attention upon a lovely woman, but he had always considered her from the artist's position. That, after all this time, a face should so take hold upon him struck him with a sense of the preposterous, he who had sunk to the level of the veriest dregs of humanity—a common tramp. He was inclined to shout aloud with mirth.

Two days before he would have sworn that such a thing was beyond the bounds of possibility, but even in the life of a vagrant two days may work strange things. The moment his feet touched the ground at Illica the change began, and Rossiter, regarding himself impersonally, began to wonder if he were actually the same person who stowed himself in the freight car at Clevalo not a great many hours previous. Something that he could not analyze was crytallizing within him. Another, more familiar with the workings of the brain towards that which is resolute, fixed and definite, might have recognized it and called it purpose.

As Mrs. Becraft desired an errand done in Hintonville, after supper Joe got a ride into the village with one of the hired men who was going for the evening mail. Rossiter, left to himself, wandered down into the great orchard below the small close where the men's sleeping quarters were. A wagon track led through it, and he followed this till he reached a meadow that dipped gently to a dense strip of woodland. Far away in the west the streamers of the sunset laced the sky. Leaning against the fence rails, he watched the splendor fade, filled with a more uplifting sense of spirit than he had felt in many a day.

With the shutting down of dusk he walked back towards the house. As he drew abreast of the hop-kiln he saw two men seated in the doorway whom he made to be Mr. Merton and Jack Parmelee.

"We've done very well for the first day," Parmelee was saying. "Only had one piece o' bad luck."

"What's that?" inquired Merton.

"Why, young Gridley, who was pullin' poles, claims he's got to quit. He ain't very strong, an' says he can't stand it."

Gridley—that was the name, Rossiter recalled, by which he had heard the slender fellow addressed who pulled for his box and that of the Becrafts.

"What'll you do?" demanded Mr. Merton. "Pole-pullers are mighty scarce this year."

"We'll have to try an' break in one of the pickers, I suppose."

TURF COMPANIES NO GOOD.

St. Louis Grand Jury to Investigate Get Rich Quick Concerns.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 13.—At the end of the third day's run on the co-operative turf investment companies by investors demanding the return of their deposits the result stands: E. J. Arnold & Co., all payments suspended; John J. Ryan & Co., all payments suspended; International Investment company, all payments suspended; Christy Syndicate Investment company, all payments suspended; United Turf Investment company, office closed; grand jury investigation of investment company methods of transacting business.

Crowds of men and women, eager to regain their investments, surged about the offices of the various investment companies yesterday, and all were doomed to disappointment, excepting the International Investment company investors. This company suspended payments in the afternoon and demanded the stipulated thirty days' notice of withdrawal. The United Turf Investment company did not open its offices yesterday, and a sign on the door announced that payments had been suspended indefinitely.

Investors in the firm of John J. Ryan & Co. awaited with hope the return from Cincinnati of Manager John J. Ryan. He arrived, and their hopes were dissipated by his announcement that the assets of his firm were not sufficient to meet the demands for withdrawals. Investors in the firm of E. J. Arnold & Co. state that they have given up all hope of recovering anything. This was the first concern to suspend business.

Late in the afternoon the February grand jury dropped all other business to take up the investigation of the turf investment companies.

Mr. Ryan was summoned to appear before that body, and a similar subpœna was issued for Mr. Arnold, but the latter is reported to be in Hot Springs.

Must Pay For Bull Elk.

UTICA, N. Y., Feb. 13.—The case of the people of the state of New York against Adam O. Johnson for shooting a bull elk in violation of the game laws has been decided by a jury in Lowville, the verdict being for the state. The penalty is $200, which Mr. Johnson will have to pay, together with costs. It is understood that separate actions for the $200 penalty will be brought by five other men implicated. It was a test case and has aroused widespread interest.

Champion Tumbler Dead.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—Henry P. Meyn, the champion tumbler of the Central Turn Verein Athletic club, is dead in the Presbyterian hospital. A few days ago Meyn started to master the triple somersault, the most difficult of all tumbling tricks. He made several ineffectual attempts and was warned by his friends that his efforts might have a fatal ending. Finally he made a last desperate turn and landed on his head, breaking his neck.

Young Globe Trotters.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—Jose Luis Ferriol and Alfredo Deulofeu, two young Havana reporters, announce the beginning of an around the globe trip which they propose to make inside of five years, starting without a cent. A prize of $10,000 offered by a Havana cigar firm is to be their reward if they accomplish the journey within the time mentioned.

Results at Ingleside.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 13.—Four favorites scored at Ingleside. The defeat of Searcher in the mile and a sixteenth race was costly. The Arnold & Co. horse was very heavily supported, but failed to show any form, finishing far back. Tizona won from Forte and Stunts. The weather was fine and the track fast.

Not a Favorite Won.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 13.—Not a favorite finished first yesterday. The stewards have ordered the refusal of entries of all horses from the E. J. Arnold company and other co-operative racing firms pending positive proof that such horses are the individual property of the parties officially registered as owners.

International Live Bird Shoot.

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 13.—The international live bird event for the Gilman and Barnes trophy was started yesterday at Grosse Pointe with fifty entries. Thirteen men each killed fifteen birds straight and will shoot in the miss-and-out event today to decide the winner.

Harvard Won at Basket Ball.

PRINCETON, N. J., Feb. 13.—Harvard defeated Princeton here in a closely contested basket ball game by the score of 29 to 28. Splendid team work and good goal shooting characterized the game. The score at the end of the first half was: Harvard, 16; Princeton, 14.

"Cyclone" Kelly an Easy Mark.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 13.—Mike Schreck of Cincinnati practically knocked out "Cyclone" Kelly of San Francisco in the fourth round of what was to have been a twenty round bout before the West End club here.

Crum's Appointment Rejected.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—The senate committee on commerce has agreed to report adversely the nomination of Dr. W. D. Crum to be collector of the port at Charleston, S. C. The vote on confirmation was 6 to 8. All the Democrats voted against confirmation, and they were re-enforced by the votes of Jones of Nevada and Perkins of California. Dr. Crum's appointment was bitterly opposed by the South Carolina senators and the business interests of Charleston because of his color.

READY TO SIGN.

Protocols in Venezuelan Matter at Last Agreed Upon.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—The probability is that the protocols for the raising of the blockade which has been maintained by England, Germany and Italy against Venezuela for more than a month will be signed by Minister Bowen and the representatives of the allied governments here today. Minister Bowen has been busy conferring with the English and Italian ambassadors and the German minister regarding various features of the protocols, with the result that they are practically in final shape. The signing of the protocols will, it is expected, be done at the British embassy, as it is regarded rather imprudent for Sir Michael Herbert to venture out on account of his illness.

The protocols will provide for the raising of the blockade at once for a cash payment of £5,500 to each of the three allied governments and for the payment to Germany of 1,700,000 bolivars in five installments, less the £5,500 paid in cash. The first installment of the 1,700,000 bolivars, or $340,000, is to be paid on the 15th of March.

For the payment of claims of the allies Mr. Bowen has arranged to begin immediately the setting aside of 30 per cent of the receipts of the two ports of Porto Cabello and La Guayra, as originally proposed. The first receipts set aside will be those for the month of March. The funds will be retained in the custody of Venezuela and will be paid out according to arrangements that may hereafter be made.

Indians at White House Reception.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—President and Mrs. Roosevelt's reception in honor of the army and navy, the final formal evening levee of the season at the White House, was the most largely attended of the series. The army and navy contingent were out in full force, and their uniforms, together with those of the diplomatic corps, who were largely represented, made the scene a very interesting one. A picturesque feature of the reception was the presence of Chief Joseph of the Nez Perces Indian tribe with half a dozen of his followers. They were attired in typical Indian costumes, with their blankets wrapped about them. As they were introduced the president greeted them cordially and invited them to join the receiving party.

The Latest War Rumor.

PANAMA, Colombia, Feb. 13.—According to these advices, the whole of Central America may be involved in war, as the political conditions are most critical. The civil war in Honduras continues, and Guatemala is aiding the adherents of Bonilla, the elected president of Honduras, who is unable to assume office owing to the opposition of General Sierra, the president of the republic, whose term has expired. Nicaragua and Salvador are understood to be co-operating against Guatemala and to be furnishing the enemies of the Guatemalan government with arms and ammunition. About 3,000 Salvadorean troops are reported to be near the frontier of Guatemala.

The Northern Pacific Snowslide.

BUTTE, Mont., Feb. 13.—Fuller details of the disastrous snowslide on the Cœur d'Alene branch of the Northern Pacific road Tuesday night are to the effect that seven bents of the great "S" bridge were swept away by an avalanche of snow and rocks. More than 125 feet of the structure was destroyed. At the point where the freight was struck the bridge is from 75 to 100 feet high, and through this distance the caboose, with five members of the train crew, was hurled. The injured trainmen were taken on improvised hand sleds to Mullan, Ida.

Big Western Railway Project.

GUTHRIE, Okla., Feb. 13.—A territorial charter has been granted to the Oklahoma City and Northwestern Railroad company, with Oklahoma City as the principal place of business and with $15,000,000 capital stock. The purpose is to construct a line 504 miles long from Oklahoma City to Denver at a total cost of $15,000,000. It is supposed to be a Frisco project, as C. C. Jones, president of the Frisco lines in Oklahoma, is at the head of the new corporation.

Booth Lunched With President.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—General William Booth, commander in chief of the Salvation Army, and his son-in-law, Commander Booth Tucker, in charge of the work of the Army in the United States, took luncheon with President Roosevelt. Invited to meet the president's guests were members of the cabinet, including Secretaries Hay, Root and Moody, Senator Hanna and some other men distinguished in public affairs.

Comes to America to Buy Idols.

TACOMA, Wash., Feb. 13.—H. F. Krohsnkyn of Seoul, Korea, has arrived here on his way to New York and Philadelphia to contract for idols to be used in the heathen temples of his country as well as for China. He is sent by a wholesale firm and has models with him. He says that a few years ago an American firm sent a few idols as a [illegible] one of the sacred orders, and a demand for them has resulted.

BASKET BALL.

The game of basket ball between the Y. M. C. A. team and the Polytechnic Institute team, of Brooklyn, will be played this evening in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. The Brooklyn combination has a good reputation and it is expected that it will give the local team all it can do to keep up with the speed the visitors are credited with. The game is called for 8:15. The gate will be open at 7:30.

The basket ball game which was to have been played between the City High School team and the East Orange High School was lost to the former by default and the local players returned home without a game. Those who went from this city were Arthur Connett, Harry Thompson, captain; Paul Collier, Francis Anderson and Luther Shepherd. Arthur Denton went down with the players to umpire the game.

ROD AND GUN.

The Millstone Gun Club held a very successful shoot yesterday afternoon, Chas. Welsh winning with a clean score of 10 kills at live pigeons with Frank Remsen the runner-up with 9 kills. Remsen won the big event at clay birds with VanCleef and Welsh close up.

Miss Voehl Was Hostess.

A delightful social gathering was held last night at the home of Miss Tina Voehl, of Somerset street, when there were about a dozen people present. The evening was pleasantly spent in listening to musical selections and in dancing which was enjoyed until a late hour. Refreshments were served after which an inpromptu debate was held on "The Philippine Question."

To Enter Dogs.

Wm. L. Smalley, the Somerset street butcher, will enter his two thoroughbred beagle dogs in the Orange Dog Show next week. This is the first time the dogs have been entered in any show, but they are very handsome ones and the owner is confident of winning at least one blue ribbon. The dogs are known as Catherine Z. and Rocksey S.

C. Steckle in the First-Class—The Scores Made by the Various Members.

An opportunity was given to those members of the Independent Gun Club yesterday afternoon to complete their unfinished scores at a qualifying shoot which was held at the Maple avenue grounds. The shooting was spirited and some fine scores were made by the contestants.

On the rifle range C. Steckle qualified in the first class. Those now in the second class are: George Kaeting, Henry Haurand, C. W. Krauser, John Wirth, Charles Jensen, Adolph Bohren, F. These scores place the contestants in line for the final shoot of the year, which will be held on Washington's birthday at the home grounds.

WILL RUN FAST TRAINS.

Pennsylvania Finds Traffic Too Heavy to Reduce Service.

An impression has gained ground with the withdrawal of the twenty-hour trains of the Pennsylvania from New York to Chicago, that the company contemplates withdrawing other fast trains. This is a mistake. An official of the company says that the passenger traffic is so great at this time that the company could not under any circumstances well afford to reduce its service further. Many of the heaviest trains have to be run in sections, and cancellation of additional fast trains would simply mean the placing of more sections to other trains. The fastest long-distance train on the road is No. 11, the fast mail between New York and St. Louis. Officials say that this train will not be taken off.

LINEMAN SEVERELY SHOCKED

500 VOLTS OF DEADLY CURRENT SENT THROUGH JOHN SCHENCK'S BODY.

Hurled to the Street and is Still in a Serious Condition—Happened This Noon.

John Schenck, aged twenty-six, who lives with his family at 40 Manning avenue, received a charge of about 500 volts of electricity through his body this noon while at work on some electric wires in front of Dr. J. B. Probasco's house on East Front street. He was rendered unconscious and after being twisted about the wire for several seconds, dropped to the road, twelve feet below.

The injured man was taken into Dr. Probasco's office and a hurry call was sent out for Dr. Norman Probasco. Dr. Buchanan also worked over the man.

The accident happened at 12:30 but half an hour after the man was still in an unconscious condition and it was stated that he would probably be removed to the hospital during the afternoon. There are no evidences of fractures but it is believed that he is hurt internally.

No one knows just how Schenck came in contact with the live wire but it is presumed that while at work he accidently closed a circuit with a guy wire of the trolley road and the iron post against which his ladder was leaning.
